TWO DAY OBSERVANCE OF FEAST OF THE ASSUMPTION

A two day observance of the Feast of the Assumption is announced by Frank Dattilo, chairman of the committee of Italian residents of Winchester in charge of arrangements for the affair.

This observance, an annual event known throughout this district as "Italian Day", has come to be one of the big events of Winchester's summer season, yearly drawing increasingly large crowds to the big fireworks display and band concerts with which the celebration is concluded.

The Feast of the Assumption, an internationally observed holy day in the Roman Catholic Church, falls on Wednesday, Aug. 15, and the program for its observance by the Italian residents here starts the previous Tuesday evening with a concert on Manchester Field by the Roma Band of Boston, from 3 until 10:30 o'clock. The band is scheduled to arrive in Winchester at 7 and will play during a short parade through the Italian section of the town, preceeding its appearance at the playground.

Wednesday's program will start promptly at 8 in the morning when the Roma Band will arrive in Winchester and will parade, headed by the chairman and members of the arrangements committee, about the square and through the principal streets of the town until noon.

The Salem Band of 50 pieces composed of boys from 12 to 15 years of age and with a 13-year old director, will arrive in town early in the afternoon and participate with the Roma Band in the parade which will form at St. Mary's Church at 2 o'clock. Once again the center and the principal streets of Winchester will be covered by the line of march which will not break ranks until 6:30.

The Roma Band will play its second concert program from the band stand on Manchester Field Wednesday evening, from 7:30 until 10:30 o'clock with the big fireworks display scheduled to commence at 10. The fireworks this year promise to be unusually interesting since two companies, the Rhode Island Fireworks Company Inc., and the Randolph Fireworks Distributing Company, are to compete for a prize to be awarded that one producing the best display. Members of the Board of Selectmen are to serve as judges.

WEDNESDAY IS TRADERS' DAY

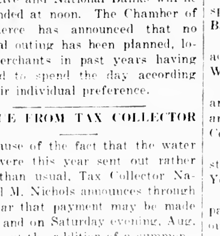

Next Wednesday, Aug. 8, is Traders' Day and it would be well for housewifes to remember that stores throughout Winchester will be closed on that date. Business in the Winchester Trust Company and the Cooperative and National Banks will be suspended at noon. The Chamber of Commerce has announced that no general outing has been planned, local merchants in past years having desired to spend the day according to their individual preference.

NOTICE FROM TAX COLLECTOR

Because of the fact that the water bills were this year sent out rather later than usual, Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols announces through the Star that payment may be made up to, and on Saturday evening, Aug. 4, without the addition of a summons.

Mrs. Fred Aseltine and children of 7 Cabot street are guests at Terrace Gables, Falmouth Heights, for the month.

"PACKER" TEAMS MET IN TEDESCO DOUBLES PLAY

It was brother against sister in the recent North Shore Tennis championships at the Tedesco Country Club, when Louise and William S. Packer, Jr., faced each other in the second round of the mixed doubles play, "Bill" was paired with Miss Eleanor Cohalon of Philadelphia while Louise played with Ricardo Tapia, a member of the Mexican Davis Cup Team.

Louise and the Senor were successful against Brother "Bill" and his partner winning in straight sets, 6—4, 6—1. In the quarter final round Miss Packer and Tapia were eliminated by Virginia Rice, Longwood junior singles champion, and Louis Ferguson of El Paso, Texas, the latter titlist with Tapia in men's doubles. Mary Cutter and "Charlie" Wadsworth of this town had to default in the second round of mixed doubles to Eleanor Holton and "Tom" Jansen, the latter of Washington, D. C., but formerly of Winchester. Virginia Merrill and Roland Sherman, Jr., had the misfortune to draw Mrs. Delloyd Thompson of Philadelphia and James Murphy in the first round and were defeated in three well played sets, 6—2, 6—8, 6—1.

It should be remembered that the Winchester participants in the North Shore tourney were competing out of their class against older players. Their defeat was to be expected but the slogan here is "anywhere for experience." A [illegible] matter not at all. Any [illegible] youngster who counts would rather be beaten than not to play.

WINCHESTER INTERESTED IN PROTEST AGAINST GENERAL CRUSHED STONE COMPANY

A large delegation from Winchester, residents living near the plant of the General Crushed Stone Company at the Woburn-Winchester line in the vicinity of Holton and Cross streets, attended with Selectman Thomas F. Fallon and Fire Chief David H. DeCourcy the hearing held by the Council Committee in the Woburn City Hall Tuesday evening. Fully 150 residents of Winchester and Woburn were present to protest against the company's blasting activities which it was alleged had damaged property and been injurious to those living near the plant.

Those who entered complaints were asked to register and such testimony as was offered against the Company's activities was taken down by a stenographer for the council's use in its consideration of the case.

The complainants were assured by the Council that they would be given a square deal, it being the Council's wish to take a definite stand in the matter of the blasting, action on which has been hanging fire for some time. Mayor Harold P. Johnson of Woburn was present at the hearing.

The Winchester delegation strongly urged the Woburn City Government to take some action toward the protection of their property.

WILLIAM HENRY GLEASON

Mr. Gleason was born in Boston, the son of Gilbert Howe and Jane (Metcalf) Gleason. He came to Winchester in 1913. Nine years ago he retired as treasurer of the Revere Rubber Company in Chelsea, after being in the service of the company 45 years.

He was one of the founders of the New England Rubber Club. He helped to organize the Chelsea Manufacturers' Association at the time of the fire in that city and was its president. He was a founder, and for a time, treasurer, of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

Mr. Gleason was a member of the First Baptist Church of Winchester and of the William Parkman Lodge of Masons. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ella Aldrich Gleason, a daughter, Ethel Gleason of this town, a son, Gilbert Howe Gleason of Newton and a grandson, Anthony Howe Gleason, of Princeton, N. J.

Services will be held at the residence on Sunday, Aug. 5, at 2 o'clock.

POTTER LOST FIRST APPEAL FOR REINSTATEMENT

Sydney A. Potter of 391 Adams street, Dorchester, recently discharged from his position as lifeguard at Sandy Beach because of his failure to report upon his civil service examination papers the fact that he had appeared in the Lowell Court for an infraction of the motor vehicle laws, lost his first appeal for reinstatement Tuesday when Commissioner Elliott H. Goodwin refused to reconsider his application for his old job under the Metropolitan District Commission.

Mr. Goodwin, who is one of the State Civil Service Commission, granted Potter a hearing, following the latter's discharge from duty on Saturday, July 21. Since then he had the case under advisement and his recent announcement left Potter no alternative save an appeal to the full board of Civil Service Commissioners.

Meanwhile since his discharge by the State, Potter has remained at Sandy Beach in the pay of the Massachusetts Life Guards' Association, an organization which provides life savers for unguarded beaches. The deposed guard stated to the Star this week that he would stay at the local beach for at least two weeks longer, even if not reinstated by the commission. After that time he expected to go on tour, giving exhibitions of "fancy diving" for the association. If he is finally reinstated, he will remain with Lifeguard "Bill" Murray at Sandy.

Potter's case has aroused wide spread interest and his friends have attempted to interest Governor Fuller in its disposition. The Governor was interviewed by two of the lifeguard's Beacon Hill supporters and is quoted as stating that men of Potter's ability are needed in the State's service. The latter has a distinguished record and holds medals for saving life on two occasions. He is a World War veteran and since his discharge at Sandy Beach has figured in several rescues at Mystic.

Commissioner Goodwin, in announcing his decision to deny Potter's appeal for reinstatement, stated that there was a conflict between the latter's testimony and the records of the State Probation Commission dealing with the lifeguard's court record. He also said:

"Minor automobile offences are not in themselves sufficient to debar a man from examination or appointment, but a failure to state under penalty of perjury in an application the record of convictions, fines, imprisonment, etc., is a serious offense, not only in itself but also from a point of view that, if it is done intentionally, it gives a preference to the applicant over other candidates who have no record or have stated them in full."

POTTER NOT TO MAKE FURTHER APPEAL

According to an announcement made Wednesday evening Sydney A. Potter, former State lifeguard at Sandy Beach, is not to take his appeal for reinstatement to the full board of the Civil Service Commission. His application to Commissioner Eliott H. Goodwin, for reinstatement following his discharge for failure to report a court record when filling out his civil service examination papers, was denied by Mr. Goodwin. The latter stated, at the time of his denial, that Potter could make farther appeal to the commission's full board but this the deposed lifeguard has decided not to do. According to Mr Goodwin, Potter is eligible to take the civil service examinations for lifeguard next year and the young man has already made application to this end.

WINCHESTER MOTORISTS HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Two Winchester young ladies, Miss Virginia Robinson of Cambridge street and Miss Elizabeth Linscott of Central street, narrowly escaped serious injury last Saturday evening when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a tree at the corner of Vernon and Otis streets in Wakefield. The accident occurred when the driver of the car, George H. Bigelow of 12 Kensington street, Dorchester failed to negotiate a curve in the roadway. Mr. Bigelow and his wife were removed to the Melrose Hospital. Miss Robinson sustained minor cuts and bruises about the face and was treated by a Wakefield physician while Miss Linscott, who escaped with a severe shaking up, did not require medical attention.

FIREMEN QUALIFIED AS ORNITHOLOGISTS

And just in case you don't know your scientific terminology as well as you do your onions we will first state for your edification that ornithologists in the nomenclature of the erudite are those who trail song and other birds to their lairs, or rather, nests for the purpose of studying their habits, customs, physiological makeup and the sociological structure of their individual and collective lives.

If you have followed us closely, you are now well aware of what is meant when one terms another an ornithologist. There is no derogatory implication in such a designation.

But what has all this to do with the firemen, our boys in Blue and Silver? What do they care about ornithology? Read and learn.

The Fire Department, or to be exact, certain especially appointed members thereof, turned bird-chasers in real earnest this week, starting their field work on Wedgemere avenue Tuesday evening. We haven't learned just what degree the boys are candidates for unless it is that of agricultural, or perhaps sanitary engineers.

It seems that residents of Wedgemere avenue had complained about large flocks of starlings, small black birds about the size of a large English sparrow, which had been roosting in the trees that line the roadway and have been making themselves obnoxious in many ways to those living in the vicinity.

The Police Department did not deal with that particular sort of "bird" and as a consequence the Firemen were appealed to. The latter felt that they might do something and organized to go into immediate action.

It was learned from one who had some especial knowledge of the modus operandi of starlings that the birds if driven from their roosting places for three nights running, would become sufficiently aware of their general unpopularity to betake themselves elsewhere. The firemen took this information for what it was worth and at once set about providing for a change of the birds' habitation.

Deputy Chief John J. Gorman was put in charge of the ornithological detail which was transported to the base of its operations on Combination A, driven by John J. Flaherty. Hoseman Alexander W. MacKenzie and James Leroy Nowell completed the biological platoon.

Arriving at Wedgemere avenue the boys went into a huddle while discussing ways and means as to the best and quickest method of disturbing the starlings' slumbers. The Deputy Chief was of the opinion that the surest way to obtain results lay in a surprise attack and strongly advised sneaking up upon the birds' blind side. Driver Flaherty concurred with this judgment while Hoseman MacKenzie favored going out into the open at once and giving the starlings notice of the impending attack. After some discussion the latter notion was discarded and the firemen proceeded to stalk their prey.

Coupling their hoses to a nearby hydrant the men advanced cautiously upon the trees in which the starlings were ensconced and arriving at a strategic position trained their streams of water upon the uppermost branches. They got results. The birds were awakened and rudely reminded that they were in a civilized community. We do not mean to imply that the starlings quit without a struggle. They shifted their base about from tree to tree. But the firemen were adamant and in the end won at least a moral victory.

The operations attracted quite a little delegation of the curious, some of whom got more or less wet in their search for what lay beneath the apparent surface of the maneuvers. After satisfying themselves that victory for the nonce was theirs, the firemen repaired to their quarters, looking forward to the second and third rounds on Wednesday and last evenings.

Captain E. S. Flaherty headed Wednesday evening's platoon of "birders", having with him J. Edward Noonan, J. J. O'Melia, A. W. MacKenzie and J. L. Nowell. Deputy Chief Gorman was in charge last evening with the detail including J. E. Noonan, H. E. Brown and J. E. Callahan.

The Selectmen have received a petition from Mr. and Mrs. Amoroso Capone of 52 Harvard street and others asking that the Board investigate the motor traffic conditions at the corner of Harvard and Florence streets. The matter was referred to the Chief of Police.

CAMP WINCHESTER

Aug. 1, 1928

The Boy Scout camp conducted by the Winchester Council at Orleans, opened on Saturday, July 28 and will continue until Saturday, Aug. 25. The boys all came to camp in automobiles and are indebted to the parents of Scouts for their transportation.

Saturday was spent in getting settled in camp and in getting the buildings screened. This work was under the direction of Mr. Harry Dotten.

Sunday was spent quietly and all campers spent Sunday afternoon on Orleans beach. On Sunday night the two teams, the Reds and the Blues were chosen. These teams will compete in every phase of camp activity.

The Reds captained by "Jocko" Pene of M. C. J. comprise the following boys: R. Philbrick, Gilbert, Blaisdell, Barr, Dotten, Streeter, R. Eubanks, Hession, Smith, Gurney, Lutes, Thwing, Stevens, Hamilton, Haskell and Ficociello.

The Blues under the direction of Ray Halwartz are made up of the following Scouts: Elliott, Browne, Razee, Shiverick, W. Hitchbourne, McAuley, F. Philbrick, Wagner, Haseltine, J. Blaisdell, Knowlton, Mills, E. Hitchbourne, Ayer, Riley, W. Hackenson and S. Hackenson.

On Monday the official program was started. On this day the Blues first team defeated the Reds in baseball while their second team was winning at volley ball. On Tuesday the Blues again won at cricket. The Reds won at inspection on both days and hope to even matters by having the best play on Saturday night.

On Tuesday night 23 Scouts went on an overnight hike to the large sand drone in front of camp property while the remainder were hiking to the movies.

On Wednesday morning work was started on the model yachts. This work is again under the direction of Carl Eubanks and culminates in a race at the end of the camping season.

Kenneth Barrett, in charge of the water work has a beginners' class of nine and a life-saving class of five.

We have had many Winchester visitors thus far and cordially invite others to drive down to camp any week-end.

CHARLESTOWN T. T. HOLDS OVER

Team Scheduled for Last Saturday to Play Tomorrow

After threatening nearly every Saturday thus far, old Jupe Pluivius finally broke through and forced a cancellation of last Saturday afternoon's ball game between the Winchester and Charlestown Town Teams. Final arrangements for the contest had to be completed at noon and at that time rain was falling in such torrents as to make it improbable that any baseball could be played on Manchester Field. Later it cleared but the diamond would have been in poor condition for playing and all in all cancellation was the only course to persue.

Feeling that in the Charlestown nine he had a real attraction, Manager Farrell arranged to hold the game over a week with the result that the fans can get a peak at this hustling ball club with its one handed pitcher, "Kid" Burns, tomorrow afternoon.

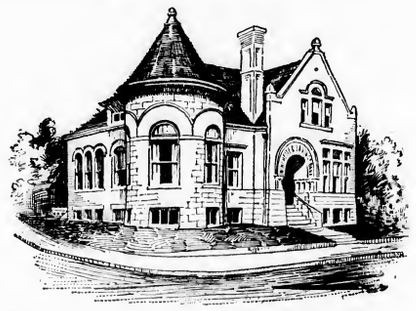

Old timers will remember the crack nines which the Bennett Club of Charlestown used to send to Manchester Field and will tell you that if this present team can approximate the all around play of its predecessors, Winchester is in for a real battle.

Either "Olio" Lee or "Archa" Amico will draw the pitching assignment with the chances favoring the former. Several new faces will appear in the local lineup. Game starts at 3:15.

Miss Dorothy Horn of this town participated in the Providence-to-Boston Dance marathon which was concluded about 9:45 yesterday morning. She was the sole dancing partner of George Sleeper of Boston.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Once more Winchester Boat Club is sending a crew up to Thousand Islands, Canada to take part in the annual canoe meet run by the American Canoe Association as an international reunita.

Capt. "Ed" Sandberg, "Ken" Pratt and "Phil" Hight leave with the boats and camping equipment by auto on Saturday, Aug. 4. Herman Dudley Murphy leaves Friday but will make a two day trip of it. "Al" Hovey and "Win" Palmer expect to leave the middle of the week of Aug. 5 to be at Sugar Island in time for the main races on Friday and Saturday of the first week.

As the meet is being run this year by the Canadians there is sure to be some keen racing, for the Maple leaf boys are great paddlers, especially with the single blades.

Winchester has a four boat combination and two tandem outfits which should be well up in front; and "Phil" Hight can be counted on to do battle in the signle double blade race.

Best of luck, we hope they bring home plenty of silverware!

BOY HURT AS AUTOS COLLIDE

A Ford sedan, owned by Salvatore Marchesi of 72 Swanton street and driven by Joe Orlando of 51 Swanton street was in collision at the junction of Swanton and Holland streets last Saturday with a Chevrolet roadster, registered to the Interstate Highway at 200 Hancock street, Quincy, and operated by Raymond L. Cote. The Chevrolet was headed east on Swanton street while the Ford was going west and making a turn from Swanton in Holland street. Both cars were damaged and 13-year old Dominick Provenzano of 37 Florence street, who was riding in the sedan, complained of injuries to his back.

H. E. Worcester Jr., of this town annexed his usual win in the Bird Class yacht racing off Gloucester last Sunday. On the day previous he was defeated, his Squib Boat by third behind Paul Woodbury's Flamingo and the Aloof of Woodbury's sister, Miss Evelyn.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE NOTES

Mrs. Clem Shaver Protests Against Wet Candidate

Wide publicity has been given to a statement made recently by Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the retiring chairman of the Democratic national committee and herself chairman of the western division of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League.

Mrs. Shaver does not accept the Presidential candidate chosen at Houston on the basis that he does not stand on the platform and that he has betrayed the party. Speaking for dry Democratic women she said:

"Regardless of what Democratic leaders from top to bottom may do, we dry Democratic women will not support the dripping wet ticket and the joke platform named by the Tammany delegates to the recent convention at Houston. And furthermore, we do not believe more than a few of the millions of the Democratic women in this country can be fooled as all of the Democratic leaders appear to have been fooled by it. The idea of men like Josephus Daniels, Dan Moody, Joe Robinson, Carter Glass and Jed Adams saying 'I'm a Democrat—I shall support the party nominee.'

"How many times has Tammany supported the party nominee in the last 16 years? Not once. Yet they have fooled these heretofore able Democratic leaders into saying, 'I am a Democrat I will vote for Tammany, whisky and a trick platform.'

"We say a man who will shut his eyes like an ostrich to the things which the Democratic party has always stood for is a booze-o-crat, not a Democrat.

"The Democratic nominee has always said in his public utterances that the party should make the platform and a candidate should stand on it. He has always said his one outstanding issue is whisky and booze, the return of the legalized liquor traffic, which means the return of the 75,000 saloons, every politician knows it, and when the party adopted a dry platform, if the nominee had been either honest or sincere in his public utterances he could have done nothing but decline the nomination.

"He did not and therefore tamped himself as a charlatan and a faker who is attempting to prove that Lincoln was wrong and that you can fool all the people all the time."

A student will receive a full year's credit for any subject in which he passes the make-up examination.

Fr. Richard Millard of St. Charles Church, Woburn, deacon; and Confrater Athanasius Drohan, C. P. of St. Gabriel's Monastery, Brighton, a nephew of the deceased, subdeacon. Eight nephews served as bearers. They were Edward and John Drohan, Samuel Smytherman, Edward D. and James H. Fitzgerald, James and Joseph Swymer, all of Winchester and Leo Cummiskey of Dover, N. H. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

MRS. ROSE KERRIGAN

Mrs. Rose Kerrigan of 79 Swanton street died Friday evening, July 27, at the Winchester Hospital, her condition having grown steadily worse, following a broken hip which she sustained in a fall at her home about a month ago.

Mrs. Kerrigan was 72 years of age and the widow of John Kerrigan. She had long made her home in Winchester and enjoyed a wide circle of friends. She is survived by four sons Michael of Roslindale, Daniel of Roxbury and John W. and William P. Kerrigan of Winchester. Two sisters, Mrs. Edward Meagher of East Boston and Mrs. Charles Noonan of Medford, also survive her with four brothers, Hugh McCall of East Woburn, Patrick of Cambridge, Bernard of Medford and Cornelius McCall now living in Ireland.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from the home of her son, Daniel Kerrigan, at 87 Fort avenue, Roxbury, with a high mass of requiem celebrated in St. Mary's Church, Winchester at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

SANFORD D. LELAND

Inventor Was Former Resident of Winchester

Sanford D. Leland, manufacturer and inventor, a former well known resident of this town, died Sunday morning at his home in Wellesley Hills. He was president of the Manufacturing Equipment & Engineering Co., of Boston and Framingham, the first factory in this country to make equipment for welfare work in industrial plants. Before he organized that company in 1905, Mr. Leland was connected with the United Shoe Machinery Company as manager of the Winchester plant and a member of the building committee of the Beverly plant.

Mr. Leland was born in Sherborn in 1863, the son of James H. and Justina Leland. He was a graduate of Worcester Polytechnic Institute. For many years he made his home in Winchester, living first at 112 Church street and later on Highland avenue opposite Eaton street. He took an active interest in the civic life of the community, serving the Town as Selectman in 1903 and as a member of the Water Board from 1907 until 1912. A member of the Town Appropriations and Highland School addition committees in 1904, he also served on the committee for the abolition of the grade crossing in 1906. He moved to Wellesley Hills in 1911. Besides being a member of the Maugus Club and the Wellesley Country Club Mr. Leland held membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Engineers' Club and University Club of Boston, and William Parkman Lodge of Masons in Winchester.

Surviving are his widow, four sons, James, Robert, Roger and Sanford, Jr.; two brothers, James F. and Robert H.; and two sisters, Miss Mary L. Leland and Mrs. Daniel Whitney of Sherborn. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at his home, 9 Arlington road, Wellesley Hills, with burial at Sherborn.

PROFESSIONAL DIVER AT MYSTIC LAKE

Many canoeist had an opportunity last Sunday afternoon to see a diver at work, close at hand.

Sometime ago one of the model yachtsmen had the misfortune to lose his miniature boat. Because of a leak in the craft it sank directly off the point of land which runs into big Mystic on the Boulevard shore.

The swimming barge used at the Winchester Boat Club was towed out into the Lower lake and anchored. This was used as a base for the diver to work from.

Dressed in regulation divers suit, the gentleman of the depths, climbed over the side of the boat, down the ladder and out of sight. Four volunteers manned the pumps which supplied the diver with air. And they tell me they worked! Exercise on a rowing machine would be phycouraged with working these big handles back and forth. For ten minutes, the first time the diver explored the bottom, when he reached the surface again climbed on the boat and had his helmet released and light up a cigarette, he mentioned, "Gee, its cold down there. It must be fed by springs. I was 60 feet under. And also what mud! I had to ooze through, two feet or more of it everywhere."

At varying intervals up to 5:30 p. m. the diver went down and scoured the bottom but without success.

A large cluster of canoes hung around the barge all the afternoon and the occupants received quite a thrill watching the process of salvaging one model yacht which would not be found.

ELKS' OUTING LARGELY ATTENDED

Perfect Weather For Party—Winchester Won Ball Game

Three hundred care-free Elks gave themselves over to a day dedicated to pleasure and good fellowship while attending the second annual outing and field day of Winchester Lodge, held last Sunday at Martin's Grove, Billerica. Perfect weather conditions, clear skies, bright sunshine and a cooling breeze, all combined to do their part in making conditions at the grove ideal. Elks from Arlington, Wakefield, Concord and Woburn mingled with the Winchester "Bills" to lend added interest.

The local delegation left the Elks' rooms in Lyceum Hall around 10 o'clock, making the trip to Billerica in private cars. Riding in leisurely fashion the Elks arrived at the Grove and immediately went into action.

An elaborate program of sports had been arranged but the crowd became so steamed up over the quoit-pitching tournament and tug-o-war that the other events were sidetracked that all might witness these interesting events.

There were several strong teams in the quoits tourney but gradually each fell by the wayside until "Tom" McKee and Leo Finnegan were battling Fred Clement and "Doc" O'Connor for the right to compete in the finals against "Dan" Reardon and "Jim" McGuire. The latter combination had accounted for "Jack" McDonald and Waldo Ledwidge of the Arlington delegation in the semi-finals. Finnegan and McKee proved too good for Clement and the Doctor, and squared off for the championship match, top favorites. They proved their mettle from the opening toss and rather easily took Reardon and McGuire into camp, 21-9.

This brought the program to the long awaited tug-o-war between the married and single men. Considerable discussion as to the relative merits of the two outfits had worked up a strong rivalry and both teams had no lack of supporters as they went to the scratch. Exalted Ruler "Tom" Fallon was selected to act as referee, he being thought to be the only man in the entire delegation capable of giving a decision which would stand in case of an argument. Perhaps "Tom's" position as Selectman had something to do with the prominence accorded him. At all events he sent the boys away, and a battle royal they made of it. George MacIsaac served as anchor man for the benedicts while John McCarthy acted in a similar capacity for the men at liberty. The teams were well chosen and pulled with a will. Gradually, however, the married men, aided no doubt by long years of experience in pulling out the well known wallet, began to show an advantage which was increased until there was no doubt of the issue when "Tommy" stopped the battle.

With the termination of the sports' program dinner was announced. The Board of Stewards of the Lodge had preceded the main body of the party to the grove and, aided materially by Esquire Everett Hambly, had prepared a luscious repast which included steamed clams and clam chowder with all the fixin's. Hot dogs, sandwiches and tonic were available during the entire outing and we venture the assertion that no one went home hungry.

Following the luncheon some of the boys sallied forth to pick blueberries, there being many fine ones within easy reach.

Then came the ball game. Arlington Lodge, smarting under the defeat handed out on its own outing by Winchester, had challenged the locals to a return game and brought what it considered a strong lineup to Martin's Grove for the purpose of evening the count. Winchester was not to be caught napping and under the leadership of Capt. J. F. Sullivan had assembled a nine which looked good on paper. The boys looked just as good when cavorting about the diamond and going after Arlington from the start, succeeded in winning a second victory by the not too close score of 8-3.

Keeping track of the battle proved no easy matter and we will simply say that there was plenty of free hitting and not too many errors. The pitching of "Dan" Hanlon and "Tom" McKee for Winchester decided the issue.

Following is the lineup and the score by inning:

WINCHESTER	ARLINGTON

Runs made, by Sullivan 2, A. McDonald 2, McKee 2, O'Connor, Sharon, Powers, Buckley, Creighton. Time, all the afternoon. Umpires, Cullen of Woburn and McGrath of Concord.

With the conclusion of the game the party began to break up and few of the Elks were disposed to linger at the Grove once the general exodus began. A large part of the local delegation was back in Winchester early in the evening.

The general committee in charge of the outing included George D. Leslie, Robert M. Hamilton, Arthur A. Mullen, Goodo H. Horn, John Halligan, Alfred C. McKenzie, W. Jas. Horn, S. S. McNeilley, Holbrook E. Ayer, Jas. L. Power, Frank P. Zaffuna and Everett Hambley.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

If filling stations continue to occupy all the corners, loafers will not find it so easy to loaf around.

To be happy you must overlook some things entirely, among which is the cost of running an automobile.

Cold cash is often the means of expressing warm sympathy.

There is no philosophy by which a man can do a thing when he thinks he can't.

In some of our modern homes the library is absent, but the telephone and check books prevail.

If there is one thing of value which can be gotten out of the recent tangle arising from the discharge by the State of a popular lifeguard at Sandy Beach, it is the necessity of exercising the utmost care in filling out important papers. Especially is this true of legal papers and those having to do with applications for positions under civil service. The lifeguard in question lost his job because of his failure to report upon his civil service questionnaire a court record, the result of an infraction of the motor vehicle laws. An oversight was the excuse offered by the young man for his neglect, and his carelessness lost him not only his position but also a certain amount of standing, as it now becomes necessary for him to make a new application next year. The commission should not be too severely criticized for its stand. Statements upon the truth of which oath is required are of sufficient importance to merit careful consideration, and it was this lack of care and the failure to report the offense, rather than the offense itself which in all probability caused the commission to take its drastic action. The whole affair is something of a lesson for all of us. There are relatively few who at some time or other have not been careless in their answers to questions on papers of importance. In the light of recent events, it would seem better to be safe than sorry. Where one takes oath to a statement there should be no room for doubt.

WINCHESTER'S FATHER AND SON TOURNEY WON BY BELLEVUE PAIR

G. H. and J. P. Akins Were High Local Pair—J. R. and R. A. Livingstone Well Up

Winchester's famous Father and Son tournament held on Wednesday at the Country Club was won this year by Howard and "Bob" Lovell of Bellevue and Rockport. Their card, 76—8—68, gave them a gross a full two strokes under that of C. Sydney Cook, Jr., and J. Gould Cook of Brae-Burn, who finished second. The third place winners, W. A. and Winthrop Hersey of Wellesley, were the other team to break 80, just getting under the line with a gross of 79.

G. H. and J. P. Akins made the best showing of the Winchester teams, their card, 93 23—70, landing them in 8th place in the net rating. J. R. and R. A. Livingstone equalled the Akins' net but had a gross one stroke higher. P. A. and "Ben" Goodale tied with the new junior State champion, "Charlie" Eaton, and his dad, W. D. Eaton, for the honor of shooting the best Winchester gross, 85. The Goodale net was one stroke under that of the Eatons. P. L. and F. Nazro made up the other local team to break 90, having a gross of 88.

In the competition for fathers playing with more than one son, H. J., C. S. and H. K. Olmstead finished fourth with a card of 189—119.

Net honors for the tournament went to R. E. and F. P. Bicknell of United Shoe, their limit handicap of 21 bringing their 88 down to 61, exceptionally low and good enough to win by 1 stroke. With the Lovells and the Cooks out of the nets because of their gross winnings, second net went to the Herseys while W. H. and "Billy" Donnelly of Woodland tied with Otto and C. E. Huckmyer of Vesper for third with reduced 69½.

WORKMAN CAUGHT IN WEST SIDE CAVE-IN

Walter Meyers of Roxbury, an electric welder in the employ of the Bens Welding Company of Boston, had a narrow escape from serious injury about 9:30 yesterday morning when the side-wall of an excavation in which he was working at the corner of Sheffield road at Sheffield West caved in upon him and hurled him against a big iron gas main.

Fortunately the cave-in was a slight one and Meyers was buried only as far as his thighs. Fearing an additional down-fall, laborers worked at high speed to free the imprisoned welder and soon had Meyers out of the hole and on the street level.

It was at first thought that the man's leg was badly injured from the heavy blow which he received when the lose fill drove his knee against the gas main, but after emergency treatment Meyers was soon able to hobble about a bit, and when taken to the Arlington car line by his fellow workers insisted upon going home alone. Fortunately the falling earth forced him against the pipe with the bend of his knees, otherwise both legs would very likely have been badly sprained, if not broken.

Meyers was busy at the time of the accident, welding together the 10 ft. lengths of the new main which the Arlington Gas Light Company is laying through Winchester from the high pressure service on Everett avenue to the new million foot holder on Cross street. The contract for the work has been let by the Gas Company to the Bens Welding Company of Boston.

Murphy notified the police and Patrolmen John Hanlon and Henry P. Dempsey took the man to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Milton J. Quinn. At the hospital last evening Mr. McGlinchey was reported as resting comfortably and was not thought to be in any immediate danger.

The new "Rain Pack" containing a waterproof coat and hat, is at the Star Office.

REGARDING SWIMMING AT SANDY

The following letter under the State heading of the Department of Public Health will be of interest to all who have been in doubt as to the pollution of the water at Sandy Beach on Mystic Lake.

To J. Harper Blaisdell, M.D.
Chairman, Board of Health
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:

The Department of Public Health received from you on June 18, 1928, an application for advise relative to the suitability of the water of Upper Mystic Lake at Sandy Beach, Winchester, for public bathing, and in response to your request the Department has caused Upper Mystic Lake and its watershed to be examined and many samples of water from the Aberjona River, the main feeder of this lake, and of the lake at the bathing beach to be analyzed.

The question of bathing in upper Mystic Lake has previously received much attention by this Department, and in a communication to the Metropolitan District Commission dated July 26, 1927, the Department expressed the opinion that the water of the Mystic Lakes was of safe quality for public bathing at that time.

It has not yet been practicable to make use of the sewer recently constructed in the Aberjona River Valley for the removal of sewage and industrial wastes from the river, and the results of the analyses of samples of water collected from the Aberjona River above Winchester show evidence of pollution. During the spring and at times up to July 7, 1928, considerable quantities of sewage have been allowed to discharge into the Aberjona River in Winchester from the Winchester sewerage system. The effect of this source of pollution was very marked in the first samples collected at Mystic Lake in connection with the present investigation, but the samples collected more recently have shown comparatively little pollution, and in the condition found at the time of the last examination the quality of the water was not inferior to that at certain important beaches along the seashore used by large numbers of people.

The Department is of the opinion that the water of upper Mystic Lake at Sandy Beach, Winchester, will continue to be of suitable quality for public bathing during the present summer unless it again becomes necessary to discharge considerable quantities of sewage from the Winchester sewerage system into the Aberjona River. In that case bathing should be discontinued until an examination shall show that the effect of the pollution has disappeared.

Respectfully,
George H. Bigelow, M.D.
Commissioner of Public Health

WOBURN MAYOR APPEALS TO FIRE MARSHALL

Mayor Harold P. Johnson of Woburn has appealed to State Fire Marshall Neal in an attempt to regulate the blasting activities of the General Crushed Stone Company at the Winchester-Woburn line. Repeated complaints from residents near the plant have caused the Woburn City Council to take the matter of the blasting under advisement, and Mayor Johnson has been conducting a separate investigation.

The Woburn authorities are disinclined to revoke completely the license to blast, granted the company since such action would be tantamount to closing down the plant. Mayor Johnson has advised with Commissioner Neal to see if the amount of explosive used by the company might not be reduced from 1650 pounds, the maximum to 1100 or 1200 pounds.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

We were very glad to welcome "Jim" back to the fold today after his absence the week before. Certainly our singing is not up to standard when he is away. "Doc" will not be with us this month, and we can ill afford to dispense with his services. With both "Jim" and "Doc" present, we have reason to be proud of our music.

At this week's meeting we entertained a Rotarian from Montreal. This was a unique experience for our club, inasmuch as we have never before entertained a guest whose home is beyond the border-line of our own country. We trust that other strangers may come to our future meetings and assure them of a hearty welcome.

We understand that George was responsible for the beautiful floral offering which graced our table. We certainly appreciate this attention. It is not the first time that George has been generous.

The speaker of the day was Mr. Maurice McCormick, representing the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company who gave us a most interesting talk about street railways and their problems. We feel sure that Mr. McCormick could have held our attention for twice the length of time at his disposal, and it is to be hoped that he may have an opportunity to finish his talk at some future date.

Many are of the opinion that the street railways are losing their hold and in no great length of time will be obliged to give way to the various automotive vehicles which are now thronging our streets. While this may be the case in the smaller centers of population the reverse is true in our great metropolitan areas. In the latter instance the problem (and it is a difficult problem) is to find transportation facilities for all who demand street car accommodations.

It is a source of gratification to see so large an attendance at our summer meetings. Evidently Rotarian activities are not seasonal. We do not require a recess in order to refresh our wearied minds and bodies. Indeed the contrary is true. We need Rotary and we believe that in some measure, Rotary needs us. And it is improbable that we shall forget what to do when Thursday noon comes.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

For a while yesterday a realty company was trying to sell the Common, if one could believe a neat red and white sign planted firmly in one of the flowerbeds near the fountain. The sign read, "for sale cheap" and we couldn't have blamed anyone for opening negotiations for the purchase of the property which "Alex" MacDonald keeps habitually spic and span.

C. D. OF A. CELEBRATE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

At a meeting last night in Lyceum Hall which included every member of the Court who was able to be present, Santa Maria Court, 150, C. D. of A. celebrated the 25th anniversary of the founding of the order.

A delicious supper was served by a committee which included V. R., Nellie Moffett, Sisters B. Young, M. Martin, B. Brown, M. Smith, N. O'Melia, E. Powers and A. McDonough. Salads and cold meats, hot coffee, rolls, relishes and homemade pies made up the menu.

Following the supper a most delightful entertainment was put on under the direction of P. G. R. Frances T. Conlon and Organist Mabel M. Cory.

During the regular meeting which preceded the supper it was voted to hold the annual outing at Nantasket Beach. It will be held on next Wednesday, Traders' Day and will be as always, a great success. Mrs. Nora O'Melia is the chairman in charge. Reservations for the dinners at Nantasket must be made before Tuesday by calling Mrs. N. O'Melia, 0211-M. The diners will be served at the cottage of Mrs. McGovern where we enjoyed such a wonderful outing two years ago. The party will leave Boston on the 10:15 boat on Wednesday, a. m.

A delightful surprise at the anniversary supper was the presence of Sister Christine McDonald of Louisville, Kentucky, who was kept busy greeting old friends. Since her last visit to us Sister McDonald has enjoyed two trips abroad.

FIREWORKS LAST NIGHT

Residents of Wedgemere avenue thought "Italian Day" had arrived ahead of time last evening when the Fire Department's "bird detail" gave the undesirable starlings a barrage of roman candles in addition to the water cure. The candles were some hold-overs from the 4th at the Winchester News Company and according to reports at the Central Fire Station proved very effective. Should this latest attempt to drive the birds away prove unsuccessful it is stated unofficially that the firemen will next week commence to catch the birds by hand and transport them out of town.

BREAK AT CROSS STREET STATION

Some time during last night the Boston & Maine Station on Cross street was entered and the sum of $1 in pennies taken from the cash till. Access was gained through forcing one of the front windows facing the tracks. The break was discovered by William Flaherty, the ticket agent, upon his arrival at the station at 6 o'clock this morning. He notified Police Headquarters and Officer Mark Kelley was sent to investigate. The authorities are inclined to attribute the break to boys.

NANKING: WHICH MAY BE CHINA'S NEW CAPITAL

Nanking, new capital of China?

Dispatches indicate that the victors in China's civil war will make Nanking their capital. Peking's Postoffice department has been ordered south and more departments and foreign embassies may follow.

Nanking was a capital when Peking was a village, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The very name Nanking means "south capital"; Peking, "north capital."

Has a Central Location

Nanking occupies a much more central position than Peking. It lies 210 miles up from the mouth of the Yangtze, the river which is the major trade artery of China. It is almost equidistant from the southern border, where China touches French Indo-China, and the Great Wall, accepted as the new northern boundary. It is 750 miles south of Peking as a plane flies and 650 miles north of the metropolis of Canton.

While Nanking first became a capital about 200 A. D., it remained for the Ming emperors in the 14th century to steep it in grandeur.

Chu Hung Wo, the first Ming emperor, stood on a hill south of the Yangtze now occupied by the buildings of the University of Nanking. He looked along the low line of hills that crawl undulating for five miles to the Yangtze shore. To him the hills looked like the sprawling body of the sacred dragon. Said Chu Hung Wo, "If I can build my capital on a dragon's back, it will last forever."

Built Wall Around "Dragon"

So he built a wall around his "dragon." It stands today, 32 miles of encircling masonry. Over the ancient barrier a handful of Americans from the Consulate made a dramatic escape last year during the sack of Nanking.

Ming walls also inclose the two native cities, one at the head and one at the tail of the "dragon hills." The University of Nanking, which is the creation of four religious denominations of the United States, occupies 80 acres on one of the dragon's humps. Chinese temples sit atop others. The Standard Oil Company owned a hill near the green beast's head where it "sips of the Yangtze."

But Nanking in modern times has never grown up to the Mings' ambitions. Although its population of 400,000 is an increase of nearly 100 per cent in 20 years there remains ample room for farms within the circle of the barricade. Turnips grow and bamboo stalks wave where Ming and Manchu palaces rose.

Will the new turn of the wheel bring better fortune to Nanking? Probably. As capital of a united China it might soon enter the "more than a million" population class, till the enclosure, and flow out through the city gates.

Railways Along Ancient Canal

Railroads, which have made so many American cities, have done much for modern Nanking. The most important rail line in China ferries across the Yangtze from Nanking to Pukow on the north bank. The rail line runs from Shanghai 193 miles to Nanking. Crossing the river, the railroad goes north 628 miles to Tientsin, and from there 86 miles to Peking. From Tientsin to Nanking, the railroad parallels the Grand Canal of China and has robbed that veteran waterway of much of its business. It is the railroad which has doubled Nanking's population.

Inside the walls are some of the old examination halls, monuments to an abandoned educational system. The halls consist of rows on rows of stone cubby holes about the size of telephone booths. Ambitious young Chinese to the number of 10,000 would enter these booths to take civil service examinations for government positions. For three days they answered questions, writing down from memory passages from Confucius and Mencius. Often students would be found dead in the compartments after the ordeal.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES NEW TRUCK

The Chevrolet Motor Company, whose unprecedented sales and production record of placing on the road 750,000 "Bigger and Better" models since Jan. 1, established a new mark for the sale of a new model, announces this week the addition to its line of a new utility truck. The new truck, which embodies several improvements, chief of them a four speeds forward transmission, four wheel brakes and channel steel bumper, went into production in the various Chevrolet plants July 2. It will be on view this week in dealers' showrooms throughout the country.

The four speeds forward transmission will insure a more efficient application of engine power. The extra low speed gear provides maximum pulling power on heavy roads and steep grades while normal driving requirements are met as usual with second, third and fourth speeds. A power take-off port, to which various power devices can be applied, is a further feature of the transmission.

The four-wheel brakes are non-locking and supply a total of 317 square inches of braking, aside from an entirely separate and independently operated set of emergency brakes on the rear wheels. The front wheel brakes are of the internal expanding type, the rear wheel service brake of the external contracting type, insuring quick and positive stops regardless of grade or speed.

A new low loading height, 11 inches from the ground, is made possible by a special "kick-up" feature of the long chassis. An unusually long frame support, extending behind the center of the rear axle, assures proper load distribution.

Rigorous and exacting tests, covering thousands of miles over all types of roads and under winter and summer climatic conditions, were applied to the new truck at General Motors Proving Ground before the Chevrolet engineering division approved of it for production.

WINCHESTER FIRM CLOSED DOORS SATURDAY

After doing business in Winchester for several years past, the Bay State Saw & Tool Co., closed the doors of its plant at 7-15 Lake street last Saturday, throwing several men out of employment.

It is stated that the president of the concern, Edward T. Bailey, has associated himself with a Connecticut business house while his son, Walter Bailey, who has been in business with his father here, has accepted a position in Detroit. The machines in the local plant are to be removed but the ownership of the building will be retained by the Baileys.

Origin of Basket Ball

In 1891 a lecturer on psychology in the training school of the Young Men's Christian association at Plainfield, Mass. speaking of the mental processes of invention, proposed the example of a game with its limitations and necessities. The same night James Naismith, a member of the class, worked out basket ball as an ideal game to meet the hypothetical case, and the next day in the lecture room it was put in practice with the aid of the members of the gymnastic class. Thence it spread to other branches of the Young Men's Christian association, and in two or three years to other athletic clubs and to the general public.

DISTRICT MEETING OF DEMOCRATS IN MEDFORD

Last Friday evening in the Veterans of Foreign Wars' Hall in Medford Square there was a meeting of the Democratic Ward and City Committee of that city.

The presiding officer was chairman Anthony F. Novelline of the Ward and City Committee. As a preliminary step in the organization of the Democrats in the 6th Senatorial District, Mr. Novelline had invited some prominent Democrats from the other towns and city in the 6th District. Woburn was represented by ex-Mayor Thos. H. Duffy and ex-Alderman Farrell; Arlington by Miss Anna B. Callahan, Secretary of the Arlington Town Democratic Committee, and Winchester by Mrs. Frances T. Conlon, Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald, Selectman Thomas F. Fallon and Mr. Edward P. McKenzie of the Woburn Times. Mr. Whitfield L Tuck, Chairman of the Democratic Town Committee and member of the Democratic State Committee from the 6th District was unable to be present.

Among the visitors who were called upon for a few remarks were Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Conlon, Mr. Fallon and ex-Mayor Duffy.

The guests of the evening were Chas T. Daly, candidate for State Senator, Chairman Frank J. Donohue and Mr. Chas. H. McGlue of the Democratic State Committee, who congratulated Medford on the splendidly virile spirit of its Democratic Ward and City Committee.

Winchester's Democratic Town Committee, of which Mr. Tuck is chairman and Mr. Edward F. Maguire secretary, is planning to do its full share for the success of the ticket.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University are "Happiness Ahead" starring Colleen Moore and "Hot Heels" with Glenn Tryon and Patsy Ruth Miller.

"Happiness Ahead" is the story of a little country girl who marries a city card sharp, believing him to be an entirely honest young business man. The manner in which she discovers the truth, and the subsequent action of the principal characters, gives "Happiness Ahead" a plot which is unique in the extreme. Edmund Lowe plays the chief supporting role. Other members of the supporting cast are Lilyan Tashman, Edythe Chapman, Charles Sellon, Robert Elliott and Virginia Sale.

In "Hot Heels" the story concerns the hilarious adventures of a young small-town hotel owner who swaps his hotel for full ownership of a traveling theatrical company, because he has fallen in love with the leading woman. His escapades and tribulations in putting the company on a paying basis make a merry tale.

For the last three days of the week the program includes "Easy Come, Easy Go" with Richard Dix and "The Vanishing Pioneer" with Jack Holt.

"Easy Come, Easy Go" is the story of a young man who unwittingly becomes entangled in the operations of a veteran crook. This involuntary association carries him through a series of amusing situations which almost cost him the love of the "most wonderful" girl and nearly land him in prison. A supporting cast headed by Nancy Carroll, Charles Sellon, Arnold Kent and Frank Currier are some of its highlights.

William Powell, the "ace" villian of the movies has the part of a suave crooked politician in "The Vanishing Pioneer", a Zane Gray production. Powell attempts to make a lot of trouble for Jack Holt in the picture, and succeeds to a certain extent in his characteristic manner. Don't fail to see this picture.

GRANADA THEATRE, MALDEN

"Hold 'Em Yale," starring Rod La Rocque, a picture of life as it actually is at Yale, is the screen feature the big Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. It breathes the spirit of undergraduate life—football, boxing, student activities of every description. The story deals with a young American reared in the Argentine and his romantic love for the daughter of a college professor. He does big things for his college and in doing them provides spectators with typical Rod La Rocque thrills. The picture moves like a whirlwind from fadein to fadeout. There are hair-raising chases between the college man and the "goof" detective—rapid-fire boxing bouts between classes—football practice and the thrilling scenes during the big game in which Rod makes good and scores the winning touchdown for old Yale. In strong contrast to the scenes at Yale are the sequences in the Argentine where Rod is a young and wealthy son of the pampas. He gets his first practice in broken field running with a herd of steers for opponents. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville is an added feature for the last three days of this week.

"Partners in Crime", starring that inimitable comedy team, Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton comes to the Granada next Monday for a run of three days. Beery has the part of a detective with a good heart but a thick head. Hatton plays a dual role. He is a hard-boiled newspaper reporter who loves to ridicule the police, especially Beery, and he also takes the part of "Knife" Regan, a notorious outlaw who brands his victims with his knife. An ambitious district attorney seeking advancement so he can marry the girl he loves, declares war on the underworld. He is kidnapped and Beery and Hatton start on his trail. Jack Luden takes the part of the attorney and Mary Brian is the girl. William Powell plays the strong part of an underworld gang leader. A compelling plot holds feverish interest throughout this excellent melodrama while a substantial laugh structure runs through from beginning to end.

Safety Organization

The National Safety council is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization for the promotion of safety, sanitation and health in the industrial, public and home life of the whole world. It was founded in 1913, when a little group of employers, appalled by the useless and unnecessary sacrifice of life and limb occurring every year, determined upon a relentless fight against accident causes. Today the council has a membership of over 4,500 industrial concerns, government departments, insurance companies, schools, libraries, miscellaneous organizations and individuals. Its influence is felt throughout more than 10,000 workshops and among more than 10,000,000 workers, whose lives are safer because of its service. Its scope has grown from national to international.

HARRY BOWLER HAS RIGHT IDEA ABOUT GOLFING

Winchester Pro Praised by Walter Hagen for His Successful System of Club-Building

By WALTER HAGEN
British Open Golf Champion
American Professional Champion

London, Ont., Aug. 1—In my barnstorming tours I meet a great many professional golfers and many of these do not seem to be satisfied with their jobs. They seem to think that they could do better elsewhere but I can not agree with 95 per cent of those who find fault with their situation.

For many years now I have known and highly respected Harry Bowler, professional at the Winchester Country Club, Winchester, Mass. I very seldom meet Harry at a golf tournament because he long ago decided that as a professional golfer he would follow a business course and be a non-tournament playing professional, putting in his entire time and efforts in building up the club and giving the members the best service possible as a teacher and manager of the outdoor activities.

Just how well Harry has carried out this program is attested by his 16 years of service with the same club, and I expect it could be demonstrated further by his bank account. I never heard Bowler complain about his job. He is well satisfied and has a fine place, because to a very large extent he made it so. Bowler also, during the winter months, conducts a most successful indoor golf school in Boston.

Hundreds of professional golfers would do well to pattern after Harry Bowler. He told me of taking charge at Winchester 16 years ago, when it was a small town nine-hole course and how at first he worked to gain the respect and confidence of the officials and club members. In other words, he sold himself to them.

He then set about observing the systems of the various departments of the club then in operation, occasionally offering suggestions for betterments. Among the good works done at Winchester by Bowler were the purchase of supplies at a saving to the club, the handling and registering of guests which to every club is a big item of revenue, and the installation of an adequate caddie system and training the boys.

Bowler says the average professional golfer is wasting not only his own time, which means money, but his club's time in following up too many tournaments. The lessons and sales he loses plus his expenses runs into real money, and the average club member today is not interested in where his professional lands in a tournament. He is interested in "Has our professional time open for a lesson?"

I certainly agree with Bowler in this. I have been astounded by the large number of professionals I have met at open tournaments being played hundreds and sometimes thousands of miles from their home clubs. I realize that not more than four per cent of the players can do the tournament and make expenses.

I pass up many tournaments myself because I cannot afford to give up my time and take the chance of winning prize money enough to cover my outlay, and my chances are certainly above the average. If I am on a tour and have exhibitions in a section where an open is to be played, I generally enter the tournament.

No other class of professional athletes gives so much to their game as the professional golfers give to golf. I often wonder what would happen if professional baseball players received payment only when they won.

Of course open tournament competition stimulates golf, for it creates interest, but this is usually centered in a few players and the others are wasting their time and money.

I cannot imagine Harry Bowler taking four or five days off during his busy season to travel a few hundred miles to play in a tournament in which at least 10 crack professionals would be sure to be entered and in which event only the first four would win enough to cover all expenses.

There are numerous tournaments of this sort, well attended by professional golfers who haven't a chance of winning, yet they keep coming. It is most surprising. I know Eastern professionals who have made what we call the "California and Texas jump" and who have never been in the prize money. The trip has cost them all their summer profits. I wouldn't make the "California and Texas jump" myself and be sure of earning more than expenses.

Harry Bowler has got the right idea, which it would pay 95 per cent of professionals to copy.—[Boston Globe.

WINCHESTER REPRESENTED IN COHASSET TOURNEY

Several of Winchester's young tennis stars participated in the South Shore tennis championships played this week at the Cohasset Golf Club.

As was to be expected, none of the local entrants got very far toward any titles for, as was the case a week ago, the Winchester youngsters were competing out of their class.

Maribel Vinson, internationally known fancy skater, advanced to the fourth round of the women's singles play before she met defeat at the hands of Miss Alice Thorndike. The Winchester girl drew a bye in the first round and won in the second, 6–3, 6–1, from Miss Jessie Bancroft.

Virginia Merrill survived the preliminary and first and second rounds, losing in the third to Mrs. A. C. Butler, 6–1, 6–1. Frances Pettingell won her first round match, 6–0, 6–2 from Mrs. P. Chase, but was eliminated in the second round, after three hard sets, by Miss Ruth Sears, the scores being 6–4, 4–6, 6–2.

After winning by default in the preliminary round from Mrs. Huntington R. Hardwick, Louise Packer was finally nosed out in the second round by Miss Marion Morse, seeded fourth in the draw. The scores, 3–6, 6–4, 10–8, show clearly the fight Louise waged against her opponent. Gertrude Packer and Bara Baugher fell by the wayside in the first round, the former losing to Mrs. J. L. Bremmer, one of the seeded players and Bara to Miss Dorrance Chase.

Frances Poinier playing with Maribel Vincent and Virginia Merrill and Frances Pettingell were eliminated in the first round of the women's doubles, but Mary Cutter and Bara Baugher succeeded in surviving the first two rounds. They first defeated Gertrude and Louise Packer in three sets, 2–6, 6–3, 6–2, and won in the second round from Miss Vogel and Mrs. E. W. Pervere by default.

Odd Contradiction in Behavior of Mankind

When a man goes into a field to devote a day's work to producing food crops for his needs, he labors with intelligence, and accepts world experience. There is an agreed time to plant and harvest, and he follows this knowledge; in everything, while in the field, he works as effectively as possible. He naturally accepts all information that has been tried out in the centuries. He finds truth an asset; folly troublesome and expensive.

But when the same man goes to church, or lodge, political convention, or social affair, he changes his attitude; he believes in sentiment, and denies fact and experience in half he does.

A man must be a strange creature to God, who does all things well.—E. H. Howe's Monthly.

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR ITALIAN DAY

Plans are practically completed for the big two-day celebration to be sponsored by Winchester's Italian residents on next Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 11 and 15, in honor of the Feast of the Assumption.

The Feast of the Assumption, an internationally observed Holy Day in the Roman Catholic Churches falls on Wednesday, Aug. 15, and the program for its observance by the Italian residents here starts the previous Tuesday evening with a concert on Manchester Field by the Roma Band of Boston, from 8 until 10:30 o'clock. The band, under the leadership of Maestro Signor Tito Allega, is scheduled to arrive in Winchester at 7 and will play during a short parade through the Italian section of the town, preceding its appearance at the playground.

Wednesday's program will start promptly at 8 in the morning when the Roma Band will arrive in Winchester and will parade, headed by the chairman and members of the arrangements committee, about the square and through the principal streets of the town until noon. Members of the Christopher Columbus Society are to be in line.

The Salem Band of 30 pieces, composed of boys from 12 to 15 years of age under 13 year old director, Dicie Del Campo will arrive in town early in the afternoon and participate with the Roma Band in the parade which will form at St. Mary's Church at 2 o'clock. Once again the center and the principal streets of Winchester will be covered by the line of march which will not break ranks until 6:30.

The Roma Band will play its second concert program from the band stand on Manchester Field Wednesday evening, from 7:30 until 10:30 o'clock with the big fireworks display scheduled to commence at 10. The fireworks this year promise to be unusually interesting since two companies, the Rhode Island Fireworks Company Inc., and the Randolph Fireworks Distributing Company, are to compete for a $50 gold medal to be awarded that one producing the best display. Members of the Board of Selectmen are to serve as judges.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes: Frank Dattilo, Chairman; Ugo Rolli, Treasurer; Alfredo Rolli, Secretary; Dominico Della Sventura, Antonio Maraviogliio, Alfonso Cuicolo, Orlando Pasquale, Antonio Maggio, Davide Mascioli and Giovanni Gattineri.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The schools will officially open on Wednesday, Sept. 5.

Pupils to be admitted to the kindergarten must be 5 years of age on or before Jan. 1. Pupils to be admitted to the first grade must be 6 years of age on or before Jan. 1. The age preferred for kindergarten is 5 years of age on Sept. 1, but the Committee allow a few extra months up to Jan. 1. The preferred age for the first grade is 6 years of age on Sept. 1, but the Committee allow a few months up to Jan. 1.

If there are parents who are of the opinion that their children have advanced more rapidly mentally than the age would indicate and whose children are not of the required age, they may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Winchester 1780, for a special mental examination which will be given at the Superintendent's office on the following dates: Aug. 30, 31, Sept. 1, 5, 6. au19-3t

TAX RATE REDUCED 80c IN WINCHESTER

Winchester's tax rate for the coming year is to be $26 even, a reduction of 80c from the figures of a year ago. The new rate comes as rather of a surprise since many believed the Town was facing a raise this season. The curtailing of municipal expenditure at the special Town Meeting in June undoubtedly did much to make the reduction possible.

BUSINESS NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Mr. Arthur O'Neil is no longer associated with the firm known as the Fells Plumbing and Heating Company of 656 Main street in Winchester. The business is to be carried on in the future under the same name by Messrs. John Doherty, P. S. Ryan and William Callahan. au10-3t

The Calumet Club closed its doors last Saturday night to undergo its annual renovation for the winter season under the supervision of Steward Fred H. Scholl. The club will not reopen until Labor Day.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

In the absence of President Harris our Vice-President Roscoe was in the chair at Thursday's meeting. This is the first time that Roscoe has been called upon to preside over our club, but he did so in the manner of a veteran.

The number of Rotarians present corresponded exactly with the membership of the Winchester club, but as a matter of fact nearly one-third of these were visitors. It is quite evident that many Winchesterites are out of town, for there is ample evidence that most of our absentees are enjoying the hospitality of other clubs.

Through the courtesy of Tom we had the pleasure of entertaining a distinguished guest in the person of Gen. John H. Sherburne, candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth, who gave the address of the day. General Sherburne is an entertaining and understandable speaker.

Having been a delegate to the Republican National Convention in Kansas City last June, he was able to give us a very clear understanding of the proceedings of that body and an interpretation of the significance of the work accomplished. In similar fashion he described the acts of the Democratic National Convention at Houston, including a discerning analysis of political conditions in our Southland especially as pertain to the attitude of Southerners on the Prohibition question.

General Sherburne concluded his remarks by giving us his views on the political outlook in our own State for the coming campaign. He left with us the impression that few candidates are as well informed on affairs public and political as himself.

Once more we call attention to the change in our meetings this month. Our regular meetings will come at the usual time and place Aug. 16 and Aug. 30. On Aug. 23 there will be no meeting, but on the 21st (Tuesday) we shall be the guests of the Woburn Club at Glendale Farm. This of course will count as a regular meeting. Please mark your calendars to correspond with the above.

HAD TO KILL HORSE FOLLOWING INJURY

One of a pair of horses, owned by James W. Russell of Main street, had to be killed after the animal had been struck by a truck while on Winthrop street about 75 feet beyond the Winchester line in Medford just before 8:15 Tuesday morning.

Police Headquarters was notified of the accident and Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy with Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell responded to the call for assistance. They found that the accident occurred when a Reo truck, owned by E. Zorbas Company of 213 Winter street, Haverhill, and driven by Tony J. Lebro of Prescott street, that city, while going south on Winthrop street in the car tracks had been unable to leave the rails to pass the team of horses which was hitched to a farm wagon and driven by Patrick J. White of Glenwood avenue.

The team was also going south and the wing board of the truck struck the belly of one of the horses, cutting a deep gash and so badly injuring the animal that Patrolman O'Connell was obliged to shoot him. No other injuries or damage was involved in the accident.

LARGE QUANTITY OF CONTRABAND SEIZED IN LOCAL RAID

Chief of Police William R. McIntosh with Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman James P. Donaghey conducted a successful raid about 9:30 Thursday morning at 51 Irving street occupied by the families of Pasquale Ingaciola and Vincenzo Pennelli.

It was necessary to press one of Kelley & Hawes Company's big trucks into service to transport to police headquarters the contraband which included about 150 gallons of alleged wine in barrels, car-buoys, jugs and bottles. A sample of the liquid was sent to the State chemists for analysis and if the alcoholic content exceeds that prescribed by law summonses will be issued those adjudged responsible by the police.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The local Catholic Daughters of America enjoyed their annual outing at Nantasket Wednesday and the large number present voted it the "best ever."

Sixty-eight members of the order and some few of their children boarded the 9:05 train Wednesday morning, leaving "dull care" to languish behind wherever it wished. Taxis—previously engaged, conveyed the various groups across the city, and 10:15 saw the merry party "sitting pretty" on the forward deck of the Nantasket steamer. An ideal day, not too cool nor too sunny, contributed to everybdy's good humor, and a short walk along the beach accomplished, the guests found themselves being cordially welcomed at the Dartmouth Cottage by their hostess, Mrs. Mary McGovern.

After all had "tidied up" and removed the stains of travel the welcome sound of the dinner bell bade them assemble in the airy, pleasant dining room where they did full justice to a roast chicken dinner served as only Mrs. McGovern can serve it. And when we say it was even better than two years ago we pay the lady the highest "dinner compliment" to date. It was a triumph of culinary art and left nothing to be desired. We feel that she, knowing the Daughter's reputation, cooked must have taken extra pains with the dressing and the ice cream. For they were the best we ever tasted—and no praise could be higher.

Naturally after disposing of that dinner our thoughts turned to amusement of a quiet sort and all voted for the whist and bridge tables. Time to play fled only too fast and following a half-hour of community singing and a short dip in the ocean at was "all aboard" again for the delightful sail home. The joy of that sail must now be added to those other trips and sails as this, our 10th annual outing, takes its place in the history of the Court—and in that particular niche which we reserve for old times, old songs, and the dear old friends.

Taxis waiting at the wharf, the 10 o'clock train for Winchester, part of the group leaving the train at Winchester and part at Cross street, joyous, tired farewells and "goodbye until our September china shower and luncheon!" This and three cheers for the chairman of our most successful outing, Sentinel Nora O'Melia, added another red letter to the long list on the C. D. of A. Court calendar.

CAMP WINCHESTER

The weather which held good for the first week of the Winchester Council Boy Scout Camp at Orleans has proved inclement enough this week to cause a variation of the program and to keep the Scouts indoors for a larger part of the time.

On Aug. 6 an indoor field meet was held between the Reds and the Blues. Contests were held in artificial respiration, Japanese boxing, roller bandaging, Morse signalling, antelope racing, raisen and string race and knot tying. The Reds won and thereby received five points in the camp contest.

The first issue of the camp paper showed that the Reds had won the first week's contests by a narrow margin. With their wins at inspection this week they now have a comfortable lead.

The plays held in the big recreation hall on last Saturday evening were so excellently done that the judges were unable to decide upon a winner. Several Winchester people were down that day and these, with local visitors made a good sized audience.

On Sunday all campers went to church. The Protestants hiking to East Orleans while the Catholics were conveyed to Brewster.

On Wednesday the 15 leaders at inspection went fishing in a large motor boat and reported a great time.

Push ball has proven to be a very popular sport here this summer and the Reds and Blues are very evenly matched at it. Other activities of campers for the week just passed are camp fires, snipe hunt, nature walk, trip to ball game, trip to movies, morning sings and a treasure hunt. Upon the return of good weather, an especially full program is planned for the remainder of the week.

Winchester's business center surely resembled "the deserted village" on Wednesday, everything being closed tightly while local merchants observed Traders' Day. The activities of the Highway Department crew busy upon the widening of Main street from the railroad crossing to Thompson street gave those going through town something to look at.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

President Annie M. Hanlon announces the date of the next of the series of whist parties, Friday evening, Aug. 10. On that date Mrs. Myrtle E. Goodhue, 48 Cross street, will open her home to members and friends for this popular game, and cordially bids each and all to attend. Prizes are solicited for these affairs which are being conducted for sick relief and charitable purposes, and members should see to it that the kindly hostess has a goodly supply.

It's a good thing that we've had no club sessions during the torrid spells we've been treated to, but just the same we rather miss the get-together parties and heartily indorse Sister Goodhue's efforts to "start something."

Vice-President Caroline Coakley expects to call the entertainment committee together in September. But why worry! It's a long ways off and we feel quite content to join the felt-slipper brigade and do a little procrastinating on our own hook. Anyway, we are not borrowing trouble; so the date will be announced later.

Since the outing that placed Sister Esther McCarthy on the invalid list, no sick reports have come in. Sister Annie Vayo is reported as convalescent and visits and cards from members are welcome. Sister Lilly Green is still at Chester, N. H., caring for her invalid husband and is very much home would be cheerful to her also.

A card from Mrs. Emma Aumell, who is vacationing at Norwich, Vt., makes one rather long to join her on her "marvelous time driving around the country." The scenery is great up that way.

Sister Jennie Regan, who is spending the summer at Derry, N. H., took a ten-day trip to New York recently, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. P. J. O'Connell of Manchester, N. H. Needless to say she enjoyed the trip—we all know she makes a good time wherever she trips to.

Sister Elizabeth Fitzgerald is busy these days planning to tour the State of Maine with Mrs. Serena MacNiff. It's a pretty big order but those two good pals are equal to it—with the help of the natives, of course.

Sister Alice Sullivan is booked for Milford, N. H., with a party of pleasure seekers, and Margaret Sullivan has selected Old Orchard Beach as the ideal spot to rest up in.

Sisters Emma Cullen and Ethel Horn are having a pretty good time tripping off on week-ends here and there, and about every one is either coming or going.

Apparently, the only thrill in Winchester at the present time is the revival of the Democratic Party. Adherents in this town used to be as scarce as hen's teeth—and about as useful. Now they appear to be "sitting up and taking notice" and may, in time, become courageous enough to "speak right out at meeting" like the privileged class. Well, it's great to discover that something is alive in this "Athens of America." Let's hope, at least, that they may make a move to take the ban off moving-pictures. It seems too bad to confine this harmless enjoyment to religious sects and schools.

AIRPLANE TO AID WITH CELEBRATION OF ITALIAN DAY

Chairman Frank Dattilo of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the celebration of the Feast of the Assumption by Winchester's Italian residents next Tuesday and Wednesday announced yesterday morning that an airplane had been secured to aid in the festivities planned for the later date.

A local aviator, Albert Luongo of Florence street, will pilot the plane, "American Eagle," and will circle about town, dropping flags, during the afternoon religious parade which is to start at St. Mary's Church at 2 p. m.

Everything had been done to ensure the general excellence of the original program as announced elsewhere in the Star and the committee hit upon the plan to have a local boy fly above Wednesday's line of march in the hopes of adding a new thrill to "Italian Day" in 1928.

The Board of Selectmen has received a letter from the County Commissioners in which Friday, Sept. 7, has been set as the date for a hearing upon the petition of the Board for alterations and re-surfacing of Forest street. The hearing is to be held in the County Commissioners' office at East Cambridge, starting at 10 a. m. As a result of this information the Selectmen have requested representatives of Stoneham to meet the Board on Sept. 4 to discuss any local plans which should precede the commissioners' hearing.

COMING EVENTS

Aug. 14, Tuesday. Flower Mission. Flowers for Boston leave Winchester Station on the 9:07 train.

Aug. 14 and 15, Tuesday and Wednesday. Feast of the Assumption. Band Concerts and Fireworks on Manchester Field, auspices of Italian residents of Winchester.

STONE & WEBSTER HERE TOMORROW

Winchester Town Team, after two cancellations, will try to take on the strong Stone & Webster baseball club tomorrow afternoon on Manchester Field at 3:15.

The visitors come to Winchester with a good record, having defeated among others the B. T. Y. team of Fall River, the Abroco Club of Abington, South Boston Town Team, College A. C. of Somerville and the Greenfield Town Team.

Their lineup includes a couple of Winchester boys, "Flats" Flaherty, who is playing center field and "Joe" Quirley in right. The former needs no introduction to local fans as he has played with the St. Mary's Club for the past two seasons and last fall had a "day" on Manchester Field, ball player than for his diamond ball player than for his diamond prowess during his high school days when he was a member of the varsity eleven under "Ernie" Roberts.

"Lefty" Mardeville, ace of Boston College, is slated to pitch for the engineers with Kelley, former Lexington High backstop, catching. "Johnny" Fannon, old Somerville teammate of "Denny" McFadden, "Shanty" Bogan and Haskell Billings of big league fame, is at shortstop for S. & W. and George O'Neil, former all scholastic infielder at Boston English, plays third. Gilfeather, second baseman, is the old Malden "Twi" player. If these boys are in good form the locals should have to hustle to win.

An item in a local paper states that "Ollo" Lee has been signed to pitch with one of the Woburn Clubs and if this is so, the latter will probably see little service here as the youngster should not work in two games a week. Lee is being poorly advised. An occasional Saturday game at home ought not to do him any particular harm, but he emphatically should not try to work for two clubs. The kid's future depends upon his development during the next two years and he should lay off too much participation in summer ball until he is a bit more experienced and farther along physically.

GEORGE FRANCIS EDGETT

George Francis Edgett, for the past 55 years a resident of Winchester, died shortly before midnight Sunday, Aug. 5, at his home on Lawrence street, following a six months' illness.

Mr. Edgett was the son of George and Florette (Ames) Edgett and was born in 1865 at East Boston. After attending the Boston schools he entered the employ of the Boston tea importers, Robinson & Woodworth, with which firm he rounded out nearly half a century of service.

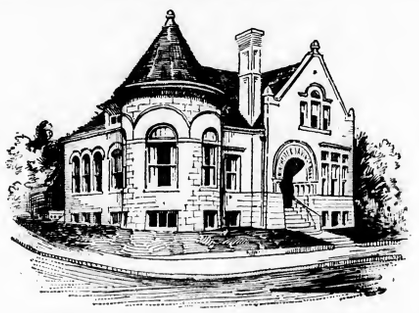

He was married in 1892 to Miss Clara Dutton, and the following year came to Winchester where during his long residence he had won for himself a wide circle of friends. Mr. Edgett was actively identified with the Church of the Epiphany where for 34 years he had been a member of the vested choir. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons, of which he was past master, and of the Winchester Country Club.

Surviving, are his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Donald M. Belcher of Winchester; and one sister, Mrs. Willard Morrison of Cambridge.

Delegations of business associates and members of William Parkman Lodge of Masons were among the large attendance at the simple funeral services which were conducted at the late residence Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. Truman Heminway, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. The quantities of beautiful flowers bespoke the esteem in which the deceased was held by those who had been glad of his friendship. Donald M. Belcher, A. Miles Holbrook, Franklin L. Hunt and George W. Fitch, all of Winchester, Stanley W. Ferguson of Newton and Willard C. Morrison of Cambridge were bearers. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Grace A. Redding and Miss Doris Redding accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Redding of West Medford, are spending the week at Augusta, Me.

EARLY MORNING FIRE IN SWANTON STREET STORE

Last Sunday's alarm at 3:10 in the morning was for a fire in the store at the corner of Swanton and Holland streets occupied by John Morini, grocer, and the Amico Baking Company.

The alarm was pulled by Frank Connolly of 20 Summer street who according to his statement he had discovered the fire only shortly after, according to his statement, he had met Morini in the latter's automobile at the corner of Oak and Holland streets. Morini stated that he was going to New York.

Upon arrival the Fire Department discovered that the blaze had started in a rear corner of the store and the efforts of the firemen confined the fire to that location. Considerable damage was done to the stock of the store, but no amount of the loss was made public.

As a result of conditions in the building the police commenced an investigation, Officer James E. Farrell having seen Morini in the store at 2:50 the same morning. Officer Robert White when arriving at the building found Morini's keys in the door and reported that conditions would lead one to believe that the proprietor had left in a hurry.

GRANADA THEATRE

For those who love a plot structurally perfect, a cast that is indeed all-star, a story of intense interest and a star of never-failing beauty, "The Actress," starring Norma Shearer, which is now playing at the magnificent Granada Theater in Malden, will fulfill expectation. The story is the screen adaption of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's "Trelawney of the Wells," which has periodically thrilled continental and American audiences. Indeed, this play ranks with "Ben Hur" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in popularity. It has earned its fame, not so much from intricacies of the plot as in the vivid and eternally delightful characterizations of the principal actors. It might perhaps be an exaggeration to say that the cast of "The Actress" contains the best actors in Hollywodd, but it is surely true that they are as good as the best. In addition to Miss Shearer the cast includes Ralph Forbes, Gwen Lee, Roy D'Arcy Lee Moran and Cyril Chadwick. Each and every member of this cast is a great artist and give excellent performances. The regular five-act bill of selected Granada vaudeville is also a feature of the bill to be presented on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Clara Bow, the little girl who jumped up the ladder of fame in the past year or so to the position of the biggest drawing card among the feminine stars, comes to the Granada next Monday and Tuesday in her new picture "Ladies of the Mob." Miss Bow's new picture is a story of gangsters and their loves. It is by far the heaviest bit of acting Miss Bow has attempted. The story tells of a young couple of the underworld, the husband a crook and the wife striving at all times to make him go straight. The climax produces a thrill, when, caught and surrounded by the police, Miss Bow takes the most drastic method imaginable to keep "her man" on the straight and narrow path. Richard Arlen is the star's leading man.

BOY NOT INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY MOTOR

Leo McNally, son of Mrs. Gertrude E. McNally of 214 Washington street, narrowly escaped serious injury last Saturday evening when the coaster cart on which he was riding through the center was struck by an Essex coach driven by Frank M. Russell of 9 Ravenscroft road.

Mr. Russell, according to the story told the police was headed north on Main street and was about opposite the tailor shop of Levine & Farber when in turning out to pass a machine going in the same direction he ran directly into the cart of the youngster. The automobile broke the front wheel on the little wagon, but the boy apparently was unhurt.

Police Headquarters was appealed to Monday night about 10:15 by parents living on Fletcher street who reported that the slumbers of their offspring were being rudely disturbed by the activities of an electric welder engaged in joining metal pipes for the new main which the Arlington Gas Light Company is laying through town. Patrolman William Cassidy took the matter up with the workman who ceased his labors.

LAUNDRY FISHING PARTY WAS THRILLER

Members of last Sunday's fishing party sponsored by drivers and plant employees of the Winchester Laundry won't need to experience any new thrills for quite some time in view of what they went through during the heavy thunder storm which broke while the fishermen were on the Atlantic Ocean about three miles off the Swampscott shore.

The party was aboard the power boat, "Miss Swampscott," Captain Chisson, and was enjoying the fishing three miles from Egg Rock off Swampscott when the storm came up. A dory which was not far from the power boat signalled the larger craft for help and Captain Chaisson at once went to its assistance.

Drawing along side it was found that the dory was leaking badly and the crew of three men were promptly taken aboard the power boat which started in with the smaller boat in tow.

The fury of the storm had by this time whipped the ocean into good sized waves, one of which broke over the power boat, flooding the engine pit and rendering the engine useless.

Without power the boat was helpless and at the mercy of the elements. She was adrift and taking in water rapidly when her plight was noted by the Coast Guard at Nahant. Capt. George Cove of the latter station at once ordered the station power launch to go to the rescue, a line was taken aboard the "Miss Swampscott" and the unhappy fishermen safely towed into Swampscott Harbor.

Only one Winchester man, William R. Carroll of 11 Lincoln street, was a member of the rescued party but many of its other members are well known here through their association with the laundry. They included Howard P. Cummings of 235 Fellsway, East Melrose; Charles E. Antler of 105 Upham street, Melrose; Walter Stevens, 22 Thorndike street, Somerville; Stanwood B. Towne, 57 Ryerson avenue, Somerville; Myron P. Lovering, Homer E. Lovering and Everett A. Lovering, all of 17 Pleasant street, Stoneham; Elmer W. Tyler, 8 Burdett avenue, Medford; Murray Kerr, 11 Victoria street, Somerville; F. Leslie Sison, 56 Pleasant street, Stoneham; Fred R. Patterson, 52 Beach street, Woburn; Arthur P. Graham and Frank L. Graham both of 19 Garden street, Woburn; A. Y. Dexter, 9 Logan street, Medford; and R. C. Smith of 32 Pond street, Stoneham.

Stephen E. Ryan of 180 Hamilton street, Dorchester, reported to the police that while he was headed north on Cambridge street at 8:15 Tuesday morning his machine was in collision with a Chevrolet automobile at Pond street. The latter car was owned and operated by Walter Abbott of Lillian street, Woburn. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

London's Peace Guardians

The city of London has one policeman to each acre and to every 12 of the population. This latter figure, however, is based on the night population as the city area has few residents.

Millions From Lode

Up to 1890, when it began sharply to decline, the total yield of the Comstock lode from its discovery in 1859 was approximately $340,000,000. This is a compound fissure lode, in Nevada, rich in both gold and silver.

BASEBALL GAME AGAIN CANCELLED

Once again the baseball game scheduled between the town teams of Winchester and Charlestown for last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field had to be cancelled, this time because too few of the visitors put in an appearance to ensure a real contest.

The Charlestown manager said that the heat had evidently gotten to his warriors and Manager Farrell, after sizing up the situation, wisely chose to call the game rather than to put on an exhibition between two picked-up teams.

Only a handful of fans were hovering about in the shade of the playground trees, the day being much too hot to tempt any but the most rabid devotees of baseball.

The cancellation was unfortunate in one sense since rain had prevented the boys from strutting their stuff the previous Saturday and many of "Dukes" players will have gone a couple of weeks without a game under their belts when they again take the field.

On the whole the locals have enjoyed an exceptionally good home season. The boys in their games on Manchester Field have yet to meet defeat since the opening game when a very sour line-up was easy picking for the Woburn City Club which Winchester later defeated in 15 exciting innings, 2 1.

The locals have been fielding well and hitting timely, if not heavily. "Archa" Amico and "Hick" Lee have both pitched steady good ball and have been held up nicely by the veteran Mark Kelley. Wincho's infield combination of "Nick" Fitzgerald at first, "Dippy" McManus at second, "Brad" Cortes, third and "Jerry" Colucci, shortstop, is about the best all around combination seen on Manchester Field since the days of "Packy" Walsh, Christoforo, "Buddy" Nelson and "Jackie" Hevey. The local outfield combination of "Massey" Carey, "Touchy" Gray and "Doc" Doherty has been fielding well with the venerable Doctor doing some timely batting.

Everything considered the team has done well in the face of poor support and it behooves the fans to rally a bit to the standard of the management and help wipe out a deficit under which the club is struggling along.

While the boys are operating "in the red" it is impossible to get some of the teams which Manager Farrell would like to bring to Winchester since a majority of the better independent combinations demand a flat guarantee. The management is planning to canvass the town for contributions to help maintain the team for the remainder of the summer and those who enjoy baseball on Manchester Field with those interested in helping along a worthwhile local project should take the rubber off the well known bank roll and help out.

Those who have seen the games this season must admit that with but one exception they have been worth while watching. The collections on the playground have been negligible and would not cover expenses if everyone paid, which of course they do not. If you aren't approached for a contribution, there is no law against sending your check to Manager Farrell at Police Headquarters.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday include "The Fifty-Fifty Girl" with scintillating Bebe Daniels and "The Whip Woman" starring Estelle Taylor.

"The Fifty-Fifty Girl" deals with a modern American girl and the difficulty of putting her theory of the superiority of woman over man to the test of practical circumstances. A series of humorous situations results when the girl meets a man with decidedly opposite views and a partnership results by which the girl is to take all the male prerogatives and the man is to be accorded all the consideration due a woman, James Hall plays opposite Miss Daniels in this amusing picture.

In "The Whip Woman" Estelle Taylor is a Hungarian peasant girl, while Antonio Moreno is a nobleman. Despite their great love for each other the girl feels that such a marriage cannot last. Whether it can or not, and how two ardent natures such as these work out their destiny makes one of the most interesting screen stories of the year.

For the last three days of the week the feature pictures are "The Yellow Lily" with Billie Dove and "Burning the Wind" with Hoot Gibson.

"The Yellow Lily" is an exotic romance adapted from Lajos Biro's stage drama of Hungarian life, of the same title. Clive Brook plays opposite Miss Dove, and the many picturesque and colorful supporting roles are filled by notable players.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

On last Monday evening, Mrs. John Halligan, one of our new members, entertained the members and their friends at a charity whist at her home on Tremont street. She certainly proved herself a charming hostess and all who attended proclaimed the affair a tremendous success. This is one of several house parties which the local branch will conduct during the coming months, all for the charity work which is carried on by our local branch individually as well as in conjunction with the several branches of the M. C. W. G. throughout the Boston diocese.

While business meetings have been suspended during the summer months, to be resumed again next month, these little house parties serve a double purpose of providing finances for our charitable work and affording a social gathering for the members and their friends.

At our first fall meeting which will be held next month, Sister Josephine Kane, chairman of the Charitable Committee plans to outline for the committee and regular members the work which the branch contemplates carrying on during the winter season of 1928-1929. Sister Kane, as chairman of the Charitable Committee extends her appreciation to Sister Halligan for the success of her party of last Monday evening.

JOHN LYONS

John Lyons, a former well known resident of Winchester passed away early Friday morning, Aug. 3, at his home in Dorchester.

Mr. Lyons was born in County Cavan, Ireland, the son of Henry and Margaret (Rourke) Lyons. As a young man he came to this country and for 25 years made his home in Winchester, being employed as a currier in a Woburn leather shop. During the latter years of his life here he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Mary Lyons McLaughlin, now deceased.

Surviving, besides his wife, are a daughter, Mrs. James English of Los Angeles, Cal., and two sons, Henry J. Lyons of Chicago and William Lyons of Los Angeles. Nine grandchildren also survive him.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the McLaughlin residence at 287 Washington street with a high mass of requiem celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

WINCHESTER BOY RUNNER-UP IN ROCKLAND TOURNEY

And still they come. With "Charlie" Eaton carrying Winchester's banner into the National Junior Open Golf Tournament at Chicago after winning the Masachusetts junior title, with big "Jim" Fitzgerald making batting history in the Cape Cod Baseball League and local junior tennis players starring in most of the better tournaments throughout the district, still another Winchester youngster, "Bobby" Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Smith of Walcott terrace, does his bit for the town's athletic prestige by finishing second in the open golf tournament held at Rockport last Friday.

"Bobby" shot some fine golf to total a gross of 78 which with his club handicap of 12 gave him a net 66. And as we said before, still they come.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

At the Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday the management will offer Sidney Chaplin in "Skirts" one of the big comedy pictures of the year in which Mr. Chaplin will have a number of stars in the cast including, Betty Balfour. Another picture sure to find favor will be, "Under the Black Eagle" a war film that is different. It will offer the wonder dog "Flash" as a member of the cast. Ralph Forbes, Marceline Day, and a others will also be seen. Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy will amuse in the Hal Roach comedy, "Battle of the Century" and the Pathe News, Aesops Fables and five vaudeville acts will also be seen. Concert every Sunday at 3.

Mightier Than the Purse

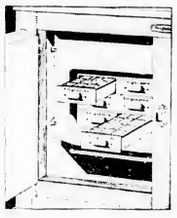

How a California newspaper man's pen became as mighty as a well-filled purse is told by V. C. of Hayward, Calif. Scouring the town for stories, the reporter came upon a poverty-stricken little family occupying two rooms, with no beds and very little of anything else. The children slept huddled on the floor. Into his column next day went a faithful and graphic description. The following day he spent the later hours delivering furniture, bedding, clothing and food for the family, for the proffered supply soon exceeded the immediate needs.

Future Gasoline Supply

While there still is plenty of natural gasoline available, scientists are working on processes for the manufacture of motor fuel. Among the plans under consideration is the use of distillates from soft coal.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Don't tell your friend all you know the first time you meet him, continued stories are the best sellers.

Some of these young fellows can get rid of money all right but can't get rid of the trouble they get with it so easily.

Be glad and your friends are many, be sad and you loose them all.

Every laugh adds a minute to ones' life and every sigh draws a drop of blood from the heart.

Every man and wife, brother and sister, comrade and friend should rejoice in one another while they may.

Laments Passing of the "Good Old Times"

Times have changed and people have grown so serious that the old delight in holidays has vanished, is the complaint voiced by the writer of an editorial in Liberty Magazine.

"April Fools' day was one of the bright spots of the year," points out the editorial. "There was a brick under the hat; the stuffed pocketbook with the string tied to it. Breakfast muffins filled with cotton were a rare jest, and so was candy shot through with cayenne pepper. It was a long time anticipated and long remembered, as were St. Valentine's day, Christmas eve, Hallowe'en, and the night before the Fourth of July. On Thanksgiving we went to grandmother's house and ate gargeously. There aren't such grandmothers any more, or such cranberries.

"Christmas now means bills to meet," continues the disillusioned writer. "Independence day has been made a Sane Fourth. We no longer get any fun out of April Fools' day. Those unofficial childish holidays were a kind of possession peculiar to the past. They are not the same now. We are grown up and serious, and times have changed."

Reverse Evolution

The motorist had had an accident with his light car on the Brighton road. He limped painfully to a telephone box and called up the nearest garage. "Hello," he said, "I've turned turtle. Can you do anything for me?" "I'm afraid not," came the sweet feminine reply. "You've got the wrong number. What you want is the zoo."—Sporting and Dramatic Yarns.

HOW CHINA LOOKS AT IT

C. P. O. Box No. 1234,
Shanghai, China
July 6, 1928

To the Editor of the Star:

I have just read articles by missing-link seekers. In one was reproduced a photo—an ape's foot much like a human foot. The author said it proved our ape ancestry. Recently I handled a snap-shot of an islander with a tail nearly four inches long. Another proof! But a few years ago I saw in Japan a stuffed calf with a human face—a strong proof that we've sprung from cows! So what are we to think? The articles amused as they said believers in their theory were of "up-to-date," "modern" minds. But their "new" ideas seem like plagiarism. These "superior-minded" men say we came up from the monkey and are even in some sense divine! The Chinese of old say a monkey—excepting his face—became not only man but also a god! has his temples and is worshipped in China. I enclose a monkey-god.

The Chinese say he was hatched, by gentle zephyrs, from a stone egg on a rocky mountain, to be a delight to the upper-god. But, alas, he was a trouble-maker. He was ambitious and his exploits caused him to be acclaimed king of the animals and to wax strong. Through Long-Wang he got an iron rod which he could expand at will to span the sky or contract so as to fit in his ear—magic wand! Pu-ti taught him how to fly and how to change himself into 72 different shapes. What he could not do is hard to say. But as he gained in power, and his friends said he was worthy to rule heaven, if he wished to do so. Many kings made league with him and celebrated it with feasting. But our monkey got drunk, and while unconscious he was taken to hell. He awoke, overcame the powers of hell and escapes. He was accused to Yoh Wang who thought to keep Monkey quiet by bestowing upon him the title "Heavenly Horse-keeper." He was elated; but learning it was an empty title, he, in fierce anger, smashed heaven's gate and overturned the throne. The upper-god called upon the hosts of heaven and hell to overcome the monkey; but in vain. After the monkey's victory the upper-god, in fright, conceded monkey's demands, made him a god, conferred upon him a real title, and allowed him to live in heaven in a grand castle. But monkey-god was not godly! He would steal, stealing and eating the peaches of everlasting life and, from Lao Chun's palace, stole and ate his pills of immortality. Doubly immortal, proud of his powers, he constantly mocked the other gods. He became unbearably overbearing. A great conference was called in heaven to which great Buddha was summoned. The monkey-god even tried to mock this, the "self-existent one"! "I have heard that you are a great jumper, is it true?" asked the Buddha. "I'll bet you can't leap out of my hand. If you do I'll make you King of Heaven." The monkey eagerly answered, "I can turn over 108,000 li in one somersault, why shouldn't I leap out of your hand?" Then the monkey-god turned a somersault to the five white pillars—limits of the universe—and wrote his name on one, to show he'd been there, and turned a somersault back in triumph. "Didn't I turn out of your hand?" asked the monkey-god. "See what you wrote on my finger!" the Buddha answered, and showed Monkey his name on his finger—one of the pillars! Monkey gazed amazed. Buddha seized him, put him under a mountain, fed him with hot iron to punish him for his many sins, and said, "After a number of years a monk named Dang Sen will come and free you. You shall follow and guard him as he goes for the books of Buddha from the Western Paradise." Years sped; all came true; Monkey reformed, became true to his title, "The holiest in the heaven," and people began to worship him.

We teach my Brownies not these myths but the truth as given in the Bible. God's word for it satisfies us. Chinese teachings do not ennoble nor make life safe in China; but where God's word holds sway is goodness, safety and life. Pray that these Chinese may know the Bible, and know Jesus Christ—God and man—as their own precious Savior. With kindest regards,

Yours in Christ's glad service,

Beauty on the Stage

"American actresses are especially distinguished for their beauty," a French playwright recently said, "because Americans rate that quality so high. In France we put talent so far ahead of looks that, although we have many fascinating women on our stage, we have few beauties."—Eileen Bourne, in Liberty.

FOUR LOST FISHERMEN

It's a sad story mates! And to make a bad matter worse the bickering which has arisen since the adventure seems destined, if not abruptly checked, to disrupt what has hitherto been a beautiful friendship. The tale follows:

It being Traders' Day Wednesday and the town closed tighter than Mr. Heeney's much talked of optic after his widely advertised fistic debate with one James Joseph Tunney of the Marine Corps and Greenwich Village, four well known residents of Winchester determined upon a bit of an outing which would take them to Woods Hole and plenty of the fishing they all delight in.

Not caring to be libeled by any of the disciples of the well known Isaac we will refrain from mentioning names but will merely state that one of the party was a well known motorcycle officer, another a widely known reporter for an out-of-town daily, a third a popular gardener who makes his home on Clark street and the fourth the janiter of a new school on Highland avenue.

Having kept the identity of the parties sufficiently in the background let us proceed. The fishermen left Winchester during the wee small hours of Wednesday morning, at 5 o'clock to be exact, in the good ship "Whippet," bound out for Woods Hole and ports en route. As a matter of fact the ports en route won easily.

The guardian of the law was at the helm and the janitor served as pilot. The reporter and gardener were navigating officers. The craft moved swiftly, though of course in entire conformance with the motor vehicle laws. Nevertheless, substantial progress was made until the mariners reached Taunton, one of those ports en route.

Here something went amiss with the binnacle or sextant and the course was charted wrong. The skipper huffed when he should have jibed or jibed when he should have tacked with the result that the good ship "Whippet" was soon away out of soundings. Ports were visited, not originally upon the ship's lane, and natives, friendly and otherwise, were appealed to in an effort to get back on the proper course, the minion of the law learning that a policeman out of uniform is just a man "for a' that." No one seemed especially interested in the boys' arrival at Woods Hole, that is with a few exceptions and 'those who would have helped were "strangers here" and couldn't direct with much lucidity.

First rights and second lefts were taken continuously while the discussion as to with which of the mariners lay the fault for the loss of direction took on a more personal turn. All were absolutely right and yet, wrong.

Fall River and New Bedford were visited and finally the "Whippet" did cast anchor at Woods Hole, exactly 111 miles showing upon the speedometer. We have the word of the motorcycle officer for the figures, and he does know his speedometers. Almost any one will tell you so and wager money on it. So when he maintains that the return trip only consumed 80 miles we also accept his statement. It's good policy.

Between trips how fared the mariners? Oh yes, we forgot. The fishermen, giving vent to loud cheers, descended upon the fish, directly anchor was cast. During a long day the catch totalled three flounders and an intense sun burn. We were unable to learn the distribution of the fish. Late in the evening the mariners returned tired and garrulous, but not happy. Ask any of them about the trip, but get a good start first and keep ducking.

Pepys Kept Diary for His Own Satisfaction

Pepys born, 1633.

"A very worthy, industrious and curious person," says Evelyn.

Family "pull" got him into the civil service. He proved a hard worker; quick at shorthand; regular at church; musical; lover of art—incidentally, one of the first to collect chapbooks; member of the Royal society; a most respectable man who died credited with all the virtues.

And a century later we learned that he had been—what had he not been? "Scandalously overserved with drink;" a little tyrant in the house, who blackened his wife's eye and kicked the cook; a glutton; a rascal with far too keen an eye for pretty serving maids; none too particular about bribes. "Worthy person," indeed!

Who gave him away? He himself! For nine years he kept a diary. He never meant anybody to read it. Anyway, he wrote the bits his wife was not meant to see in shorthand, cipher, foreign languages or mumbo-jumbo of his own.

But why did he keep it lying about for 34 years? Why didn't he destroy it?

What a disaster if he had.—From the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

UDINE: NEAR ITALY'S NORTH-EASTERN DOORWAY

Udine, Italy, and the surrounding region where severe earthquake shocks occurred recently, lies on the direct road between the Italian plains and Vienna, and has therefore been the scene of more than one important military conflict, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Udine lies north of the head of the Adriatic Sea and just south of the Carnic Alps which now form the boundary between this portion of Italy and Austria. Fifty miles to the east lies the present boundary between Italy and Yugoslavia.

Land of Boulder-Strewn Gorges

A few miles north of Udine various streams issue from the Carnic Alps through deep gorges. The flat beds of these streams are strewn with great boulders and smaller shingle, through which, in the dry season, tiny rills trickle. But the region is one of the wettest in Europe, and when the torrents are in flood the boulders and shingle are carried ever farther down stream, creating wide gravel-covered beds in the plains. It was in the deep valley of one of these torrents, the Tagliamento, that the earthquakes caused greatest loss, in the village of Tolmezzo.

These mountain gorges have been taken before, and resulting landslides have in some cases changed the courses of the streams.

South of the mountains and gorges lie the plains of Friuli, a rich agricultural section in which Udine is situated. Many times these fruitful lowlands have attracted invaders from the north.

Passes Brought Highways Through Udine

North and northeast of Udine are a number of easy passes through the Carnic Alps, physical features which have placed Udine on the road both of traders and armies. In the early days of the Christian era, Aquileia, on the Adriatic coast, to the south, was the port of entry for Eastern goods. These moved to northern Europe through Udine and the Plocken Pass. When Venice replaced Aquileia, the main stream of goods moved farther west through the Brenner Pass; but the Udine route was still used as a secondary way. The Romans had used the route at an earlier date, and some of the old Roman paving still covers a part of the road leading to the Plocken.

The strong Venetian influences which played about Udine are to be seen in its architecture. Some of the structures are copies of buildings erected in Venice, and throughout Udine exterior walls of dwellings and public buildings are covered with frescoes in the Venetian style. The sky line of Udine is dominated by the old palace of the Patriarchs of Aquileia, church dignitaries who maintained temporal rule over this part of Italy until Udine was taken by Venice in the 15th century. Napoleon occupied the old palace in 1807; and a few miles to the southwest, at Campo Formio, he signed the treaty giving Venice to Austria.

On Most Active Austro-Italian War Front

Through Udine runs the main railway from Venice and northeastern Italy to Vienna. As soon as Italy entered the World War this region became the most active of the Austro-Italian war fronts. Trenches and the remains of fortifications can plainly be seen in the Felta Valley and on the mountain slopes east of Tolmezzo where the railway climbs toward the watershed.

General headquarters for the eastern Italian armies was maintained in Udine until the Austrians broke through in October, 1917. Udine and all the Friulian plains then fell into Austrian hands. A year later the fighting surged over Udine again, when, in the operation known as the Battle of Vittorio Veneto, the Italians pushed the Austrians from Italian territory. The old Austro-Italian border, which lay only 18 miles east of Udine before the World War, has been replaced by the Yugoslavian border, three times as far away.

Green Peas From Holland

Green peas were introduced into England from Holland about 1550. We are told that when Elizabeth was released from her imprisonment in the Tower in May, 1554, she first performed her devotions at the church of Allhallows and then dined at a neighboring inn, at which the principal dish was boiled peas. Shakespeare in "King Henry the Fourth" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Twelfth Night" refers to peas and peascod time.

RUSSIA OF TODAY A GEOGRAPHIC PUZZLE

A year ago Russia announced that the Union had 146,301,931 inhabitants according to a new census. But recently census enumerators, browned by the sun-swept sands of the Kara Kum Desert in the Transcaspian region, upset those figures when they reported 250,000 nomad Soviet subjects which had not been counted.

Although the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics is three times the area of the United States it has but 28,000,000 more inhabitants, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

6000 Miles Across

"Russia owns one-seventh of the land area of the world" has become a stock phrase among the Soviet orators. It is the world's largest continuous country and is second only to the British Empire among the world's landholders. Unlike the British Empire, however, its possessions are all within two continents—Europe and Asia. A trip across the Union from its western to its eastern border would nearly equal a round trip from New York to San Francisco.

From the borders of Poland and Rumania on the west, the Union stretches across half of Europe and northern Asia to the easternmost point of Kamchatka, which extends into the Pacific Ocean. Its bleak islands of the North are nearer the North Pole than Spitsbergen and its southern frontiers are on the parallel of Norfolk and San Francisco.

To tour the Union a traveler needs a year round wardrobe, continues the bulletin. The government operates a radio station 650 miles north of the Arctic Circle where the Eskimos huddle themselves in numerous layers of furs. Along the northern part of Russia and Siberia, the traveler sees the Samoyed, snuggly wrapped, emerge from his hut or lugout, straddle the reindeer, which is his only transportation, and trot across a land of perpetual snow. The whole range of temperate climates are encountered in the middle region while in the extreme south, where other Soviet subjects sit cross-legged on camels, straw hats and summer linens are even uncomfortable.

Divides into Six Republics

Politically the Union is divided into six constituent republics. They in turn comprise more than 30 autonomous units in many of which the inhabitants widely differ in race, languages, customs, costumes and culture.

The Russia Socialist Federated Soviet Republic, the largest of the republics, includes most of European Russia and Siberia. It is twice the size of Canada with a population nearly equal to that of the whole French Empire, which counts its possessions in both hemispheres. The Turkoman Soviet Socialist Republic and the Uzbek Soviet Socialist Republic, lying between the Caspian Sea and the back door of China are about six times as large as New York State but with a population about equal to that of New York City.

The Transcaucasian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic, which includes Georgia, Azerbaijan and Armenia, also has a population nearly equal to New York City and its area is slightly less than twice that of the State. The Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic, occupying the southwestern corner of Russia, is slightly smaller than California in area with a population less than that of San Francisco. The White Russian Soviet Socialist Republic, which is the "Rhode Island" of the constituent Republics, is about 40 times larger than the New England States with twice the population of Providence.

Tsars Expand Empire

The expansion of Russia began more than a thousand years ago. First the country was divided into numerous independent principalities and governed by princes. In the 15th century when the tsars took the reins of government, a great empire began to spread over the Eastern Hemisphere. Ivan the Third was the famous ground gainer on the Russian gridiron and earned the title "Gatherer of Russian Earth." Peter the Great, Catherine the Great, Alexander I and Nicholas I, however, should share the honors for extending the domain.

The Union is not quite as large as it was prior to 1917 under the tsars, for Esthonia, Latvia, Poland and Finland have been granted their freedom and Bessarabia, disputed territory between Rumania and the Ukraine, now is occupied by the Rumanians. These areas comprise 264,493 square miles with about 25,000,000 inhabitants.

NATAL, BRAZIL: SOUTH AMERICA'S "AIR DOOR"

Natal, Brazil, near which Major Delprete and Captain Ferrarin landed on their record-making flight from Rome, is the natural "air-door" to South America for all air traffic from Europe and Africa, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is close to Brazil's northeastern corner, the point of land which the new world thrusts nearest to the old.

Because of Natal's strategic geographic position in this regard, continues the bulletin, the recently organized air-mail line between Paris and Buenos Aires has established a flying field near the town. Natal has also figured in Brazilian maritime plans and its harbor is being improved with a view to making it the first port of call for steamships between Europe and ports on the southeast coast of South America.

At South America's Northeast Corner

Cape St. Roque may be considered the real northeast corner of South America. It lies approximately 20 miles north of Natal. The intervening strip of coast is made up of low sand dunes, with here and there a village set among coco palms. Tourers, where the second landing was effected when the flyers became lost in the fog, is about 30 or 40 miles north of Cape St. Roque.

Natal is not directly on the sea but lies about two miles up the river Potenghy, which is also known as the Rio Grande do Norte. It is from this stream that the state of Rio Grande do Norte, of which Natal is the capital, takes its name. The town was founded by the Portuguese more than three and a quarter centuries ago as a military post. In 1633 it was captured by the Dutch and remained in their possession until 1654. Few traces of the Dutch occupation remain.

Has "Animated Freight Trains"

Natal is far removed from the center of Brazilian activity in the south, and still has some touches of the frontier. Southward, railways along the coast connect it with Pernambuco; but only a short bit of trackage extends toward the interior. For the movement of goods to and from the back country the town still depends somewhat on picturesque troops of pack mules and horses in charge of a "tropeiro" and his swarthy, hard-visaged assistants.

Sometimes 100 or more mules and horses, each laden with big bags of cotton or other produce from the interior, thread their way through Natal's streets, with bells tinkling, and muleteers shouting—an animated freight train. On the return trip they carry bales of fabrics, food supplies, and household furnishings.

The muleteers of Rio Grande do Norte and the adjoining states must be a rough and ready lot, for the goods they carry are an irresistible temptation to bandits in the hilly interior, and often the drivers must "shoot their way through." The gradually extending lines of steel in the interior of Brazil are slowly bringing the existence of the picturesque "tropeiro" to an end.

Explaining "Air Pocket"

The army air service says that the term "air pocket" is a popular expression and not a scientific term. That to which people refer as an air pocket is a local air current usually encountered over cities differing in direction from the direction of the surrounding air.

Place No Bets

Scientists have discovered that every normal ear of corn has an even number of rows of grain.—Farm and Fireside.

Most Delicate Dog

Ordinarily the Russian wolf-hound is considered a beast of the cold northern wastes, hardy beyond man's endurance. However, it is one of the most delicate of the dogs, slight changes in temperature being fatal to it.

More Than Fur Deep

Mary Katherine had a little alley cat on which she lavished all her young affections, and when it was lost she refused to be comforted. Grandma bought her a beautiful Angora kitten, but Mary Katherine was still loyal to the loved and lost.

"See, dear," grandma said one day, stroking the thick yellow fur, "isn't this one much prettier than the other little kitty?"

Mary Katherine gulped and her brown eyes filled.

"But, grandma," she quivered, "it's the inside of a cat that counts!"—Kansas City Star.

That Tricky Budget

Annual occurrence: After the family budget was all straightened away the other night so that income just balanced expenses in the family's next fiscal year, it was discovered no provision had been made for groceries. —Terre Haute Tribune.

WINCHESTER'S HOT WAVE ENDED SUNDAY

Winchester experienced its hottest wave of the summer during the week-end just past and though no prostrations were officially reported, many were pretty much on their "last legs" when the heavy thunder storm of Sunday afternoon put an end to the moist, stifling heat.

The warm weather was ushered in during Thursday and became more intense during the night. Friday morning found the thermometer flirting with 90 degrees and by mid-afternoon this mark was left far behind. The noontime promise of thunder showers failed to materialize and though there was a slight rainfall during the early evening the relief was but temporary and served to make the returning humid conditions even harder to endure.

Saturday morning proved a scorcher and though there was a light breeze stirring from the southwest it brought only increased heat. Early in the afternoon the glass showed from 94 to 97 in the shade about the center with the figures in the sun much higher. Outside the gate tenders' shanty the glass read 104 and at the Central Fire Station in the sun against the brick wall, 118 degrees.

Evidently the heat dampened the ardor of the Charlest wn Town Team, scheduled to play during Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, and it became necessary to call the game when but a part of the visiting club arrived. Only a handful of fans gathered under the shade of the trees to view the contest.

Sunday morning he night no relief after what many will tell you was the most trying night for quite some time. By noontime the glass registered 94 and 95 in the shade. Sandy Beach was crowded with bathers, the same conditions having prevailed during Friday and Saturday. There were also good sized gatherings at Wedge.

The heat-quenching thunder storm arrived almost without warning, the first lightning bolt and thunder crash coming with the sun partially out. The storm was severe, though the electrical disturbance in Winchester was not intense. Rain fell in torrents, many of the streets about town resembling rivers. Officially 1.21 inches fell during the storm which relatively did very little damage. Officer John Noonan reported during the heat wave that traffic through the town was the lightest it had been all year.

THE BARTA CAMP

This Saturday, Aug. 11, finds the Barta Camp at Casco, Me., holding its second parents' day. Twice each summer the parents are invited to come to camp and see a regular camp day, plan a few special activities such as an exhibitional tennis match, special riding and dramatics.

Miss Elinor Barta, with Mr. Eliot Barta associate director, is now in the midst of the third season of her own camp, with an enrollment of 75 campers and 20 councellors. Among both campers and councellors, 13 states are represented. The following are those from Winchester: Harriet Keepers, Barbara and Audrey Paine, Rosemary Smith, Ruth Stone, Florence and Dorothy Winship. Miss Alice Mitchell is instructor in riding, Miss Harriet Smith, baseball and rowing, Miss Rebecca Barrett, tennis and Miss Eileen Harrold is the camp secretary. Already several trips have gone out of camp. Seniors have slept on the top of Pleasant Mountain and the juniors have had an overnight canoe trip, sleeping on an island in Parker Pond. Right now everyone is busy with more trips going out every day and the final tennis tournament just beginning.

THREE WOMEN INJURED WHEN AUTO HIT POLE

Three out-of-town women, passengers in a Buick sedan, owned and operated by Elizabeth M. Dolliver of 27 Inman street, Cambridge were injured last Sunday evening when the machine struck a pole at the side of Forest street near the residence of Mr. Francis I. Keenan. Mrs. Dolliver told the police that the accident occurred when her machine skidded on the wet roadway and believed it was caused by a flat tire.

The three women who were riding with her were cut and bruised and were taken by Mr. Keenan, who had witnessed the accident, to the Winchester Hospital where they were treated before being taken to their homes by Mrs. Dolliver. The windshield and bumper of the Buick were broken.

The Fire Department was called out at 1:29 Friday afternoon to put out a fire which had started in a truck at the corner of Sheffield road and Aylesworth road. The machine was owned by the General Welding Company of Boston and the fire was caused, according to its operator, by a back-fire in the welding machinery which was badly damaged.

COLOGNE: THE ST. LOUIS OF GERMANY

Cologne, Germany, is expecting an influx of visitors to the "Pressa" an international press exhibition where newspapers and other periodicals, and all kinds of printing paraphernalia that has been connected with the production of news for 2000 years, is on display.

Cologne is one of the most popular stopping places along the Rhine and the Pressa visitors will be just another throng to the German city fathers who are accustomed to welcoming an annual deluge of travelers, says a bulletin from the Washington D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Cathedral Draws Throngs

The terraced, vineyard-clad hills, quaint villages and ruins of medieval castles bordering the Rhine attract thousands, but Cologne, with its bristling trade and with one of the world's most famous cathedrals, is, perhaps, the valley's greatest drawing card.

Whether the traveler approaches Cologne by the black-and-white funneled passenger boats, by trains, or by motor over the numerous highways that radiate from the city, the massive cathedral, blackened by age, first comes into view. The huge structure dwarfs the close-built, gabled, medieval houses and modern flat-roofed structures.

The Cologne edifice is a fine example of Gothic architecture ranking fifth in size among the world's cathedrals. It is richly adorned with a profusion of turrets, spires, flying buttresses, elaborately carved cornices, fluted columns, and stained glass windows framed in beautifully executed tracery work. From its heights numerous gargoyles gape at passersby in the streets beneath.

The twin spires flanking the western facade, each nearly as tall as the Washington monument, tower over the city and the swift flowing Rhine, the fingers pointing the city to heaven.

Modern Boulevard on Old Wall Site

Although Cologne is 2000 years old, it reflects its prosperity and modern development in wide, tree-lined boulevards, broken here and there by flowering gardens and parkways ornamented with monuments, and equestrian statues of celebrated German countrymen. Fine shops and imposing mansions border these thoroughfares but now and then one wanders into a section where medieval Cologne reveals itself in tortuous, narrow, cobbled streets, walled by ancient gabled house fronts and dimly lighted by antiquated gas posts.

The Roman wall that once surrounded old Cologne has long since been destroyed and its foundation now forms one of the city's most beautiful boulevards and parkways—The Ring. Only the gate towers of the walls remain, marking the limits of the old city. Beyond them Cologne has spread out, absorbing numerous suburbs until its population now is nearly 700,000.

Koln to Germans

As Germany's great river port and one of its major railroad centers Cologne is the St. Louis of the Republic. Under the graceful arched bridge that connects Cologne with the west bank of the Rhine, pass long strings of barges, lumber rafts, barge steamers and palatial passenger boats.

Cologne has a large trade in corn, wine, mineral ores, coal, leather, timber and porcelain. Some of the products of the city's industries are known by their names such as Cologne brown, a brown coal, or lignite, used as a pigment in paints; Cologne ware, a plain hard stoneware, mottled gray and brown which is made into ornamental jugs; Cologne spirits, a rectified liquid containing 96 per cent alcohol; Cologne thread and Cologne blades.

The French could honestly claim that at least a portion of Cologne's fame is due to good French advertising. The sweet scented liquid known as cologne is said to have been first manufactured in Cologne in 1709 by an Italian. Cologne is the French translation of "Colonia" (meaning colony) which was formerly the Roman name of the German city. The English adopted the French translation but the Germans call their city Koln. While Cologne perfumes have been called "Kolnisches Wasser," in Germany, the Germans, too have generally adopted the French "eau de cologne."

Gas Once a Curiosity

When the first gas lights were introduced in Baltimore, in 1816, they were placed on exhibit in the museum there and crowds paid admission to see them. Newspaper accounts described them as marvelous "lights without oil, tallow, wick or smoke.' The exhibit proved so successful that a gas company was formed the next year, and the streets of the city were soon lighted by the lamps. This was one of the first commercial installations in the United States.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

"Red-Hots"

At a recent musical program, only three members of the quartet appeared on the stage while the fourth entered from the front door in costume with a fiery red wig. He caused a little excitement, especially for the children. Little Vera Gene, age three, remarked: "Mother, I bet that man has been eating 'red-hots,' for he surely has red-hot hair."

MADRID: A NEW WORLD CITY AMONG MEDIEVAL SURROUNDINGS

The new university center planned for Madrid, Spain, is another step away from the traditional type of Spanish city which the Moors bequeathed, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Toledo, Granada and Seville and other Spanish cities, with their narrow, tortuous streets, hemmed in by blank walls of residences facing enclosed gardens, appear as if they were in another world when compared with the modern capital with its wide tree-lined boulevards, and spacious parks and public squares.

Youngest of Great European Cities

Madrid's oldest pages of history are newer than those of its Spanish neighbors, continues the bulletin. Philip II chose it as the Spanish capital in 1560. The King was faced with the problem of picking a site that would satisfy the various races of Spain. Saragossa was Aragonese, Burgos was Castilian, Toledo was Visigothic and Cordova and Seville were Moorish. He chose Madrid, which is situated like a vedette in the midst of all of these, and from a city of about 30,000 inhabitants it has steadily grown until it now is larger than Cleveland, Ohio.

Travelers to Madrid question Philip's choice of a site, however. The surrounding country is all but picturesque. Bleak, wind-swept, treeless hills surround it. Only now and then one sees a patch of grain attempting to withstand a severe climate. In mid-summer the populace simmers under the heat of the sun which sometimes causes the thermometer to soar to 110 degrees, while in midwinter it is one of the coldest cities in Europe. Often during the summer months travelers are forced by the peculiar climate to change their clothing from light linens to heavy woolens when chill winds suddenly change tropical heat to frigid cold. Tourists from the warm climate of southern Spain are surprised to learn that ice skating is one of the favorite Madrid sports.

Nevertheless the capital's climate is reputed to be healthy, due perhaps to the fact that the inhabitants have learned to adjust themselves to its peculiarities. It is the uninformed traveler who suffers most.

Madrid's "center of everything" is the Puerta del Sol, a large public square in the center of the city. It is a sort of hub for a dozen streets which, like spokes of a wheel, lead in al ldirections through the city Here it is that seller meets buyer, beau meets belle, the loafers loaf, the street venders ply their trade, and the beggars beg. Mingling with the city folk are stocky Basques from the Pyrenees country, ruddy-skinned gypsies from the south and olive complexioned individuals from other portions of Spain as well as Frenchmen, Englishmen, Italians, and a few representatives of all other European countries. Now and then one also recognizes a group of Americans making their way through the slow-moving mass of humanity.

One of the Puerta del Sol "spokes" leads to the $15,000,000 royal palace, one of the principal "show places" of the Spanish capital. It is an imposing structure of granite. The spacious yards surrounding it are usually thronged with men and women sauntering on the walks, leaning against the palace wall or sitting on the royal steps. As in the Puerta del Sol the venders and newsboys are heard above the din of chatter, and the ever-present beggar makes life miserable for the stranger. Boys and girls playing games remind one of the south lawn of the White House on Easter Monday when the gates of the President's "back yard" are thrown open for youthful egg rollers.

In the public squares and along the boulevards American automobiles vie with foreign makes and even the Spanish made cars of which the Spaniards are extremely proud. One can hail anything from an ancient flivver to America's largest automobile in which to make a tour of the city. Such a tour includes the Royal Academy of Fine Arts where paintings of Murilla, among those of other famous artists are on exhibition, the Royal Picture Gallery, which contains some 2000 paintings by celebrated artists; the Palace; Botanical Gardens, and the Artillery Museum in which are preserved trophies of Spanish wars.

Since the eighteenth century Madrid has made tremendous strides in From the appearance of the thronged squares and thoroughfares one would be led to believe that no one works in Madrid. Only when the bull fight is on or the churches are holding special religious services is the throng thinned.

AS LOW AS $750

We can seldom list two lots of land on the West Side of Winchester for as low as $750 each. Each lot contains approximately 8000 sq. ft. and both are desirably located in a restricted area.

Builders, either for investment or for homes, would do well to consider this property. We believe it a real value.

BAPTIST CHURCH ITEMS

Twelve contractors are submitting bids for the construction of the new Winchester Baptist Church. The building committee under Chairman A. C. Weld hopes to let the contract early in September. It will probably take from eight months to a year to complete the church and make it ready for occupancy.

The contract for the new organ was signed by the donor, Harry C. Sanborn, early in July with the Estey Organ Company and will soon be under construction at the factory in Burlington, Vt. Careful study has been made to secure an organ of balance and quality suited to the needs of the new church.

Friends of the parish will be delighted with the announcement that Miss Eda Knowlton has accepted the invitation to serve as director of Young People's Work and assistant to the pastor for the coming church year.

The final plans of architect George F. Newton provide a rarely attractive chancel, with baptistry, choir seats, organ screen and pulpit facing an auditorium seating, with the gallery, 600 persons. The chapel in the parish house has a quiet charm and adjoins departmental and classrooms, with accomodations for recent development in the work of religious education. The gymnasium, dining hall and parlors are equally attractive.

The Sunday services of the church will be held in the Town Hall; the first service of the fall season being at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, Sept. 9, when old friends will meet again after the summer of holiday making.

Pleasant news comes in the announcement of the birth of a daughter Elizabeth to Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Schoenherr at the Falkner Hospital on July 21. Treasurer and Deaconess William E. Cobb are now smiling grandparents.

The pastor, Rev. Benjamin P. Browne and family are spending the summer at their camp "Benraymere" Owl's Head, Me. P. O. address, Box 37, Rockland, Me.

HUGE CROWD ATTENDED FIREWORKS

Annual Celebration of Feast of Assumption Attracted Many—Rival Companies Competed for Prize

With what is generally conceded to have been the best fireworks display yet seen in Winchester,—really two displays with rival companies competing for a $50 gold medal,—the annual celebration of the Feast of the Assumption by Italian residents of the town was brought to a spectacular close Wednesday evening on Manchester Field. The police estimate that between 30 and 40 thousand people witnessed the fireworks and attended the band concert played from the bandstand on the playground by the Roma Band of Boston under the direction of Maestro Signor Tito Allega. Officers in charge of traffic expressed the opinion that never had there been such a press of automobiles in town. In addition to those parkedalong the boulevard from Highland avenue to Bacon street there were machines on Church street from the center to Cambridge street with side streets utilized for parking as far west as Oxford street. On Main street the cars were lined on both sides of the roadway from Russell's farm near the Medford line to Lake street above the center, and Highland avenue was filled from Main street nearly to the hospital. Mt. Vernon street, Myrtle street, Winthrop street, Vine street, Park street, Elmwood avenue, Dix street and Common street were jammed as were Mystic avenue, Manchester road, Maxwell road, Cutting street and Bacon street while every available foot of room about the center was utilized, even the yards at the Congregational Church having their full quota of cars.

MIDGETS HERE TOMORROW

Manager Farrell has booked what looks like the toughest game of the season for tomorrow afternoon when he will meet the Highland Midgets Club of Woburn at 3:15 on Manchester Field.

The Midgets have been going particularly well of late and have run up a very impressive total of straight victories. They have three crack pitchers in the veteran "Kiko" Weafer, Paul Kelliher and "Lefty" Hatch, and if the former is given the hurling assignment, Winchester will be very lucky to win. The sturdy "Kiko," despite his many years service, has always been poison for the locals.

Just how the player tangle will be worked out remains to be seen. Several players are members of both clubs and how they will split up has the fans guessing.

"Olio" Lee will draw the pitching assignment for the locals, provided he did not pitch while on a vacation trip to New Hampshire. Manager Farrell will not attempt to make the youngster work in two games a week which is as it should be. Frank Melly will do the catching for Winchester and the fans will welcome the chance to watch this peppery backstop work. Mark Kelley will be in the lineup but a sore arm made it seem wise to shift big "Mex" with a bunch of speedboys like the Midgets in action.

CONVICTION FOLLOWED SUCCESSFUL RAID

As a result of the raid conducted by the police at their home, 51 Irving street, last week Thursday morning Pasquale and Maria Ingaciola appeared in the District Court at Woburn, charged with keeping and exposing liquor containing alcohol in excess of the legal percentage. Approximately 150 gallons of wine were seized by the authorities at the Ingaciola residence and the analysis by State chemists showed the alcoholic content to be in excess of 10 per cent.

Ingaciola and his wife pleaded guilty and the case of the woman was placed on file. Pasquale was fined $50 and given a suspended sentence of three months in the House of Correction.

TWO DROWNINGS IN WINCHESTER WEDNESDAY

Winchester Young Man Drowned in Wedge—Woburn Man in Winter Pond

The tragic death of 16-year-old Henry W. Horn in the waters of Wedge Pond, Aug. 5, 1924, was recalled Wednesday afternoon when James M. McKeigue, 20, of 25 Salem street also lost his life while swimming in Wedge off Palmer street at the ledge in the rear of the residence of Mr. Thomas Quigley, Jr. McKeigue went down in about 30 feet of water and it was some little time before his body was recovered by police and firemen.

The young man, who was known as an expert swimmer, came to Wedge for a dip shortly after 4 o'clock. There were many swimming there at the time. He was very warm when he entered the pond and witnesses of the tragedy state that he failed to come to the surface after he dived into deep water.

Several of those at the beach hurried to the center for help while a phone call was sent to Police Headquarters from the home of Mr. Luke P. Glendon on Lake street.

Officers James Donaghey and Edward O'Connell responded with Firemen Frank Duffy and Roy Nowell, the latter taking the Fire Department's life saving boat upon Wagon 4 driven by Driver John Flaherty.

After about 15 minutes of grappling the body was recovered by Fireman Duffy and Officer Donaghey and taken ashore. The rescuers worked frantically for more than an hour in an attempt to resuscitate the young man but to no avail and McKeigue was finally pronounced dead by Dr. Milton J. Quinn, Associate Medical Examiner Fred S. Piper of Lexington viewed the body and ordered it removed to the undertaking rooms of Eugene P. Sullivan on Spruce street. The opinion was voiced by many that the death was due to heart disease induced by shock.

McKeigue was 20 years of age and was born in Ireland. He had made his home in Winchester with Mr. George Wilson on Salem street only for the past seven months and was comparatively unknown in town. He was employed as a gardener and is survived besides his parents by a sister, Frances M. McKeigue of Winchester.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning from the home of his aunt, Mrs. Mary Carpenter, at Albany street, Monvale, with a high mass of requiem in St. Joseph's Church at 9 o'clock. The interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Winter Pond was the scene of the second tragedy of the afternoon, Patrick George of 36 Highland street, Woburn, drowning there about 7 o'clock. George had arrived for a swim with two companions and was at a point about 15 feet from shore off what is sometimes called rocky point when he was apparently seized with cramps.

Unofficial accounts of the affair state that an attempt to rescue the drowning man was made but that the would-be rescuer after a struggle was unable to maintain his hold on George who sank in about 15 feet of water.

Police Headquarters was notified and once again police and firemen started to the rescue. Sergt. Thomas Cassidy headed the squad of police who included Patrolmen Mark Kelley, James Donaghey, Robert White and Charles Harrold. Chief David H. Decourey with Firemen Roy Nowell, James Callahan, Alexander MacKenzie and Frank Duffy accompanied the police with the Fire Alarm car.

Officers Kelley and White stripped immediately upon arrival at the pond and attempted to locate George by diving. The former dived several times but was prevented from accomplishing much by the muddy condition of the bottom. Meanwhile boats were launched and the body was finally caught on the grappels of Patrolman White and Fireman Duffy.

George had been in the water more than 40 minutes and all efforts to revive him were doomed to failure. After an hour and three-quarters of hard work the police and firemen gave up their fight and the young man was pronounced dead by Doctor Quinn. Once again Doctor Piper viewed the body which was taken in charge by Undertaker Sullivan. Later it was removed to the George home where arrangements for the funeral had not been made public when the Star went to press.

The dead young man was 23 years of age and is survived by his wife and one child.

The Swanton street bridge is closed to traffic while the planking is being replaced.

LOOKING FOR SOLDIERS, FOUND POLICE

For a time Monday afternoon the local police had visions of catching another house-breaker and, in view of the fact that such have been rather scarce articles in Winchester lately, were inspired to make all haste to a Cambridge street home where, according to a telephone message received at Headquarters about 3:30, a man was attempting to gain an entrance.

When Officers James Donaghey and Walter Lord arrived at the scene of the allege break they found one who had beyond any doubt or cavil dallied a bit too long with the wine cups. He was at the rear of the house in question and hailed the policemen jovially, calling their attention to some beautiful flowers which were growing in a nearby garden. That was his sole excuse for being there, he told the officers, to admire the beautiful flowers.

He was pleased with himself, was the flower lover, and when he noticed that Officer Donaghey wore a uniform he at once became even more enamoured of him. He took the arm of the law for a military man and soldiers it appeared were his meat. It made no difference to what army they belonged, Coxey's or the Salvation, it was all the same. Soldiers were the salt of the earth and the intruder upon the privacy of the Cambridge street home cared not at all who knew it.

Some children who had gathered to see the fun were admonished by him to be "good soldiers" and when Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell arrived within vision the advocate of preparedness found his cup of joy complete. Officer Edward O'Connell's snappy gabardine uniform and Sam Brown belt did the trick and he was hailed and saluted as "Lieutenant."

By this time Officer Donaghey had learned that the great admirer of the military had attempted to get into first the front and then the rear door of the house in question, and the former took the man into custody, conducting him to Headquarters where he was booked on the charge of drunkenness.

While en route to the Station the prisoner noted the bronze Sons of Veterans button adorning the lapel of Officer Lord's coat and at once his conversation with Walter took on an intimate tone while he discussed the more technical phases of war and carnage that a "soldier with medals" would be able to "understand and appreciate."

At the Station House the prisoner's joy in living was no whit dimished. He was pleased to give his name and address. He was one Mr. Downey from Boston, and proud of it. A bit of an official check-up disclosed the fact that the man's name was John Donnelly and his home was in Arlington. Bail was furnished for his release and he appeared before Justice Morton in the Woburn District Court Tuesday morning. There he was found guilty and fined $5, it having been found that his military record included a previous arrest for drunkenness in Winchester in 1926.

Shoppers in the square last Saturday evening had a chance to watch the speed with which the Fire Department answers calls for its services when at 8:22 Box 43 came in for a fire in an automobile on Main street at Clark street. Many commented upon the dispatch with which the apparatus left the Central Station but despite the quickness with which the firemen arrived at the scene of the fire the automobile had been badly burned. It was towed into the gasoline station at Clark street and taken away about 3 o'clock Sunday morning by its owner.

MARIO MASCIOLLI

Mario Masciolli, 11-year-old son of David and Catherine Masciolli of 5 Quigley court, died Monday night in the Boston Homeopathic Hospital where he was taken about 10 weeks ago, suffering with scarlet fever. The boy was a pupil in St. Mary's Parochial School and is survived by his parents and two sisters, Dora and Philomena Masciolli.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the home of Mario's parents, followed by a high mass of requiem, celebrated in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Wheel of Chance," Richard Barthelmess' new picture is the screen feature the big Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. Alfred Santell, who also directed this star in "The Patent Leather Kid," has invested the "Wheel of Chance" with excellent production and dramatic values.

The story of "The Wheel of Chance" is adapted from Fannie Hurst's powerful novel, "Roulette," and relates the dramatic adventures of twin brothers, separated in childhood by a trick of fate, and meeting again 20 years later in one of the most dramatically contrived scenes in the history of the motion picture. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville, headed by the Northern Lights Revue, is an added feature for the last half of this week.

Thomas Meighan in "The Racket" comes to the Granada next Monday for a run of three days. "The Racket" is a colorful as well as powerful melodrama. The story was first presented in play form in New York, where it ran for months and which was followed by a successful road engagement. Meighan is cast as Captain McQuagg, who clashes with a gang of bootleggers headed by Nick Scarci, a character played by Louis Wolheim. Marie Prevost is the feminine star and appears as Helen, a night club entertainer. Others in the cast are Lee Moran, John Darrow and Skeets Gallagher. The five act variety program will also be offered the first three days of next week.

NEW PACKARDS HERE

The Anderson Motor Company of 666 Main street received three of the new Packard eights on Monday, and although one was immediately sold, the firm has on display a five passenger sedan de lux and a seven passenger sedan. The new models, while not differing greatly in lines and appearance over previous Packards, contain many refinements and still maintain their leadership in the fine car field of today. The Anderson Company has been busy during the week receiving interested autoists and showing the new cars.

This firm, in addition to its Packard line, is showing the popular Graham-Paige cars and the Chrysler models, being local agents for all three makes. Mr. Victor Anderson, president of the firm, announces this week that he is maintaining a 24-hour service at his garage for his customers.

WINCHESTOR WON FROM STONE & WEBSTER

Sixth Straight Win for Locals—Coates Starred Afield and With the Stick

Winchester won its sixth straight victory last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, defeating the Stone & Webster baseball club, 4 to 2. The game was close enough all the way to be interesting and easily won the approval of the fans who were witnessing their first baseball in Winchester for three weeks, due to unfavorable weather.

Stone & Webster brought a good ling club to Manchester Field and at the half-way mark looked fully as much like the ultimate winner as did the locals who were much weaker than usual.

"Tony" Colucci, star shortstop; smooth working "Dinny" McMannus, second baseman; and the brilliant "Max" Carey, left fielder, failed to show up for the game, their places being filled respectively by "Jomma" Dolan, former St. Mary's infielder, this year with the Woburn City Club; "Punk" Cummings and "Crossy" McEleney who has been subbing here for the past few games. The defense of Manager Farrell's team was greatly impaired by the shift though the hitting of Dolan and McEleney was hard and timely.

"Lefty" Mandeville, pitching first baseman, was on the mound for the visitors and started like a sure winner. Only 11 Winchester batters faced him during the first 3 frames and "Jomma" Dolan's single in the first was the only safe blow off his delivery.

Meanwhile "Archa" Amico was carrying on for the locals and doing well in the face of indifferent support. "Archa" was wasting plenty, but in view of his long layoff his pitching was better than good.

The figures show that Stone & Webster outhit Winchester, 10 to 8, but ordinarily good fielding would have reduced the visiting total at least 3.

A pretty double play by Coates, Cummings and Fitzgerald prevented some trouble in the 2nd but in the 3rd Stone & Webster broke through. Hickey, first up, hit a high fly into left which McEleney misjudged badly. Crossy" managed to touch the ball but couldn't hold it and the error allowed Hickey to reach second. Quigley hit one on a line through second which Cummings should have gotten but did not, allowing Hickey to reach third. When "Touchy" Gray fumbled the ball in center field the runner scored but a sharp peg from Gray to Cummings erased Quigley who tried to stretch the hit a bag. Fannon hit a high one out toward the bandstand on which McEleney and Gray did an Alfonse-Gaston, allowing the fly to go for a single. Coates took Culhane's fly to end the fun.

Winchester forged ahead in the 4th when with one away Doherty got a life when O'Neil bobbled on his grounder. Mark Kelley singled sharply into left field, sending "Doc" to second and the runners advanced on J. Kelley's passed ball. McEleney, as if to atone for his two sour fielding plays, slapped a single into center to score both Doherty and eKlley. Fitzgerald hit a sizzling liner at Mandeville and the latter's quick peg to Fannon doubled McEleney who had stolen second.

Stone & Webster evened things in the next inning. Hickey singled into center but was forced at second on Quigley's rap to Coates, Dolan making the putout. Quigley advanced when "Flats" Flaherty punched a single through short and both runners moved up when M. Kelley threw wildly in an attempt to catch Flaherty off first. Cannon hoisted to McEleney and there were two away when Culhane hit into right, scoring Quigley. Doherty's toss home got Flaherty at the plate, Kelley making a nice play.

The locals wouldn't be tied and went again into the lead in the 6th. Dolan led off with a sweet double to center but Doherty was tossed out by Mandeville who also took Kelley's puny belt. Once again McEleney hit in the pinch, this time to left field, easing "Jomma" in with the needed tally. Gilfeather and Culhane got Fitzgerald.

Winchester got another in the 7th. "Spike" O'Donnell, who had replaced Cummings at second, was safe on Fannon's error and was sacrificed to second by Amico. Gray hit sharply to Fannon who threw to O'Neil, getting O'Donnell at third. Coates tripled to far center field, scoring Gray but Mandeville got Dolan on strikes.

The visitors tried hard to tie things in the 8th. Fannon hit a short fly to left which neither Lee or Dolan took, and at once stole second. Culhane slapped one at "Jomma" who threw to Coates, catching Fannon in a hot box. The latter was apparently run down but got safely back to second when O'Donnell dropped Coates' throw. With two on and no one out things looked a bit drab. Mandeville hit to O'Donnell who tossed to Dolan, forcing Culhane. Amico then put on steam, fanning O'Neil and tossing out J. Kelley at first.

Things looked bad in the 9th when Manager Bennett pinch hit for Gilfeather and hit one to center field which Gray muffed. Hickey singled to left and there were two on and none away. M. Kelley took Quigley's foul after a short run and Flaherty's vicious drive was converted into a double play by the smooth working Coates, with O'Donnell doing the pivoting.

Notes

Those who came to the game to razz the two local boys, playing for Stone & Webster were given little opportunity to swing their hammers. Both "Flats" Flaherty and "Joe" Quigley did well. The latter's catch of Doherty's long fly in the 8th was a good one.

It is our honest opinion that for all around brilliance at third base "Brad" Coates has it on anyone we've seen perform at the hot corner on a Winchester team. This statement will give the boys something to talk about, but we stick to it. "Brad" probably isn't as hard a hitter as "Jimmy" Murray was but he's much better afield. He's just as steady as "Doc" O'Connor or "Bill" Sweeney and far more brilliant. So far as we can see the North Woburn boy hasn't a fielding weakness. The two double plays he started last Saturday were gems. What an arm he has! At present he is the only one of Manager Farrell's ponies who is batting .300.

"Crossy" McEleney's left field play made the fans appreciate what a ball hawk this boy "Max" Carey is. Carey is just about as good a fielder as "Ad" Blowers or "Ferdie" Roche, and when you say that you say a lot.

McEleney is a really dangerous hitter, and seems to be at his best in the pinch.

Mandeville, who pitched for the visitors, is the Stone & Webster regular first baseman. He did a nice job for one who is not supposed to be a twirler.

"Mex" Kelley saved Amico a lot of trouble by several dandy pick-ups of throws into the dirt.

"Jomma" Dolan hit the ball well and handled all his fielding assignments without an error. His double in the 6th was a hard hit ball.

"Punk" Cummings turned in the circus catch of the afternoon when he speared J. Kelley's short fly with his glove hand before retiring in favor of O'Donnell.

The fans got a laugh in the 7th when McEleney was caught off first and ran back and forth while about the whole Stone & Webster team tried to snare him. Finally the ball went right by three visiting players to hit catcher J. Kelley on the side of the head and allow "Crossy" to reach second. The bewildered expression on the face of the visiting catcher was very rare.

The visitors claimed they were playing without several of their best men. The locals were not at full strength by any means. A return game would be a good attraction.

WINCHESTER BOY MADE HOLE IN ONE

Richard C. Bateman, son of Representative and Mrs. Thomas R. Bateman of Lewis road, joined the exclusive hole-in-one club Tuesday forenoon when he negotiated the 6th hole on the course at the Winchester Country Club in one stroke from the tee.

"Dick" was playing around with Utley Smith of Winchester who was leading Bateman, 1 up, when the latter performed his unusual feat the fond dream of every golfer. The shot turned the tide of the match, finally winning for its producer, 5 and 4.

Young Bateman is, so far as could be learned at the Country Club, the first golfer to make the 6th hole on the local course in one. It is not an easy hole. Measuring 175 yards, it is hanked to the right and left with woods and is well trapped with a brook and mound in the middle of the fairway. "Dick" is not the first golfer to make a hole-in-one at the local club, Grafton Abbott having holed the 14th in a single stroke some two weeks ago. There have been other instances in previous seasons, according to information received at the Club professional's office.

"Dick" however, is not worrying about any others who may have duplicated his feat, being too delighted with his own achievement. He has just finished his sophomore year at high school and is planning to enter New Prep at Cambridge in the fall. His first remark after his winning shot was said to be, "Won't Dad be tickled." We rather expect he was.

Miss Barbara Locke of Winchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Locke of Highland avenue, finished third in the canoe-bobbing race which was one of the features of the athletic and aquatic day of the older girls from Greater Boston at Camp Andover, Pomps Pond, in that town.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

One clap on the back is usually more profitable than one on the face.

Hell hath no fury like a fat woman on a diet.

The flappers most difficult problem today is how to wear fewer clothes in summer than she does in winter.

How strange it is that so few of the bathing beauties can swim.

When pinning your faith to some men it is advisable to use safety pins.

Newburyport is offering a good example of why law breaking is becoming generally prevalent. We do not of course know what may lie beneath Mayor Gillis's apparent flouting of the statutes under which his city operates, but it is futile to expect the masses to respect the laws of this or any other country, when those charged with their administration, choose to ignore and defy them.

We noticed something at the fireworks display Wednesday night which should not be tolerated for even the proverbial minute. We refer to the promiscuous smashing of pop bottles on Manchester Field. Broken glass at best is nasty and upon a playground may cause serious trouble. Very probably Superintendent McDonald and his men removed most of the fragments but with kiddies running about the field barefooted, to say nothing of the ball players who cannot "watch their step", a bad cut may result from what can be termed only criminally thoughtless action.

A recent news dispatch from Munich states that in that German city it will henceforth cost exactly one mark, or 25c, to throw away pieces of paper, orange and banana peel, etc., in the streets of the municipality. The new ordinance came as a result of the gratifying showing which a limited order of a similar nature produced. The Metropolitan District Commission and the Town of Winchester would have added considerably to their exchequers following the Italian celebration, provided of course the offenders could have been apprehended.

It seems just a bit heartless of parents to take young children to fireworks displays and keep them there when it is apparent that the youngsters are terrified by the blinding light and terrific noise of the bombs and other bursting pieces. We noticed many tiny tots on or near Manchester Field Wednesday evening well nigh frightened out of their wits and pleading to go home, yet forced to endure their torture because mother and dad were enjoying the show. Aside from the cruelty to the children, their cries and sobbing does not add particularly to the pleasure of those near enough to hear them who, unlike the parents in question, happen to have hearts.

During one of the recent sizzling days while driving through a congested traffic center not so many miles from Winchester we saw a jam of cars waiting patiently and not so patiently to proceed while a lady who was learning to drive got her stalled motor started, stalled it again, decided she had had enough and changed seats with a man who was apparently her instructor. The incident in itself occupied only a few minutes but it was considerably longer than that before an irate officer got the resulting traffic congestion straightened out. It occurred to us as we watched proceedings that it is not so long ago that Judge Joseph Zotolli in Central Municipal Court fined an automobile driving instructor and his pupil $20 each after their machine had figured in an accident in the South End of Boston. In imposing sentence his honor bitterly arraigned the instructor for his lack of judgment in taking one learning to drive into a crowded traffic center and intimated that others brought before him for similar trouble would be dealt with in a like manner. The charge preferred against the instructor and his pupil was driving so as to endanger the lives of the public and it is nothing short of that for one who is not at least fairly proficient in the mechanics of operating a car to attempt driving through traffic or on crowded highways.

The huge crowd for the most part was very orderly and despite the heavy traffic no accidents were reported at police headquarters and there were no arrests. The chief disorder was that displayed in the general breaking of tonic battles on Manchester Field, a thoughtless and especially dangerous practice which the police did their best to stop.

The evening's program began with the band concert at 7:30, the fireworks commencing about 9:15. Despite the fact that jazz music was almost entirely eliminated from the musical program the big crowd evinced its pleasure in the work of the musicians who had been steadily at it since 8 in the morning when the day's festivities started with a parade about the center and through the principal streets of the Italian district until noon. The Roma Band was assisted during the day by the Columbus Band of Salem, composed of 50 boys from 12 to 15 years of age under the direction of 13-year-old Dante Del Campo. The playing of the youngsters who were in full uniform, somewhat resembling that of St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps, was excellent and the ability of the boys to stand up under their constant parading in the withering heat aroused much comment.

A pleasing feature of the morning's program which included the usual services in St. Mary's Church in honor of the Feast of the Assumption, an internationally observed holy day in the Roman Catholic Church, was the massing of the two bands in front of the Town Hall and the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, followed by the Italian National Anthem. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the celebration marched with the two bands during the morning and until noontime when a stop was made for luncheon. Members of the boys' band were served in the Food Shop which was a particularly busy place with 50 hungry youngsters eager to fill a big void in the inner man.

Promptly at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the big parade of the celebration formed at St. Mary's Church for its march through the square and up Main street to Swanton, thence through the streets of the Italian district and return to the church by way of Washington street.

This year's parade was the largest yet held. Besides the religious statue, draped with ribbons and carried by several stalwart men, its roster included Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell and Patrolmen John Hanlon, Joseph Derro and Charles Harrold as police escort with the American and Italian National Colors, members of the committee, the Christopher Columbus Society and large numbers of children and young girls, dressed in white and carrying flowers. Chairman Frank Dattilo of the committee acted as marshall of the parade. As the line of march moved through the Italian section which was gaily decorated with flags and bunting residents everywhere pinned contributions of money to the streamers of the statue. The parade broke ranks shortly before 6 o'clock.

One of the big thrills of this year's parade came with the appearance of the airplane, "American Eagle," piloted by a Winchester aviator, Albert Luongo of Florence street, who flew very low, circling above the marchers and dropping tiny flags and flowers.

The bandstand at Manchester Field was prettily decorated for the concerts with red, white and green bunting and the American and Italian Flags. The huge crowd enjoyed the classic and operatic selections so dear to the Italian lovers of music, but it could be seen that the big majority of those thronged about the playground, on the Parkway and in Rangeley were merely marking time until the fireworks which started shortly before 10.

To ensure the best possible display this year the committee hit upon the plan of having rival companies compete for a prize, each giving a separate exhibition. That of the Rhode Island Fireworks Company Inc., was given first and included some excellent pieces. Chief among them were an animated boxing match, a huge fan which slowly opened in shimmering colors, a handsome temple which constantly changed its hue, a colossal figure which some insisted was Mussolini and some contended was "Al" Smith and three beautiful flags surmounting a glistening waterfall. The usual barrage concluded the Rhode Island display which was received by much whistling, honking of horns and other expressions of approval. The total absence of wind made the smoke hang low over the fireworks and rather spoiled the effect of some of the pieces.

It seemed a hard assignment for the Randolph Fireworks Distributing Company to equal the first display, but the thing was done. Many in the crowd, believing that the first barrage concluded the entertainment, left for home, but those who remained saw something worth while. The Randolph pieces included a realistic naval battle, an animated bicycle rider, a handsome cross-surmounted chalice, crossed flags and a beautiful double star which started very small and grew to heroic proportions. The barrage closing the second display was spectacular and beautiful as well as terrifically heavy. For several minutes the air was full of shimmering stars while detonations heavy enough to shake the ground and rock nearby houses aroused shrieks of delight and terror from the big gathering. Both companies displayed beautiful aerial rockets and bombs, the noise of the latter being unusually loud.

Following the program the Board of Selectmen, acting as judges, awarded the prize to the second display given by the Randolph Fireworks Distributing Company. The set pieces were about a stand-off, but the second display in its closing barrage combined beauty with noise.

As has been the custom for the past few years the celebration was a two-day affair, commencing Tuesday evening with a parade and band concert by the Roma Band, attended by more than 1000 people. Several heavy bombs were shot off during the evening.

The huge press of cars was handled well by the local police who were assisted by a detail of five Metropolitan patrolmen in charge of Sergt. Earl S. Chainey. One detail of the police work on the Parkway aroused much favorable comment. Once cars were parked, they were obliged to stay put and the Boulevard was closed from Lloyd street to Main street during the fireworks, thus ensuring those on foot a chance to move about in safety.

Chief of Police William R. McIntosh was in charge of the local police assisted by Lieut. John Harrold. The Tuesday evening detail included Patrolmen Robert White, Joseph Derro, Mark Kelley and Walter Lord under Sergt. Thomas Cassidy at the playground with Patrolmen Henry Dempsey, Edward O'Connell, John Noonan and James Donaghey in the center.

Wednesday evening found Patrolman Daniel Kelley at Waterfield road and Patrolman John Hogan in the traffic box. Lieutenant Harrold was in charge of the detail at Manchester Field which included Patrolmen Robert White, Joseph Derro, Mark Kelley, Henry Dempsey, Walter Lord and Robert Eason. Sergt. Thomas Cassidy was in charge of traffic in the square with Patrolmen James Donaghey, "Ned" Shea and John Noonan. Chief McIntosh was at the desk at Headquarters with Officer Edward O'Connell.

Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department was in the danger zone at Manchester road with two pieces of apparatus, the Chief's car and Engine 3, ready for any emergency. With him were Driver Edward Noonan and Firemen Frank Duffy, Alexander MacKenzie, Roy Nowell, James Callahan, Edward and John McCarron.

The committee in charge of arrangements included: Frank Dattilo, Chairman; Ugo Rolli, Treasurer; Alfredo Rolli, Secretary; Dominico Della Sventura, Antonio Maragioglio, Alfonso Cricolo, Orlando Pasquale, Antonio Maggio, Davide Mascioli and Giovanni Gattinerl.

SPEEDBOAT BURNS AT NEWPORT

A speedboat making a trial run Thursday over the course on which the second annual Narragansett Bay motor boat regatta will be staged at Newport, R. I., caught fire and burned to the water line. The four occupants of the boat were rescued.

The vessel was the Miss Judy, owned by Howell F. Shepard of Madison avenue, Winchester, who was at the wheel. The boat was well up the bay when a fuel feed line broke and the gasoline ignited. The speedboat Dolphin, which happened to be close astern of the Miss Judy, took off the latter's crew.

PICNIC AT SHEEPFOLD

Thirty-five 4-H club boys and girls from Melrose, Wakefield, Reading, Stoneham and Winchester, enjoyed a picnic at the Sheepfold, in the Middlesex Fells, near Spot Pond, Wednesday. Several adult club leaders and parents also attended and joined in the fun. The picnic, which was held under the direction of Mrs. Ralph T. Howe of Melrose, assistant County Club agent for the eastern section of Middlesex County, took the place, for the youngsters in these five towns, of the regular picnic for the whole of Middlesex County which was originally scheduled for the same day at Cedar Hill, Waltham, but was cancelled owing to the prevalence of infantile paralysis in Waltham and Watertown.

The boys and girls arrived at the Sheepfold about 10 o'clock by bus, private automobile and afoot, a delegation from Winchester hiking both ways through the Fells. A varied program of events kept everyone busy and happy from then on until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Races for both boys and girls were scheduled, including dashes, crab races, wheelbarrow races, 3-legged races, pig-a-back races, thread and needle races, egg and spoon races, shoe races and a shoe scramble.

Individual prizes were awarded for the first three places in each event. The final score by towns showed Winchester to be the winner with 69 points, just twice as many as Stoneham, its nearest competitor, which had 34½. Wakefield was third with 25 points, then came Reading with 23 and Melrose with 23½.

A short rest period after lunch was utilized for the singing of 4-H Club songs, and the telling of stories by Mrs. Ida C. Lucas, a local club leader from Reading. That Mrs. Lucas' stories were appreciated by the boys and girls was attested by the absolute silence which reigned during their telling and the clamors for more which followed each story.

The rest of the afternoon was taken up with games; dodge ball, gossip and ghosts, and all were loathe to leave when the time came to go home. Although regretting that the larger county picnic could not be held, all agreed that this local affair was a most enjoyable and worth while substitute.

Ahead and Behind

Middle age ought to be the time when a man has as much good work ahead of him as behind.

Testing Block Tin

It would be necessary to have a chemical analysis made to tell whether block tin is pure. A block-tin pipe will have the characteristic white color of tin on a filed surface, it will be soft and easily bent, and it will "crinckle" on rapid bending. This "tin cry" is due to the motion of the large tin crystals. The melting point of pure tin is about 232 degrees centigrade, and this gives another method of checking the purity.

CAMP WINCHESTER

On Aug. 10, 38 campers took a trip to Provincetown. Leaving camp right after breakfast, they were relayed over the road in three cars arriving at the monument at 10:20. All climbed the monument and after lunch, spent several hours in looking over the town. On the return trip, we visited Highland Light and Corn Hill where the German Gliders are located. We arrived back at camp at 6 o'clock and greatly enjoyed the fish chowder awaiting us there.

On Monday the senior ball team played Camp Monomoy at the latter's field winning the game handily by a score of 13—5. Camp Monomoy is a large camp with 150 boys registered. Camp Winchester will compete with them in swimming and in tennis during the next week.

The Saturday night plays were excellently done this week and attracted a good sized audience of friends and neighbors. The Reds were adjudged the winners with their country school room play with "Jocko" Prue as teacher and Maurice Tompkins as star pupil. The Blues presented a Chinese play with Fred Philbrick and "Bob" Wagner in the leading roles. Feminine roles in these productions were cleverly taken by "Bobby" Eubanks and Richard Riley.

The camp paper out Sunday showed that the Reds are leading in the camp contest by a score of 120—67. The Blues are not discouraged, however, as they feel that they are supervision in athletics and will produce winners in the camp field and water championships.

Where Intellect Fails

Nothing in life that is of consequence is ruled by intellect alone.—American Magazine.

Use of Medicines

It is instinct for human beings to take medicine when they are not feeling well, but the indiscriminate use of medicines does more harm than good. The home medicine chest which is usually located in the bathroom, should be planned with care, and it should be located high enough so that small children cannot reach it.

Loans for Home Building

The family that can buy an automobile on time payments, can buy a home on time payments. It simply means the ability to save out a little more money than is required for current living expenses.

Co-operative bank loans are scheduled to meet the income program of the average American family. Instead of "straight loans" which fall due in a lump sum, we issue loans that are repaid in convenient monthly installments. This helps greatly toward ultimate home ownership.

Less Bickering With Fifty-Fifty Marriages

Work has replaced bickering in the home of the economically independent wife, according to at least one husband who calls his marriage a "fifty fifty" proposition.

Writing in the Woman's Home Companion he says that instead of destroying the home the maintenance of marriage as a union of two economically independent persons causes the home to be even more appreciated than it was under the old idea of matrimony. Since both husband and wife are away from their home all day, it is his contention that both appreciate its comforts more when they return to it together at night.

"It seems to me that a fifty-fifty husband's greatest reward," says this fifty-fifty husband, "lies in being married to a woman who, because she has found a satisfactory channel of expression, is a well-balanced personality. The fifty-fifty husband is spared emotional crisis. I trace this to the fact that both of us are workers in the same world and there is no chance for imagination to function overtime."

When babies come, the writer concludes, his wife will remain with them until they reach school age and then will return to her work.

Earliest Pocket Matches

Despite the many claimants, the honor of inventing the first real "friction match" of the kind with which we are familiar today belongs to John Walker, a Stockton-on-Tees (England) chemist. In 1826 he was selling his friction lights for a shilling for a hundred, and twopence for the box! The match was pressed between the fingers in a piece of sandpaper.

WINCHESTER TENNIS STARS AT TEDESCO

Wallis and Louise Packer Won Titles —Wadsworth and Paine Doubles Champs

Herbert "Hup" Wallis, former all-round athletic star at the local Country Day School, won the first championship for Winchester in the younger division of the North Shore junior tennis tournament at the Tedesco Country Club in Swampscott, Wednesday, defeating Ralph Pope, Jr. of Manchester in the final round, 6—1, 6—1. Winchester's three entries in the girls' singles play, Mary Cutter, Betty Proctor and Frances Poinier went out in the early rounds.

Sidney Paine, Charles Wadsworth and Wallis represented Winchester in the junior boys' singles and the first two named survived the early rounds. Wadsworth was beaten in the quarter finals by John Richardson of Gloucester but Paine entered the semi-final round when he won his match by default. Sidney was defeated in the championship match by William Lincoln of Chicoma, N. H., after winning the first set, 2—6, 6—1, 6—0, 6—3.

In the boys' doubles Wadsworth and Paine won in the semi-finals from William Lincoln and William Porter, 8—6, 9—7 and were yesterday crowned champions, after winning in the finals from S. Huntington Walcott of Nahant and Robert Grant of Pride's Crossing, 5—7, 6—3, 6—2, 2—6, 6—2.

Louise Packer, Maribel Vinson, Frances Poinier, Helen Bidwell, Frances Pettingell and Virginia Merrill were Winchester girls in the junior tourney. Louise Packer, Frances Pettingell and Virginia Merrill all won their way into the semi-finals, the last named at the expense of Frances Poinier who had previously sprung the big surprise of the tourney by defeating Katherine Winthrop of Hamilton and Hilda Boehm of Malden, both among the better junior players. Louise Packer defeated Frances Pettingell in the semi-finals, 6—2, 6—2, and won her final match and championship from Dorrance Chase of Dorchester, 7—5, 6—3.

In girls' doubles Louise Packer was the only local entry to advance beyond the early rounds. Playing with Betty Pope of Manchester she went out in the semi-finals. Virginia Merrill and Frances Pettingell were defeated in the first round by Katherine Winthrop and Emily Lincoln, 5—7, 6—1, 8—6, another upset.

Watercress Good Food

The list of foods the doctor says you should eat has been augmented by a new one, watercress. This familiar garnish for meat and salad is a remarkably rich source of the vitamine necessary for growth and of the scurvy-preventing vitamine C., Dr. Katherine H. Coward and P. Eggleton, of the University of London, have found. It contains small quantities of vitamine D as well in its small green leaves. The green shows considerable seasonal variation, however, in its growth-promoting properties, the investigators have found, being more effective with laboratory animals in this respect in spring and summer than in winter.

Breaking Ocean Cables

Researches with reference to the breaking of telegraphic cables have revealed the facts that there are parts of the ocean bed, particularly on steep slopes along the edges of the continents, where great changes frequently occur. The importance of properly selecting the location of a cable is shown by the fact, cited often in this relation, that the military and naval reserves were called out in Australia once, when the simultaneous interruption of two cables cut off communication with the rest of the world for 16 days and gave rise to the fear that war had broken out in Europe.

Keys of the City

The custom of presenting "the keys of the city" to visiting celebrities goes back to the days when towns and walls and gates and, often, real keys. The presentation of the keys was a token of submission or allegiance which a feudal town paid its king or overlord when he visited it. The present bestowal of keys on distinguished visitors is simply a sentimental survival of the old practice.

Mechanical Violin

A violin that plays itself has been perfected by two French engineers. The violin, it is claimed, will play anything, from the classics to modern fox-trots. It is an ordinary violin, supported by a "cradle" arrangement. There is an ordinary bow with a mechanical attachment which makes it "stroke" the strings. The violin is operated by perforated disks and is run by electricity.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

Professor Fisher of Yale Will Vote for Hoover

In a letter recently published Professor Irving Fisher of Yale gave the following reasons why he intended to vote for Mr. Hoover. As an independent voter who did his bit to elect Roosevelt in 1904, Taft in 1908 and Wilson in 1912 and 1916 and who, since then, has voted for the Democratic candidates for the Presidency, I shall in 1928 support Herbert Hoover for President.

1. Mr. Hoover is a great engineer and administrator, a man, who both plans things and does things, a practical, constructive idealist.

2. Mr. Hoover is a great humanitarian, who came into politics not as a politician, but as a friend of his fellow-men as did originally Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson. It was Hoover's constructive work in Belgium relief, undertaken not because of personal ambition, but at a personal sacrifice, which brought him into prominence and led President Wilson to appoint him food administrator. From that day to this he has been a great figure in the relief of human suffering and in child welfare. In post-war relief, through his ingenious device, the "food draft" millions were kept from starving in Germany, Austria, Russia, Poland and elsewhere.

3. Mr. Hoover is a Quaker, whose very religion is world peace. Under him we may hope to see won outlawed in fact as well as in name.

4. Mr. Hoover is a practical economist, and one to whom is due more largely than to any other one man improvement in our prosperity. Under him we expect that improvement to be increased and extended to all classes, including the farmer now suffering from the after-effects of the deflation of 1920. Mr. Hoover knows, as few men do, the terrible evils of deflation and inflation and need of avoiding both, if business and agriculture are to be stabilized. Through Mr. Hoover the department of commerce has been converted into a tremendous force for saving waste, for revolutionizing industry and for the development of the foreign markets of the American business man and the farmer.

5. Mr. Hoover is a genuine dry, one who, as a humanitarian wants to secure the full benefits of prohibition for the health and happiness of American homes, and as an economist wants to secure its full benefits—many billions of dollars worth per annum in productivity and in the savings and extension of human life. Moreover, personally, he may be relied upon to himself observe the law which he is sworn to enforce. There could be no greater discredit of law observance than to have in the White House a President, who, in his own personal habits, should set an example in flouting the law. Governor Smith, by signing the repeal of the New York enforcement act, has done more to nullify prohibition than any other man, and to create that very disrespect for law which he professes to deplore.

6. Governor Smith is likeable as a personality, but I can never vote for him because he is linked to Tammany Hall and liquor. A candidate should be judged for what he can accomplish as President. Governor Smith certainly has not had Hoover's experience with our great national and world problems, nor has he displayed Hoover's knowledge of them.

7. I have no religious prejudice against Governor Smith. Had the Democratic party nominated another Catholic, Senator Walsh of Montana I might have voted for him.

8. But, as one who reverses the memory of President Woodrow Wilson as a world statesman, I would rather vote for his former adviser, than to put in power at Washington the Tammany wing of the Democratic party from which Wilson always studiously kept aloof and for good reasons.

9. Mr. Hoover is above the suspicion of political corruption. It is unthinkable that, under him, the oil scandals involving some members of the Harding Administration, can be repeated. To wipe out this national disgrace, I would rather see Hoover and the Hoover group than Tammany Hall in the White House.

WINCHESTER BOY FIRST OF RECENT CADETS TO FLY AT BROOKS FIELD

Cadet Henry B. Harris of this town has the distinction of being the first member to fly solo out of a class of some 120 young men who on July 1 began preliminary training at Brooks Field, Tex., for commissions in the Army Aviation Corps.

Harris was allowed to go up without an instructor at the end of seven and one-half hours. No other cadet went up alone short of eight hours instruction and 10 hours were often necessary before solo flying could be attempted. Many of the cadets who entered the school with Harris have already been dropped by the Government.

The Winchester young man has completed a little more than a month of a 12 months' course in aviation under the direction of the United States Army authorities. Following preliminary ground work and flying instruction at Brooks Field, San Antonio, Harris will be transferred to Kelley Field, Tex., where he will be trained in actual war-time operations, such as scout and pursuit flying, bombing and observation work. The latter training consumes some four months and leads upon being successfully completed to the commission of 1st Lieutenant in the Regular Army Aviation Corps with the privilege of accepting a reserve commission, if the cadet does not care to continue in the service. The course is unusually stiff and the average able to pass it and receive commissions is only about 20 in 1916. The Government is striving to make all Army flyers "safe" aviators and is overlooking nothing in its efforts to attain success.

Harris has completed his second year at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is on leave of absence from the Institute while training for his commission. He makes his home in Winchester at 4 Penn road and is the son of Mrs. Frances A. Harris.

ELISHA W. COBB

Elisha W. Cobb, 71 years old, for many years a prominent figure in the leather industry as president of the Beggs & Cobb, Inc., died Wednesday afternoon after a brief illness at the Brooks Hospital. Funeral services were held Friday at 2 p. m. at his late home at Phillips Beach, Swampscott.

He was a native of Truro and for many years visited his old home there. In 1912 a library was donated and endowed in that town by Mr. Cobb.

He started in the leather tanning industry in the late 70s and founded the corporation which bore his name and of which he was treasurer. The company maintains tanneries and shops in Woburn and Winchester. Mr. Cobb was the founder of the benevolent society for shoe and leather employes in the city of Boston and for many years was actively interested and gave liberally toward its maintenance.

He was a member of the Algonquin Club, Corinthian Yacht Club, the Country Club, Tedesco Country Club, and of the Masons. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Donald H. Smith and Mrs. Alfred E. Freeman of Pasadena, Cal., and five grandchildren.

HEARING HELD ON FIRE IN LOCAL STORE

Inspectors Shumway and Mansfield from the office of State Fire Marshal Neal with a stenographer from the Massachusetts Department of Fire Prevention held an investigation Tuesday forenoon at Police Headquarters of circumstances attendent upon the fire which was discovered at 3:10 Sunday morning Aug. 5, in the store at the corner of Swanton and Holland streets occupied by John Morini, grocer, and the American Baking Company.

As a result of conditions found in the store coupled with the fact that Morini was seen in the building by Officer Farrell shortly before the fire started and again on the street in an automobile not far from the store just before the fire was discovered, the authorities ordered an investigation.

Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department, Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department and several Italian residents of the district together with Morini and Paul Amico were present at the hearing Tuesday. No public statement of the findings was made by the State authorities.

A fair motorist whose identity was not learned narrowly escaped serious injury Monday when she drove her sedan too close to a truck owned by the Fells Plumbing Company of Main street and parked in front of the Winchester Trust Company's building on Church street. Some pipes which were on the truck went through the windshield of the sedan and came perilously near the heads of the driver and two pasesngers who were with her in the car.

BARTA CAMP HELP OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY

Once again the director and the girls at the Barta Camp, Casco, Me., entertained parents and friends with a day of varied activities. The clerk o' the weather had a hard time deciding whether to continue with showers or sunshine, but the variability of the weather, only tested the more the interest and adaptability of the camp program.

Water sports, dramatics, singing, riding, archery, tennis and baseball filled a long happy day. If ever a quiet interval came there was a delightful display of "arts and crafts" to visit. Then too, there was a very interesting "nature" room.

Campfire and the reading of some entertaining "logs" closed the program and the guests departed pleased with their generous glimpse of camp life.

A Ford roadster, owned and operated by Gordon Smith of 120 Cambridge street, while crossing Bacon street from Everett avenue to enter Central street last Saturday, was in collision with a Cadillac touring car, owned by Arthur A. McCarron of 88 Princeton street, Medford, and being driven west on Bacon street by Frank G. Nolan of 627 Main street, Woburn. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday are "Hold 'Em Yale" with Rod La Rocque playing the part of an Argentine youth who becomes a football hero at Yale. "No Other Woman" tells the story of a woman's caprice, a man's perfidy and a friend's faith. Dolores Del Rio, Ben Bard, Don Alvarado, Paulette Duval and Rosita Marstini appear in the principal roles.

For the last three days of the week the features are "Drums of Love" and "Skinner's Big Idea."

"Drums of Love" is the story of two brothers solemnly sworn to uphold each other's honor who are brought to a grave crisis when they both fall in love with a girl held by them as a hostage. In the cast are Mary Philbin, Lionel aBrrymore, Don Alvarado, Tully Marshall, William Austin, Rosemary Cooper and others.

"Skinner's Big Idea" tells how Skinner, as junior partner in a business, is left by the senior members of the firm to fire the old office help and get some new blood into the concern. Heartbroken at the thought of turning these old men into the streets he conceives the idea of making them young again. With the aid of a chorus girl friend of the senior partner's son, Skinner sets about the rejuvenation. How he succeeds is both dramatic and funny.

RAN AUTOMOBILE INTO FALLEN POLE

Mr. D. W. Esterbrook of 5 Ridgefield road escaped with a slight cut and his Essex coach was more or less damaged early Monday morning when, while headed southeasterly on Ridgefield road, the machine collided with an electric light pole which had fallen across the roadway near the residence of Mr. Alfred H. Morton. Much of the damage was done by the wires which had been pulled down with the pole and which were particularly hard to see because of the rising sun.

Police Headquarters was notified of the pole being down by Mrs. W. L. Parsons of Bruce road about 8:15 and Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell was sent to investigate. The Telephone and Edison Light Companies were notified and a repair crew soon made the street passable. It was found that the pole had rotted off at the base. Mrs. Parsons told the police it had fallen about 4:15 Monday morning.

BUICK TOOK OVERLAND JAUNT ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

The four occupants of a Buick sedan admitted to rather a thrilling ride shortly before midnight last Friday night when the operator decided to test the cross-country ability of the machine and started for a cruise about the lawn and property of Mr. Elwell S. Butterworth at 107 Cambridge street.

Police Headquarters had been notified that a motorist was driving in an unaccountably strange manner about the West Side and when the trouble at Mr. Butterworth's was reported Patrolmen John Hogan and John Hanlon were soon on the scene.

The police found upon arrival that the Buick sedan had broken across the lawn at the Butterworth home, had smashed off a tree, crashed through some shrubbery and knocked over part of a stone wall before stopping its wild flight. Strange as it may seem no one of the occupants of the car was injured nor did the machine seem greatly the worse for its experience.

After questioning the driver of the sedan, Officer Hanlon arrested him and at headquarters he was booked on the charge of operating under the influence of liquor with the additional charge of drunkenness. He gave his name as Arthur Robillard of Arlington and said the Buick was the property of his mother.

In the District Court at Woburn Saturday morning he was found guilty as charged and fined $50 by Justice Jesse W. Morton.

DRIVER HURT AS CARS COLLIDE

Frederick W. Shaw of Harriet avenue, Burlington, was badly bruised and shaken up at 7:45 Wednesday morning when the Ford sedan he was driving on Church street toward Cambridge street was in collision with a second Ford sedan which was turning into Church street from Cambridge street on which it had been headed north. The operator of the second Ford was Lena R. Shepard of 21 Waushakune avenue, Framingham, who was not injured.

Shaw was badly bruised about the left side and was taken for treatment to the office of Dr. Daniel C. Dennett. Later he was taken to his home. His Ford sedan was badly damaged about the front end.

Mr. Dwight D. Elliott of Stevens street took a trip to Orleans Sunday and Winchester Boy Scout camp located there.

PITCHED INTO TRENCH WHEN TRIPOD SLIPPED

Manuel Mello, 50, of Malcolm road, South Dartmouth, one of the workmen employed by the Boston contracting firm of F. A. Mazzor Company, 141 Milk street, was painfully injured Tuesday forenoon about 11:30 while engaged in laying pipes for the new gas main which the Arlington Gas Light Company is extending through Winchester from the high pressure main on Everett avenue to the new holder on Cross street.

Mello with other workers was busy on Fletcher street, lowering sections of pipe with a derrick into a trench. While doing so the tripod supporting the derrick slipped, pitching Mello with the pipe into the pit.

The man was gotten out of the hole by his fellow workers and a telephone call to Police Headquarters brought Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Officer James P. Donaghey to Fletcher street with the police car.

It was at first thought that Mello was badly injured. He was in such pain that it was deemed imprudent to remove him in the police ambulance, and he was consequently taken to the Winchester Hospital in the ambulance of Kelley & Hawes Company. At the hospital he was treated by Dr. M. D. Sheehan of Stoneham who ordered X-rays taken in an effort to determine the exact extent of the injuries sustained.

The pictures showing nothing serious and at the hospital Wednesday morning Mello was reported as resting comfortably.

AS LOW AS $750

We can seldom list two lots of land on the West Side of Winchester for as low as $750 each. Each lot contains approximately 8000 sq. ft. and both are desirably located in a restricted area.

Builders, either for investment or for homes, would do well to consider this property. We believe it a real value.

GEORGE R. BRINE

George R. Brine, at one time numbered among the most prominent tailors and haberdashers of Boston, died Friday, Aug. 17, at the old homestead at 149 Washington street which he had occupied for nearly half a century.

Mr. Brine was born March 21, 1840, in the North End of Boston, the son of Robert Brine. His family soon moved to East Cambridge where as a boy he received his education in the public schools. The elder Brine was a tailor, his establishment near Harvard square being extensively patronized by students at the university.

After being associated for several years with his father, Mr. Brine in 1865 entered business for himself, opening a store in Boston under the Adams House. The business prospered and in 1871 had grown to such an extent that a new firm to include his father's business was formed, occupying a building near the corner of Bromfield and Washington streets.

Thereafter for 30 years Mr. Brine continued in the clothing business, either for himself or as a manager for others. Making his home in Cambridge he took an active part in city affairs, especially with regard municipal politics. He held every important position, excepting that of mayor, and in 1873 as a member of the Board of Aldermen was largely instrumental in doing away with the "Miller's River nuisance."

Mr. Brine came to Winchester in 1880, continuing active in politics. In 1884 as chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, he took a leading part in carrying the community for Grover Cleveland for president. He was for some years active in opposing the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

In 1865 he married Miss Dorothy A. Hagan of Cambridge and in 1915 they observed the 50th anniversary of their marriage. Mrs. Brine died in 1916. Surviving are three children, Miss Josephine Brine of Winchester, and Fred and George Brine of Atlanta, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. Frances Harrington of Medford and Mrs. Mary Welch of Somerville; and a brother, Robert Brine of Medford. Five grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were held from the late residence Monday morning with a requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. The interment was in St. Paul's Cemetery.

MOTORISTS INJURED IN CRASH ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

Miss Marguerite Powers of 10 Auburn street, Woburn, sustained injuries to her head shortly before 11:30 last Saturday morning when the Ford sedan in which she was riding with Felix Perriello of 131 Bow street, Everett, was in collision on Cambridge street at Swan road with a Ford truck which was owned and operated by Louis Mehos of 85 Lawrence street, Medford. Periello was driving south on Cambridge street which Mehos was entering from Swan road. The latter operator was scratched about the face and on the right leg. Miss Powers was taken for treatment to the office of Dr. Arthur L. Brown. The cars were badly damaged and were towed away to out-of-town garages.

WINCHESTER WOMAN INJURED IN NEWBURYPORT AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Catherine Dalton of Clark street was removed to the Anna Jacques Hospital in Newburyport last Sunday, following an automobile collision in which she figured upon the Newburyport turnpike near Turnpike Inn.

Mrs. Dalton was riding in an automobile, owned and operated by her son, John J. Dalton of 11 Clark street, when the machine was in collision with another car, owned and driven by Clement Walton of 10 Berwick street, Sanford, Me. Both machines were capsized and Mrs. Dalton was thrown through a rear window by the force of the impact. At the hospital she was found to have sustained a broken collarbone, two fractured ribs and a severe scalp wound. Her condition was reported as serious.

Mr. Dalton sustained a bruised head and cut hand while Owen Grant of Hemingway street, also a passenger in the Dalton car, escaped injury. Mr. Walton and Rennie Sutcliffe of 51 Berwick street, Sanford, Me., occupants of the other car, were uninjured.

CONGREGATIONAL SPIRE BEING STRENGTHENED

Work was begun Wednesday upon the strengthening of the spire of the First Congregational Church, recently found unsafe by Building Commissioner Maurice Dinneen. The tower is to be braced from the floor below the belfry for 20 feet upwards, the old timbers being removed and replaced with new hard pine sticks, 12x8 inches. The work is being done by the local contractor and builder, A. J. Young. Charles T. Main of Winchester is the engineer. It is thought doubtful if the work will be completed in time to allow the resumption of services at the usual mid-September date.

CITY CLUB HERE FOR RUBBER GAME

Manager "Dukes" Farrell of the Winchester Town Team announces a rubber game between his ponies and the Woburn City Club for the coming Saturday afternoon at 3:15 on Manchester Field.

On the last occasion when these teams locked horns 15 innings of thrilling baseball was the result, and the fans will doubtless welcome the opportunity to witness a resumption of the feud. Winchester was the ultimate winner on that occasion but in the first game of the season for the locals the City Club dragged its colors deeply in the mire. Saturday will decide the issue.

Advance dope from Woburn is to the effect that "Lefty" Flaherty, crack hurler of this year's championship Woburn High School nine, will toe the slab for the City Club. Who will work for Winchester is problematical. Lee pitched 11 hard frames last Saturday and as it is Amico's turn, he very likely will start against the invaders. Frank Melly will do the catching, with the remainder of the lineup as near as possible that which faced the City Club in the last game.

MRS. ANGELINA DATTILO

Mrs. Angelina Dattilo, wife of Frank Dattalo and among the best known of the town's Italian residents, passed away shortly after midnight Tuesday morning at her home on Swanton street, following 11 years of failing health.

Mrs. Dattilo was 64 years old and a native of Italy, the daughter of Dominic and Mary Carvalli. She had made her home in this country for 26 years, coming to Winchester 17 years ago from Jenkintown, Pa. Surviving, besides her husband, are three daughters; Mrs. Mary Provinziano, Mrs. Angelita Cirurso, both of Winchester, Mrs. Theresa Torchia of Long Branch, N. J., and two sons, Joseph of Woburn and Frank Dattilo of Winchester, the latter chairman of the committee in charge of the recent observance by local Italians of the Feast of the Assumption. Thirteen granchildren also survive.

The funeral was held this morning from the Dattilo residence, followed by a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Plans are being rapidly developed for the September Social which is to be of a unique and novel nature. It will take the form of a supper, each member being instructed by the committee just what she is to donate in the way of delicious edibles, and in addition each one who attends is to contribute a plate. The full details of this September Dish Social will be published in next week's Star.

MRS. GORDO HORN SURPRISED

The home of Mrs. Albert Horn on Vine street was the scene of a very happy event Monday night when a number of congenial spirits foregathered at the bidding of hostess Ethel to give a surprise reception to Mrs. Gordo Horn.

And it was a surprise, a real one, to the guest of honor whose expectations of a quiet visit to her relatives were rudely shattered. For the "gang" was all there with bells on, the reception was a warm one, and little Mrs. Gertie was made to feel that she was a big item in "this vale of tears." Mrs. Annie M. Hanlon, with her usual efficiency, plus plenty of aplomb, presented the offering, a purse of gold. Mrs. Horn stood up under the ordeal rather well and voiced her tremulous thanks. Then festivities were on.

Of course, when friends of the female gender meet at Ethel's there is sure to be plenty of entertainment, and this party was no exception to the general rule. As master of ceremonies, Mrs. Emma Cullen kept things moving, and with Mrs. Josephine Power at the piano everyone who could sing or dance felt the urge to contribute her talent to the program. Popular songs were rendered by the quartet Mrs. Bernice Gorman, Mrs. Lillian Peterson, Mrs. Ellie Sharon and Mrs. Annie Scott. Mrs. Tradie Horn and Mrs. Annie Hanlon gave a series of folk dances, and Mrs. Frances Sullivan substituted for Miss Katherine Collins, eccentric dancer, ho as unable to be present. Mrs. Emma Cullen and Mrs. Ethel Horn, with Mrs. Serena MacNiff and Elizabeth Fitzgerald gave demonstrations of the latest dance steps, and all took part in the elimination contest which was won by Mrs. Lilla Green and Mrs. Lucille Pooler, because that pair could not be moved from their comfortable arm chairs.

Then there were forfeit games, introduced by Mrs. Serena MacNiff, and some of the stunts portioned out to the "girls" were about as acceptable as a sentence to the electric chair. Very few came through with flying colors, as did Mrs. Caroline Coakley and Mrs. Deil Osborne who seemed to have alibi for most everything. The victim who was ordered to kiss George Washington is still wondering where she can page him. She isn't crazy about the gentleman, but she does not want to pay a fine.

Refreshments of fruit punch and wafers, ice cream and assorted cake and bonbons were served by the charming hostess, assisted by Mesdames Trudie, Emma and others. And apropos of refreshment, it's curious how a mere cup of tea or a dish of ice cream can set the tongue-tied going! Curfew bells and midnight chimes meant not a thing to this crowd after some of the after-dinner speakers got busy. Mrs. Mae McHugh proved to be a most brilliant raconteur and Bernice, Lilla and Deil were no mean seconds in the art, and so the time fled. Came the auto horns to disturb the sanctity of Vine street and summon delinquents back to the home nest, and the party was over. But it was a gay one, while it lasted, and we are all ready for a repeat.

WINCHESTER BOYS ON STRANDED ALBATROSS

Press dispatches from Hamburg, Germany, where the American nautical schoolship, Albatross, had been anchored for a week on Tuesday, pending an "adjustment" of financial difficulties, state that the vessel is expected to start on its homeward journey before the present week is past.

The Albatross, which sailed from Boston June 13 after being held up by ship inspectors who apparently doubted the seaworthiness of the 11-year-old craft, has been almost continuously behind schedule, according to dispatches, which also state that the 119 students who left with the boat have dwindled to less than 100, some leaving at Cork, others at Le Havre and Bremerhaven. A Boston news item states that the school's trustees have cabled $1600 to cover repairs and refitting for the trip back to the States.

According to other reports radio appeals for funds have been repeatedly made by homesick boys who have wished to leave the Albatross and return here on liners. To the contrary Elmer R. Jones, executive secretary of the American Nautical Schools, Inc., has denied rumors of trouble on the training ship. He also denied that the vessel was unseaworthy.

The American Consul at Hamburg is reported to have taken charge of the situation in that city and stated in a dispatch that "everything is being straightened out satisfactorily." The boys, however, will not, he said, reach this county in time for the opening of school on Sept. 8.

Among the Winchester boys who left Boston with the Albatross June 13 are John S. Blank, 3rd; Allan Wilson, Lawrence Jones, Robert Burns and Lawrence Knowlton. What a fund of anecdote they will have for future required themes!

NEW FRIGIDAIRE MODELS HERE

The company is making an especial endeavor to acquaint Winchester people with their advantages, beauty and desirability. They can be seen at the Cameo Studio on Main street, the Edison Shop on Mt. Vernon street, Randall's Store, Locke's Drug Store, the Winchester News Company and at the Star Office.

BATES, INC. DISPLAYS NEW CADILLAC-LaSALLE MODELS

The most important news of the past week to motorists in the fine car field was the announcement of the new Cadillac and LaSalle cars and Fleetwood bodies.

Introduced with a message from Lawrence P. Fisher, president and general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, the cars are on display locally at the show rooms of John H. Bates, Inc. at Woburn, Stoneham and Reading, distributors of Cadillac-LaSalle cars, and in the surrounding territory by that company's dealers and representatives.

The new cars further reveal the often-mentioned purpose of General Motors to have in the products of the Cadillac Motor Car Company a line of cars which are superlatively fine regardless of price.

There are three outstanding improvements in the new cars—a new Cadillac, designed transmission which without changing the standard positions of the gear-shift lever, provides for easy, immediate, quick and silent gear shifting without the usual hesitation in neutral position; two new and independent braking systems of the internal shoe type, and "security-plate" glass in all windows and windshields.

Other important improvements include adjustable front seats in all body models excepting the Imperials; more powerful engines with a larger engine in the LaSalle; new use of principles of pneumatics in engineering to insure maximum quietness; chromium plating of exposed nickel parts, assuring permanent luster; strengthening of body construction with refinements in body exteriors and interiors, and the addition in the Fleetwood lines of an entirely new type, the "All-Weather" phaeton, which provides for five passengers the advantages of both an open and closed car which heretofore have been limited to the two-passenger convertible coupe.

LaSalle cars have a wheelbase of 131 inches with the exception of the Fisher-built phaeton, sport phaeton and roadster, and the Fleetwood transformable town cabriolet, which retain the original 125-inch wheelbase. All Cadillac chassis have a wheelbase of 140 inches.

In the new transmission, for both cars, Cadillac engineers have again scored by adding to their long list of pioneering achievements this development of an entirely new mechanism. It is called the "syncromesh" transmission and the name refers to the act of making the gears run at the same rate of speed just prior to actual shifting. The transmission is shifted in the usual way.

The new brakes are composed of two separate and independent systems, more efficient, more easily operated and providing for quick and simple adjustment. The brakes are entirely enclosed and operate at maximum efficiency in all weather, being fully protected from water and mud.

The new "security-plate" glass used in all windshields and windows is a new product which reduces to a minimum danger from flying glass in case of accident or collision.

An outstanding feature of the LaSalle is the larger size and greater roominess made possible by the longer wheelbase. The chassis is actually longer than that of the standard Cadillac of three years ago and the spacious interiors are impressive.

All body sills are made heavier, and the number of body hold-down bolts has been increased. Heavier reinforcements have been added to the dash, resulting in greater rigidity at a point which is subjected to severe stress. All metal attached to the body is coated with anti-squeak material at points where metal and wood come in contact. Interior hardware in both cars is of the same type as previously. In the Cadillac, it has a special old bronze finish with escutcheon plates and handleknobs of catelline stone.

Front seats in all closed cars are adjustable two inches forward and 1½ inches backward from the normal position for the average person.

A novelty in design is the placing of parking lights on the front fenders instead of on the cowl. This is a distinctive mark of the new lines of cars and the effect upon the observer is highly pleasing.

All exposed nickeled parts are chromium plated. This prevents tarnish and rust and retains the original beautiful and resplendent finish. A new type of windshield wiper, electrically driven, and having two arms, or blades, is used on all closed cars.

Chief changes in engines and chassis have been in the nature of refinements. Engines in both cars are more powerful, and high compression heads giving a compression ratio of 5.3 to 1 are standard on both cars. The LaSalle power plant has been increased in size giving greater efficiency and all-around performance.

An important improvement in the connecting rods is that they are now gun-drilled the whole length of the rod, and providing positive forced-feed lubrication to piston pins and bushings. The engines are supported at three points and the two rear points are set in rubber mountings.

The frame of the Cadillac has been made more rigid by increasing its depth to eight inches and increasing the width of the top and bottom flanges, thus giving the frame generous lateral stability. Wheels of the LaSalle are decreased to 19 inches. On both cars the design of the muffler has been improved and relocated to provide maximum quietness.

BADLY BURNED IN FIRE AT POND STREET GRAVEL PLANT

Robert Glennon, 21, of 21 Main street, Woburn, was painfully burned shortly after 10 o'clock Monday morning in a fire which did damage estimated at $2500 at the sand and gravel plant of Thomas R. Flynn, Inc. on Pond street.

Glennon, an employee of the above concern, was at work at the top of the big crusher and distributor where a gasoline torch is applied to the bottom of a rotary screen as a dryer for wet sand, permitting it to drop through a fine mesh screen.

It is thought the fire was started by a break in the hose connection of the gasoline torch, the whole line suddenly bursting into flames which enveloped Glennon and set his clothing afire.

Rushing to the edge of the platform, some 40 feet above the ground, the young man half fell and half lowered himself down the ladder at the side of the crusher where John T. Donovan, a truck driver in the employ of the Flynn corporation, extinguished the burning clothing.

Donovan then placed Glennon in his truck and rushed him to the Winchester Hospital where emergency treatment was administered by Dr. Francis J. Logue of Woburn. The young man was found to have sustained severe burns about the arms, legs and body but his condition while painful was not thought to be critical.

Meanwhile an alarm had been sent in from Box 51 which was received at local Fire Headquarters at 10:11. Four pieces of apparatus responded and put out the fire in the crusher after a fight of about an hour with the flames. It was necessary to lay 1400 feet of hose to reach the blaze, that part of the plant afire being in Woburn.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

For the first time in the club's life, a four boat was entered in the National Regatta, American Canoe Association, which was held at Sugar Island, Gananoque, Ontario, on Saturday, Aug. 11. Those attending the meet from Winchester were Kenneth Pratt, Philip Hight, Winthrop Palmer, Edward Sandberg, Alan Hovey, and of course, Mr. Herman Dudley Murphy, who has not missed a meet in many years.

The regatta, an annual event, runs over a period of two weeks, during which a series of sailing canoe races are run. The paddling events are usually run off in one or two days time. All persons in attendance, camp during their stay, and surely the spot is an ideal one for such a purpose.

The paddling events were in many cases, hotly contested and though a strong quartering wind prevailed, the water conditions did not become bad enough to cause a postponement. The Canadian entries proved to be superior to the Americans in the single blade races, while the New Yorkers, particularly the champion Pendletons, showed marked superiority in the double blade events. The Balmy Beach Canoe Club, of Toronto, was the winner of the meet, capturing the most number of points, while the Pendleton Canoe Club, of New York City, was a strong second. Boston had but a small representation and in fact, Winchester four was the only one from the Eastern Division.

Kenneth Pratt, the club's lone single blade entry, raced in the singles (junior class) race. The quartering wind and the choppy water proved to be too much for him. His lane was in the more exposed part of the starting line and he, in company with several others was blown outside of the course and had very rough going the full distance. He finished strongly, however, about in the middle of the large field of contestants.

Philip Hight, the singles-double blade (junior class) entry, was expected to do well as his showing in previous races this year has been encouraging. He lived fully up to expectations by placing a good third in a strong list of entries. With more experience he should and will be winning. He has placed a second in three previous meets this year, and his third in this last race showed an improvement over his former efforts as the competition was considerably better.

The club four, double-blade combination was composed of Capt. Edward Sandberg, stroke; Philip Hight, No. 2; Winthrop Palmer, No. 3; and Alan Hovey, stern. This four was entered in two races, namely the fours, Junior and Senior classes. A new shell was used for the first time and its initial trips over a race course seemed to prove that with more practice, the crew will do much better than in the old boat.

In the Junior class race, the Winchester boat was opposed by the Inwood Club four, of New York City. The locals won by a margin of about four lengths, negotiating the course in 3 minutes and 33 seconds, which was considered good time under the rather adverse conditions. It was somewhat disappointing to the boys that there were not more entries in this race but they were none the less, encouraged, and felt that they had properly christened their new boat.

The Senior class fours followed immediately and in this, Winchester placed third. The Pendletons were the winners and the Island Canoe Club of New York was second. This event gave the club a point and at least kept them from being totally washed out of the meet. This event of course brought out a number of entries and offered stronger competition than in the Junior event. The two classifications do not differ greatly in times, but once a crew wins in a special event, it comes under Senior classification. For this reason, all Senior races are composed of entries which have won previously.

Edward Sandberg and Alan Hovey were slated to race in the tandem double blades (Senior class) race, but as this event immediately preceded the Junior fours, they scratched their entry, in order to be fresh for the fours race. The final summary shows that Winchester placed a first and two third places out of four starts, which is a distinct improvement over any showing made in a long while.

Practice was resumed the first of this week for the Canobie Lake regatta, on Labor Day. The final regatta of the season will take place at Worcester on Sept. 15 and 16. An informal regatta will be held at the Winchester Boat Club Sunday, Sept. 8 at 2:30 p. m. There will also be a regular club dance that evening.

A Ford sedan in charge of Harry F. Nutting and containing four other passengers, while parked on Main street opposite Sanborn street last Friday evening, was struck in the rear by a Ford sedan, owned and operated by Richard Archibald of 6 Parker street, Charlestown. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

FIFTY BODY TYPES AND STYLES BY FISHER AND FLEETWOOD

YOU CANNOT buy a car at home or abroad that will give as much delight as the newest Cadillacs, La Salles—and Fleetwoods on these chassis.

Even the glamour of the fabulously expensive foreign cars means no such engineering genius, no such performance brilliance, no such riding and driving luxury.

As a matter of fact, the Cadillac Motor Car Company does not hesitate to state that there is nothing even remotely approximating the character and calibre of these matchless new creations.

They are, in fact, the greatest values in motoring today. Never has a given price in any class or grade purchased an equal degree of motoring luxury.

The Exclusive New Fleetwoods

In addition to the splendid array of new Fisher Body types and styles there are 14 exclusive and exquisite custom models Fleetwood designed and Fleetwood built offering the widest and most extensive selection of fine cars ever made available by any manufacturer a de luxe model to meet the taste and requirements of the most fastidious.

Never has a maker of fine motor cars had so many advantages to offer in all that lifts motoring above mere transportation: The buying power of a great corporation; the engineering talent of a vast organization; a dependable and far-reaching dealer body to serve Cadillac and La Salle owners; a national service policy clearly defined and the same efficient service under factory regulation at prices limited by us.

These automobiles can be appraised by the eye alone, but to understand and appreciate fully just how great an advance the new Cadillacs and La Salles represent it is necessary to drive them, to test their amazing performance, their comfort in action, and their ease of operation.

These new models will be on display tomorrow at all Cadillac-La Salle showrooms. Drive a new Cadillac or La Salle. A demonstrator is as close as your telephone.

La Salle now priced at $2295 to $2875—Cadillac at $3295 to $7000—All prices f. o. b. Detroit

THE NEW FRIGIDAIRE
Amazingly Quiet and More Beautiful

A new and much changed Frigidaire, amazingly quiet, with still more beautiful lines, new color combinations, higher efficiency and many other outstanding improvements is announced by Frigidaire Corporation, subsidiary of General Motors. It is presented in 19 different models, forming three distinct lines, with a wider range of prices.

Designed after months of work by an engineering department of 180 employees, proven in numerous test rooms and in the field, decorated by eminent stylists, the new Frigidaire is the culmination of 16 years in experimental work and 12 years in the actual manufacture of both household and commercial refrigerating equipment, according to H. W. Newell, general manager for New England distributorship.

A forced draft, playing upon the condenser, instantly drives heat taken from the food storage compartment through the rear of the cabinet into the open air. Two fans circulate air over a newly designed condenser, constituting a truly scientific solution of the heat removal problem.

The first of the three lines in which the new Frigidaire is presented is porcelain enameled, inside and out, finished in white and glacier gray, with chrome plated hardware of satin surfaced design. The second line has the same specifications throughout with the exception of the exterior finish, which is of enduring, snow-white duco. It is also finished in a number of pastel shades on special order. It affords the same positive refrigeration and lasting qualities as the first line at a considerable saving in the original investment.

Smaller models, similar to those in the first two lines are offered in the third. This is headed by two cabinets of five cubic feet capacity, suitable to the needs of small families. It also includes a special series of eight cabinets designed for installation in apartment houses. Cabinets in this line are also trimmed with handsome hardware of advanced design and equipped with ultra quiet compressors.

The new Frigidaire has undergone months of the most severe test. Radio amplifiers have been used to check it for sound. For weeks at a time it has performed in rooms heated to 100 degrees, freezing ice cubes within a few hours without ever once reaching its refrigerating capacity. It has been operated for months in hot moisture-saturated rooms without losing its lustre or its hardware becoming tarnished and dull. Mechanical door slamming devices have given its hinges and latches the equivalent of 20 years of use, without damaging them.

In addition, a still lower initial payment has been provided for those who desire to purchase on the well known GMAC plan, through which all products of General Motors are financed.

Announcement was also made of additions to the line of Frigidaire water coolers. A new cooler, similar to that now used for cooling bottled water, but which is attached direct to the water main, is in production. Another water cooler has a small compartment where lunch and bottle beverages may be stored.

CAMP WINCHESTER

The annual field and water sports of the camp were held last Saturday, Aug. 18 and some good performances were turned in. The campers were divided into three classes and so keen was the competition, that 26 boys were able to score points in the meet. Eddie Hitchborne of the Senior group won the camp championship with 31 points to his credit while William Hession was second with 21 points.

In the Junior group Hamilton was first with 20 points and Knowlton won the Intermediate first place with 18½ points. Other boys scored points as follows: Robert Barr, 10 points; Roger Twing, 10 points; Arthur Royce, 10 points; Bernard Gaffney, 9 points; John Blaisdell, 11 points; William Mills, 14½ points; Albert Haskell, 7 points; Gilbert, 4 points; Dotten, 3 points; Shiverick, 3 points; Lutes, 5 points; Tony Fiecciello, 2 points; Campbell, 1 point; F. Philbrick, 7½ points; Guerney, 1 point; Stevens, 5 points; Wagner, 1 points; Riley, 2 points; Eubanks, 5 points; Elliott, 3 points; Smith, 3½ points; W. Hitchborne, 5 points.

Camp Monomy won handily from Camp Winchester in water sports on Aug. 20 by a score of 17 to 14. On the following day they also won the tennis match 4 to 3 and a track meet 40 to 5. Our Junior baseball team defeated them on the same day by a score of 8 to 5.

The Blues were victorious in dramatics Saturday night putting on a play showing three periods of the camp day, namely: reveille, taps and inspection. The Reds had a play concerning college life which was well done although not good enough to win.

The camp paper Sunday showed that the Reds were still ahead in the camp contest although the Blues have materially reduced their lead during the past week.

Other activities of the week are trip to ball game, trip to movies, cricket game, volley ball game, capture the flag, treasure hunt, ghost hunt, marshmallow roast and surf swim.

AXEL ERICKSON

Axel Erickson, a lodger at the rooming house of Mrs. Caroline Murray on Elmwood avenue, was discovered dead in his bed there early Monday morning. Medical Examiner Vernon C. Stewart viewed the body and ordered it removed to the undertaking rooms of Eugene P. Sullivan on Spruce street where the funeral was held Wednesday afternoon. Interment followed in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Erickson was 62 years of age and was born in Sweden. He had lived in or near Winchester for more than 20 years, being employed up to three years ago by Carl Larson as a painter.

Since that time he had been employed in Florida during the winter, returning north each spring. So far as could be learned his survivors are his widow and one son, Robert Erickson, both living in Brooklyn, N. Y.

W. H. W. Bicknell is mentioned as one of the artists who are working for the success of the Japanese auction being held this week at Provincetown under the auspices of the exclusive "Beachcombers."

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

No man has any right to accept despair until his misfortunes are recorded in the book of fate, and signed and sealed by necessity.

Strange it is, but common sense is quite uncommon.

Great men are made up of qualities that meet or make great occasions.

To leave your umbrella in the vestibule of the church is a good test of your faith.

Many a man who has been sensible all his life often lets a fool make a fool of him.

Co-operating with the Middlesex County Division of the Massachusetts Women's Republican Club in sponsoring the garden party to be held next Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic S. Snyder in Winchester, the local women's party organization makes it apparent that it is continuing to live up to its reputation, that of being a wide-awake and progressive political group. The coming affair, combining as it does unusually interesting speakers with the charming background of the Snyder home, promises to be as pleasing as it is worth while.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday include "Partners in Crime" with Beery and Hatton and "Wallflowers" from the story by Temple Bailey.

For the first time since they furnished the comedy in such pictures as "Adventure" and "The Devil's Cargo" Beery and Hatton forsake burlesque and ludicrous costumes in "Partners in Crime." They are real characters in a real story that furnishes the maximum in comedy through legitimate situations. Beery has the part of a detective with a good heart and a thick head, while Hatton plays the dual role of a reporter and "Knife Regan" the mysterious outlaw.

For the last three days of the week the feature pictures are "The Racket" starring Thomas Meighan, and "Freckles" from Gene Stratton Porter's famous story. "The Racket" was adapted from the stage play of the same name, which enjoyed a healthful run on Broadway. Mr. Meighan is supported by a wonderful cast which has Marie Prevost in the leading feminine role. Others whose work stands out are Louis Wolheim, John Darrow, Skeets Gallagher, Lee Moran, George Stone and Sam De Grasse. By many it is declared to be Meighan's greatest picture.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

At the Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday the management will present a unique picture and vaudeville bill which will be enjoyed by all patrons. The top offering will be, the John Ford production, produced by William Fox entitled "Hangman's House" with Victor McLaglen as the big star. It will be remembered that he scored a success in "What Price Glory." The story deals with a soldier of the Foreign Legion, on leave to avenge his family honor. It is replete with romance and horse racing interwined and the road to real happiness is pointed out. Another picture will offer, Ramon Novarro in "A Certain Young Man" which contains beautiful women, Renee Adoree, Marceline Day, Carmel Myers and others are to be seen in the cast. "Spook Spoofing" will be the Our Gang comedy. The Pathe News, Aesop's Fables and five vaudeville acts all appearing in person will appear. Bargain night Friday with extra acts on the bill. Concert Sunday at 3.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The School Committee is glad to announce that it may be possible to continue the High School with one session. Standard desks have been placed in the physical laboratory. This provision coupled with further crowding in several of the other rooms may make the one session possible. A more definite statement cannot be made at this time due to the uncertainty of enrollment.

The Selectmen have kindly granted the School Committee the use of the Town Hall for several activities which cannot be carried on in the Wadleigh School due to lack of room.

HOLLAND, OLYMPIC HOST, GAVE THREE SPORTS TO WORLD

Holland, host to the world's athletes during the Olympic games, has contributed three popular sports to civilization, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Two of the three sports, yachting and skating have been incorporated into the Olympic games, but golf has not yet been added.

All three of the sport terms are direct importations from the Dutch languages; golf comes from kolf meaning a club; yacht from jacht which originally referred to hunting or the chase; skate from schaat meaning skate.

Scotch Gave Golf Finishing Touches

Although the Scotch receive credit for shaping golf into the game now played, the Dutch are held responsible for its origin. Certain etchings have been ferreted out of the art treasures of the nation which picture the ancient kolf players on the "links." So we know that in 1675 the well-equipped Dutch golfer went forth swathed in a mantle like a Roman toga, that he carried a muff and wore skates, because kolf was an ice game. In place of a golf bag he carried a sword in a scabbard. Yet he is not entirely an unfamiliar figure as he stands boldly in a typical visored cap, the same baggy plus fours, the golf socks and even the identical snappy knee tassels which decorate the fastidious golfer today.

One stick was enough for the old Dutch player; it was large and like a hockey stick. The golf balls were large too, and it has been found that although the Dutch earned the reputation of making the best golf balls, the Scotch, even in those days, were forcing clubs of such quality that the Netherlands sent across the North Sea for them.

The chief divergence between kolf and golf is that in kolf the player aimed to hit a stake set in the ice instead of trying to sink a putt in a cup. Other pictures have been found, however, which show that the Dutch themselves transferred the game to land and substituted a cup for a stake.

Sea Dog Couldn't Let Go

The sport of yachting originated, authorities consider, on the Zuider Zee, that shallow salt arm of the ocean which, quite appropriately, will be the scene of the Olympic yacht races. The sport was started by certain old sea dogs who tried to retire and couldn't. Veteran captains grown so rich on the sea trade with the Indies and America that they lived at ease in Amsterdam, compromised with the call of the sea by sailing to meet the incoming merchant fleet.

When word came that the ships were on the Texel roads the retired captains would sail out to meet them in small, luxurious ships designed like miniature galleons. Sailings to meet the fleet soon became races so the old captains gradually adapted their little galleons to get greater speed. One of these jachts was presented by Holland to Charles II of England who raced it on the Thames and thus the sport became implanted in Britain.

While it is true that no man can say who started skating, the Dutch very early developed the art. Probably they were among the first to substitute iron for bone skates and with this innovation the real history of skating begins.

Skate to Work and Play

To a Netherlander a pair of skates was, and, in a great measure, still is as necessary as an automobile to an American. In winter when the canals freeze, the Dutchman skates to work, he tours the country on skates, his servants go to market on skates, the mail in some places is delivered by postmen on skates.

So it is only natural that skates should promote the sport of skating as bicycles and automobiles have promoted bicycle and automobile racing. The Dutch soon became outstanding performers in figure skating, now one of the Olympic sports. They became famous also for their long distance journeys in which they sped on skates from one end of the kingdom to the other.

The Holland skating "Marathon" and big event of the season is known as "tour of the 11 towns" over a route of 125 miles which must be covered by skaters within 12 hours. No rests are allowed.

First Grade of Silk Poor

The first real silk seen by the Western world was brought from India as far back as 274 A. D. But it wasn't silk as we know it today. Some of the ancient fabrics in existence today are heavy and uneven in texture, less like sheer modern silk than cotton cloth is like fine linen.

Loans for Home Building

The family that can buy an automobile on time payments, can buy a home on time payments. It simply means the ability to save out a little more money than is required for current living expenses.

Co-operative bank loans are scheduled to meet the income program of the average American family. Instead of "straight loans" which fall due in a lump sum, we issue loans that are repaid in convenient monthly installments. This helps greatly toward ultimate home ownership.

GRANADA THEATRE

One of the screen's most appealing love stories, told with the photographically beautiful Ozard Mountains as a background, is "The Shepherd of the Hills," which is now heading the bill at the big Granada Theater in Malden. "The Shepherd of the Hills" is a screen version of Harold Bell Wright's best selling novel, which is considered the most widely read book of recent years. The lovers in the story are portrayed by Molly O'Day and John Boles. In the cast, also, are Alec B. Francis, who plays the title role; Matthew Betz, as the villain. While the film story, like the book, contains a plot that reaches high dramatic climaxes, a love story of exceptional appeal, and much comedy, its main feature is its wonderfully accurate presentation of Ozark life. The veritable mine of rustic beauty, picturesque characters and quaint customs afforded by this backwoods locale has been fully exploited by the director Al Rogell. Molly O'Day and John Boles make the romance of the story a thing of universal appeal, while the work of Alec B. Francis, as the Shepherd, is one of the greatest bits of acting ever recorded on the screen. The regular five-act bill of selected Granada vaudeville is an added feature for the last three days of this week.

Underworld pictures seem to satisfy the [illegible] craving of most people for the thrills of [illegible] that are hidden from the ken of the "average" man or woman. That, Milton Sills' new picture "The Hawk's Nest" which comes to the Granada next Monday for a run of three days, is one that grips the spectator from the start and maintains its hold until the finish. Wid Gunning wrote this story especially for Sills and it teems with action and with just enough mystery surrounding the central character of the Hawk to arouse and stimulate curiosity. Milton Sills plays the part of the Hawk, an underworld gang leader, with Montague Love, as Daugherty, rival gangster. To add to the festivities a number of mysterious Orientals are introduced including the sterling actor Sojin. Doris Kenyon plays a beautiful night club entertainer who loves Sills and who is pursued by Montague Love. Most of the action scenes take place in the Chinese quarter of the city. Trap doors, sliding panels and other mysterious things add to the excitement as the story moves along to its powerful climax wherein the Hawk vanquishes his enemies.

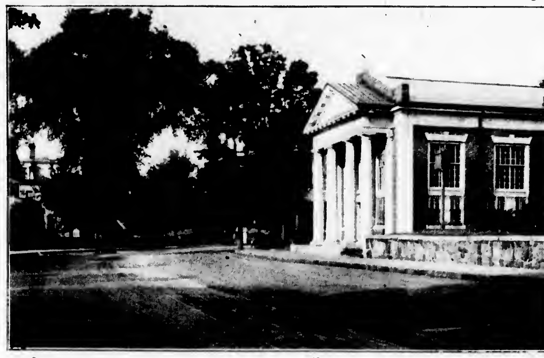

RUBY WHITTEN

Ruby Whitten, 19, for the past year a nurse at the Winchester Hospital, died at 4:20 this morning after an illness of one week. Her death was caused by septicemia, she having contracted the disease as the result of an infected heel sustained during her vacation. Miss Whitten made a magnificent fight against the malady, gaining the admiration of the entire hospital staff by her uncomplaining attitude and spirit of appreciation. Her passing is mourned by all who knew her and specially by her everyday associates. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home of Miss Whitten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wilson of 57 Nowell street, Melrose.

MIDGETS WON FROM WINCHESTER

Weafer and Lee Stage Great Pitching Duel—T. Duran Big Star for Winners

Manager "Tom" McGah's cocky Highland Midgets of Woburn won their 14th straight victory last Saturday afternoon, defeating the Winchester Town Team in a hard fought ball game, 2 to 0, on Manchester Field, after 11 hectic innings which kept the fans on the proverbial ragged edge.

The visitors figured to win rather handily, but once the game got under way the boys from the Tanning City soon realized that they had a real afternoon's work before them.

For a time it looked as though there would be no game, the rain having caused several of Manager Farrell's players to suppose the battle was all off. All were reached and put in appearance in time to get under way about a half hour behind the scheduled hour for starting. The four players who toil with both clubs were split two ways, "Tony" Colucci and "Max" Carey playing for Woburn and "Touchy" Gray and "Brad" Coates for Winchester.

The locals' chances of winning went glimmering with the announcement that the veteran "Kiko" Weafer, who has been a head-liner for more than a decade, would take the mound for the Midgets. The chunky and venerable "Kiko" needs only his glove out there to win from Winchester ordinarily and last Saturday he gave his customary fine exhibition of hurling. Only gilt edged support, however, saved him in the first, but thereafter he was pretty much all over the local batters.

Opposing Weafer was Winchester's kid sensation, "Ollo" Lee, and for 10 long frames he pitched neck and neck with "Kiko" who was playing high school ball when the youngster was born. Lee held Woburn nicely in check and with a little more experience might have weathered the 11th. In that frame he made the mistake, with two away, of working too hard on Carey, an admittedly weak hitter. In trying to put a lot on the ball, "Ollo" failed to control a fast one which hit Carey and put the skids under a corking pitching performance.

Woburn found Lee for 5 hits, but two of them were safe bunts off the bat of "Tom" Duran, and at least one of these should have been a routine put-out. Winchester got four hits off Weafer, including a double, and the veteran right hander also hit a man. He issued no free tickets and Lee passed but one batter. The fielding on both sides was clean and very sharp, only two errors being chalked up during the entire 11 innings.

Strangely enough these miscues were made by two of the most reliable fielders in the game, "Brad" Coates and "Dinny" McMannus.

Winchester nearly won the ball game in the first inning. "Kiko" dusted off "Touchy" Gray and when Coates laid it down the runner went all the way around to third. Dolan fouled to T. Duran and "Doc" Doherty strode to the rubber. "Doc" tried hard for a hit and belted the ball hard along the third base line. Had the apple gotten by Duran, the hit would have gone for a double but Thomas dashed over, made a wonderful back-handed stab and followed it by a lightning peg which erased Doherty at first.

That ended the locals' scoring chances until the 5th when with one away "Nicky" Fitzgerald blasted a long double to right field. Nicholas then attempted to pilfer third and was caught by a city block, McGah to Duran. McEleney fanned and that was that.

With two away in the 6th Gray beat out a hit on which Colucci made a wonderful one-hand stop in back of second. Coates, however, rapped to Duran, forcing Gray at second. Kelley singled in the 7th and Coates in the 9th but Weafer made the following batters holler "uncle."

Meanwhile Lee was setting the Midgets down in pretty much one-two-three order, only 20 men facing him in the first 6 frames. "Tom" Duran opened the 7th with a safe bunt along the third base line and stole second. With "Tony" Colucci, "Dinny" McMannus and Desmond, batting next in order a run seemed rather likely but Lee refused to crack. "Crossy" McEleney took Colucci's fly in left and McMannus fouled to Melly. Dolan and Fitzgerald got Desmond.

Again in the 9th Woburn's stock took a big boost when Carey's grounder bounced badly for Coates at third, giving the runner a life. "Tom" Duran laid one along the first base line which Lee should have fielded with a runner on first. Neither he nor Fitzgerald reached the ball in time to get Duran and there were two on and but one away.

Once again big "Tony" Colucci was up and once again Lee got safely by the crisis with the help of Frank Melly who made a life-saving catch of Colucci's foul, after a hard run behind the Woburn bench. McMannus

The Midgets went out in order in the 10th and bid fair to do the same thing in the 11th. Lee tossed out Weafer and McEleney took Costello's fly in left. Then the trouble began. Lee hit Carey and "Max" stole second, Melly's perfect throw being a bit late, even had Flaherty held the ball.

"Tom" Duran who had saved the game for Woburn in the first then proceeded to win it in the 11th by punching a clean single into left. McEleney got the ball in time to catch Carey at the plate but his throw was slow and wide of the mark. Duran went down to second on the throw-in and counted himself a bit later when Colucci finally beat Lee with a single to left. "Tony" went all the way to third and to make the country safe for Democracy Lee hit McMannus. The Woburn rooters figured "Ollo" was going up, but the youngster pulled himself together and made Desmond roll out to Coates.

Flaherty fanned to start the 11th for the locals. Lee rapped to McMannus and "Dinny" helped him around to second with a wild peg. Gray rolled out to Desmond unassisted and Coates, trying hard for a hit, topped one and was tossed out by Weafer.

Notes

Those who didn't see last Saturday's battle missed another sweetheart. No one figured that there'd be another game this season in the same class as that between Winchester and the Woburn City Club. The Midget battle was even faster, though not quite so long drawn out.

"Touchy" Gray played the fielding game of which he is capable for the first time in Winchester this season. He robbed Weafer of a triple in the 6th with a great catch at the bandstand. Seven putouts is quite an afternoon for a centerfielder.

"Tony" Colucci committed highway robbery in the 3rd and 4th frames, robbing Lee and Dolan of what looked like sure hits. He made a wonderful catch of Gray's roller on the first base side of second in the 6th but wisely refrained from trying to get the Winchester speed merchant at the initial bag.

Big "Doc" Doherty wasn't at all pleased at leaving the game in the first and many of the fans felt that he might have been able to hit Weafer. There seemed nothing else to be done, however, as Mark Kelley has been playing much better ball than Doherty while Flaherty seemed the better risk at second base.

Hand it to "Mex" for filling in anywhere at a moment's notice and doing a good job. His first catch in

SEEING FLORIDA WITH THE ELKS

Postmaster Lochman Writes of His Recent Trip as Delegate to National Convention

This report, somewhat edited, was recently made by Postmaster George H. Lochman who with Mrs. Lochman visited Florida as delegate from Winchester Lodge to the Elks' National Convention of 1928, held in that State. It is reproduced with the expectation that it will prove of interest to those planning to visit Florida and also to the many who will find themselves upon familiar ground as they follow the experiences of the writer.

We left Boston Monday, July 2, promptly at 5:45 p. m., the train consisting of baggage car and two coaches; saw a number of the celebrites—Brady, Andrew Casey, S. John Connelly and others; Vachon of Newton, "Dan" Harrington of Melrose, Hugh Marshall of Woburn were among those I noticed.

After a very pleasant ride, we arrived at Fall River and went on the boat, where everything was done for our comfort and convenience. One half of the dining room was reserved for Elks, and the menu cards were special souvenirs, with the Elk's head and clock printed in colors. At the table with us were Judge Adams, and Bill Quinlan of Natick, and "Charlie" Broadbent of Brookline. The Exalted Ruler of Fall River passed around a box of cigars. We had a fine trip and arrived in New York on time, had a trip around the city in busses. My heart was in my mouth during all the ride. We scraped bumpers and mudguards, hit the hub of a wheel and threw the horse against a man carrying a crate of tomatoes. He got up looking as if he were covered with blood, but the bus went right on.

We went on board the steamer "Iroquois" and got our stateroom keys. This was a wonderful boat with "Elks' Convention Special" covering about a third of each side. On the trip down the river from New York it was like the return of Lindbergh; every craft we passed saluted us, and the whistle of our boat was "tooting" continuously in answer to them. We had a fine stateroom and enjoyed the trip greatly. There were 287 in our party as well as quite a number of "outsiders." There was, of course, some racket and noisey people, but our room was so far away that it did not bother us.

We met some fine people, our "seatmates" being Judge Aaron and wife of Fort Lauderdale, formerly of New York. The sea was very calm and there was little vibration of the boat.

It was very interesting to me to watch the flying fish as they were continually near us. They are about the size of a smelt and look exactly like a small monoplane. They glide above the water for a distance of 50 or 60 feet.

We arrived in Jacksonville at 7:10 Thursday morning and were met at the dock by the City Police Band, playing an hour or so while our baggage was being unloaded. We then got into our busses, 10 of them, and I will say, that we had the same busses and the same drivers for the whole of our trip to Miami, and by the way, if you are a native, you pronounce it "Meama." We were taken for a tour of the city and then went to the lodge rooms where we had our first taste of southern hospitality. The ladies were taken up first, and when my wife met me she said "look out for that punch! It's awful strong." I took a paper drinking cup and went and got some. For once my wife was right. It was strong. We were there some time and I thought I would like some more, so I took another paper cup and went to the table where a very pretty miss was serving the punch. She looked at the cup and said, "What do you want in that?" I said "I would like a little more punch." She took the cup from me and threw it under the table saying, "We don't serve punch in those cups." She then took a large iced tea glass and filled it and passed it to me smiling. You were asked into a little office to register. It was not necessary but they would like to have you. I thought I would let somebody else be the first one and was glad I waited. The chair you sat in to register was fixed up like the settee used in the second degree—when you sat down you got a good shot of electricity. It was a circus to hear some of the women yell, but they were good sports and of course, got some of their friends to register.

We left for St. Augustine and had dinner at the Hotel Bennett, where we had the Mayor and his wife and the Exalted Ruler and his wife as our guests. We were to make a tour of the city but two men went out to the alligator farm and were an hour late getting back so we cut out the tour and started for Daytona Beach with police escort as usual. In Florida there are practically no fences, live stock roam all over the streets and if your car hit a cow or a pig or a horse, you are liable for damages, so the busses have an arrangement whereby the pulling of a button causes a muffler explosion. They set it off at one bunch of cows, scaring a young calf nearly to death. Every once in a while they would set it off at a bunch of unsuspecting darkies and it was as good as a circus to see them. Some would get mad, but most of them after a good jump would take it as a joke.

We drove over wonderful roads amid beautiful scenery. One stretch of 10 or 12 miles was over a very narrow paved road running along the Moca River, great palm trees and old oaks meeting over head. It had evidently been made a one way street for our benefit for we traveled all of 10 miles without meeting a car. One of the most interesting sights to me were the Century plants in bud, ready to blossom. Only the female plants blossom, and they are said to blossom only once every hundred years. I don't know how true that is, but I do know that no one person ever saw the same plant blossom twice. The flower stock is like a bamboo pole, about 10 or 15 feet high with the cluster of flowers at the top.

We arrived at Daytona Beach in the evening where we found that the truck with our baggage had broken down, arriving later, about 11 o'clock. The Clarendon Hotel where we stayed Thursday and Friday is on a bluff overlooking the water and the racing beach and we had a fine cool room, but the service and food were poor. Thursday night a Doctor Paul who runs a drug store came up and took us to ride. He took us to the lodge home, a very fine building where they served us what they called "punch."

Thursday afternoon we all went to DeLand. They have down there a plant that roots and grows in water, called the water hyacinth. It is a rank weed of the water using no dirt or soil. It grows so rank that they can't seem to kill it out and is a terrible nuisance, but it has the most beautiful flowers that you ever saw, very delicate and much like an orchid. As we rode along both sides of the street were lined with great bunched masses of these plants in the streams or ditches—a truly remarkable sight. Then we went to the Ponce DeLeon Springs Clubhouse, where the spring from which the club gets its name has been flowing for years. The flow from the spring turns an immense water wheel about 15 feet in diameter which pumps water for a large swimming pool and furnishes water for the clubhouse. Here we also had refreshments. During our ride, we ran into and out of three showers, and down here showers are like cloudbursts up north, only not lasting as long. You can't see 20 feet ahead of you, and then all of a sudden, like pushing aside a curtain and entering another room, you pass out from the wall of water onto a road as dry as dust with no trace of dampness or rain. The two motor cops who were escorting us looked as if they had jumped in the river without taking off their clothing. I asked one if he would not catch cold and he laughed at me and said he would be dry in two minutes. They gave us ice cream, cake, watermelon and tonic. Then we went back to the hotel. That night they had a midnight bathing party. We did not go but judging from the noise, they had a good time.

We left Daytona Beach Saturday morning, stopping at Tituaville, where we had watermelon, tonic, etc., furnished by the local lodge. While at this place we had our first and only unfortunate incident. Bus No. 1 had motor trouble and Bus No. 2 pushed it to Titusville, about 10 miles. The driver of Bus No. 2 took off the radiator cap and the steam blew up scalding his face, arms, and chest. He nearly fainted, but luckily the steam did not get into his eyes, and after using four tubes of salve and several yards of gauze he insisted on continuing the trip. When the ambulance which had been telephoned for arrived, they sent it back to the hospital. We then continued on to Cocoa, where, though we had refused an invitation to stop because of lack of time, they met us and pleaded so hard that we did stop, and I want to say right now that they were the most enthusiastic bunch down there. This lodge is 1532, one year old, with 150 members. We had crackers and cheese, java, jelly, grapefruit juice and tonic. They showed us two tarpon just caught, one weighing 100 pounds and one 65 pounds. Cocoa is a wonderful little city on the Indian River. Every city down there is the best city in the State, and really you can't blame them or saying so, they are all wonderful, and it is remarkable how many people you meet in every city or town who came from "somewhere up north" and every one of them boosters for the south. In all our trip we only found one man who expressed any desire to go back up north.

We left Cocoa and journed to Melbourne where we arrived about an hour late, and had dinner with more speeches and expressions of good will. We then went to the lodge rooms where they had what they called "pineapple punch." Well, there was pineapple in it but believe me no pineapple ever grew that flavor.

We left Melbourne at 3:30 for West Palm Beach over the completed portion of the new ocean boulevard with two busses missing, one with engine trouble and one with a flat tire. Our train of busses had a mechanic with us for the trip. All of these busses carry spare rear axles. We broke one, and it was a matter of only 10 minutes to change for a new one. They don't even have to jack up the bus or take off a wheel. This boulevard is 30 feet wide running along the edge of the ocean, and there is no better road in the country.

We arrived at West Palm Beach at 7 o'clock and were met by a band which escorted us around the city and to the Elks' home. You have heard much about how hot it is in Florida in the summer. Coming down in the busses, some of the ladies had wraps over their shoulders, and at no time during the ride of over 300 miles was I uncomfortable from the heat. In fact I have been much hotter driving my own car in the mountains. If you walk in the sun, it is hot, but no worse that at home in Winchester. They have down there, what they call trade winds; you have probably heard or read of them. This wind or breeze comes up about 11 in the morning and lasts into the evening, being caused apparently, by the gulf stream which flows northward. The air is never heavy or oppressive.

Another think I have forgotten to mention; the Lieutenant of the West Palm Beach police came up to Daytona in his touring car which was especially painted "West Palm Beach, B. P. O. E., No. 1352, Police Car." On the front of the car was a large Elk's head on a special framework and attached to the bumper and radiator. The antlers spread the whole width of the car. He came the distance of 179 miles and escorted us with motorcycle cops the whole distance to Miami.

Sunday afternoon we went on a tour of Palm Beach. All school buildings down there are in groups of three; primary or lower grades in one building, grammar in a second building, and high, in a third. We passed through the Everglades Club, a millionaires' club, and group of residences started by Singer of the Singer Sewing Machine Company. The shops in this section are open only in the winter. We passed groves in which were rubber trees of the real variety, and banyan trees, whose branches turn down to the ground making additional roots and looking like a number of trees joined into one enormous tree. Along the ocean front most of the houses have tunnels under the street running from the house to their private bathing beach. We passed the "Bradley Club," a millionaires' gambling club, the building of which looks like a first class stable, but where the "stakes" are said to rival Monte Carlo. It is only open 60 days a year. We stopped again at the Elks' home and got back to the hotel about 5 o'clock. This lodge has 600 members. The hurricane a year ago took off the roof. They borrowed $75,000 and have added two stories and a tile roof. All new buildings down here are of cement, fireproof, and as near as possible, hurricane proof.

We left West Palm Beach just after dinner for Miami. The first town of any size we came to was Lake Worth where we were met by a delegation of the local lodge with their ladies. We stopped by the roadside where they had hoothis erected and they furnished us with ice cream, lolly pops, tonic, etc. They also passed picture postcards around, told us to address them to our friends, pass them back, and they would put stamps on and mail them for us. We then passed on to Boco Raton where we passed under an enormous Elk made of wood which spanned the street and was painted "Welcome Bill." Then we passed through the city of Pompano where we saw the convicts or jail birds in their stripped suits widening the road from 30 to 60 feet. They did not look particularly unhappy. This convict work is one reason why Florida can have such good roads, and another reason is the fact that there is a five cent tax on gas; but, you get oil for 15 cents a quart. Then we went to Fort Lauderdale, a very pretty place of good size with good stores, fine houses and first-class hotels, where we were again entertained.

Everywhere, almost, as we rode along, we could see evidences of the 1925 boom; streets staked out, sign posts up with names of streets, away off on either side of the main street, nice houses built but never occupied, some half built but never completed; cement sidewalks, fancy gate posts, etc. Then we came to Hollywood, one of the first "boom" towns and one of the very few that were at all successful. This town was built on a shoestring. A man came from the West, started an advertising campaign with maps showing streets, city hall, hotels, and layout of the city. When the first purchaser arrived and found no buildings but a shack labeled "office" there came near being a murder, but somehow or other he succeeded in carrying the scheme out and today it is quite a thriving city. We rode over the new Ocean Boulevard, a fine wide road at the ocean's edge, and at the entrance to Miami were met by the Miami Lodge, No. 948 Band, were greeted by Mark Sullivan and other notables, and were escorted on a parade through the city, through the "Avenue of Antlers" to our hotel where we met with a most enthusiastic reception from G. E. R. Malley and other Elks who had already arrived. After having our pictures taken on the reviewing stand we were assigned to our rooms. The "Avenue of Antlers" is about one-quarter of a mile long with nine full sized Elks on pedestals facing the hotel. At each end of this avenue were two standards or portals with the Elks head and clock on each side, and on each side was a battery of six electric lights thrown on the emblems. Between us and the ocean was the park, about six times the size of Manchester Field and all through this park were fancy electric lights and about 20 poles, each with four amplifiers or loud speakers, so that the band or the speakers could be heard all over the park. The open air arena where William Jennings Bryan conducted his Bible classes and which seats 5000 is an eighth of a mile away but we could sit in our room and hear every word.

The grandstands were on the avenue just in front of the hotel and there were three of them holding a total of 10,000 people.

Practically everything in the building line is of Moorish or Spanish design, except the very modern hotels, office buildings and the City Hall which has a tower 27 stories high. The good theatres are artificially cooled, and the best one, the Olympia, is built to look like a Spannish court yard with pigeons and pheasants on the various roof edges. "Buddy" Shepard and his pal Howard, appeared there one night, and were the hit of the show. The most remarkable thing about this theatre is the ceiling or roof arrangement which is made to resemble the evening sky. You see the blue with the stars, some "fixed" or still and some twinkling, with white clouds floating by, and you never see the same shaped cloud twice. I spent more time looking at this artificial sky and clouds than I did looking at the show.

Now for some of the convention crowd sights; at night the streets resembled a New Orleans Mardi Gras, wonderful fireworks, the Elks' emblems, Lindbergh's flight from the statue of Liberty to the Eifel Tower in France and bombs that explode and show American flags floating through the air. People down there wear as few clothes or as little clothing as the law wallows. Few men wear hats and you never hear of a case of sunstroke. As far as I could observe they never go to bed. Last night a man in B. V. D.'s sat in the middle of the street directing traffic. (I think he was an Elk from Scranton.) Many of the boys bought perfumery of a certain kind and were squirting it on the girls as they passed by. One night a band went by and leading them was a man in running pants, barefooted, doing an Indian dance. One morning the Rotary Club High School Band of Sebring came to the lobby of the hotel and gave a concert. The youngest, 10 years old, played a solo on a small "sax" and all were very good.

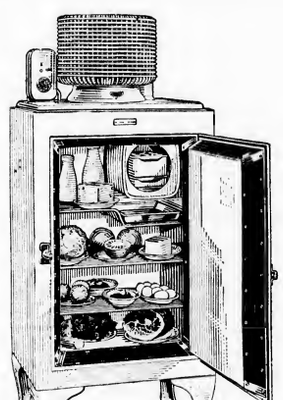

About the only visible evidence of the hurricane of two years ago was a five-masted schooner resting with its bow on the shore, and its bow and bowsprit sticking out over the street. The schooner has only a slight "list," and resting on a soft bottom, is apparently unharmed.

Miami itself and Miami Beach are only two or three feet above tidewater. Speaking of "tides," I saw no evidence of any rise and fall of tides such as we have up North, and I heard no talk or mention of high tide or low tide while there. There may be changes of ocean level during the year but we saw no such changes.

There are two approaches to Miami Beach across the bay from Miami. One is the Venetian Bridge, (a toll bridge) and the other, the Causeway, which is three and a half miles long and 105 feet wide. For 2000 feet at each end of the causeway is a viaduct permitting the flow of tides, the remainder being a solid fill of rock. This causeway does not run in a straight line, but after about three-quarters of a mile turns sharply to the right for about half a mile, then following the original direction.

parel prices are reasonable. If you care to pay high prices you can do so and get your money's worth. As for food, if you don't care for style, you can get a good, plain meal for 25c, 35c, or 45c. At our hotel, one of the highest priced hotels in the city, the price of a first class dinner was $1.25. Wearing apparel is the same as in New York or Boston. Rents, good house (not elaborate, but good) are $25 a month and up and they will build you a frame house or bungalow of 5 or 6 rooms, plastered, modern up-to-date plumbing, gas, electricity, with 4000 or 5000 feet of land for $1600 to $1800. I saw rooms advertised for $1 a week in private or semi-private houses.

We drove out to Hialeah, where for three weeks, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw conducted a night club. The club was then raided and closed up. Hialeah is the "sport" town of southern Florida, and has the reputation of being pretty fast. Its principle game is called "Jai Lei" (pronounced Hi Li). I don't know what it is but I think it is something like improved "handball."

We drove out to Coral Gables passing by the William Jennings Bryan estate, said to have cost a million dollars. We did not see the house as we could not enter the grounds. Coral Gables was laid out by a landscape architect and is a very pretty residential town, with fine bank buildings and movie houses. Of course the "boom" slowed it up, but they have done things in a big way. A million dollar high school building fitted up in beautiful style, stands in a sparsely settled district. The Venetian swimming pool is surrounded by grottoes and bridges and the bottom of the pool is painted blue to give the effect of the ocean. This pool is fed by springs, and every Monday is drained, the cement bottom scrubbed, and the paint retouched if necessary. There is also a shallow pool with natural rock bootom for children and others who cannot swim.

The Country Club Broadcasting Station, WQAM, is another building in the Venetian style of architecture. The dance patio is open air, the natural ground being cemented over to make it level and the palm trees left in their original locations, cementing around them. Near the top of these trees just below the leaves are clusters or varicolored electric lights,—a beautiful and romantic sight in the evening. On our way back to Miami, we picked grapefruit off the trees from the bus windows, these grapefruit trees growing at the edge of the sidewalks as do our shade trees.

On Friday, July 13, we regretfully embarked aboard the boat for our journey homeward. As we left the dock and made our way through the channel a great number of autos ran along the causeway parallel with us, saluting us, and were so near to us for most of the way that we could carry on conversation with them as we went along. Finally after a parting salute from the pilot supply boat, we passed the channel or harbor out onto the ocean, leaving behind us many new found friends and taking with us many pleasant memories of the city and the cordial hospitality of the people of Florida.

That evening the Elks gave an entertainment on the boat consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, etc. The best part of the evening was P. E. R. Andrew Casey trying to sing "Ramona."

The next day we traveled for quite a distance in the the Gulf Stream, and as we were traveling in the same direction as the wind and at about the same speed, there was not much air stirring and it was uncomfortably hot, but after four or five hours we left this stream and were more comfortable.

The sea began to get quite rough with a good swell and the boat rolled considerably and some of the passengers began to disappear. It was cloudy and though it did not storm, the ocean kept getting rougher until finally, although we were five decks above the water line, some passengers leaning over the rail were drenched by the spray as the waves broke against the side of the ship. By this time about half of the passengers were sick and in their staterooms.

During the evening they "played the races" on our "aft" deck. This is a horse race, the "track" being 10 feet long with six "lanes" marked out side by side, one for each horse, and there are six horses mounted on wooden blocks or platforms and numbered 1 to 6. Each lane is divided into 10 numbered spaces. The horses are placed at the "post" or starting line, the "starter" throws three dice, and the numbers uppermost indicate which horses are to be moved up. For instance, if the dice show 1, 3 and 6, these horses are moved up one space; a double number means that particular horse is moved up two spaces and so on. The "starter" in this instance, was a boy passenger about 11 years old, and the numbers were called out by one of the men. Of course, the horse who got to the finish line first won. In case two horses got there on the last throw, it was a dead heat. It was quite interesting and exciting.

I must not forget to speak of "Mother Cary's Chickens" as we ran into quite a school or flock of them. To me they looked to be about the size of a swallow or robin, with black wings, white belly, and a white band across the back. There is quite a bit of romance connected with them as nobody knows where they come from or where they go, but they usually are flying before or after a storm. We were 80 miles from land when we saw them. They cannot be mistaken for flying fishes for they are not at all similar. I was very much gratified to have seen them for I have always considered them more or less of a myth.

On our arrival in New York we were transferred to the Grand Central Station where we boarded our special train of all steel cars, making the trip to Boston in five hours and 30 minutes. Then came the hand shaking and "Good-byes until next year, and Los Angeles."

In conclusion we would say, if you want to see Florida, do as we did,—take the boat to Jacksonville, and travel the rest of the way in busses. The busses are comfortable and easy riding, and the drivers are careful and experienced. You will see the country much better than if you traveled by train and you will find it not so tiresome.

WINCHESTER YOUNGSTER DISPLAYING FINE WATERMANSHIP AT ANNISQUAM

Albert Hale of this town is rapidly forging to the front among the younger skippers who sail in the Fish Class out of Annisquam. He began to show promise a year ago and this season has improved greatly with his new boat, "Flying Fish," which his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hale of Lloyd street, had built for him in the spring.

His showing in the recent series of races held off Marblehead under the auspices of the Eastern, Corinthian, Boston and Pleon Yacht Clubs, running from Saturday, Aug. 11, through Saturday, Aug. 18, was exceptionally good. With 11 Annisquam boats and one entry from Marblehead competing in the Fish Class races Albert won out of 8 starts two firsts, a second and a third; winning his first places in the second Eastern Yacht Club race in the Annisquam Fish Class and his second in the first Corinthian race.

The only skipper to win more firsts than the Winchester boy in his particular class was a mature yachtsman, old enough to be his father. Three boys, each Albert's senior by a couple of years won a single first apiece.

In the first Corinthian race the local boy sailed entirely alone and was favored by a light wind, which enabled him to handle his sheet and center-board without help. Sailing alone the second day, a stiff breeze followed by a fog proved too big a handicap and the youngster finished 8th, winning however much valuable experience.

Robert "Olio" Lee, crack schoolboy athlete who starts his sophomore year at high school this fall, participated in a double-header baseball game at Hedding, N. H., last week. The local boy, who has been pitching some fine ball for "Dukes" Farrell's Winchester Town Team, started in centerfield for Hedding in the first game of the twin bill against the Boston Post team, pitching during the last 4 innings. He held the opposition to 2 hits and considering the fact that "Steve" Paton, "Sonny" Foley and Frank McCrehan, former Boston College stars, were in the Boston lineup his performance was worthy of note. "Olio" also got 2 hits for himself in 3 trips to the rubber and turned in a circus catch in centerfield.

In the second game against Newfields, N. H., Lee once more started in center but went to the hill for the last 3 frames. In the last named contest he busted out a couple of safeties in four times at bat.

LOUISE PACKER WON TWO TITLES AT TEDESCO

Louise Packer won her second title in the tennis tournament held last week at the Tedesco Country Club, Swampscott, when during last Friday's play she took the mixed doubles with her Winchester partner, Charley Wadsworth. Previously she had won the junior girls' singles championship from Dorranee Chase of Dorchester in straight sets, 7—5, 6—3.

Louise and Charley were opposed in the mixed doubles final by the same Dorranee and Fred Lawson of Boston. The Winchester pair had little trouble in winning their title, 6—4, 6—2, the work of Louise at the net being the deciding factor.

Wadsworth was also a double winner, taking his other title in boys' doubles, playing with Sidney Paine of Winchester and Andover Academy.

Herbert "Hup" Wallis was Winchester's other champion at Tedesco, the former Country Day School boy taking the final match in the boys' singles from Ralph Pope, Jr. of Manchester, 6—1, 6—1.

WHIRRING MAIL PLANES TO LINK THREE NATIONS

Less than a year after Colonel Lindbergh's non-stop Washington-to-Mexico City flight, the air mail prepares to follow him across the border.

Postoffice departments of the Mexican and the United States governments have fixed tentatively on September as the month in which to start the new international service.

Thus 1928 should see the creation of an air mail route 2800 miles long, the longest in North America, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

To Cut Longitudinal Section of Continent

Cities which will be stations on the United States-Mexico service are: Boston, New York, Washington, Richmond, Atlanta, Birmingham, Mobile, New Orleans, Houston, (possibly San Antonio), Laredo, Nuevo Laredo (where the Mexican divisions begins), Monterrey, San Luis Potosi and Mexico City.

When citizens finally attain to the privileges of a stamped letter, the new air route will unroll for travelers a longitudinal section of the continent. The service will slice North America just as the New York-San Francisco air line cuts a cross section of the United States. In about 48 hours planes will pass from the land of baked beans to the land of chili con carne; from the seaside metropolis of Mexico City; from the heat of Washington and Richmond to the cool breezes of San Luis Potosi; from the cotton fields and cane brakes of the South to the orange orchards and corn and wheat fields of the Southern Republic.

Four Days Cut to 20 Hours

Air mail planes leaving Boston at 6:15 p. m. will carry letters scheduled to arrive at Laredo at 2:30 p. m. the next day. The transit time by train is four days. Although the details are yet to be worked out, Mexican planes will probably pick up the relay at once reaching the capital about 9:30 p. m., cutting the letter-delivery time between New York and Mexico City by three to four days.

In one sense the service can be considered a tri-national creation because the mail from Boston will meet the mail from Montreal at Hadley Field near New York City. It is even true that the three capitals of North America, Mexico City, Washington and Ottawa, will be connected by air when all the various services dovetail because Montreal and Ottawa are already connected by air mail.

While Mexico must build an entirely new air route over its section, the United States must extend its present service. The service south to Atlanta went into operation last spring and is now being operated regularly to New Orleans. From New Orleans to Laredo a completely new route must be prospected and arranged for.

Names of all the American towns on the route ring familiarly, but the Mexican cities, with the exception of Mexico City are little known north of the Rio Grande. Thumbnail sketches will fix them in mind: Nuevo Laredo, Mexican twin of Laredo; Monterrey, the Chicago of Mexico and San Luis Potosi, a rich mining town.

Over Desert, Plateau and Mountains

Once in Mexico the new air mail route will follow the National Railways of Mexico line south from Nuevo Laredo. For 165 miles over the sun-baked, caetus-spiked, semi-desert there is almost nothing of interest; but Monterrey, the first stop, is a good introduction to Mexico, partly because it is not entirely Mexican. English is spoken quite widely and there are American magazines and even an English language newspaper to assure the traveler from the North that he has not entirely cut himself off from his homeland. Monterrey also smokes familiarly with many factories, for it is the chief manufacturing city of Mexico, and in this industrial activity there is a reminder which has given the city its nickname, "the Chicago of Mexico."

From Monterrey the air mail plane will have to climb over eneircling mountains to skirt Saltillo which may be an emergency stop. Peaks and ridges confront the pilot on every hand from Monterrey south and the farther he goes the higher they rise. It is not flying country.

Spic and Span Mining City

At Saltillo the air mail will be over the capital of Texas—or what was once the capital of Texas—for Saltillo is the capital of Coahuila, a state which at one time ineluded Texas but has been shorn of most of the vast acreage it commanded in Mexico's heyday.

Lovely San Luis Potosi, a clean, sparkling city, lies in a beautiful valley. Although it is below the Tropic of Cancer line, its summer temperatures are cooler than the hottest speels most American cities must endure; and yet San Luis Potosi has groves of citrus and other tropical fruits at its very doors.

Fortunately the mines that have made the city and have built its innumerable magnificent churches, occur not too close to tarnish the municipal housekeeping. And although they were discovered by the Spaniards, the mines continue to be worked to this day. More than $3,000,000 in silver is said to be minted every year in San Luis Potosi.

Queretaro, Where History Was Made

About halfway between San Luis Potosi and Mexico City the air mail will pay its respects to Queretaro, the chief historical shrine of Mexico. The Mexican Republic was born here when plotters, who have become heroes, planned the overthrow of Spain's power. Later Queretaro lived amid more great days when Maximilian and his handful of defenders were captured, tried and executed on the hill where the Austrians have built a memorial. Few towns can support life on history as Queretaro has found, to its regret. One of Queretaro's bits of good luck has been the finding of opal mines in the neighborhood—a paradox when the world's superstitions are taken into account.

NEPAL: WHERE CASH REGISTERS ARE PALACE ORNAMENTS

American cash registers are ornaments in Nepal.

They glitter from pedestals lining the white marble staircase in the palace of the Prime Minister, according to an explorer recently returned from India.

Beside the burnished beauty of cash registers gleams the polished nickle of American automatic scales, mechanical chewing gum venders and slot machines. But they are never punched. According to Nepalese ideas a creation of American foundaries is better than bronze statues for a staircase.

Visitors Not Welcome

American products have a better chance of entering Nepal than Americans, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society, because the isolated mountain kingdom does not welcome foreigners.

Only a few British officials are permitted to come over the pass from India and they are not permitted to come over the pass from India and the yare not permitted to go far from the capital Khatmandu. "The Country of Four Passes" the Nepalese call their land which is indeed a walled valley with four hill gates. Their domain under the eves of the Himalyas measures 500 miles long and spreads 140 miles at its greatest width. Within it live 5,600,000 hill people governed by an absolute monarchy.

The monarch's commands, however, are both made for him and enforced by the Prime Minister who lives in the cash register palace.

Caste Members Must Watch Their Steps

Nepal is the stronghold of orthodox, unadulterated Hinduism. The local caste system has more rules than intercollegiate football. Thus among the high caste are:

1. Brahmans, who eat rice cooked only hy members of their own caste. They drink water from the hands of members of castes Nos. 2 to 19.

2. Surmgasi, who eat rice cooked by Brahmans, Thakuris, and Khas only. They drink water from the hands of all eastes up to No. 19.

3. Thakuri, who eat rice cooked by Brahmans only. They drink water from hands of all members of all castes up to 19.

4. Khas or Chitsi, who eat riee cooked by Brahmans and Thakuris only and drink water from hands of all members of castes Nos. 2 to 19.

The intermediate castes run from 5 to 19, inclusive, and the lower castes from 20 to 24, inclusive.

The five eastes from 20 to 24 do not have Brahmans as priests. Their priests are members of their own castes. They have no dealings of any kind with castes 1 to 19. They must leave the road on the approach of a member of castes Nos. 1 to 19 and call out to give warning of their approach. They may not enter the courtyards of temples.

Army Life Lures Men

As among the Russian Cossacks, war is the chief business of the best people in Nepal. The army is the only profession open to a "gentleman" and so the rare visitor sees troops everywhere. More than one-third of the Nepalese are said to be capable of bearing arms. Each town has a parade ground. The capital has the largest, of course, and it is termed the most picturesque parade ground in the world. Twenty-five thousand troops can be reviewed upon it at one time. The warlike spirit of the ruling Gurkhas, which has made Nepal an almost independent state, has also served the needs of England. Nepalese have been recruited in great numbers for crack units in the army.

Splendid and colorful as are the reviews and state ceremonies with their elephants in gorgeous trappings and the officers in brilliant uniforms, the Nepal women outdo them. They believe in eolor and lots of it. They fold yards and yards of muslin, gathered at the waist, spreading at the feet, so that a Nepalese belle looks as if she were about to depart for a masquerade ball dressed like a fan held upside down. Above the skirt the Nepal lady wears a tight-fitting velvet jacket. Her hair she winds in a knot, fastened above her forehead with a gold plaque. A heavy gold necklace and bangles complete her attire but the final touch is the theatrical darkening of the eyelids by which she expresses languorous lure. Her female attendants, by way of contrast, wear Oriental trousers.

Enter Country by Huge Stairway

Nepal is probably the only country in the world reached by stairs. The person lucky enough to get a visitor's permit literally steps down into the valley, because the main road from India ceases to be a road when it gets to the highest passes and at the last gate in the hills, the Chandra Giri, the traveler descends 2300 feet by stone steps; probably the world's longest stairway. At the bottom are good roads and motor cars to convey the visitor to the capital.

The view of Nepal valley from the top of the last pass is unequalled, travelers declare. Opposite lie the highest mountains in the world, the Himalayas, always tented under a deep blanket of snow. And at their feet is the blue-veiled valley with its orange groves, yellow fields and red-roofed towns.

Frank Melly seemed to have lost much of his chatter Saturday, but he held up Lee in good style and hustled every minute. He chose to catch without a chest protector and stopped a foul in the very first inning he worked. "Bud" didn't even bother to rub the spot where the ball hit him.

Kelley slapped one at "Tom" Duran a mile-a-minute in the 10th but the diminutive 3rd sacker of the visitors nonchalantly smothered the apple and got big "Mex" at first. Duran accepted 10 chances without a bobble and got himself 3 hits a big afternoon for any player.

Advance notices were to the effect that Kelliher would pitch for Woburn. Manager McGah, however, felt that his team was not at full strength and favored Weafer in place of the Holy Cross freshman. His hunch was good. The Midgets surely were just as strong as Winchester.

Many of the fans feel that Lee should have been taken out at the end of nine innings and of course generally speaking no kid his age should be asked to work extra frames. He had, however, shown no signs of cracking until he hit Carey in the 11th and few managers would care to take out a man with no score who had hurled as well as Lee. They are not as altruistic as all that.

What Winchester lacks more than anything is a real cleanup batter. With "Jim" Fitzgerald in the lineup the locals would be a whole lot harder to take.

A Ford sedan, driven by Alba C. Joyce of Harriet avenue, Burlington, and a Chevrolet coach, operated by Mary H. Mouradian of 25 Crescent road, were in collision last Saturday in the square at the traffic beacon. The cars were only slightly damaged and no one was injured.

HARDING SISTERS WON AT COHASSET

Other Winchester Entrants Scored There and at Scituate

The Harding sisters, Ellen and Joan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Harding of Fells road, added to their laurels as horsewomen at the recent Cohasset Horse Show held on the Hugh Bancroft estate last Friday and Saturday.

In Friday's jumping competition for children under 18, 14-year-old Ellen barely won the judges decision over nine-year-old sister Joan, both having perfect records over the jumps.

Saturday Ellen and Joan were again prominent, both winning blues and the admiration of the big gathering. Arthur Black's Flamingo and Harry Good's Leap Year, County Cork and Jumping Jack were among the winners, the last named being ridden in one event by Miss Ruth Good who also scored with her Robin Hood.

At the North Scituate Horse Show held Monday Joan Harding won two blue ribbons, the first on "Peaches" in the pony jumping and the second in the riding competition for children under 18 years of age. Ellen took a second in the open jumping competition for children 16 years and under. Ruth Good on Sandy took a fourth in the 18-year-old jumping. Her Robin Hood was second in the model saddle horses class, also in the class for mounts under 15.2 and in that for horses over 14.2. Harry Good took a second in the class for middle and heavyweight hunters with his Jumping Jack and Ellen Harding's Ella Cinders landed fourth honors in the ladies' hunters. Mr. Good's County Cork, Jumping Jack and Leap Year were third in the event for hunt teams.

(4) Your petitioner further states that on or about December 1, 1927, a portion of the goods were removed and it was then agreed that a charge of $7.00 per month should be paid for the storage of the remaining property and for the care and diligence of the petitioner in caring for same.

(5) Your petitioner has diligently cared for said goods.

AS LOW AS $750

We can seldom list two lots of land on the West Side of Winchester for as low as $750 each. Each lot contains approximately 8000 sq. ft. and both are desirably located in a restricted area.

Builders, either for investment or for homes, would do well to consider this property. We believe it a real value.

Incidental to Richard Bateman's hole-in-one at the Winchester Country Club last week, it is interesting to note that the honor of first accomplishment of this feat at the club went to Miss Barabara Pike some five or six years ago. Her hole-in-one was made at the sixth, the same as Mr. Bateman's.

Winchester Branch, I. N. F., held its annual outing last Sunday at Revere Beach, a big Eastern Massachusetts bus taking the party, and leaving Winchester about 10:30 a. m. Following a fine chicken dinner everyone enjoyed himself according to his own ideas of a good time, many attending the band concert being played along the "white way." The Foresters returned to town about 7 o'clock in the evening. Mrs. John Murray headed the committee in charge of arrangements.

The Star contained an item last week announcing that Mr. and Mrs. George A. Fernald and Miss Barbara Fernald are at their farm at Franklin, N. H. The Fernald farm has not been changed from its former location at Lancaster, N. H., and their Winchester friends will find them at that town and not at Franklin.

In the recent beauty contest held at Provincetown, Mr. W. H. W. Bicknell of Arlington street was one of the judges. According to reports of the affair the judges chose wisely, but not too well, for while it seems universally admitted that Miss Mary Stillman, artists' model of New York, is the best looking damsel in the village, the natives feel that a local girl should have been picked. Further dispatches are awaited in the controversy.

Police Headquarters was notified shortly after 10 o'clock last Saturday night that a Ford roadster was standing without lights in a dangerous position on Cambridge street near the Robinson estate. An investigation by Officer John Hanlon disclosed the fact that the car bore a New Hampshire registration and had been standing on Cambridge street all day. Officer Hanlon ordered the roadster towed to the Central Garage. It later developed that the owner of the machine had abandoned it when it became inoperative. He later claimed his property.

Last Saturday evening at 6:40 a Studebaker touring car, driven by Albert G. Gunnersen of 165 Brook street West Medford, while going north on Main street near Russell road was in collision with a Ford sedan, owned and driven by John H. NEW POSTOFFICE OPENS SEPT. 20

The local postoffice expects to be doing business in the new building about Sept. 20, sometime before which date it is hoped to hold "open house" in order that the public may have an opportunity to inspect the new building and its workroom and equipment.

MRS. ROSA JOYCE

Mrs. Rosa Joyce, wife of William Joyce and for the past 35 years a resident of Winchester, died Monday evening, Aug. 27, at her home, 165 Washington street, following an illness of only a week.

Mrs. Joyce was the daughter of William and Emma (Turner) Allen and was born 68 years ago in London, Eng. She had spent nearly her entire life in this country, coming here as a child seven years of age.

During her long residence in Winchester the deceased won for herself a wide circle of friends who learned of her death with regret. She was a member of the First Congregational Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are four sons, George, Albert and Charles, all of Winchester, and William Joyce of Stoneham. Thirty grandchildren also survive her.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at the late residence by Rev. John E. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church. Four nephews of Mrs. Joyce; Herbert Fieldhouse of Boston, Arthur Fieldhouse of North Andover, William and Roy Allen, both of Stoneham, with her son George and Charles Joyce, served as bearers. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald of Hill street is to be one of the speakers this evening at the reception and luncheon for women workers in the 6th Senatorial District held under the auspices of the Medford Women's Democratic Club at the Food and Craft Shop on Boylston Street in Boston. Mrs. McDonald, a former teacher in the local schools and for some years past at the head of Stoneham's Americanization work is an able speaker and has taken a sufficiently active interest in the civic and educational problems of her community to make her address worth while.

Arrangements for tonight's affair are in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Kathleen Stewart, president of the Medford Democratic Club; Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald of Winchester, Mrs. Mary Donnin, president of the "Al" Smith Club in Woburn; and Mrs. Anna B. Callahan, secretary of the Democratic Town Committee of Arlington.

The Fire Department was called at 6:10 last evening by telephone to put out a fire in the partition of the new home being built for Mr. Nathan Thumim on Oxford street. Some little damage was done before the blaze was finally extinguished.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Once again we are indebted to our visitors and guests for filling the chairs at our tables at a season when so many of our own members are enjoying their annual vacation. On Thursday we entertained 11 visitors and two guests, among this number being Rotarian George Brine of Atlanta, Ga., a former resident of our town.

Owing to the absence of President Harris, Vice President Reseve occupied the chair. Treasurer Bill was also absent. We expect that most of our wanderers will have returned before next Thursday.

The speaker of the day was Mr. R. W. Young representing the Standard Oil Company of New York. Mr. Young explained to us various processes in the manufacture of gasoline. He pointed out that prior to 1914 kerosene was the most important distillate of petroleum; the gasoline was obtained in quantities so greatly in excess of the demand that a great deal of it was simply a waste product. As is well known gasoline is today in such demand that various new processes have been devised to increase the yield.

The matter of lubricating oil was also taken up, especial attention being given to its contamination by use in the automobile engine.

We are in receipt of an invitation from the Medford Rotary Club to attend an inter-city meeting which will be held at their club rooms on Thursday, Sept. 27. Our club voted unanimously to attend and it is probable that practically all of our members will be present. Pasten the date in your mind Thursday noon, Sept. 27.

On Sept. 20 we shall have an opportunity to meet District Governor Comins. He is sure to have an important message for us. It would appear that this date will afford an excellent opportunity for us to demonstrate a 100 per cent attendance mark. Let every man bear this in mind so that we may assure our Governor that our enthusiasm has in no way abated.

WINCHESTER POST TO HEAR EDWARD H. HUNTER

Comdr. W. Allan Wilde announces that Edward H. Hunter, executive secretary of the Industrial Defense Association, Inc., is to be the speaker at the first fall meeting of Winchester Post, American Legion, to be held next Tuesday evening, Sept. 5, in the post's headquarters on Washington street.

Mr. Hunter is known as a forceful and brilliant speaker while his subject, "Bolshevism in Russia, Mexico and the United States," is of absorbing interest. The Industrial Defense Association is organized to inculcate the principles of Americanism in Industrial, Religious, Fraternal and Educational Circles and has already made its presence felt in many ways. As one of its most zealous and best informed workers Mr. Hunter is sure to have much to say which will be of value to all interested in promoting the cause of good citizenship.

With this in mind Commander Wilde is extending to the town as a whole the invitation to visit the Legion house on next Tuesday evening and enjoy with the Legionnaires the treat Mr. Hunter is sure to provide. The latter's address is scheduled to begin about 9 o'clock, following the business meeting of the post.

OBSERVED SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Donahue of Highland avenue, widely known and universally esteemed residents of Winchester, observed the silver anniversary of their wedding last Saturday, Aug. 25, in their summer home at Fort Point, North Weymouth. More than 50 relatives and friends were among those whose congratulations and best wishes helped to make the occasion a memorable one.

The Donahue home was prettily decorated and the happy couple almost overwhelmed with beautiful gifts. Chief among them was a handsome chest of silver, the gift of relatives, which was presented with appropriate remarks by Mrs. Donahue's brother, Mr. Francis J. O'Hara, proprietor of the Atlantic & Pacific Fish Company of Boston. Musical selections, dancing and the serving of dainty refreshments made the time pass all too swiftly.

Miss Mary O'Hara and Joseph M. Donahue were married August 25, 1903, in St. Mary's rectory by the Rev. Fr. N. J. Madden, then pastor of the church. All of her married life has been spent in Winchester where Mr. Donahue's business interests have been centered in the Central Hardware Company of which he is proprietor. There are three children, Miss Miriam Donahue, a member of the junior class at Emanuel College in the Fenway, Francis, and Charles Donahue, both pupils in St. Mary's Parochial School.

GARDEN PARTY BIG SUCCESS

Notwithstanding it was a day of torrid heat and a large proportion of people still away, a gathering of more than 300 attended the Republican Garden Party held at the estate of Frederic S. Snyder on Myopia Hill, Winchester, last Wednesday afternoon.

Many were the exclamations of delight over the beautiful site, commanding as it does a unique view of the lakes below and surrounding country. One of the candidates likened it to that of Lake Como. The speakers also paid appreciative tributes to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder for their gracious hospitality.

Mrs. Joseph Fessenden past president of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester and Winchester's counselor for the Middlesex District of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts under whose auspices the party was held opened the meeting with a welcome, and introduced Mrs. H. Addington Bruce of Cambridge who was the presiding officer for the afternoon. Mrs. Fessenden stressed the value of enthusiasm as an asset of driving force for personal work in connection with the campaign.

Mrs. Alfred D. Radley, president of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester made a charming picture as she was introduced by Mrs. Bruce. Mrs. Radley spoke of the local club's happy co-operation toward the meeting and voiced the need of personal responsibility in the work of the coming campaign.

Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Mrs. C. Nelson Howard, Mrs. Frank Roe Batchelder, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee and Mrs. Andrews of the Governor's Council were among the guests of honor who briefly addressed the meeting.

Mr. Frederic Snyder was asked at a moments notice to introduce the feature speaker of the afternoon, former Governor Channing Cox whose personal friend he is, and to say a word about Mr. Hoover. Mr. Snyder's address was the surprise treat of the afternoon both in its easy delivery and the personal things he could say about the Republican Presidential nominee.

All the candidates for Lieutenant-Governor, two for State Treasurer and the three Senatorial aspirants were among the speakers.

Mr. Eben S. Draper, one of the candidates for the nomination to the office of United States Senator, arrived too late to address the entire gathering but spoke most interestingly of his sympathy for and interest in the needs of the disabled veterans. He is the only one of the Senatorial candidates who saw actual service in the World War across the water where he was captain of a company serving in the fighting lines.

If this group was a criterion the Commonwealth is to be congratulated in the fine type of men interested in public service.

Refreshments were served after the speaking by a group of well known Winchester young people.

The tea were presided over by Mrs. William Palmer, Mrs. George Willy, Mrs. Hunt Sherwood and Mrs. Walter Wadsworth.

Miss Olive Page was house hostess and several of Chief McIn: :h's force directed traffic most efficiently.

WINCHESTER YOUNG LADY SHOWERED

Miss Edna DeLoria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon DeLoria, was pleasantly surprised last Friday evening when she was tendered a miscellaneous shower at her home on Salem street. She was the recipient of many beautiful gifts and graciously expressed her appreciation to the large gathering of guests who included a delegation of fellow workers in the clerical department of Jordan Marsh Company. A musical program was enjoyed during the evening and dainty refreshments were served. Miss DeLoria is to be married on Sunday, Sept. 16, to Leo F. Keefe of Somerville.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

With the new theatrical season starting with a bang in Boston next week, the Hollis Street Theatre announces with considerable pride that its opening attraction for two weeks only, beginning Monday night, Sept. 3, Labor Day, will be Frederick M. Cohan's newest farce comedy "Whispering Friends," which recently completed a six months run at the Hudson Theatre, New York. The innumerable playgoing admirers of Mr. Cohan know that any attraction written and produced by him will be clean, wholesome, novel and intensely entertaining. In "Whispering Friends" Mr. Cohan is said to have achieved his happiest success. In reviewing this play, the great critic, Alan Dale said: "Amazingly well done. Clever, amusing and interesting. Genuine comedy and brilliantly dialogued. It sparkled, crackled, frivolled, gambolled, somersaulted and topsy-turvied so persistently that I was astounded."

"Whispering Friends" is based on a novel idea, illustrating in hilarious terms what a rumpus innocent tricks can cause under a matrimonial roof. The situations skip from the bright and hilarious to the serious, each couple losing their sense of humor when the other two are about to patch things up. Misunderstandings and recriminations pile up, laughter and tears and near-tragedy. Then Mr. Cohan with an adroit twist of the complications and a surprising and unexpected ending, the play closes happily for all concerned. For such a play with its abrupt talented cast is required and this Mr. Cohan offers with such players as William Harrigan, Lily Cahill, Leward Meeker, Louise Prussing, Alexander F. Frank, and June Mullin. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Warren F. Barnes returns to Colgate University this week, in season for football practice.

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL WED IN WOBURN

Miss Frances Gertrude Gilroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gilroy of 219 Main street, Woburn, formerly of Winchester, was united in marriage last Sunday evening with Paul James Florentine, son of Mrs. Mary Florentine of 737 Parker street, Roxbury. Rev. Fr. Patrick J. Quill performed the marriage ceremony at 7 o'clock in St. Charles rectory, Woburn.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Anna McElhinney, while Mr. Florentine had for his best man his brother, Henry Florentine of Boston.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where a wedding supper was served. Thomas and Joseph Gilroy and George W. Boutwell, all of Woburn, served as ushers for the reception.

Upon their return from a wedding trip which will include a visit to the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre Mr. and Mrs. Florentine will make their home in East Boston at 881 East Fourth street.

Francis Tansey was in old-time form at Onset Monday afternoon, holding Wareham to a couple of safe hits while pitching Hyannis to a 4 to 2 win in a Cape Cod League game between the two clubs. The local southpaw also aided materially with his team's offense, scoring a run and getting two hits out of three trips to the plate.

CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Former Congressman Robert M. Leach Making a Strong Campaign for Republican Nomination

Robert Milton Leach of Taunton, treasurer of the Glenwood Range Company and former Congressman from the Cape District, is attracting a great deal of support all over the State in his candidacy for Republican nomination in the office of Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Leach has many qualifications to commend him to the voters of the State. Through sheer ability he has risen from shipping clerk to treasurer of the largest stove foundry east of Detroit. Mr. Leach is also owner and director of several large furniture stores in Massachusetts.

Robert M. Leach has always been vitally interested in the welfare of Massachusetts and its development. More than half of the entire business of this company is sold right here in Massachusetts.

With all his business success and his tremendous business ability "Bob" Leach, as he is familiarly called by his neighbors, has retained his hosts of friends and his interest in his fellowman. His relations with his own men in the Glenwood Range Foundry have been so close and so cordial, and his dealing with them so square and above-board, that there has never been a strike or any kind of labor trouble in over 30 years.

During the World War he was a Captain in the U. S. Army and is a Past Commander of the American Post, No. 103 in Taunton. In 1927 he presented his fellow legionnaires with a beautiful building for their home.

The Walker Memorial Park, dedicated by Governor Cox a few years ago, was the gift of Mr. Leach to the city of Taunton.

Mr. Leach has served as trustee of the Taunton Savings Bank and director in the Bristol County Trust Company and Morris Plan Bank.

His neighbors, his employees and all who know "Bob" Leach, agree that he is a square "shooter" and a firm exponent of the policy of the square deal.

Robert M. Leach is not a politician. He is a business man who has climbed from the bottom of the ladder to a commanding position in business. He knows industrial conditions in Massachusetts from an intimate, personal contact as few candidates for public office know it. He has an abiding faith in the future of Massachusetts because his own industrial success is interwoven with it. He will bring to the office of Lieutenant-Governor the same business ability and sagacity that he has shown in his own business and with a broad, "human" understanding of the problems of the plain people of which he is one.

WEEK-END AND HOLIDAY OFFERS FEAST FOR LOCAL BALL FANS

Manager Farrell Arranges Games With City Club and Woburn Midgets

Once again Manager "Dukes" Farrell is going to try and send his Winchester Town Team against the Woburn City Club in an effort to play the deciding game of a three-ply series. Each nine has won a game and the rubber battle was prevented from taking place last Saturday because of rain.

Tomorrow on Manchester Field the two clubs will lock horns at 3:15 and those who witnessed the 15-inning battle waged at the last meeting of the teams will not fail to be on hand. Winchester won the baseball marathon while a previous game went to the Tanning City lads. The issue will be decided tomorrow with any sort of break from the weather man.

The invaders are planning to work either "Art" Cail or "Bunker" Carroll and whichever one of these veteran right handers toe the slab, the going is bound to be torrid for the locals. Cail was on the short end of the previous 15-inning duel with Lee and would probably welcome the opportunity to reverse his former trimming.

"Archa" Amico will pitch for Winchester and the big football star has yet to hurl a tough game this summer. He has had a long rest and is rarin' to go. Frank Melly will be behind the bat.

Manager Farrell tried to arrange a double-header ball game for the holiday with the Woburn Midgets, but the fact that the Legion Post has Library Park all day Monday made it impossible to play in Woburn on that morning. As a consequence the Town Team and the Midgets will play on Library Field Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with the return game scheduled for Manchester Field at 3:30 on the afternoon of Labor Day.

Manager McGah of the Midgets has agreed to save his veteran right hander, "Kiko" Weafer for the holiday matinee and Manager Farrell will send his kid sensation "Ollie" Lee to the mound to oppose the Woburn "ace." Lee lost a tough 11-inning game to the Midgets two weeks ago and is smarting for revenge. Weafer is always delighted to win a game in Winchester.

With these two right handers opposing each other the resulting game should be a corker and those who sat in at the previous meeting of the two clubs won't allow anything to prevent their seeing the resumption of the feud. Manager Farrell expects to have his regular team on the diamond, though several reserves will be on hand in case of accident. Frank Melly will catch all three games and "Flats" Flaherty is down to play the outfield for the locals Sunday and the holiday. Big Mark Kelley is also expected to return from his vacation in time to don the spangles against the Midgets.

LOCAL WINNERS IN HORSE SHOW AT RYE

Miss Ruth Good with four blues was the show's big winner, taking firsts in the events for saddle ponies, saddle horses and junior hunt teams as well as winning the halloon contest. With her father, Harry Good, well known local riding master, Ruth won the event for parent and child. She also took a red in the potato race.

Joan Harding won her blue in the Children's Horsemanship Class while sister Ellen was the winner of the Junior Hunters' Class. Joan also won reds in the musical chairs and balloon events. She might have won the blue in the Junior Hunt Team Class but for being thrown in the act of taking the last hurdle. Joan quickly regained her mount but was disqualified by the judges.

Harry's Good was the winner of three blues, taken in the Touch and Go, Jumping and Senior Hunt Team events. A. L. Danforth won his first in the class for saddle horses.

CAMP WINCHESTER

The final banquet of the camp was held on Thursday night, Aug. 23 and campers returned to their homes on Fridal and Saturday. The Blues won the camp contest by a margin of 50 points. The result was in doubt until dessert time at the banquet. Each side seated with their leader at a long table waited anxiously and when the ice cream bearers stopped at the Blue table, the suspense was over and with loud cheering the Blues were proclaimed the winners. Their margin of superiority lay in athletics and in Scout tests passed.

Other awards were made as follows: Richard Riley, tennis championship; "Hal" Knowlton, winner at inspection and intermediate athletic championship; Sheldon Hamilton, junior champion and Edward Hitchborne, camp champion. Books were awarded to the above in Scouts.

The major award, that of best all-around camper went to William Hession and he received a Scout axe and case as a prize. Camp statistics and the reading of the camp paper followed and the banquet ended with the singing of the camp song.

The 1928 camp was the largest ever conducted by the council and each day just full of worth while activity developed a mighty fine looking lot of campers. Eight of the 11 Scouts in the beginners swimming class passed their first class swimming test of 50 yards and hardly a Scout returned without one or more Scout tests to his credit.

Chief of Police William R. McIntosh was the complainant Tuesday morning in the District Court at Woburn against Robert W. Mollinson of Wellesley Hills who was charged with driving through a funeral procession. Mollinson was found guilty and fined $5.

MISS ROGERS TO WED SATURDAY AT SCITUATE

Plans are complete for the wedding of Miss Alice Rogers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Verner Rogers of 10 Warren street, and Charles Lawrence Bankhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bankhart of Egypt, which is to take place Saturday evening in the summer home of the bride's parents at Scituate. Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, is to perform the marriage ceremony at 8 o'clock.

The bride's honor attendant is to be Miss Phyllis Bankhart of Egypt, sister of the bridegroom, and the bridesmaids are to be Miss Alice Eaton of Winchester and Miss Dorothea Dow of Montclair, N. J. Rudolf E. Haffenreffer, 3rd of Mount Hope, Bristol, R. I., is to serve as groomsman. The ushers will be Charles A. Robinson of Malden and Thorwald Paulson of Boston.

Miss Rogers' wedding gown is to be ivory satin with lace and the maid of honor is to wear brown chiffon over coral. The bridesmaids' frocks are of flame colored chiffon.

Gladioli and asparagus fern combine in the decorative background for the reception which is to be held immediately after the ceremony. Dr. and Mrs. Rogers with Mr. and Mrs. Bankart will be in the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Rogers is a graduate of Abbot Academy and Mr. Bankart is a Dartmouth man, class of 1925. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and is associated in business with the New England Laundries. The young couple are to make their future home in Brentwood Court at West Medford.

NEW ORGANIST AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Mr. Joseph N. Ashton, of Andover, has been appointed organist and choir master of the First Congregational Church, in place of Mr. G. Wallace Woodworth who has resigned in order to accept an important promotion on the faculty of the Department of Music, at Harvard.

Mr. Ashton has served as director of music at Abbott Academy and Phillips Andover; has taught musical theory and history at Brown and Wellesley Colleges; and has served for many years as organist of the First Parish Church in Brookline.

Since resigning he has spent a year in England engaged in musical study and research. He has a fine reputation for skill as organist, thoroughness in training a choir, high standards and fine taste in the choice of music, and unusually wide acquaintance with the best church music of all ages.

He is particularly interested in the purpose and function of music in church worship, and has written a book upon that subject which is nearly ready for publication.

He will begin his duties on Sept. 9, the first rehearsal with the choir being on Friday evening, Sept. 7.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

Governor Smith says, "Prohibition interferes with personal liberty." That's right, it does. So do all laws, for the common good. The Chicago ordinances limiting personal liberty cover about 2500 pages. The State statutes fill seven volumes. We ain't built when the sign says "stop," in the interest of personal safety. Spitting on the sidewalk and smoking on the "El" are crimes in the interest of public health. All agree, alcohol is a habit-forming drug, the same as opium, cocaine, morphine; and city, state, national and international laws absolutely prohibit the personal liberty of trafficking in the latter. Now, by the 18th Amendment the United States put alcohol in with the rest of the family where it belongs since it's the worst scourge of them all. Governor Smith also says, "If elected I pledge to effect fundamental changes."

He undoubtedly would. He would control directly and indirectly about 40,000 appointments. With John J. Raskob as Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, with sympathetic judges put in the federal benches as vacancies occur, with wet district attorneys and marshals the country over, with his power of recommendation and veto over legislation and appropriations, and with literally thousands of wet sympathizers nation-wide whom his election would carry into office, supported by a powerful press for propaganada and misrepresentation—after a year or two there would not be enough left of the 18th Amendment for decent interment.

LANE—AYER

A wedding of interest to many in Winchester took place at Hingham last Thursday evening, Aug. 23, when Miss Dorothy May Ayer, daughter of Mr. Albert Eugene Ayer of Sanborn street, became the bride of Capt. Lester M. Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. Lane of Hingham. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl F. Schultz, pastor of the Federated Church of Hyannis, and took place under a decorated arch banked with roses and ferns at the Lane residence.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Helen Senior of Medway, and Charles Murphy of Quincy acted as Captain Lane's best man.

Following the marriage, from 8 until 10:30 o'clock a reception was held and attended by more than 1500 guests, including Col. Arthur Desmond and staff of the 101st Infantry, of which Captain Lane is commander of Co. K at Hingham. More than 100 members of Hingham Post, A. L., attended, headed by Comdr. Keelah Bonye.

A band concert was given on the lawn during the evening by the Hingham Community Band in honor of the first wedding of one of its members since its organization a year ago. Captain Lane and his father are both members of the band which is directed by the groom's uncle, Frederick L. Lane.

The bride is a graduate of the Winchester High School and Bridgewater Normal School, and was a member of the faculty at Pasadena, Cal., High School the past year. She previously taught at Hull and New Rochelle, N. Y.

Captain Lane is a graduate of the Hingham High and Bridgewater Normal, and is principal of the Junior High School at Hingham. SELECTMAN SHOT HOLE-IN-ONE

Selectman Harry W. Stevens, who with Mrs. Stevens and his family has been spending a couple of weeks on Cape Cod, topped into the exclusive hole-in-one class when he stepped out onto the links last Thursday for a round of golf on the Vineyard Sound links at Falmouth Heights. We have Harry's word for the fact that he was playing the first Scotch hockey of his career and being accustomed to accept his word as his bond we of course take the statement for its face value. Those with whom Winchester's newest solon was playing around, however, found it rather hard to believe that Harry was clutching a golf shinney firmly for the first time in his life. We were unable to learn whether or not Mr. Stevens was garbed in the conventional plus-fours.

APPLE PIES BECAME SQUASH

The statement above is unofficial and may be taken for what it is worth. Personally we believe there may be something in it.

Last Friday in the early evening it seems that a Ford one-half tone truck, owned by the Crane Company of Malden and said to have been more or less laden with pies, came a cropper and was being towed backwards through town by a second Ford truck, operated by Fred Hennessy of 8 Mt. Pleasant street, Woburn.

The two machines were going west on Cross street and were passing under the railroad bridge when they encountered a hole in the right side of the roadway which the truck that was being towed failed to negotiate successfully. According to the report which was made to the police the machine was badly wrecked and the pies, a total loss. John R. Butler of Woburn, who was in charge of the damaged machine, complained of injuries to his shoulder but declined medical attention. The pies were beyond aid.

MISS LOUISA F. PARKHURST

of Boston announces that she will form classes for children in Winchester in a preliminary course for the child pianist.

Miss Parhurst has carried on these classes in Boston and other suburbs for several years and her success justifies the fact that children from four to eight years of age are naturally musical and ready to absorb training in sound, rhythm, phrasing and form. The old fashioned way of teaching the piano first, is putting the "cart before the horse." Given a thorough musical foundation in theory and a technic based on controlled relaxation, and the child is eager to express himself at the piano. Classes begin Oct. 1.

TIGER SCOUTS WATCHING "FITZY"

Big "Jim" Fitzgerald, pride of Tufts and one of the best athletes ever developed at Winchester High, is the latest subject of scrutiny on the part of scouts for George Moriarty's Detroit Tigers' professional baseball team. According to reliable information the Tiger ivory hunters were present at one of the Cape Cod League games last week for the express purpose of watching big "Harpy" strut his stuff for the circuit leading Osterville nine.

The boys from the big time picked a good day to watch the local athlete, the Osterville club winning a 16-inning joust from Orleans for their edification. All "Fitzy" did to aid the winning cause was collect 5 hits out of 7 trips to the plate, including a double and a triple.

There are many good judges of baseball who believe "Fitzy" has the stuff to make the grade in the majors In the first place he is a natural ball player which is proven by his ability to catch, play first or the outfield and on occasion do a pretty good job on the pitching rubber. He can hit, and hit hard, while his 6 feet, 3 inches of heighth and 210 pounds of brawn leave no doubt as to his ability to stand the gaff. Moreover, "Fitzy" has a fine throwing arm, something which many an otherwise good prospect does not possess.

Always a gentleman, big "Jim" has a host of friends and admirers who are pulling hard to have him make the grade in fast company. Whether or not he would care to play professional ball is another story. He has another year before him at Tufts where he is studying engineering and where he is already known as one of the best all around athletes to wear the Brown and Blue. His tackle play on the Tufts rushline last fall won him places on several "All" teams and he is without doubt the best drop kicker in the history of modern football at Medford.

LOCAL TENNIS STARS TO PLAY IN NATIONALS AT PHILADELPHIA

For the first time since Winchester took up tennis in real earnest the town is to be represented in the National Junior Championships to be held this year on the courts at the Philadelphia Cricket Club, commencing Labor Day and extending through the week.

Several of the town's young court stars are planning to make the trip to "Philly" and Rev. William S. Packer, who is largely responsible for Winchester's enviable position in local tennis circles, expects his charges to make an excellent showing. He is not so sanguine as to predict any local championships, the going will be too fast for that. He does not, however, expect the Winchester youngsters to be hopelessly outclassed and feels that the experience to be gained in such a tourney will prove of incalculable value in seasons to come

Frances Pettingell, Virginia Merrill, Louise Packer, Mary Cutter and Helen Bidwell are the Winchester juniors who will play in the Nationals and the local party will be further augmented by Gertrude Packer and Bara Baugher. The last two named have outgrown the younger class and are entered in the Middle State Championships to be held just outside Philadelphia.

Mr. Packer is to make the trip with the girls and some of the mothers interested are going along. A part of the delegation is going by machine and others by train. It is planned to leave Winchester tomorrow morning on the first leg of the journey.

REPORT, BATHINGS STOPPED IN MYSTIC PREMATURE

Authorities Deny Charge That Waters at Sandy Are Polluted

No action was taken Tuesday by the Metropolitan District Commission concerning the request of Rep. Lewis M. Peters of Medford that bathing in the Mystic Lakes be prohibited because of the danger of disease spread through polution of the waters.

Representative Peters declared that an examination of Mystic Lake waters made at his request by reputable Boston chemists showed sufficient pollution to endanger bathers to typhoid and skin diseases, the latter now being prevalent in various parts of the State.

On the contrary, the State Department of Public Health said Tuesday that there was no fear of spread of disease through bathing in the Mystic Lakes and that the waters at the present time show very little pollution, no more than prevails at many of the seashore beaches. Samples of the water have been taken every few days this summer, it was stated and while considerable pollution was in evidence July 7 and prior dates owing to the opening of the Winchester sewerage gates into the Aberjona River, samples since taken have shown only slight pollution.

Dr. Walter T. Burke, chairman of the Medford Board of Health, stated Tuesday night that his department had received no complaint of pollution of the Mystic Lakes water and that his department was satisfied with the conditions as they had received no word of anything wrong with the waters from the State Department, which takes samples of the water for examination several times a year.

The Arlington Board of Health yesterday expressed its disapproval of closing the beaches in Arlington bordering the Mystic Lakes, as they had recently received word from the State Department of Health that the waters were safe.

In Winchester the health authorities have felt that there might be danger in permitting a continuance of swimming at Sandy Beach. None of the departments mentioned above is in so good a position as the local Board of Health to judge the probability of pollution at Mystic, and the authorities here communicated recently with the State Board of Health in an effort to assure its own members that there was no danger of infection connected with swimming in its waters.

The reply which Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell received as chairman of the Winchester Health Board from George H. Bigelow, M.D., State Commissioner of Public Health, printed in full in the Aug. 3rd issue of the Star, proved sufficiently reassuring and nothing further has been done by those in charge of the town's health policies.

It would seem that reasonable precautions are being taken by the State officials to guard against the danger of infection, and in the meantime Sandy is open for business as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Suhre and family who have been enjoying the summer months at Nuttings Lake, Billerica are returning to their home on Mystic avenue, this week.

When you look at the models in our display rooms you will appreciate the Simplicity Economy Quietness and Roominess of the General Electric

Refrigerator

As a homemaker you understand the need of these four essentials in an electric refrigerator—Simplicity—Economy—Quietness—Roominess.

On comparative inspection you'll quickly check them as developed to the highest degree in the General Electric Refrigerator.

Its simplicity is fascinating. The "how" of its operation need never concern you. It hasn't an exposed moving part—not a belt, fan or drain pipe. It never needs your attention—you need never even oil it.

Its monthly wage is small. Your electric bills will tell you that. Its small yet highly efficient motor uses less current. Because this motor is on the top of the cabinet, all heat (extracted from the box and generated by the tiny motor) rises away from the cabinet, not through it.

Listen to the General Electric Refrigerator and form your own conclusion as to its unusually quiet operation.

And note the unusual roominess of its sturdy shelves. Even the smaller model affords a food shelf area of nine square feet.

On every point, you will find that the General Electric Refrigerator gives you the greatest value in electric refrigeration.

COME INTO OUR DISPLAY ROOM—get a close-up view of this new-day refrigerator that has already won a place in over fifty thousand homes. Learn how easily you may arrange to own a General Electric Refrigerator.

YOU DON'T HEAR IT RUN

Don't miss the special demonstration - - all this week

THOUSANDS of people have seen our special demonstration of the New Frigidaire. Thousands more will see it on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The last three days of the special demonstration.

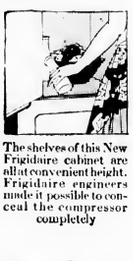

Even if you have only a few minutes to spare, don't put off any longer seeing this latest development in automatic refrigeration.

See for yourself the conveniences that women everywhere are talking about. See the beautiful new cabinets, the wide range of models; and above all check for yourself the incredibly quiet operation of the New Frigidaire. You don't hear it start. You don't hear it stop. You don't hear it run.

The pre-tested automatic refrigerator

That the New Frigidaire might be quiet, powerful, convenient, dependable, a great many tests and experiments have been carried on over a number of years. Sound-proof rooms have been constructed. Sound-recording instruments have been used . . . more delicate than the human ear. The New Frigidaire has operated for days in rooms with a temperature of 100°. It has been tested for long periods in rooms filled with steam.

The shelves of this New Frigidaire cabinet are all at convenient height. Frigidaire engineers made it possible to conceal the compressor completely

Extensive tests like these, coupled with the experience Frigidaire has gained in the production of more than 500,000 Frigidaires for actual service, make the New Frigidaire truly a pre-tested automatic refrigerator.

See the New Frigidaire for yourself . . . today

We want you to see how much time, work and worry the New Frigidaire will save you in your own home.

The special demonstration lasts all this week. For your convenience we are open each night until 10 o'clock . . . but don't put it off . . . come in now.

BERTHA D'AMBROSIO
EDWARD C. BURNETT

PETITION TO ENFORCE LIEN

(1) Your petitioner is a resident of Winchester, County of Middlesex, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and owns and maintains a building in Winchester, used for the storage and care of personal property.

(2) The defendant Edward C. Burnett, formerly lived in Winchester, Middlesex County, then moved to Lynn, Essex County, and thereafter moved out of the Commonwealth, and his residence or usual place of abode is not known to your petitioner.

(3) Your petitioner says that on or about August 1, 1927, the defendant requested her to care for and store certain household furniture and a stove, and that a price of $14.00 per month was agreed upon for the use of said building and for the care and diligence of the petitioner in storing goods.

(4) Your petitioner further states that on or about December 1, 1927, a portion of the goods were removed and it was then agreed that a charge of $7.00 per month should be paid for the storage of the remaining property and for the care and diligence of the petitioner in caring for same.

(5) Your petitioner has diligently cared for said goods.

(6) Your petitioner states that nothing has been paid to her for the care and storage of said goods from the time they had been placed in her care.

(7) Your petitioner further states that prior to the defendants' leaving Winchester in January, 1928, she often demanded of the defendant the amount of the storage charges then due and that she was always promised payment, but never received it. Since the defendant has left the State with address unknown, she has been unable to make further demand upon him.

(8) Your petitioner therefore states that the defendant now owes her the sum of One Hundred Twelve ($112), in accordance with the account hereto annexed and marked Exhibit A.

WHEREFORE YOUR PETITIONER PRAYS

(1) That the debt due your petitioner may be determined as of the date of judgment.

(2) That your petitioner may be authorized to sell said household furniture and stove.

(3) That the proceeds of said sale may be applied to satisfaction of the aforesaid debt, with interest, and the costs of this proceeding.

(4) That judgment may be had and execution issue thereunder in case the proceeds of the sale of said goods are not sufficient to satisfy said judgment.

Bright Singing — Welcome to All

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Our first September session gave evidence that the vacation season is drawing to a close. It was indeed a pleasure to welcome many of our members who have not been with us for several weeks past, as well as a great satisfaction to know that they have been diligent in making good their attendance with other clubs. President Harris announced that in the matter of attendance for July our club stood near the top of the list. This is particularly good when we consider that we are especially affected by vacation absences.

A marked improvement in our singing was noticeable as "Doc" is once more at his post. We feel confident that we shall maintain our usual high standard from now on.

Mr. Pendleton of the Massachusetts Safety Council addressed the meeting this week. He presented several charts which showed various classifications into which accidents in general fall, some of the conditions under which automobile accidents take place and the reaction of the danger signal as exhibited by experienced and inexperienced drivers. It is rather surprising to learn that in Massachusetts there are practically as many accidents as the result of persons falling or stumbling as there are accidents in which automobiles figure.

It seems well at this time to call attention once more to the fact that next month Winchester will be favored with a concert of unusual excellence. We refer to the fact that the United States Marine Band, "The President's Own" will be at our Town Hall on the afternoon and evening of Oct. 11. There is an especial incentive for loyal Winchesterites to support this entertainment in all possible ways inasmuch as all proceeds will be turned over to the Winchester Hospital. By so doing we shall help ourselves in a double sense; we shall be entertained by one of the highest grade, and we shall be giving aid to an institution whose services anyone of us may urgently need at very short notice. Further particulars of this concert will appear in due season.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB NOTES

A few of the canoeing enthusiasts attended the Labor Day regatta held at Canobie Lake under the auspices of the Lawrence Canoe Club.

Philip Hight, the club's leading exponent in the art of double blading gave George Hardie, Crescent Canoe Club star, a stiff battle in the one-man doubles race, but was finally bested by about a quarter length. Edward Hamburger, Eastern Divison champion, finished in third place, one length behind Hight.

Kenneth Pratt, the club's veteran single blade paddler was entered in the single-singles. He finished well up in the battle, but did not place.

The double-blade tandem team of Sandberg and Hovey finished third in their race. No club four crew was entered from Winchester, but one will be entered in the Worcester meet on Sept. 15.

An informal club regatta is to be held on Saturday, Sept. 8 and an attractive program of novelty races has been arranged.

Following the regatta a dance will be given for the members and their friends. Hardie Forget, club regatta Saturday afternoon, Sept. 8, starting promptly at 2:30. Dance, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

On the week-end of the 15th there will be two tennis tournaments, a singles and a doubles tournament. All members wishing to enter either of these tournaments should sign the notice on the club bulletin board.

THE PRESIDENT PERMITS UNITED STATES MARINE BAND TO VISIT WINCHESTER

Through the courtesy of the President of the United States, this community will be afforded the pleasure of hearing in this city at the Town Hall, the United States Marine Band, under the able leadership of Capt. Taylor Branson. This organization will appear under the auspices of the Rotary Club for the benefit of their charity fund. Never a concert or musical opportunity could be afforded the Winchester public. This organization has scaled the heights of musical achievement. Not only is it a collection of individual artists, but it reveals in its perfect ensemble playing, the hours of tedious work and endeavor necessary to obtain from various instruments harmony of tone and interpretation.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

With memories (and very pleasant ones at that) lingering in the minds of the members who with their friends attended the summer outing of our Branch, our summer recess comes to a close. Regular business meetings have been susnended during the past few weeks, but are now to be resumed for our fall-winter season of 1928-29.

The regular business meeting for September will be held on next Thursday evening at quarter after 8 o'clock.

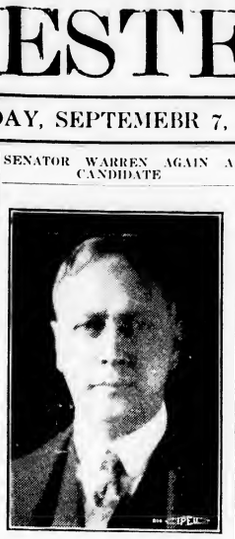

Chairman Kane of the charitable committee will be on hand to outline the work for her committee.

Reports will also he heard from our directors and sick committee in addition to the many matters which will he taken up under "new business."

As is usual, following the business session a short social hour will be enjoyed sponsored by an able refreshment committee.

Notice of the marriage of James T. Mobbs of this town and Bessie Boardman Wardner of Natick have been received at the Town Clerk's office. They were married at Natick Sept. 1 by Rev. Walter Healey.

SENATOR WARREN AGAIN A CANDIDATE

SENATOR CHARLES C. WARREN

Senator Warren is a candidate for renomination at the Primary on Tuesday, Sept. 18 and should receive his usual strong support.

Senator Warren is Chairman of the Metropolitan Affairs Committee, Chairman of the joint committee of Metropolitan Affairs and Street Railways and a member of the Judiciary and Public Health Committees. He is prominent in the activities of the Senate and is in a position to be of great help to our town and district. I believe it to be for our interest that he be nominated for another term.

HELEN ORDWAY PARKER

Helen Ordway Parker, the two-year old daughter of Rev. Fletcher H. Parker and Katharine Ordway Parker formerly of 21 Myrtle street, Winchester, was drowned at Lake Sunapee, Sunday, Sept. 2.

Mr. Parker was taking a train to return to his work in Hartford, where he is the minister of the Immanuel Congregational Church. Mrs. Parker and the three children drove to Keene to put him on the train. Helen was left in care of the maids, but was not properly watched and went down to the dock alone. She was found later in the water. All effort of resuscitation failed. The funeral was held at the Parker home in Hartford Conn., Tuesday. The Rev. Sidney Lovett of Mt. Vernon Church in Boston, an old friend officiated.

Little Helen Was an unusually winning child and many lives are brighter for her two brief years.

NOONAN SCHOOL CHAPTER

Mrs. Gladys Foley, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Noonan School Mothers' Chapter, has called a meeting of the Executive Committee for this evening at the home of the Secretary, Mrs. Frances T. Conlon of Canal street.

The meeting will be an open one and besides the members of the executive board, there will be room for any of the parents of the district who are able to attend the meeting.

Matters of importance will come before the meeting and the present over-crowding of the Noonan School building will come in for its full share of discussion.

Although the town voted to build an addition to the Noonan School at the Town Meeting last June, there has been no sign of starting the building. And what was anticipated has actually happened. The first, second and third grades have overflows of pupils and two rooms are required for the first grade and the overflow of the second grade is in a corner of the Assembly Hall, a situation which the parents in the district were especially anxious to avoid.

HELEN ELIZABETH KELSOR SMITH

Helen Elizabeth Kelsor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelsor, was born at Pamplin, Va., April 8, 1896, and died Aug. 29, 1928 in Chicago, Ill. At the time of her death, her age was 32 years, 4 months and 21 days. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, the Rev. Harry Albert Smith, a sister, aunt, other relatives, and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held at the New Hope Baptist Church on Wednesday afternoon, largely attended by friends from many of the surrounding towns and cities. The services were conducted by Rev. E. T. Thompson, pastor of the Massachusetts Avenue Baptist Church of Cambridge, assisted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the Winchester Congregational Church of this town and Rev. H. H. Jones of St. Johns' Baptist Church of Woburn.

There was an abundance of beautiful flowers and high tribute was paid the deceased by the officiating clergymen. During the service several beautiful selections were sung by Mrs. Florence Diggs of Boston. The interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

CALUMET NOTES

The club house opened last Wednesday after having been closed some weeks for necessary repairs, painting and renovations.

The bowling alleys have been scraped, repaired and are now in first class condition. New bumpers have been added. The card rooms and ladies' room have been repainted and the reception hall has had a new ceiling and all the walls repainted. The rugs look like new after being thoroughly cleaned. The billiard and pool tables have been put in fine condition by the addition of new cushions and covers. The floors, chairs and tables have been repaired and refinished.

Members will note from these improvements that Calumet is ready to take care of them with first class equipment for the ensuing season. In fact the club house presents a very tidy and home-like appearance.

We shall soon start activities and in next week's Star we hope to make mention of important events that are soon to take place. We have not been able as yet to obtain all the names of the various committees, but we shall probably be able to give them next week. We can say, however, that Ernest Dudley Chase will again take the chairmanship of the entertainment committee. He tells the Star's reporter that he hopes to start off with a bang-up get-together opening dinner about the last of the month. He also says there will be a number of dinner-bridges which were so popular last year and that there will be plenty of entertainment. He has already selected the personnel of his committee and we can assure members that they will have a very active committee to cater to their pleasure. We understand a new movie screen of the latest type has been added to the club equipment which means we shall have more movies.

Wallace Blanchard will be the new chairman of the bowling committee. He has served on that committee for some years and knows the wants and requirements of the bowlers. He tells us that the Mens' Winter tournament will start as near the first of October as possible, as he anticipates a large enrollment and wants to get started early.

We understand that Daniel Beggs will be the new chairman of the billiard committee and that George Heintz has been chosen chairman of the house committee.

Plans are being made to give the ladies lots of entertainment. They were prominent in our activities last season and we trust they will help us out this year.

Members are urged to get their application for new members in early so that we may post them on the board in time to start with the beginning of festivities.

PASEBALL HERE SATURDAY

On Saturday, Sept. 8, the Midgets of Woburn and the Winchester Town Team under the management of James E. Dunkee Farrell will clash in the second game of the series for the championship of the Mystic Valley.

At Woburn last Sunday the Town Team lost a close game in 11 innings. The game was a pitchers' battle between "Mike" Weafer and "Mex" Kelley. The Woburn outfit got only two hits off Kelley's delivery in eight innings. Olio Lee was then put in to relieve Kelley, and he allowed three hits in three frames. A close play at the plate in the 11th inning when Tom Duran came in from 3rd base on a sharp drive to Brad Coates, who played short in place of Herman, won the game. As most of the fans saw the play, some were dissatisfied with the decision. Umpire Peabody said later that he called it as he saw it, so that's that.

Therefore on Saturday next, Manager Farrell will lead his team on the field to avenge the defeat of Sunday.

As the season is now drawing to a close, after the Midget series is over, I again ask the supporters of Winchester to flock to the field next Saturday and see their own in action. The team winning three games in this series will be the champs, so let's all get out and do our best to have the laurels come to Winchester.

SERVICE AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Next Sunday morning at 10:30 the evening service of the season of the First Congregational Church will be held in the social hall of the Parish House, owing to the fact that the steeple is being reinforced The choir will be present and the full order of worship will be carried out. PRESENTED WITH GOLD WATCH

James Fitzgerald was presented with a gold watch last week at the close of the Canal Loaders. The time piece was suitably inscribed and was the gift of many admirers who enjoyed his fine playing during the summer. He closed his season with a batting average of .411.

Miss Louise Richardson of Staunton, Va., while driving her Buick coupe on Cambridge street near Glen road yesterday forenoon struck one of the large elm trees there. She was injured about the head and was treated by Doctor Ordway, who took her to the hospital. The car was badly wrecked. Miss Richardson stated that she was forced off the road by another car traveling in the opposite direction.

Auto Accidents Numerous After Holiday

Following the holiday, Winchester saw three serious automobile accidents within a short time of one another Tuesday forenoon, two men and two women being treated by physicians and taken to the hospital. Following the usual accidents of the week-end holiday, the unexpected continuance kept the police on the jump well into noon.

A serious accident occurred at the Black Horse turn out of the Medford car line, when Hannah Murphy of Woburn, alighting from an electric, was struck by a Ford sedan operated by Henry W. Gray of Charlestown. This accident occurred during the early morning rush at 7:50, when so many autos fill the street on their way to town. Mrs. Murphy was taken into the office of Dr. Herbert H. Pent near-by, and later to the hospital, where it was found that she had a broken arm besides body bruises and lacerations. With Gray in his car were Charles V. Sullivan and Robert W. and Frank S. Van Wart, all of Charlestown.

A man and two women were taken to the hospital at 11:45, following a crash at the corner of the Parkway and Main street, where so many similar accidents have occurred. An Essex coach operated by Anthony Humphries of Waltham was in a collision with a Ford truck operated by Frank DeFrance of South Boston who was driving under the license of Charles DiGraccomo, also of Noddle Island. Erskine Kelly took Charles to the hospital and Louis Rondina took Mrs. Humphries and a companion, Mrs. Anna Fisk, also of Waltham, to the same institution. The two women were cut by flying glass, and Mrs. Fisk suffered lacerations on her face, right leg and arm. DiGracomo was treated by Dr. Quinn for abrasions on his side, arm and leg.

The collision occured in the center of Main street, the Essex running across the Parkway and into the stone wall at the Mill Pond. The truck was tipped over. Both autos were badly damaged and the accident attracted a big crowd.

Shortly before this accident Louis Berman of East Lexington, operating a Ford truck for the Washington Street Cash Market, left his car standing on the steep incline of Orient street while he delivered an order. The truck started back down the hill, crossed a lawn, hit a driveway, turned around and hit a big tree near Washington street head-on. It was of little use when the smoke cleared away.

The most serious accident on the holiday occurred at 11:20 a. m., when a Dodge sedan operated by James F. Greenwood of Medford was in collision with a Chevrolet truck at the same bad spot on Main street. Mr. Greenwood was crossing Main street at the Parkway and the truck was traveling on Main street. With Mr. Greenwood was his wife, Mrs. Anna M. Greenwood, who was badly cut over the left eye. She was taken to the Railroad Station and then to the office of Dr. Milton J. Quinn by Chief of Police McIntosh. The truck was operated by Chester Cafasso of Everett, who was accompanied by Atillo Ricci, also of Everett. Both cars were badly wrecked.

Sunday forenoon a Dodge taxi, operated by Richard M. Brainard of Medford, collided with a Reo roadster operated by James T. Hodnett of 118 Washington street as the latter made a left turn into his drive. Both cars were damaged in this crash.

Early Sunday morning a car driven by an unknown driver struck a hydrant at the corner of Washington and Lebanon streets, breaking it off and giving Superintendent Harry W. Dotten a job for the remainder of the day in shutting off the water and replacing the hydrant.

WILL MAKE HOME IN WINCHESTER

Miss Mary Frances Rogers of 58 Salem street, daughter of Mrs. James Rogers, and Mr. Martin Joseph Kinnane of Reading, manager of the First National Stores in Wilmington, were married on Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's rectory by Rev. George H. Quigley. They will make their future home in Winchester.

The couple were attended by Mrs. Florence Evelyn Smith of this town, cousin of the bride, who was matron of honor, and Mr. Jeremiah Shea of Manchester, N. H., who was best man. The bride's gift to her matron of honor was a silk umbrella and the best man received a wrist watch from the groom.

The bride was married in a dress of white georgette and lace over white satin, cut period style. Her tulle veil was fastened with a cluster of pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of roses. The matron of honor wore pale yellow georgette, cut period style, with yellow hat and shoes to match. She carried pale yellow roses.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride, being attended by a large gathering of friends from many of the surrounding towns and cities. The residence was decorated in a scheme of pink and white, and music was furnished by an orchestra.

WEDDED AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The wedding of a former Winchester girl, Miss Clytie Ann Brooks, daugter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Brooks of 14 Field road, Arlington, to Mr. Charles Herman Flohr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flohr of Seattle, Washington, took place on Wednesday evening in the First Congregational Church of this town, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the church, officiating.

Both the bride and groom are well known to Winchester's younger set, the bride enjoying an exceptionally wide acquaintance through her many years' residence here.

The ceremony took place at 8:30 o'clock and was largely attended by guests from this and surrounding places. Decorations of autumn flowers were used in both auditorium and reception parlors, where the bridal company afterwards received.

The bride wore a wedding dress of Copenhagen blue georgette crepe with hat to match, and she carried a bouquet of pink rose buds and lilies of the valley. Miss Sally Irene Brooks, her sister, was maid of honor, wearing autumn brown georgette crepe with hat and shoes of similar shade. She carried red rose buds. Mr. Edwin W. Southworth, Jr., of this town was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Herbert M. Brooks and John G. Brooks of Arlington, brothers of the bride. At the following reception the parents of the bride and groom assisted in receiving, and the wedding march and incidental music was rendered by Miss Hattie E. Snow.

The couple will make their future home in Seattle, Wash., where Mr. Flohr is engaged in business. He is a Phillips Exeter Academy graduate and received his degree at M. I. T. in 1927. Mrs. Flohr attended the High School of this town and is a graduate of the New School of Design, Boston.

LIQUOR FOR "FLYING TRIP"

The government has successfully undertaken to aid Commander Byrd in securing 2000 gallons of "pure" liquor to take on his expedition to the South Pole as "medicinal" supplies. Included in this vast quantity of medicine are such items as 100 gallons of rum, 100 gallons of port wine, 100 gallons of sherry, 100 quarts of champagne, besides quantities of rye, burgundy and grain alcohol.

It is even hinted that the Federal authorities will waive the right to government taxes on this cargo of wet goods, considering the nature of the expedition they are to be used on.

Very naturally this brings up the question how it comes about that these men can buy, not only with the sanction but with the assistance of the United States, an assortment of liquor which is supposed to be beyond the reach of American citizens. That such a variety is actually required to be used as medicine may be true, but the whole matter smatters of patronage that is distinctly distasteful to the average citizen.

If the ordinary citizen applied to the enforcement agent of the district in an endeavor to secure Federal cooperation in securing a few quarts of sherry, burgundy and champagne for his own private medical stores he would find himself involved in no small amount of trouble.

WINCHESTER WON RUBBER GAME

Blanked Woburn City Club, 5—0 With Amico Pitching

Winchester Town Team won the deciding contest of a three game series from the Woburn City Club last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, blanking the visitors from the tanning city, 5—0.

Those who expected a repetition of the 15 inning battle staged by the two clubs at their last meeting were doomed to disappointment, but Saturday's game was another good one and as close as the next minute for 6 frames.

Manager Tessier sent "Bunker" Carroll to the mound for the City Club and "Archa" Amico carried the pitching burden for the locals. Both went along well, though the Woburn outfit was continually threatening.

Winchester's lineup was changed somewhat from that which last faced the City Club, "Bart" McDonough playing "Eddie" Carey's position in left field and "Ty" Sherman filling in for "Tony" Colucci at short. McDonough was the hitting headliner of the game and Sherman, after a poor start, played good ball afield while starting Winchester's winning rally in the 6th.

For five innings Carroll held Winchester hitless and "Bobby" Burns had tossed out Gray to start the 6th when Sherman hit one hard through the diminutive visiting second sacker. Coates hit to Burns and what looked like a double killing went bad when Dolan dropped "Bobby's" peg at second. Carroll threw out Doherty, but Sherman and Coates moved up to score on McDonough's clean single into center. "Bart" went down on the throw-in, made third on Fitzgerald's single to left and counted when McMannus hit to the same pasture. Fitzgerald over-ran third and was caught in a hot-box, Keating to Duran to Martin.

"Doc" Doherty bounced a single off Duran at third to start the 8th and McDonough singled cleanly through short. Fitzgerald advanced both runners with a sacrifice and Carroll hit McMannus to fill the sacks. Melly "squeezed" Doherty over and while Burns and Dunigan were retiring Big Frank, McDonough also counted. Flaherty, batting for Amico, lined out to McEleney in center.

Lee pitched the 9th inning for Winchester and retired the City Club in order, aided materially by "Dinny" McMannus who made a great catch of Dunigan's liner in back of second.

Woburn made two great scoring bids in the 6th and 8th innings only to have its chances nullified by double plays. With one away in the 6th Dolan reached second when Coates' low throw got by Fitzgerald. McEleney walked and it looked like a sure run when Dunigan laced a low liner into center. Gray, however, came in fast to make the catch and keeping on, completed an unassisted double play at second.

Burns and Duran singled to start the 8th, but a sharp double play by Sherman, McMannus and Fitzgerald ceased the strain. Amico walked Dolan but McMannus smothered McEleney's sizzler and got "Crossy" at first. Four times in the early frames Woburn had the run on second or third but found Amico too strong in the pinches. Notes

Woburn evidently wasn't worrying about the money. There was no hold-up last Saturday.

"Ty" Sherman, ex-Norwich varsity star, took a nice cut at the ball. He made a wonderful catch of Dunigan's hit in short left in the 2nd but the Woburn first sacker beat the throw. Roger's second error came when he threw wildly after falling while fielding Martin's hopper in the 2nd.

"Brad" Coates made a marvelous catch of "Tom" Duran's belt at third in the 5th. The blow was labeled a sure-enough hit.

It isn't often an outfielder makes an unassisted double play. Gray came very fast to make his catch in the 6th and it was only a step further to make the second put-out at the key-stone bag.

The Woburn crowd razzed Snyder when he called McDonough safe at home in the 8th. It looked as if "Bart" was an easy out.

Just how "his ump" figured in the 7th is hard to see. Melly was on first when Amico popped up to Dolan. "Jomma" dropped the ball and forced Melly at second, evidently to make Amico do some running. The Winchester management let it ride, but should have protested. Amico was out under the infield fly ruling. Melly should have remained on first and Snyder should have declared the Winchester pitcher out at once, whether or not Dolan caught the ball.

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL IN NEW SHOW AT THE TREMONT

Born in Hudson, educated in Winchester and Boston, Brenda Bond, who will be seen in "Just a Minute," at the Tremont Theatre, won her first publicity through her prowess as an amateur athlete.

While attending the Winchester High School and playing on its basketball team, Miss Bond won the Massachusetts gold medal for being the best all-around athlete. Since then she has continued athletics and at present she is an expert in all sports with the exception of hockey.

Following her three years' terms at the Winchester High School, Miss Bond moved to Boston where she attended a school of expression. Graduating from this school she made her debut in a minor role in the musical play, "Jack and Jill."

Following her engagement in "Jack and Jill," this clever little lady appeared in succession in many stage attractions and motion pictures. In the former her important engagements have been with Gus Edwards' "Sunbonnet Sue," "The Grab Bag" in support of Ed Wynn; "Yes, Yes, Yvette," "Lady Be Good," with the Astaires "Bubbling Over," "Moonlight," with Julia Sanderson and "Spread Eagle."

In pictures she has played important roles in "Dixie," "Rainbow Riley," "False Pride," "The Fool," and "Carry On, Sergeant."

The stage with her is only incidental as she aspires to become a writer of fiction, her life's ambition being to be the author of a successful mystery novel. To this end she is constantly studying and writing and so far she has had several short stories published in popular magazines.

LEONARD—DeLAURIER

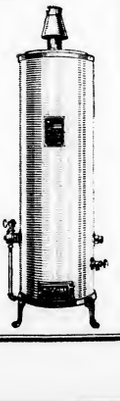

Miss Alice M. DeLaurier of Sheridan circle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeLaurier and known to many Winchester residents through her connection with the Edison Winchester office, was married on Sunday evening to Mr. James Ambrose Leonard of 89 Mystic Valley Parkway. The ceremony took place at St. Mary's rectory at 7 p. m., being performed by Rev. George H. Quigley.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white satin with over-dress of lace, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Mary T. DeLaurier, who was maid of honor. She wore orchid taffeta and tulle with picture hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pale pink roses. Miss Constance M. Ellis, her neice, was flower girl, wearing nile green georgette and carrying a basket of sweetheart roses. Richard C. DeLaurier, her nephew, was ring bearer. The best man was Mr. Frank M. Leonard.

A reception followed the ceremony, being held at the home of the bride, and the couple were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother. Palms, fern and cut flowers were used for decorations and the couple received the congratulations of a host of friends.

They are spending their honeymoon on an automobile trip through eastern Canada.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Very often it is the idle of the family that has been idle a long time.

Sleeping at the wheel is a good way to keep from growing old.

One evil day may poison a life time.

The richest gifts of mankind are love and loyalty.

The world is full of willing people, some are willing to work and others willing to let them.

The greater the round of pleasure, the more difficult it is to get square.

It seems a pity that the matter of cleaning and beautifying our Mill Pond cannot come before the citizens at this season of the year rather than in the spring when the water is high and seasonable conditions are not propitious for action. If those citizens who voted against the appropriation will take a look at this mud-hole now, perhaps they will revise their opinion of the matter. It will be years before our river is cleaned up. The latest report on the relieving sewer is a completion at the end of 1929. How the new Woburn sewer, which cannot even care for the surface water, not alone the sewage, is coming out, is not known. It seems too bad that our Mill Pond, which might be made the greatest beauty spot in our town, must lay as it is, simply for the want of this small appropriation.

With all this controversy over the automobile insurance situation, one thing appears to be passed over. It seems obvious that the pith of the matter lies in the omission of property damage in compulsory insurance. If the number of accidents is decreasing, while the number of claims for personal injury is increasing, it appears not hard to see the light. A bent mudguard costs money to repair. If a lady passenger suffers nervous prostration from the accident she may claim compensation and damages. Very often such a case may be settled for the price of repairs to the mudguard. Looking at the situation in general there appears to be a large number of drivers of old and worn-out cars on the roads who make no effort toward avoiding small accidents. Both fenders or dented bodies seem to be the last thing on their mind, but a resulting accident sees a prompt claim for damages—especially if the other car owner carries insurance. These drivers of course carry no insurance other than what the law compels, while their personal finances never are in such state that a collection may be made by the other side. There was a strong conviction among many reputable automobile owners and drivers that the compulsory insurance law should have included property damage as well as personal liability, and every driver of standing carries it. It is said that our former able registrar Frank A. Goodwin, put up a hard fight to have it included, but in the face of powerful political influence concluded that half a loaf was better than none, and in dropping this phase succeeded in passing the liability law. From our present difficulty it would appear that the first act in solving the matter is the passage of a law requiring compulsory property damage insurance in addition to the personal liability. An owner may have no chance whatever for damages to his car, but he may collect under the law for personal damages. The passage of a law compelling every driver, the irresponsible chiefly, to carry property damage insurance would be a great boon to many people, not omitting those who yearly spend money repairing their lawns, drives and replacing shrubbery. As it is now it appears unquestioned but that more and more owners are resorting to the personal liability law to collect for property damages, that being their only means for redress where the offender is penniless. The situation is unjust and inequal.

EXCEEDINGLY SATISFACTORY RESULTS

Sept. 1, 1928

To the Editor of the Star:

On Thursday, Aug. 23, we announced a new line of Frigidaire electric refrigerators.

We want you to know that the advertising in your newspaper announcing the new line has produced exceedingly satisfactory results.

It has been the policy of Frigidaire Corporation to use newspaper advertising as the backbone of its publicity campaign, and the rapid strides from year to year in volume of business, the general public acceptance of electric refrigeration and the outstanding leadership of Frigidaire in this field can be credited in no small measure to the use of adequate newspaper advertising space.

Frigidaire is a quality product and the splendid results we have received from the announcement of our new line are a testimonial to the quality of the circulation of your paper.

Yours very truly,

ANSWERS TO WORLD TRAVEL QUESTIONS ON PAGE 1

1. Angkor is a recently discovered city in French Indo-China containing marvelous old temples of enormous size built of stone and almost entirely covered with picture decorations. (1929 world cruise will be the first cruise to make a visit to this world wonder.)

2. Benares, on the river Ganges, is the "Mecca" of all Hindus. To die within its limits insures a Hindu of eternal happiness. For 20 centuries more than 10,000 Hindu pilgrims a month pour into Benares.

3. Bangkok is the capital and chief port of Siam. An odd mixture of the ancient and modern modes of life.

4. Nice on the French Riviera is probably the most famous winter resort in Europe. An entire city devoted to the interests of the pleasure seeker and only a few miles from Monte Carlo.

5. Pompeii at the foot of Mount Vesuvius, was an important city in the south of Italy and was destroyed about the beginning of the Christian era by an eruption of the great volcano.

Billy Sunday Said:

"The man who sings 'Home Sweet Home' in a flat is kidding himself and serenading the landlord."

Regardless of the humor, everybody knows that there is no place like home, also that it is cheaper in the long run and infinitely more satisfactory, to own than to rent.

You should know, also, that a co-operative bank is so organized that it can do more for you than any other institution in financing home ownership.

BERRY MOTOR COMPANY HAS OPENING TODAY AND SATURDAY

With a special display of the new type Dodge Brothers Senior, Victory and Standard cars, the sales and office building of the Berry Motor Company will be formally opened today and Saturday. Winchester and Woburn motorists are invited to be the guests of the company. Both today and tomorrow from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. the headquarters at 736 Main street, Winchester, will be particularly attractive because of the fact that for the first time since Dodge Brothers began building the now world famous car, it has been made possible to make a showing of the new series six-cylinder types, available in 50 different body styles.

To D. W. Berry, who has been associated with the Boston Dodge Brothers organization for several years, much credit is due for the popularity of this car in the Malden District where he formerly resided.

With the introduction of the new Senior Six, Mr. Berry announced today that the improvements in the body lines of the Standard and Victory Sixes, Dodge Brothers offer three complete lines of sixes covering a price range from $875 to $1845.

In the announcement of the Standard Six last March, the company completed its transition from the four to six cylinder field in less than a year after the Senior, the first Dodge Brothers six was announced. Such enthusiastic public reception and approvel met the first Dodge six, that last January the company announced the Victory Six to the nation by a coast to coast radio hookup. Less than three months later, a similar announcement introduced the Standard Six, and marked the passing of the four cylinder cars.

"The present Dodge cars constitute greatest automotive value ever offered in the 14 years of the company's history," said D. W. Berry. "Style and performance have been built into cars that have gained a world wide reputation for stamina and dependability, and the company offers a service and dealer organization unequalled in scope by any manufacturer of six cylinder cars."

WINCHESTER ATHLETE TO ENTER SPRINGFIELD

Henry Knowlton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin N. Knowlton of 61 Richardson street, is to leave town Sept. 17 to enter Springfield Y. M. C. A. College. "Hennie," as he is known to sports followers throughout the Mystic Valley, was graduated last June from the Winchester High School where for four years he had starred as a member of the football, baseball and basketball teams. He was captain last fall of the eleven which was generally conceded to be the best in the Mystic League and as left halfback was one of the chief factors in the team's success. Those who have seen Knowlton perform during the past four years will not hesitate to rank him with the greatest all around backs ever to play at high school and his consistency during that time has been remarkable. He is one of the most deadly tacklers the writer has ever seen. "Hennie" should go well at Springfield and his legion of admirers are all wishing him the best of luck.

GRANGE NOTES

Grangers: Don't forget! Next meeting Sept. 11 will be a Rally Night. All who can must plan to come.

At the close of the meeting, basket luncheons will be auctioned off, and enjoyed by all. Will the members who have no phone please get in touch with Vera Bickford, Win. 0529-M.

BOYLE—SMITH

One of the prettiest early fall weddings was that of Miss Kathryn Smith, daughter of Mrs. Lila Smith of Dorchester and Frederick A. Boyle son of Mrs. Margaret Boyle of 49 Russell road, Winchester on Sept. 1.

The wedding took place in the library of the Smith home, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Charles Gibson of Dorchester.

Miss Lucille Smith, sister of the bride was maid of honor and Edward Boyle, brother of the groom was best man.

The bride was charming in a gown of white transparent velvet and wore a coronet of pearls with train and carried an unusual bouquet of orchids and lily of the valley. The maid of honor did justice to a gown of yellow taffeta with large picture hat and carried a bouquet of blue larkspur and yellow tea roses.

The supper was served to over 100 guests in the reception hall of the Smith home by Kalis Brothers, caterers of Boston. Music was furnished for dancing by Fallon's Orchestra of Dorchester.

After a honeymoon at White Sulphur Springs, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Boyle will be at home to their friends at 3 Rozella street, Dorchester.

The new Buick is the new Style

More than handsome · · · more than luxurious · · · a wonderful new type of motor car beauty · · a thrilling turning point in body design

It will be imitated, of course! The new, the fine and the beautiful always inspire emulation. But so great is the cost of building the magnificent new Fisher bodies for the Silver Anniversary Buick that imitation will be possible only to much costlier cars, and even these will find difficulty in following where Buick leads!

$1,500,000 has been expended in manufacturing the dies alone for the new Buick bodies; and the gracefully curving side panels, which form one of their distinguishing characteristics represent the most expensive steel paneling work employed on any automobile in the world!

But it is not in the matchless grace and beauty of exterior design alone that the Silver Anniversary Buick eclipses other cars. In fleet, powerful performance too, the world holds no equal for the Silver Anniversary Buick with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher. And the motor-public, buying in such tremendous volume as to force the great Buick factories to work day and night to supply the demand, is elevating it to the prominence of a vogue!

CLUNG TO BOAT NEARLY THREE HOURS

Jack Smith Had Narrow Escape Last Saturday

Carl M. Parker of 36 Waverly avenue, Melrose, and Albert P. (Jack) Smith, Jr. of Winchester and Boston, who were rescued by the steamer Camden of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., Saturday night after they had nearly perished from cold and exhaustion while clinging to their capsized outboard motorboat, told a graphic story of their experiences Monday.

The men left Magnolia at 10 a. m. Saturday in a 16-footer intending to go considerably beyond Scituate. The sea continued to roughen and they decided to return following the shore quite closely. They were several miles off shore, however, when an unusually heavy wave swamped their craft, which overturned and came to the surface bottom up.

Smith, who is an expert swimmer, started toward shore, but found the sea to rough for him and turned toward the boat to which Parker had continued to cling. Both had life preservers, Smith alternately swam and clung to the boat but remembers nothing of what he actually did for he became delirious. Parker was thrown into the water when the craft overturned, but swam back to it, and by means of a rope clung to the stern. His legs today show severe cuts and bruises where the action of the sea battered him continually against the side of the boat.

Parker, whose legs were already cramped above the knees by the intense cold of the water, managed to tear off his white yachting pantaloons, which he converted into a signal of distress. The importance of this precaution was seen half an hour later when a steamer which proved to be the Camden was sighted.

Parker waved the pantaloons frantically but the signal did not appear to have been seen and the boat was nearly broadside half a mile away when Parker saw a pasesnger run down from the upper deck. The boat slackened its speed and a crew gathered at the rail. Ten minutes later the shipwrecked men were being taken aboard one of the Camden's boats. Smith was taken first but his rescuers had difficulty in holding him for even in his delirium he seemed to fear that Parker was not safe.

On board the steamer the men were wrapped in hot blankets and first aid measures applied. Everything possible was done for their comfort and when they came ashore at Rockland, Me., Monday morning, they were arrayed in clothing which had been presented to them by the officers. They left for home on the morning train. Parker is a Boston Rotarian and is employed by the Thorndike & Gerrish Company, Boston.

FOURTH DISTRICT COURT OF EASTERN MIDDLESEX

EDWARD C. BURNETT

PETITION TO ENFORCE LIEN

(1) Your petitioner is a resident of Winchester, County of Middlesex, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and owns and maintains a building in Winchester, used for the storage and care of personal property.

(2) The defendant Edward C. Burnett, formerly lived in Winchester, Middlesex County, then moved to Lynn, Essex County, and thereafter moved out of the Commonwealth, and his residence or usual place of abode is not known to your petitioner.

(3) Your petitioner says that on or about August 1, 1927, the defendant requested her to care for and store certain household furniture and a stove, and that a price of $14.00 per month was agreed upon for the use of said building and for the care and diligence of the petitioner in storing goods.

(4) Your petitioner further states that on or about December 1, 1927, a portion of the goods were removed and it was then agreed that a charge of $7.00 per month should be paid for the storage of the remaining property and for the care and diligence of the petitioner in caring for same.

(5) Your petitioner has diligently cared for said goods.

(6) Your petitioner states that nothing has been paid to her for the care and storage of said goods from the time they had been placed in her care.

(7) Your petitioner further states that prior to the defendant's leaving Winchester in January, 1928, she often demanded of the defendant the amount of the storage charge then due and that she was always promised payment, but never received it. Since the defendant has left the State with address unknown, she has been unable to make further demand upon him.

(8) Your petitioner therefore states that the defendant now owes her the sum of One Hundred Twelve ($112), in accordance with the account hereto annexed and marked Exhibit A

WHEREFORE YOUR PETITIONER PRAYS

(1) That the debt due your petitioner may be determined as of the date of judgment.

(2) That your petitioner may be authorized to sell said household furniture and stove

(3) That the proceeds of said sale may be applied to satisfaction of the aforesaid debt, with interest, and the costs of this proceeding

(4) That judgment may be had and execution issue thereunder in case the proceeds of the sale of said goods are not sufficient to satisfy said judgment.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Thursday, Oct. 11

Our meeting of Thursday was devoted almost exclusively to business. This is rarely the case, but in the present instance our club has gone in for a large undertaking, an undertaking of very considerable public interest.

It is a well-known fact that our hospital, an institution of which we are justly proud, is largely dependent for its efficiency (and it is effeient) upon the material assistance of our townspeople. It happens that the hospital is preparing to make its seasonal appeal and this circumstance is of concern to local Rotarians.

It is beyond the province of Rotary Clubs to initiate funds or functions for the benefit of any cause or organization. It is, however, most agreeable to our clubs to lend a helping hand to such interests, public, charitable or educational as are honestly trying by legitimate means to better their status.

In this spirit we are co-operating with the Winchester Hospital and our energies will be devoted to the presentation of the United States Marine Band in concerts at our Town Hall on Thursday, Oct. 11. It is needless to say that we wish these concerts to be a grand success, from aesthetic, educational and financial standpoints; we trust that it is equally needless to say that all funds received in excess of actual expenses will derive to the benefit of the Winchester Hospital.

We wish to stress the fact that the United States Marine Band is positively a first clas military and concert banl taking rank beside the notable group of musicians under the baton of our beloved John Philip Sousa. In fact we believe that Sousa at an earlier period of his career was conductor of this same United States Marine Band. We wish further to state that this band is not accustomed to tour in this section of the country more than once in five years, and that Winchester is the only town in this vicinity where it will appear on this tour. It can be readily understood from the above that our citizens are about to enjoy a rare treat, and in so doing will confer a substantial benefit upon a local institution which in abundant degree merits our good will.

The officers of the Winchester Hospital and local Rotarians are well aware that a concert of such excellence has a distinct educational value. To this end they have made arrangements that this band shall give a concert on the afternoon of Oct. 1' to which our school children only wi'l be admitted at a nominal price. It is difficult to overestimate the uplift as well as the sheer enjoyment which children of this impressionable age will obtain from observing and listening to the harmonies created by these superb musicians. The children will obtain full particulars of this concert from the principals of the various schools who are a unit in their enthusiastic support of this work.

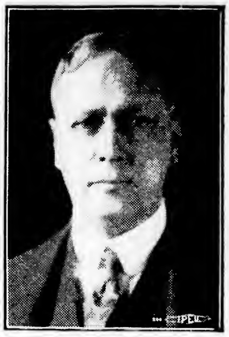

Tickets for this concert are sure to be in brisk demand and to our regret the choice seats in our Town Hall are too few in number to accommodate all who would like to attend this concert. We have made arrangements whereby tickets may be reserved by prompt application at night's Pharmacy corner Main and Church streets. Why not make your reservation now while this matter is fresh in your minds, or better still buy your tickets outright, so as to be sure of them, for in the nature of the case with the demand which there will surely be for seats, reservations cannot be held indefinitely. And don't forget that everyone who purchases a ticket is first of all a booster for our hospital and by so doing may experience an entertainment which is not likely to be surpassed this season.

We thank you for your support of this affair and congratulate you upon the satisfaction which you are bound to receive from it.

TWO AT PROSPECT STREET

Two automobile accidents occurred at the corner of Prospect and Main streets Wednesday. During the forenoon a truck of the S. S. Pierce Company, operated by Herbert E. Green of Medford, in passing across Main street from Prospect to Mystic avenue, was in a collision with an electric car. No one was injured and the truck escaped serious injury, but groceries of every description were scattered about the street. M. Prohl of Melrose was operating the electric. Later on the same day as Mrs. Clarence E. Ordway was turning into Prospect street from Main street, Arthur Meyer of Dorchester attempted to pass ahead of her, being caught between the car and the curb. Fenders and running boards of the car were damaged, the drivers escaping uninjured.

AMAZING VERSATILITY OF THE UNITED STATES MARINE BAND

The musical achievements of the United States Marine Band are remarkable and a revelation. At times it is impossible for the audience to believe that the stringed instruments are absent, so astounding are the musical effects created. From the soft dreamy cadences of "Liebestrum" to the thrilling dramatic march "The Stars and Stripes Forever" seems a long jump, but this wonderful band, its members all individual artists, bridges it with an ease, facility and artistic grace that is little short of phenomenal. This organization will appear here under the auspices of the Rotary Club. No greater musical treat could be afforded the Winchester public. No organization of men affords so much inspiration, nor can stimulate the imagination more, than this United States Marine Band.

LEWIS H. PETERS FOR STATE SENATOR

Representative Lewis H. Peters of Medford has served in the Massachusetts House of Representatives from 1923 to 1928, inclusive, with credit to himself and his district. He has been a member of three committees: Constitutional Laws, Election Laws and Insurance, and has been chairman of Election Laws and Insurance.

Medford has allowed candidates from the rest of the district to fill the office of Senator without opposition during the last eight years. During the last six years an Arlington man has held this position. It is only fair that a Medford man be now supported by the voters of Winchester.

Mr. Peters is recognized as competent, able and reliable, and as an asset to the Republican Party. Republicans should nominate him for State Senator at the coming primaries on Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1928.

BANQUET SEPT. 22

Will Celebrate Opening of New Postoffice

After 14 years of waiting our new Postoffice building is ready for occupancy. We should consider ourselves very fortunate that Winchester a town of 12,000 inhabitants, has been furnished with an up to date building, the cost of which including land, equipment, etc., was in the vicinity of $125,000 or $130,000, while other towns and cities, much larger, are still struggling along in cramped, leased quarters.

It seems fitting therefore that the town should celebrate the occasion in some proper manner, and it has been decided to hold a banquet in the Town Hall, Saturday, Sept. 22, at 6 p. m., with short speeches by Representative Dallinger and first assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett representing the government, and Chairman J. Harper Blaisdell of the Board of Selectmen representing the town. Music will be furnished by an instrumental trio.

The speeches will be brief and we will then adjourn for an inspection of the new building. Tickets are $1.50 and may be purchased at Knight's Pharmacy, Hevey's Drug Store, the Star Office and from the Postmaster. The larger attendance we have, the more influence it will have in getting what we need for service and for the successful running of our Postoffice.

The building will be open for inspection by the public, Saturday, Sept. 22, from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and from 8:30 to 10 in the evening. Everyone is invited.

Buy your ticket. Show your interest, go to the banquet and help "boost" your town.

G. H. Lochman, Postmaster
for the Committee

Several Winchester Country Club members participated in the three-day open tournament at Bellevue over the week-end. Two local players, E. M. Fisher and J. S. Barton, finished in the second division rated with a handicap of 9 to 14. Chesley Whitton was in the third division, rated 15 to 20, and F. H. Gerry in the fourth, rated 21 to 24.

10,000 AUTOS AT CEMETERIES

Estimates of the number of automobiles visiting the Jewish cemeteries at Montvale last Sunday placed the cars at 10,000. Practically every officer of the Winchester and Woburn police departments was on duty, but notwithstanding every precaution, there were the usual number of accidents. One Woburn officer was injured by being struck by a car and will be unable to report for duty for some time.

Winchester probably received the heaviest traffic of the visitation, but both Woburn and Stoneham got their share. In former days when the transportation was wholly by electric cars, Winchester bore the whole brunt, but now that automobiles are used almost exclusively, the traffic is split up considerably.

MRS. ALBERT JOHNSON

Mrs. Clara D. Johnson, wife of Albert Johnson, 28 years of age, died on Friday last at the Boston City Hospital after a short illness. She was a native of Dorchester, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Williams of that city, and had made her home on Winchester place, this town, for several years. Besides her husband she leaves a family of eight children.

Funeral services were held at the residence on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Truman Heminway of the Church of the Epiphany. The burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Dorchester.

Mr. Leroy M. Jordan of Portland, Me., who was married on Saturday afternoon at Woburn to Miss Ada Claxton Stretton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Stretton, was formerly a resident of this town. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown Jordan of Glen road. The couple were married at the Stretton home, two ministers officiating. They will make their future home in Fall River.

WINCHESTER CONCERT ARTIST ACCEPTS ROGERS HALL POSITION

Mrs. Helen E. Barr, whose mezzo-soprano became endeared to music lovers here during her recent concert tour, will teach this winter at Rogers Hall, according to Miss Edith Craven, principal of the Lowell institution.

With Cora Chase, famous Metropolitan Grand Opera star, Mrs. Barr shares Rogers Hall as her alma mater. It was there under the masterly direction of Signor Pico, now also with the Metropolitan Opera Company, that she developed and now she returns to take an active part in the cultivation of others.

Although she is pressed with radio work and feature concerts in Boston, Mrs. Barr hopes to make another New England tour next season.

Among the recent announcements of engagements is that of Miss Barbara Forbes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stuart Forbes of "Lone Tree Farm," Hamilton, to Mr. Arthur H. Hall, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Hall of Baltimore, Md. Miss Forbes will be remembered by many in this town through her residence with her parents here for many years. She is a member of the Vincent Club and the Junior League. Mr. Hall is a Yale man and a member of the Green Spring Valley Hunt Club. He is associated with the Baltimore Trust Company. The wedding, it is announced, will take place next Spring at Hamilton.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE NOTES

Part of the educational campaign inaugurated by the W. C. T. U. includes an analysis of Governor Alfred E. Smith's position with respect to the return of the saloon and his record of votes for saloons and longer selling hours while he was an assemblyman at Albany, representing a New York City district. Four leaflets have been published and will be distributed widely by the W. C. T. U. They set forth the high points in Governor Smith's voting record, showing that he voted for years on tht saloon side of all legislation concerning the regulation or the liberalizing of liquor and saloons.

Another topic discussed is Governor Smith's theory that liquor can be legally sold without a return of the saloon, which the W. C. T. U. believes impossible. Reports reaching headquarters, indicate that many Democrats within the ranks of the W. C. T. U. have been intimidated by Democratic leaders, who tell them they cannot remain Democrats and vote for Secretary Hoover.

This situation will be taken care of by the dry Democratic uprising for Secretary Hoover, but the W. C. T. U. leaders believe if it is all right for the Presidential nominee to repudiate the Democratic platform, it is certainly all right for the voters to repudiate the candidate. Two democratic officers of the National W. C. T. U., Mrs. Sara B. Hodge of Virginia, recording secretary, and Mrs. Nelle Burges, of Missouri, assistant recording secretary, have issued a call to the Democratic women of the organization and throughout the country at large to work to defeat Governor Smith; to work for dry Senators and Representatives and dry members of State Legislatures regardless of party.

"A great army of democratic women in Virginia will accept the challenge given by Governor Smith in his telegram of acceptance. His announcement of his determination to point the way to modification, in contradiction to the platform on which he was nominated, releases all dry Democrats from obligation to support him and should get for him the active opposition of our best people. Party loyalty does not measure up to principle and to one's country.

Mrs. Nelle Burges, a Democratic leader in the State of Missouri, officially says:

"Governor Smith is not only personally wet but is opposed to the 18th Amendment and its supporting laws. I consider his election would be a world-wide calamity. This is the most serious situation which has confronted our country since the Civil War. Since the wets are counseling their followers to disregard party lines I am working for the same end among the drys."

It is reported that this division of the B. & M. is almost ready for the big new locomotives recently received by the railroad. Route of the Stony Brook Branch, which has been placed in readiness for them, they will pass through Winchester. All that remains to be done before they are run over this division, it is reported, is the removal of a few signals, etc., which are too close to the rails. This list includes the gates on the east side of the center crossing.

WEDDED IN CHAPEL

Many Attended Ceremony for Winchester Couple

Over 200 guests attended the wedding and following reception at the First Congregational Church last Saturday evening when Miss Bertie Taylor of Park avenue and Nova Scotia became the bride of Mr. Arthur R. Donaghey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Donaghy of Maple road. The ceremony took place in the chapel of the church and was performed by Rev. Howard J. Chidley at 8 o'clock. Decorations of palms and cut flowers were used effectively, both in the chapel and in the church parlors where the reception was held after the wedding.

The bride was dressed in a wedding gown of white satin trimmed with real lace, her veil being of point d'esprit and fastened with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Kathleen L. Morse of Lloyd street was maid of honor, wearing orchid taffeta trimmed with maline. She carried roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Alice Brine of this town, Miss Ruth Corcoran of Arlington, Miss B. Dunkanson and Mrs. Leslie Wilkinson. They wore rainbow dresses of es of georgette and carried flowers to match. Mr. Arthur H. Cameron of this town was best man.

Mrs. George H. Lochman presided at the organ and played the wedding march. She also played the piano for the trio which rendered the music during the reception, being assisted by Miss Louise Norton, violinist, of Melrose and Mrs. Helen Winn Smith, 'cellist.

The couple were assisted in receiving by the parents of the groom, and received the congratulations of a host of friends from this and surrounding places, together with many beautiful gifts of appreciation. They are spending their honeymoon on a motor trip through northern New England, and will make their future home at 1 Maple road. The groom is a well known Winchester boy, long associated with the Barta Press of Cambridge. Mrs. Donaghy is a graduate nurse of the Winchester Hospital.

WILL STUDY FOR PRIESTHOOD

Mr. Frank Cassidy, son of Assessor John F. Cassidy of Water street, entered Boston College this week to study for the priesthood. He has been tutored during the summer under Rev. Fr. John Sullivan of St. Mary's Parish.

During the heavy traffic on Washington street Sunday, a car driven by Morris Wolodsky of Roxbury ran into the rear of a parked car owned by Florence Movandi and operated by Michael Morando of Charlestown. The rear of the Morandi car was somewhat damaged, but the Wolodsky car was uninjured.

FAITH IN DRAPER

Fellow Citizens:

While a member of the Legislative Division of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, 1925-28, I several times attended hearings at the State House on matters the Federation was interested in. It was then that Senator Eben S. Draper of Hopedale particularly impressed me by his interest in and understanding of public affairs, and as a legislator truly concerned for the public welfare.

Mr. Draper has served as Representative and State Senator six years. He was president of the Men's Republican Club of Massachusetts three years. He fought through the World War in the front line throughout, and is chairman of the Welfare Committee of the Massachusetts Veterans. His father is a well remembered Governor of Massachusetts. His grandfather was Secretary of the Treasury under Grant. He has an instinct for public service. He is a "Liberal," and in answer to the questionnaire of the Roosevelt Club, published during the summer, he said:

"In the event of my being elected United States Senator, should the question of modification of the Volstead Act come before me in the course of my duties, I would vote yes, provided a proposal to do this pointed to the enactment of a law which should promote and protect true temperance."

If he is nominated at the Primaries next Tuesday, I believe he would have the best chance of winning the election as a Republican choice of candidates. The reasons are: first, because he would get the young men's vote; second, he would command the largest veteran vote, and third, he would receive every "liberal" Republican man and woman's vote, which might otherwise go to the Democratic nominee.

While a comparatively young man, Mr. Draper is several years older than was Senator Lodge when he entered Congress. By his high integrity, fearless honesty and record of various services he represents a class of men of whom we have too few in public life.

Better Lighting for Better Business

MEMBER METROPOLITAN ELECTRICAL LEAGUE

YESTERDAY it was a store struggling along almost in the hands of the receiver. Over night its sales picked up and today it is a leader in its field.

Better Business goes hand in hand with Better Lighting. The store with dim, old-fashioned lighting equipment furnishes little competition to the store where the lights are clear and true. Shoppers will desert a dimly-lighted store for one with well-lighted aisles and counters.

THE EDISON ELECTRIC ILLUMINATING COMPANY OF BOSTON is co-operating with the merchant in bringing about better store lighting. Their Lighting Engineers . . . after a study of the store's present lighting system . . . furnish, free of charge, a set of working plans showing an economical and satisfactory system of lighting . . . From these plans your contractor can do the wiring.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

There is no way of teaching our children the value of money like teaching them to work for it.

Smooth sailing doesn't bring out the best in man, it takes shadows to make sunlight appreciated.

If your face wants to smile let it, if it doesn't make it.

The fellow who laid down when things come easy will fall down when they come hard.

TREES

Are probably Winchester's greatest asset of beauty and attractiveness. Without our fine natural and artificial growth, this town would lose immediately its claim as one of the finest residential towns of the State. Endowed by nature and furthered by the foresight of our ancestors we reap the benefit of this blessing.

But now there appear to be a number of our residents who are beginning to wonder if we are properly conserving this blessing. With trenches underneath and wires overhead, to say nothing of sundry other menaces, our trees are suffering. One here loses its top, when linemen string their wires; there one dies from gas; another loses its roots as a trench passes beneath it. It would be interesting to learn just how many trees are ruined each year.

When several citizens notice this condition, it seems time to sound a warning. Trees do not grow overnight. Neither are they always replaced when removed. Have the lines been let down in Winchester, and are those who should give this matter their careful attention, growing careless? It appears so.

Our officials cannot watch every operation performed, to see that the trees are properly protected, but if they investigate the cause of all dead trees, and bring pressure to bear on those responsible, even to the extent of replacement, we may in the future enjoy the same beauty which has delighted and charmed ourselves and our friends through former years.

FOR A NEW TOWN HALL

It is reported on good authority that the School Committee has made request, which has been granted by the Selectmen, for use of the Town Hall for school purposes. The inference is that owing to the Town's turning down the Junior High proposition at the March meeting, more room is needed for High School pupils and the Town Hall will be so used.

This appears to be a most satisfactory solution of the broadly heralded school difficulties. With the opening proposed, the town edifice may be quietly and smoothly converted into a Junior High. The Town was told last March it would have it, wanted or not, and what better building could be picked than the Town Hall? Its acoustic properties are so bad that no one has ever been able to hear anything in it which should make it popular among the pupils, and the heating will undoubtedly be expensive and inadequate. It should easily supplant a new building.

With this quiet and well arranged plan under way to enlarge our school facilities, why not accept the inevitable and gracefully acknowledge the corn, or lose or other fruit unraised, and turn our municipal building over for Junior High purposes completely and entirely.

For many years we have needed a new town building—one which will house our various departments under one roof in proper and adequate quarters, and contain a hall suitable for our large entertainments wherein our citizens may sit in comfort and hear the whole program. Why not break away from our expensive and costly fad of new school building and erect our long and much needed Town Hall? It is a crying necessity! With no one able to exploit it, what chance have our long-suffering town officers to obtain proper quarters within their individual offices? Why should we continue to spatter our departments all over our center? Why not house them all together properly?

Our School Committee has apparently very happily aided a much needed improvement in selecting this building for its Junior High School, and its adaptability appears unquestioned, for in addition to its many other advantages, it houses our public library, is centrally located and requires no gigantic outlay for new construction.

Now with proper backing and able committees, Winchester should put its shoulder to the wheel and start at once a departure from its cut and dried program of erecting school buildings and push into the limelight a new Town Hall.

An automobile accident occurred in the centre yesterday forenoon when a Ford touring car operated by Patrick F. Connolly of Woburn and a Chrysler coach operated by William B. Taylor of Dorchester were unable to pass. Both cars had damaged fenders.

HON. JOHN C. HULL FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

IN FAVOR OF JOHN C. HULL

To the Editor of the Star:

My dear Sir:

I earnestly hope that the Republicans of Winchester will give a large majority to the present Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, John C. Hull, as their candidate for the office of Lieutenant Governor. I have personally known Mr. Hull since his boyhood in Portland, Me. I often met him in his own home when he was a boy. He was no petted child of wealth, but had to work hard to obtain a college education, himself earning in various ways the money to carry him through those four years. Yet he applied himself so earnestly to his studies that he graduated from college with the high rank of Phi Beta Kappa scholarship.

The same devotion to duty has characterized him ever since. His public addresses to various civic and religious bodies during these recent years have demonstrated his peculiar fitness for the office of Lieutenant Governor. He has set forth in clear and convincing manner his understanding of the many public questions before the Legislature for decision. He has ever bravely stood for right and truth. Besides all this, his nomination for the important office of Lieutenant Governor is in accord with the principle of Civil Service. As Speaker of the House of Representatives his nomination to the office of Lieutenant Governor would be the promotion of a capable and experienced official to the next office in course.

I certainly hope that the voters of Winchester will by a very large majority select him as their standard bearer for Lieutenant Governor of the old Bay State. Therefore vote for John C. Hull at the Primaries next Tuesday.

Sincerely yours,
Samuel Winchester Adriance

POSTOFFICE OPENS SEPT. 20

Sept. 11, 1928

Mr. T. Price Wilson,
Winchester Star,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Mr. Wilson:

I am enclosing a letter which I have just received from Congressman Dallinger which you may publish if you so desire.

He states in his letter to me that the Postoffice will be opened formerly on Sept. 20.

Yours very truly,
W. A. Kneeland

Treasury Department
Washington, D. C.
Sept. 6, 1928

Honorable Frederick W. Dallinger,
House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Congressman:

Your letter of Aug. 21, wherein you call attention to the dissatisfaction in Winchester, Mass., on account of the great delay in occupying the new Postoffice, has been referred to this office by the First Assistant Postmaster General.

This building, as you probably know, was completed by a surety company, the original contractor having defaulted. Under the contract it was to have been completed by March 29, last, and was, in fact, practically finished by May 19. There were a few minor defects to be corrected, which should not, however, interfered with the occupancy of the building. The custodian did not wish to move in, because of the lack of important items of workroom equipment ordered through the Bureau of Supply. This furniture was to have been delivered not later than May 1, but does not appear to have been shipped from the factory at Indianapolis until July 26, though every effort was made by this office to have the shipment expedited.

The office is now in receipt of a telegram from the custodian to the effect that the furniture has arrived and that he has taken over the custody of the building.

By direction of the Secretary.
Very truly yours,
Jas. A. Wetmor
Acting Supervising Architect

Mrs. John E. Nickerson has returned to Winchester after three months traveling in Europe. She will occupy her home on Highland avenue early in October.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The Winchester Boat Club was organized in 1901, for the specific purpose of promoting canoeing, especially canoe racing, and in the early years of the club, there were a number of paddlers and sailors of the highest grade. Such men as Herman Dudley Murphy, Leroy Pratt, "Jim" Newman, "Bill" Little, Frank Gerlack and others, did much to keep the club very much in the running. Winchester was a real contender in every meet and often it would win the majority of the races.

Following the retirement of the original crew men from competition, canoe racing suffered a gradual decline as a club function until all interest had practically died out.

During the past several years, however, a few have made a persistent effort to place the club back in the sphere where it belongs and where it formerly enjoyed so much prestige. Since 1926 there has been a small but whole-hearted club representation in all of the New England and National American Canoe Association meets.

This year it was decided to enter a club-four crew in the National A. C. A. meet at Gananoque, Ontario. The boat owned and being used by the club had previously compared most unfavorably, both in speed and design, with the more modern types, even as the "vintage of '01" gasoline buggy would compare with the present "straight eight."

For this reason, the paddlers themselves undertook the responsibility of ordering a new boat, one which could race with the best of them. It can and did, winning the junior double blade fours race, and placing third in the senior event.

This boat cost quite a bit of money and in order to pay for it, and to add to some kindly donations already received, a subscription dance is to be held on Saturday evening, Sept. 22. The entertainment and regatta committees are working together to make this dance one of the best ever. A good orchestra has been engaged.

During the past week letters, with tickets enclosed, were sent to every club member. They are urged to attend and to ask their friends to join them. A very good time is promised and certainly their support will do much to aid the club's racing prospects in the future.

FALL WATER SPORTS OF WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The annual fall regatta of canoe and novelty water sports of the Winchester Boat Club was held at the Upper Mystic Lake on Saturday afternoon. The races, started by Dwight V. Hill, were enlivened by several upsets. Dr. Frank M. Blanchard and John Jones were judges.

The summary:

Tandem Blind Paddle Won by Ferdinand Barlow and James Fitch; Alan Hovey and Edward Sandberg, second; Winthrop Palmer and Lars Sandberg, third.

Single Canvas Canoe Paddling Won by Bradford Hill, James Fitch, second; Kenneth Pratt, third.

Tub-End Canoe Paddling Won by James Fitch; Lars Sandberg, second; Bradford Hill, third.

Potato Race Paddling, Seated Backward and Kneeling Won by Edward Sandberg; Harry Gardner, second; Winthrop Palmer, third. James Fitch disqualified for first place because of failure to paddle backward.

Tub-End Canoe Tandem Paddling Won by Winthrop Palmer and Edward Sandberg; John Pratt and Alan Hovey, second; James Fitch and Ferdinand Barlow, third.

Tandem Single Paddling in Canvas Canoes, One-Eighth Mile Won by Edward Sandberg and Winthrop Palmer; James Fitch and Kenneth Pratt, second; Philip Hight and Alan Hovey, third.

Shoulder Club Fours Paddling Won by Winchester B. C. No. 1 crew (James Fitch, Kenneth Pratt, Lars Sandberg and Philip Hight); Winchester B. C. No. 2 crew (John Pratt, Alan Hovey, Bradford Hill and Winthrop Palmer), second; Winchester B. C. No. 3 crew (Merrill Parker, Ferdinand Barlow, Edward Sandberg and Harry Gardner), third.

Tilting Tournament on Canoes Won by James Fitch (fifth); and Edward Sandberg (sixth); John Pratt (fifth) and Kenneth Pratt (sixth), second; Winthrop Palmer (fifth) and Alan Hovey (sixth), third.

A dancing party was held at the clubhouse hall in the evening. The grounds and clubhouse were illuminated with colored electric lights and Japanese lanterns. Edward Sandberg, Winthrop Palmer and Philip Hight of the regatta committee had charge of the affair.

WAS MOTHER OF MRS. WM. J. BREEN

Mrs. William J. Breen of 122 A. V. Parkway, suffered the death of her mother, Mrs. Caroline Louise Boileau, widow of William Boileau, on Tuesday. She was a native of Bordentown, N. J., and had made her home here with her daughter for the past 22 years. She was in her 89th year.

Funeral services were held at the residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, conducted by Rev. Truman Hemingway, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. The burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

WORK STARTED ON NEW BAPTIST CHURCH

Wednesday morning workmen began excavating for the foundations of the new Baptist Church at the corner of Mt. Vernont and Washington streets.

Lawson W. Oakes, Inc., of Boston, has been chosen as the contractor. The committee consider themselves quite fortunate in this choice, as he has constructed some very large buildings in a most successful manner. Among the buildings, which he has constructed are the Palmer Memorial Hospital, the Deaconess Hospital, the Home for Incurables, and he is now working on the construction of Thompson's Spa on Summer street.

Mr. Oakes, head of the contracting firm, is a resident of Newton and has superintended the extensive additions and alterations to the All Saints Church at Ashmont and the Church of the Redeemer at Chestnut Hill as well as alterations to the Methodist Episcopal Church at Bridgewater.

The work, which was begun Wednesday morning, will be pushed with vigor in order to get the building closed in before the snow flies. The committee are hoping to have the building completed by the first of May. It is to be of seam-face granite and to consist of an auditorium and parish-house constructed in accordance with the most up-to-date ideas of Sunday School education and young people's work. Examination of the plans indicate a most beautiful building that will be a great addition to the civic center of Winchester.

BOWLING STARTS OCT. 8

Notice will be issued this week of the opening of the annual winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club, and according to the schedule as planned, the first match will start at 7:45 on Monday evening, Oct. 8.

Last year 31 teams of five men each entered this tournament, and the committee in charge this year anticipate an even larger entry. The tournament will be run along the usual lines, although starting somewhat earlier in the season. The entries will close Sept. 22.

This year's bowling committee at the Club is headed by Mr. Wallace Blanchard and includes Messrs. Alfred H. Hildreth, Emerson C. Priest, Kenneth M. Pratt and Alfred E. Sweet.

Further protest over the blasting at the stone quarry at North Winchester appeared last Monday night, when a delegation of residents of that section visited the Selectmen and voiced their objection.

The new Buick is the New Style

Graceful contours instead of straight lines--the gleam and sparkle of brilliant colors and chrome plating instead of drab effects . . . the most beautiful bodies ever built . . . Buick's masterpiece bodies by Fisher
At a time when motor car beauty was practically standardized—when imitation was the vogue—when there was a glaring lack of originality in body design—Buick has swept far beyond the commonplace and achieved a style which the entire country is acclaiming as the most distinctive and beautiful ever shown!
Fisher, the world's foremost builder of automobile bodies, has cooperated with Buick, the world's foremost builder of fine cars, to create a new mode—a new fashion—and so luminous is the result and so eagerly is the public welcoming it that Buick's great factories have reached new production levels in an effort to keep pace with an ever increasing demand!
Inside and out, the new Buick bodies by Fisher are the most beautiful ever built. Together with the wonderful new standards of performance introduced by the Silver Anniversary Buick, they are winning the greatest demand and the greatest preference ever enjoyed by any fine car!
The new Buick is the new style! And by that is meant, not merely a new type of beauty—not merely a thrilling turning point in body design—but a great country wide vogue!

"Bob" Fogg continues to be about the busiest aviator in the New England states. His student and joyhop work keeps him at the controls almost continuously, and it is seldom that he has time to accommodate would-be cross-country passengers. Last week however, he squeezed in flights to Wiscasset, Me., and Sunapee Lake, from his base at the Weirs, N. H. Last Sunday, he reports, to use his own words: "I got out of the cockpit just once between 8:30 a. m. and darkness." He intends to remain at the Weirs for another week, to see the vacation season through to the finish, and then make his winter headquarters at the Concord airport. The pontoons on his ship will be replaced with wheels. "Bob" is to be major-domo at the dedication of the Keene, N. H. airport, which will be observed with a meet Sept. 21, 22 and 23.

BOY COMES TO GRIEF WHILE OPERATING MOTOR CAR

Gaetano Mistretta, 14, of 79 Harvard street narrowly escaped serious injury shortly after 9:30 Monday evening when an automobile which he was driving got out of control and plunged through a gap in the fence at the end of Harvard street, down a steep embankment almost onto the tracks of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

The boy was not hurt but Gaspare Asaro of 75 Harvard street who was attempting to stop the car, received cuts on the forehead and right arm necessitating 16 stitches to close.

Police Headquarters was notified of the accident and Patrolmen John Hogan, Robert White and Joseph Derro were dispatched to the scene by Lieut. John Harrold.

It was found that the machine which the boy was driving, a Ford sedan, was the property of his uncle, Salvatore Mistretta of 17 Irving street, who was not with the boy when the accident occurred. When questioned by the police Asaro stated that he had jumped upon the car in an effort to stop it and had not been riding with young Mistretta previously.

The latter is below the age at which it is legal to operate a motor vehicle and has no license. He is said to have told the police that Asaro was riding with him. The authorities will summonse Gaetano and possibly others into court.

RED CROSS ASKS AID

Winchester People to Help in Hurricane Relief

Early in the week Florida alone reported 450 dead. Other estimates have gone as high as 2000. Property damage may run close to a hundred million dollars. Hunger, sickness, misery stalk through the devasted cities and towns.

On the tiny French island of Quadeloupe the government reports the death of 600.

Medical supplies and foodstuffs are needed everywhere.

Telegrams to the Winchester Red Cross are of such urgent character that all citizens are asked to make some contribution immediately. It is of the utmost importance that Winchester people manifest their sympathy by sending checks to William E. Priest at the Winchester Savings Bank.

Personal service may not be given by any of our citizens, but all of them can send representatives to the stricken area in the form of money which will be spent for those things, food, clothing, medicine, nursing, etc.

THANKS WINCHESTER VOTERS

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the Democratic voters of Winchester for their strong support in tendering me the nomination of State Senator. If elected I shall endeavor to merit this support in every way.

Special Officer Walter B. Lord of 16 Hancock street has been temporarily appointed to the regular force of the Police Department until the existing vacancy can be permanently filled. Officer Lord is beyond the age limit specified by civil service for a regular appointment.

OFFICER DEMPSEY AGAIN WINS SPURS

It was about a year ago that Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey of the Police Department qualified as an expert cowboy, or rather horse-boy, by roping and delivering in good condition three horses which were terrorizing householders by roaming at large on Highland avenue during the evening hours. Now he is sporting a second star upon his distinguished service medal.

It seems that Tuesday night at 11:15 Police Headquarters was notified by a somewhat disturbed resident of Marion road that a horse was running about through his garden and doing the plot no particular good. The householder was anxious to have something done by the authorities and recalling Patrolman Dempsey's particular gift for apprehending equine wanderers from the home stables, Lieutenant Harrold dispatched the former to Marion road with instructions to leave no stone unturned in his effort to halt the horse's depredations.

Officer Dempsey notified his superior that the horse had attended to turning up the pebbles but further than that he was able to carry out his instructions to the letter. The wandering animal was taken in tow and returned without incident to his accustomed habitat, the Bryer farm on Washington street.

OLDEST AMERICAN MILITARY BAND

The United States Marine Band which makes its appearance in Winchester in the Town Hall on Oct. 11 under the auspices of the Rotary Club for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital, has the distinction of being the oldest military musical organization in the country.

It was organized in 1801 immediately following the moving of the capital to Washington. It has had in all nine leaders—Tyre, Pons, Scala, Fries, Schneider, Sousa, Fanciulli and Santelmann, who, after wielding the baton for 29 years, turned over the leadership to his successor, Captain Taylor Branson on April 27, 1927.

There is no more brilliant and inspiring sight than this aggregation of talented musicians with their scarlet coats and highly polished instruments. Every member is not only a citizen of the United States but a musician of unusual ability, having been compelled to pass the most rigid tests before being accepted.

The band maintains its high standard of musical excellance by rigidly adhering to Departmental regulations requiring punctual attendance at a full two hour rehearsal on five mornings of each week. An average term of service of 18 years for its entire present personnel indicates that membership in this famous organization is highly esteemed.

Tickets may be had from any Winchester Rotarian or at Knight's Drug Store, Main and Church streets, Winchester. Prices $2.50, $2 and $1.

GIVE YOUR OLD SUMMER CLOTHES TO FLORIDA SUFFERERS

What the Winchester Red Cross wants more than anything else right now is contributions in the form of money to be used for food, medicines, and household necessities for the Florida and the island sufferers.

But that does not mean that clothing will not be accepted. Here is a place for your summer things—especially those for women and children. Heavy clothing is not so good. This stuff is to be used in hot countries.

Send anything you don't want to the Red Cross—at the Winchester Fire Department. The sooner you send it, the better.

The police recovered a Stutz sedan Wednesday on Cambridge street beyond Pond street which proved to be the property of the Becker Stutz Auto Company of 677 Beacon street, Boston. The machine was towed to the Central Garage where it was later claimed by its owners.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

Reception to the Probationers

At the Nurses' Home of the Winchester Hospital on the evening of Monday, Sept. 17, there was held a delightful reception for the 15 students who are entering the School of Nursing at the hospital, as probationers, this fall.

Miss Hilda M. Torrof, Superintendent of the Winchester Hospital, introduced the girls to the directors, gathered to meet them. Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Fuller, Mrs. James W. Russell, Mrs. Stillman P. Williams, Mrs. Edward B. Smalley, Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter and Mrs. Merton E. Grush, members from the Board of Directors, welcomed the new nurses to the hospital. The staff and faculty of the hospital with the nurses of the two upper classes were also present, making a group of about 60 people in all.

The program of the evening included musical selections by friends of the nurses, a talk to the probationers by Rev. William S. Packer of the Boston Globe, refreshments and dancing. Miss Booth of Andover at the piano, Miss Moberg of the Faulkner Hospital on the violin and Miss MacCellan of Winchester by her charming group of songs delighted the audience.

Mr. Packer, is well known to everyone in Winchester for his keen understanding and deep appreciation of the young people in this and many other towns, spoke to the new nurses on the profession that they were about to enter, and their contribution to it. He told them of difficulties that they would encounter and of the high standard expected of every nurse, doctor and minister by the community. He assured them that the more they put into their work to make it worth while, the more would they find it bringing back to them.

Miss Ena Callahan, Campbellton, N. B.
Miss Mildred Coombs, Lowell
Miss Anna Cox, Quincy
Miss Louise Emerson, Lunenburg, N. S.
Miss Veronica Green, North Adams.
Miss Anna Harmon, Nantucket
Miss Florence Johnder, Rumeley, Me.
Miss Emma Lane, Charlottetown, P. E. I.
Miss Anna O'Melia, Winchester.
Miss Kathleen Powers, Winchester.
Miss Ola Thompson, Andover, N. H.
Miss Francella Tobin, Reading.
Miss Florence Webber, Stoneham.
Miss Rebecca Webber, Roxbury.
Miss Flora White, Fort Fairfield, Me.

GRANGE NOTES

The pound party held at Mrs. John Hanlon's home for the Grange was a very pleasant and profitable one. Over 20 members were present, each bringing a one-pound article for a prize.

After the prizes were distributed, the players were served with refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee and tea.

At the next Grange meeting, Sept. 25, the Middlesex Extension Service will give a canning exhibit furnished by the Howee Can Can Club with Mildred Benson as chairman.

Miss Bishop of the Middlesex Extension Service, will be the judge.

REV. G. ROSS THOMAS

TO BE COMMISSIONED AS FOREIGN MISSIONARY

First Congregational Church, Sunday Morning

G. Ross Thomas and his bride, Mrs. Clara Owen Thomas, daughter of Rev. George W. Owen of Hyde Park, will be commissioned Sunday morning, Sept. 23, in the First Congregational Church for service under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missioners in their Marathi Mission, India.

A unique feature of this service will be the presentation of the commission by Mrs. Thomas' father, Rev. George W. Owen, acting in his official capacity as a member of the Prudential Committee of the American Board. Mr. Owen is pastor of the Hyde Park Congregational Church. Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Church of Winchester will be in charge of the ceremony and will make the prayer of consecration. The welcome to the field will be given by Miss Carolyn D. Smiley, acting secretary in the Home Department who served for six years in India as a missionary of the Winchester Church.

The main address of the day will be made by G. R. Thomas, his topic being "The Young Missionary." The First Congregational Church of Winchester will provide a large part of the support of this young couple, but the Hyde Park Congregational Church in which Mrs. Thomas grew up claims the privilege of contributing toward it. Henry S. Chapman will give the pledge of support from the Winchester Church.

Mr. Thomas, who is a Pennsylvania man will be the business manager and treasurer in this great mission of the board. Mrs. Thomas is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College, class of 1926, and since that time has been resident psychologist at Perkins Institution for the Blind in Watertown. Mr. Thomas was graduated from Wesleyan University in 1921 and finished a course at the Harvard School of Business Administration in 1926. He has had two years of business experience, being associated with the Liability Assurance Corporation of New York City. He is the son of a Methodist minister.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, who were married last June, will sail for their new work in India on Sunday, Sept. 30 on the S.S. Laconia from Boston.

KEEFE—DELORIA

A marriage of interest in Somerville as well as Winchester was solemnized Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16, in St. Mary's rectory at 5:30 o'clock when Miss Edna Mary Deloria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Deloria of 21 Salem street, became the bride of Leo Francis Keefe, son of Mrs. Margaret Keefe of Holland street, Somerville. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley.

Miss Deloria was attended by her sister, Mrs. Dorothy M. Lord of Woburn, and Mr. Keefe had for his best man James H. Coveney of Cambridge.

The bride's gown was of white taffeta trimmed with tulle. Her lace veil was confined in a coronet of pearls and rhinestones and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Lord's frock was of Nile green satin and gold lace. Her picture hat was in shades to match her gown and her bouquet of pink butterfly roses.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents which had been prettily decorated for the occasion without flowers and a profusion of autumn leaves. In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. Deloria and Mrs. Keefe. John M. and Walter S. Deloria, both of Winchester and brothers of the bride, served as ushers. A catered wedding supper was served at 7 o'clock.

Both gentlemen are prominent in various local organizations.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hanlon and family of Cutting street returned last Saturday from a motor trip to Canada. Any baseball up there Jack?

CALUMET NOTES

Affairs will start in earnest on Saturday, Oct. 6. This is the opening event and will be a dinner with entertainment. It will also be "guest" night, that is, each member will be privileged to bring a guest. This year the price will be $1 per person, which the Entertainment Committee says is most reasonable considering that they will assure a bang-up feed. There ought to be a big turn-out. Ed Merrill is looking after the entertainment and that spells satisfaction. It is also hoped that members will bring guests and show them our equipment for pleasure hunters.

The Men's Bowling Tournament will start Oct. 8. Cards for the make-up of teams have been sent out to members and it is hoped that they will be sent in early so that the committee can handle the various compositions to the satisfaction of all. Last year, we had 31 teams and Chairman Blanchard is out to beat that record. If any members have applications for membership it would be well to get them posted early.

Already there are applications for several memberships. Chairman Richardson has appointed a general committee outside of his regular one to hustle for new members and he states he has no doubts but what his corps will do as good work as last year. He particularly urges that applications be sent in as soon as obtained so these new members who wish to bowl may be able to get on a team for the Men's Fall Tournament. Bowling starts Oct. 6, but it is necessary to have applications in before then in order to get the names on teams in proper shape.

Chairman Chase and his committee have been busy this week fixing up the entertainment for the year. The schedule looks as though we should have busy times at the Calumet this season.

Following is a list of dates and events for the month of October, 1928:

Oct. 6 Opening Dinner. $1 is the complete cost for dinner and entertainment and a very good one it is going to be. The charge per person is 75c for the dinner or for the Bridge, or $1 both combined.

Oct. 27 Open House with possibility of a speaker.

Oct. 29 Smoker. We will have a good speaker.

Oct. 19 Dinner Bridge, 6:30 p. m. sharp. Bridge commences at 7:30 p. m. The charge per person is 75c for the dinner or for the Bridge, or $1 both combined.

Oct. 27 Open House (We may have a speaker).

Oct. 26 Bowling for both men and women at 7 p. m.

Oct. 31 Hallowe'en Party. Prizes for the best costumes and other pleasing events. Club member and their families only.

CLARENCE CROSSMAN MILLER

Clarence Crossman Miller, president of the Boston Life Underwriters' Association and for 23 years a widely known resident of Winchester, died Wednesday morning, Sept. 19, of heart disease at his home on Lagrange street, following a brief illness.

Mr. Miller was born 51 years ago at Providence, the son of George W. and Caroline (Harlowe) Miller. He came of old Colonial stock, his mother's people having come to this country in the Mayflower, while on his father's side he was a direct descendant of Joseph Jencks, the first Governor of Rhode Island.

At the age of 6 years Mr. Miller removed with his parents to Boston and continued to make his home there until taking up residence in Winchester. He was graduated from the Boston Latin School, from which he matriculated to Harvard in 1897. After his college course he became associated with the National Life Insurance Company of Vermont and since 1915 he had been general agent in Boston of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia.

In 1917 he was made president of the Boston Life Underwriters' Association. He was also a director in the Winchester Co-operative Bank and the Rockland Trust Company. He was a member of the Unitarian Church of Winchester, the Algonquin Club, Exchange Club, Winchester Chamber of Commerce, Winchester Country Club, Scituate Country Club, of which he was a founder, and the Scituate Yacht Club.

He is survived by his wife, Harriet H. Miller; two sons, Robert H. and Philip Miller, and a daughter, Miss Harriet Miller, all of Winchester.

The funeral is to be held this afternoon at 2:30 in the Unitarian Church with the Rev. George Hale Reed officiating.

WINCHESTER MEN INDICTED, CHARGED WITH SETTING FIRE TO STORE

As the result of an investigation conducted by the office of State Fire Marshall Neal two Winchester men, John Marino and Vito Scaturo, have been indicted, charged with setting fire to the store at the corner of Swanton and Holland streets, occupied by Marino, as grocer, and the Amico Baking Company.

The fire was discovered about 3 o'clock on the morning of Sunday, Aug. 5, and shortly before that time Marino was seen in the store and again on the street in an automobile by Patrolman James E. Farrell. When Officer Robert White arrived at the store following the alarm, he observed Marino's keys in the lock and as a result of conditions found inside the building by the firemen an investigation was held by State Fire Inspectors Shumway and Mansfield.

A hearing was held at Police Headquarters on Tuesday, Aug. 14, at which time Marino and several other residents of the Italian district were questioned by the authorities. Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department was present at the hearing with Officer Farrell.

As a result of the findings Marino and Scaturo who was with him on the morning of the fire, were indicted for conspiracy before the Grand Jury. The former is held in bonds of $7500 and Scaturo in $2500.

WINCHESTER WOMAN KILLED WHEN REVOLVER FELL FROM SHELF

Victim Was Miss Agnes D. Ross of Carter Street

The funeral of Miss Agnes D. Ross 71, who was accidentally killed last Saturday evening by a shot from a revolver which fell from a shelf at her home, 1 Carter street, was held Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 18, in the chapel at Mt. Auburn Cemetery where the interment was made. Miss Ross made her home with her niece, Mrs. Agens Marchant, and had lived in Winchester about a year. She was a native of Plymouth, N. S., and is survived by her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth McIntosh of Winchester.

According to the police account of the fatality the shot which caused Miss Ross's death was fired from a revolver sometimes carried by Arthur W. Marchant, her niece's husband, who is a civil engineer and well known here as a Boy Scout executive.

Marchant had returned to his home on Carter street shortly before 9 o'clock from an automobile ride on which he was accompanied by Mrs. Marchant and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Lawson of 92 Cross street. When getting out of the car Marchant left his revolver in its holster in the machine where it was seen by Lawson who got out after the first named.

Lawson picked up the gun and took it into the kitchen where he laid it upon a shelf. Besides the Lawsons and the Marchants the two children of the latter, Francis, aged 14, and Muriel, aged 4, were in the kitchen, Muriel being held upon the lap of Miss Ross who was sitting in front of the kitchen table.

In some way the revolver fell from the shelf and as it struck the floor, discharged, the bullet entering Miss Ross's body just above the left hip bone and penetrating her lungs, passing out through the front of her right shoulder and lodging in the ceiling over the kitchen door. Still holding her little grandniece, who had miraculously escaped being struck by the bullet, Miss Ross pitched forward and slumped to the floor. Dr. Charles R. Baisley, who was hastily summoned by Marchant, found that she had died almost instantly. Associate Medical Examiner Fred S. Piper of Lexington was notified and viewed the body. After hearing the story of those present he pronounced the death accidental.

Meanwhile, Police Headquarters was notified and Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy with Patrolmen James E. Farrell and Henry P. Dempsey was soon at the Marchant home. Sergeant Cassidy took Marchant's revolver, a 38-caliber Smith & Wesson, to Police Headquarters where it was found that there was but one empty chamber. No further investigation was made by the authorities.

HELEN HUNT JACKSON

Helen Hunt Jackson, 17-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson of Cross street, passed away at her home on Friday evening, Sept. 14.

She was a graduate of the Wadleigh Gramma School, the Boston Girls' Trade School and was popular with her schoolmates and friends.

Surviving besides her parents, are a sister and three brothers.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Kelley & Hawes funeral home and were conducted by Mr. Alfred H. Morton, Past-Reader of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

AN APPRECIATION

Sept. 13, 1928

To the Editor of the Star:

I wish to express through your paper my profound gratitude to all who shared with me my recent sorrow. It is my sincere hope that you will find space for the lines which appear below.

The many telegrams and letters of condolence, coming from far and near, were to me as a message from on high. They made me feel the nearness of a friendly power in an hour of questionings and doubts.

There were those who called at my father's home to express their sympathy in person and to offer words of encouragement and strength. There were some who rendered little services gratuitously. There were many beautiful floral tributes brought to the bier of Mrs. Smith, testifying of the deep affection, the profound respect, and the high esteem in which she was held.

Such a rich expression of love and appreciation could not but make me feel that the Great God, from whom comes every good and perfect gift, cherishes and rewards the life of faithfulness, loyalty, and integrity. Must He not honor in death His own even as do we? Surely the God from whose bosom streamed the love exhibited on Calvary will not suffer to be lost in the grave that vital principle, the soul, which gives life its meaning and which in death we vainly strive to bring back.

In a seemingly tragic moment, I saw the promised fulfilment of our Master's dream, a world brotherhood. For my sorrow was shared by men and women of various races and creeds and levels of social strata. Death very often releases those democratic and brotherly impulses we inhibit so effectively in ordinary moments.

I want publicly to thank the Rev. E. E. Thompson, pastor of the Massachusetts Avenue Baptist Church, Cambridge; Dr. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Winchester; the Rev. H. H. Jones, pastor of the St. John's Baptist Church, Woburn, for the very timely eulogies and fitting tributes paid to Mrs. Smith. I would also include Mr. Daniel Kelly whose warm sympathies and fine Christian spirit so tempered his professional duties as to render his presence an inspiration.

To the numerous churches and church organizations of Boston and vicinity, and, especially, to the Woman's League of the First Baptist Church, Winchester; and to the Winchester Star, the Woburn Times, and the Boston Chronicle, I am deeply grateful for interest manifested and services rendered in a trying and crucial moment.

I remain,
Yours most respectfully,
(Rev.) H. Albert Smith,
Chaplain North Carolina College

COLLEGIANS BLANKED TOWN TEAM

Manager Farrell Presented With Watch, But Team Took Neat Lacing

"Jim" Fitzgerald's "Collegians" closed the local baseball season last Saturday afternoon by blanking the Winchester Town Team, 8—0 on Manchester Field. The game was billed as the feature of "Farrell Day," arranged in honor of Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department who has acted as manager for the Town Team during the past summer.

At the end of the first inning the players of both teams came together at home plate and doffed their caps while Selectman Thomas F. Fallon presented Manager Farrell with a white gold Elgin wrist watch, suitably inscribed, the gift of a group of local fans. The ceremonies were not extensive and delayed the game but a few minutes.

The presentation was about the best thing on Manchester Field last Saturday, the ball game turning out to be more or less a fizzle.

Francis Tansey, after a summer pitching for Hyannis in the Cape Cod League, found the local batters easy victims for his southpaw slants and never did give Farrell's ponies a chance to get going.

Meanwhile "Joe" Donahue, erstwhile Arlington High School all around athletic star, on the mound for the Town Team, was encountering plenty of trouble in his efforts to throw the ball by "Jimmy" Fitzgerald and his heavy artillery which, leaving "Fitz" out of the picture, was by no means so heavy. Just why Farrell shelved Amico in favor of Donahue is something only "Dukes" can explain. His strategy proved rather sour.

Donahue was not so good but the 7 errors which his backing tossed into the matinee didn't tend to help matters any for the local cause. The Arlington boy allowed 5 hits in 5 frames on which the Collegians counted 7 times. There had to be plenty of miscues for anything like that to happen.

Amico, who toiled the last four innings, was touched up for 3 hits and a single tally, his fellow "Townies" showing good ball behind the boy they had played with all summer.

Tansey allowed 8 hits, but in justice to the little southpaw it is only fair to say that after the 7th he was just lobbing up the ball. He could have held the locals pretty close had he elected to do so.

The game ceased to be a contest after the second inning when, with a couple of tallies already salted away, "Harpy" Fitzgerald drove out a terrific triple into the tall grass to the right of the bandstand, bringing in a couple more Collegians. The other runs came in the first, third and eighth frames.

Notes of the Game

Tansey had plenty of fun with "Touchy" Gray and so bad did the speedy local center fielder look at the bat against the experienced Francis that the outfielders sat down on the ground when "Touchy" was at bat.

Those who got their first glimpse of "Brad" Coates in action last Saturday wondered why everyone has been enthusing about his playing. The North Woburn boy did about everything wrong that was possible. He is, however, a fine ball player and gave the fans an indication of his usual class when he threw out "Barney" Murphy in the 7th after snaring the latter's belt in short left field.

"Jim" Fitzgerald's triple would have been any easy homer had the grass been cut to the right of the bandstand. The belt was of the human variety, but "Fitz" had to leg it to reach third.

"Nicky" Fitzgerald will never win the right to be classed a good first baseman until he learns to stretch away from the bag for throws which he might prevent from landing in the dirt. None of the pegs he missed last Saturday were good ones but he might have knocked several of them down had he cared to leave his base. Getting the ball is the first requisite of good first base play.

The Ambrose boys, "Vin" and "Howie" were the fielding dependables of the game. The former handled 6 chances without a slipup and "Howie" 8, without a bobble. Each got himself a hit and "Vin" started the game's only twin killing.

"Hennie" Knowlton showed a fine throwing arm when he cut down Keating, trying to go from first to third, on Coates' single to center in the 9th.

The fielding gem of the matinee was turned in by "Dinny" McMannus who made a corking stop of Knowlton's bid for a hit in the 5th and tossed out "Hennie" at first.

"Joe" Snyder who has been umpiring the local games this summer played left field for the Town Team. He found no fault with the decisions of his fellow townie, "Clint" Peabody of North Woburn, the ex-Arlington High star.

Where was "Olio" Lee? It is a fairly safe bet that Coach Mansfield had a word to say about the absence of the crack schoolboy right hander. Lee has pitched plenty of ball this summer.

Now bring on your football.

ALEXANDER MacADAM PAUL

Funeral services for Alexander MacAdam Paul, who died suddenly on Thursday, Sept. 13, at his home, 51 Wedgemere avenue, were conducted last Sunday afternoon at the late residence by the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Paul, a pioneer rubber manufacturer and president of the Davidson Rubber Company of Charlestown, was born April 13, 1867, in Halifax, N. S. He was naturalized an American citizen in 1890 and made his home in Winchester for the past 10 years. He was a pioneer in the rubber industry in that he was the first to adopt the principles of concentration, standardization and simplified practice. It was he who first realized the necessity for a water-bottle priced within the reach of every American family.

From 1899 to 1907, Mr. Paul was associated with the Boston Woven Hose, as general manager. In March, 1907, he bought the Davidson Rubber Company and was sole owner until his decease. He was director of the New England Rubber Corporation 1901-05 and 1907-09; director of the Rubber Corporation of America 1909-15; president of the New England Rubber Corporation 1906-07; honorary vice president of the New England Rubber Corporation and Rubber Corporation of America 1907-15; and ex-officio director of the Rubber Association of America from 1915 to the date of his death. He was the fifth president of the New England Rubber Corporation, and at the time was the youngest president serving in that capacity.

The land is taxed for $74,000. There are 30 modern suites.

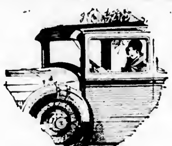

Albert C. Norris reports the sale for Mrs. Harriet Munroe of her estate, 1 Everett avenue, corner of Bacon street, Winchester, assessed for $17,000. The caboose and two cars of the train were derailed and the truck wrecked. The conductor of the train, F. R. Latour of Nashua, N. H., and the driver and his helper on the truck, Ahzen McKay and William Cummings of Cambridge, were injured and taken to the Woburn Hospital.

GIRLS' FIELD HOCKEY SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

The schedules for both divisions of the Greater Boston Interscholastic Girls' Field Hockey League for the coming season were announced this week. The only change in the make-up of the league is that Stoneham will play in the Northern Division in place of Concord, the latter girls being shifted to the Southern group.

Winchester High won the league title a year ago from Arlington High and under its new coach, Miss Margaret Centervall of Brookline, expect to make a good showing this fall. There are a plentiful sprinkling of letter players available for the team which is captained by Dorothea MacKenzie, '29 and managed by "Peggy" Bradlee, '29. The schedule for the Northern Division in which Winchester plays follows:

Oct.
19 Winthrop High at Swampscott.
19 Stoneham High at Winchester
23 Melrose High at Stoneham.

MELLY TO ENTER GEORGETOWN

It was reported yesterday that Francis Melly, crack center on Winchester High School's championship eleven of 1922, had left town to enter Georgetown University at Washington. Big Frank is one of the best athletes to be graduated from the local high school in recent years and last season was a regular on both the varsity football team and nine at Tufts College. After captaining the Jumbo freshman eleven two years ago he easily made the varsity as a guard during his sophomore year and with "Jim" Fitzgerald furnished the real rushing power for the Tufts unbeaten eleven last fall. He left college to go to work with the Winchester Engineering Department during the baseball season. He is a brawny, 6-foot athlete who weighs near the 200 mark and is the type to delight the college football coach. Melly knows only one way to work—hard!

SKIDDING CAR CAUSED WRECK ON CHURCH STREET

Thomas E. Sheehan of Chelmsford was taken to the Winchester Hospital about 8:30 Thursday morning suffering with injuries sustained when the Ford sedan which he was driving east on Church street was struck when at the entrance to Rangeley by a Graham Paige sedan, the property of Mrs. Florence W. Parsons of 73 Bacon street and driven by her son, Frank R. Parsons of the same address.

Both machines were damaged in the collision, the Ford being badly wrecked. It was towed to the Central Garage while the Graham Paige was taken to the garage of the Anderson Motor Company on Main street.

Young Parsons was taken to the office of Dr. Clarence E. Ordway by Mrs. L. R. Chamberlin of Wedgemere avenue and there treated for a cut on the left arm. Immediately following the accident he succeeded in getting Sheehan, who was unconscious, from the wreck of the Ford. Sheehan was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Joseph Chiovaro of 6 Mason street and attended by Dr. R. L. Emery. The injured man was found to have sustained cuts about the face and hands as well as a badly bruised abdomen. He was held for a time at the hospital but was later able to leave.

Parsons told the police that the accident occurred when his machine skidded on the car tracks while headed west on Church street.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The 19th annual meeting of the New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 24, 25 and 26 at the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

The opening session Monday at 2 p. m. will feature fine arts in New England with an address by Prof. Clarence Kennedy of Smith College on "Opportunities in New England for an Education in Art." Governor Fuller of Massachusetts and Paul Harvey, former publisher of the International Interpreter, who will speak on "New England and International Relations" are to be guest speakers at the Monday evening session.

The Tuesday sessions will be given over largely to New England problems from the point of view of the woman consumer. There will be an address "New England Over the Counter" by Louis E. Kirstein of William Filene's Sons Company and discussions on "Solving the Cotton Goods Problem" led by Mrs. Harry A. Burnham and "Styles, the Magic of Business" by Everett Bradley of the Bradley Goodrich Shoe Company.

Prof. Dallas Lore Sharp will be the speaker at the banquet Tuesday evening.

A forum is reserved for the closing session on Wednesday morning when favorite topics will be presented by each State.

The meetings of this conference are open to all club women and it is hoped that many Fortnightly members will avail themselves of the opportunity and attend some of the sessions.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

We were honored on Thursday by a visit from Albert K. ("Bert") Comins, District Governor of the 31st District of Rotary International to which our Club belongs. Governor Comins although a member of the Wakefield Club is a well known resident of Winchester, and as such his visit was of peculiar interest to us.

It is impossible to listen to Governor Comins talk on matters Rotarian without being impressed by the wholesouled enthusiasm of the man for the organization which he represents. And furthermore he is able to transmit a generous share of this enthusiasm to his fellow-Rotarians—an ideal quality for a District-Governor to possess. We feel sure that we, both individually and as a club, shall profit from his kindly and helpful suggestions.

We shall look forward with pleasure to future visits from "Bert" whenever his time permits and it will be our aim to have him feel at home whenever he is among us.

President Harris took occasion to remind us that Saturday, Sept. 22 there will be an inspection and banquet incident to the opening of our new Postoffice building. There will be a dinner at the Town Hall at 6 p. m., at which the first assistant Postmaster General from Washington, D. C. will be present and speak, as will Congressman Dallinger and others. The Postoffice will be open for inspection from 3 to 5 and from 8 to 10 p. m.

We have to report a most gratifying response to our efforts in behalf of the concert to be given by the United States Marine Band on Oct. 11 for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital. While we are quite ready to take due credit for our work, yet we are well aware that the worthiness of our object has given effect to our labor. After many years, and sometimes discouraging years, of earnest endeavor our townspeople have succeeded in bringing the Winchester Hospital to a high level of efficiency; it is evident that they propose to keep it there. We know this because of the readiness with which they have bought these concert tickets. Obviously the tickets must be priced higher than is commonly the case, because the U. S. Marine Band is an attraction of the first magnitude both as to the excellence of the entertainment and the expense involved. Nevertheless Rotarians are selling tickets at a rate which indicates that the greater part of them will be gone in a very few days. In this connection we wish to state that practically all seats in our Town Hall will be good. The band will easily be heard in all parts of the auditorium and seen as well. Therefore, we earnestly request all well-wishers of our hospital to make their reservations immediately.

We wish to remind our members who were absent last Thursday, of the Inter-Club meet at Medford on the 27th. This of course will take the place of our regular meeting.

Also do not forget the fall conclave at Poland Springs, Me., Oct. 1, 2 and 3. This will offer and exceptional opportunity for an enjoyable outing as well as to meet Rotarians whom one could hardly hope to meet otherwise. All who attend these conclaves express themselves in no uncertain terms as to the enjoyment and benefit which they have received. We sincerely hope that none of our members who can make arrangements go will fail to do so.

Remember, we shall meet at Medford (Masonic Building, 12:15 p. m.) Thursday, Sept. 27.

M.C. W. G. NOTES

On next Thursday evening, the charitable committee will hold a whist and social at the home of Treasurer Ruth M. Ambrose.

Our annual Hallowe'en masquerade and social will be held as usual next month with many added features and innovations.

WINCHESTER POLLED BIGGEST PRIMARY VOTE

Allen Given Big Majority in Gubernatorial Contest—Women Lead Men in Votes Cast

Winchester cast the largest primary election vote in the Town's history at the Town Hall Tuesday when 2211 citizens of an electorate numbering 5317 expressed their particular preference for the several candidates offered by the major political parties. Apparently only the Republican voters of the town were especially interested in the election's outcome, only 236 Democrats taking the trouble to go to the polls.

Although but 42 per cent of those eligible voted on Tuesday, the total cast exceeded that polled at the fall primary on the last Presidential year, 1924, by 265. In 1926 the primary vote was 1363. The distinction of leading in the total number of votes cast this fall was won by the women who cast 1156 to the polls as opposed to 1055 men. With the women now leading the men in registration their advantage becomes somewhat reduced, the figures showing that approximately 41 per cent of the Town's males voted Tuesday against 42 per cent of the fair sex.

Local Republican interest centered about the contests for Lieutenant Governor, Treasurer, Auditor, Senator in Congress and Senator in the 6th Middlesex District. Mr. Goodwin, former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Massachusetts, opposing Lieutenant Governor Frank G. Allen for the Republican nomination for Governor, received only 263 votes. John C. Hull was the local choice for Lieutenant Governor and Benjamin Loring Young ran more than 2—1 ahead of Eben S. Draper for Senator in Congress. State Senator Charles C. Warren, running for re-election, was given a splendid endorsement by the Town, polling 1311 votes to 156 for Lewis H. Peters whose campaigners were very active locally. John W. Haigis and Roland H. Choate were the successful candidates for nomination as Treasurer and Auditor respectively.

Representative Thomas R. Bateman, running unopposed for the Republican nomination to succeed himself polled the highest vote cast in the election, receiving 1801 votes. Former Selectman Charles R. Main was second with 1755.

Four Democratic candidates appeared upon Republican ballots, Charles S. Murphy receiving a single vote for Lieutenant Governor, John Wilson, one for Secretary, David England, one for Treasurer, and Hon. David I. Walsh, one for Senator in Congress. Frederick A. Washburn received 298 sticker votes for the State Committee and William Parsons, one vote for the Republican Town Committee.

Little interest was shown by the local Democrats in their ticket. As usual Senator David I. Walsh had the highest number of votes cast, with 213 out out of a possible 236. General Charles H. Cole overwhelmed John J. Cummings 195 to 23, for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination while Malley ran well ahead of Murphy for Lieutenant Governor. Charles T. Daly of Medford, local new paper man, was shown the local preference over Charles A. Coughlin, in the race for Senator in the 6th Middlesex District, polling 169 votes to 25 for his opponent. Whitfield H. Tuck of Winchester, running against Thomas P. Galligan, Jr. for Democratic State Committee, was shown a preference by his fellow townsmen, receiving 96 votes to his opponents 83.

Twelve candidates appeared upon the ballot for the 10 places as delegates to the Democratic State Convention. Lowell Locke and Carmino Frongillo proved unsuccessful in a contest showing little preference. Frances G. Fitzgerald polled the largest vote, receiving 95. Whitfield L. Tuck led the candidates for the Democratic Town Committee with 123 votes. John M. Cullen received a single vote under this head, his name not appearing upon the ballot.

On the whole the election was rather quiet. A bit of a flurry occurred about 11 o'clock when one of the Republican Town Committee complained that campaigners for Lewis M. Peters of Medford were working within the limits prescribed by law about the polls. The workers, attractive young girls, were effectively appealed to by the law in the persons of Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Sergt. William H. Rogers of the Police Department who were made sure of their ground by Superintendent of Streets Parker Holbrook and a steel surveying tape.

Within the hall the officials had several brushes with individuals who wished to vote contrary to their registration declaration. One irate voter even when shown his signature, enrolled as a Republican, refused to be convinced and accepted his ballot provisionally.

It was a few minutes after 11 p. m. when the Town's vote was finally tabulated and announced by Selectman J. Harper Blaisdell. The total vote follows:

HARVARD GRADUATE IS LEFT BIG ESTATE

A recent transfer tax appraisal made in New York revealed that three sons of the late Mrs. Gertrude P. Edgar shared equally in her estate after specific bequests of more than $100,000 had been given to the youngest, David Forrester Edgar of Cambridge, a transfer tax appraisal revealed today. The other sons are Charles Tyson Edgar of New York and George Pomeroy Edgar of Burlington, Ia. The net value of the estate was $239,000.

David Forrester Edgar, who shares in the estate of his mother, Mrs. Gertrude P. Edgar, late of New York, was graduated from Harvard Law School last June. FOOTBALL SQUAD HARD AT IT

Much Work Necessary Before First Game Next Week

One of the biggest squads ever to report for football at Winchester High, 75 boys, has responded out at the first full week of work under Coach Wendell D. Mansfield in preparation for the opening game of the season next Saturday afternoon, Sept. 29, on Manchester Field with Stoneham High School.

Last season's great eleven, conceded to be the best in the Mystic Valley League, was hard hit by graduation and Coach Mansfield faces the problem of developing very nearly an entirely new machine this fall.

Only Captain Guazzo Amico, center; Peter Cosa, guard; and John McNeil, ends are available from last year's letter men. However, a number of several players are back who saw considerable service as replacements in 1927. Among them, "Ed" Lee and "Skinny" Kendrick were very nearly first string while Kerrigan, Hein, Shaw, Gibson, and Symmes were only a stride behind. Smith, Tompkins, Morton, Johnny Murphy, Newman Emery, Colpus, Bennett and Roy Horn are among the more promising of those on whom the Coach is depending to fill the gaps in this year's varsity lineup. Most of them were prominent members of the famous 1927 "Hobo Jobbies" who never failed to give a fine account of themselves in action.

The loss of "Henny" Knowlton and "Archa" Amico, two of the greatest football players ever developed at Winchester High, will be keenly felt, while "Barney" Murphy, "Ronie" Simmonds, "Bill" Lynch, Louis Rondina, "Ed" Franklin, "Ed" Ross and Ray Halwartz were tried veterans whose departure leaves many large vacancies in the local scheme of things.

This year's eleven should have a good line built around G. Amico, Cosa and McNeil. The first named ranks with Frank Melly as a center which is proof enough of his class. He was easily the best of the Mystic Valley League pivot men last year, is big, game and very strong.

The backfield presents Coach Mansfield's biggest problem which grew more intense when Angelo Ghirardini fleet halfback, decided this fall to enter Worcester Academy. Lee is a good back and Kendrick a capable quarterback. The other jobs are wide open.

Manager Alfred Colucci has announced the following schedule:

Sept.
29 Stoneham at Winchester.

Oct.
6 Reading at Reading.
12 (Friday) Arlington at Winchester*
20 Lexington at Lexington.
27 Wakefield at Wakefield*

Nov.

Increase of Life's Span

Since the Sixteenth century the average span of human life has been increased from 21 to 50 years, according to data presented by the Pennsylvania department of health. Better living conditions, more effective ways of combating and controlling disease and more extensive health education are the chief factors responsible for this lengthening of life.

WINCHESTER MOTORIST IN FATAL STONEHAM CRASH

Joseph A. Phelan Taken to Local Hospital—Somerville Man Killed

A motor car driven by Joseph A. Phelan of 4 Westland avenue, local automobile dealer, figured in a collision in Stoneham at 2 o'clock last Saturday morning, resulting in the death of Harry C. Puize, 26, of 91 Ten Hills road, Somerville, and injuries to Phelan which necessitated his removal to the Winchester Hospital where he has been since confined.

The accident occurred on a dangerous S curve on what it known as the Reading road; namely Main street at Steels corner. The cars were going in opposite directions and were both badly damaged, Puize's car being completely wrecked. The crash awakened those living near the scene of the accident and the Stoneham police were summoned. It was found that Puize had been instantly killed and Phelan badly injured. Miss Beatrice LeBlanc of 58 Glendale avenue, Allston, W. L. Gove of 5 Addie street Allston and Edgar S. Pike of 47 Leonard street, Waltham, all of whom were riding in Phelan's machine, were cut and bruised, but none so badly injured as to be taken to the hospital.

It was at first thought that Phelan had been fatally hurt but later reports from the hospital proved reassuring and he was believed to be out of danger on Tuesday. Puize, who was killed, had been a lodger in Somerville for the past year and a half. He was unmarried and a native of Brunswick, Me.

THREE INJURED IN TAIL-END COLLISION

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Coughlin of 61 Albion street, Somerville, and Joseph De S. Gaudencis Jr., of 69 Raymond avenue, Somerville, sustained minor injuries as the result of an automobile accident in which they figured and which took place on upper Main street near the salesrooms of the Anderson Motor Company shortly after 9 o'clock last Saturday evening.

Coughlin was driving a Chevrolet coach north on Main street and had stopped his car to allow another to pass the yard of the Gulf Gasoline Filling Station. As he did so his machine was struck by a Dodge sedan driven by Joseph Flores, a member of the U. S. Coast Guard, stationed at Minot. The latter was operating under a 30 day license issued to Gaudencis.

The impact caused Gaudencis to be pitched forward in the sedan, sustaining cuts about the head which necessitated the attention of a physician. Coughlin claimed that his neck had been injured and that his wife was badly shaken up. Both cars were damaged.

FOOD SHOP TO MOVE

The Food Shop, long an institution on Mt. Vernon street, the haven of summer batchelors and local business men and women, is to move.

Owing to the requirements of the Central Hardware Company, which will take the whole street floor of the building now occupied, the Food Shop will vacate its present quarters about Oct. 15.

The new location after the above date will be at 22 Church street, opposite the Winchester Trust Company. A complete new equipment is to be installed, including one of the latest and most modern restaurant stoves, and patrons are assured of even better service in the new location, if such is possible.

The specialty of home cooking, fresh, wholesome food and prompt service will be continued—with the usual delicious baked beans to take out every Saturday.

TWO PAINFULLY BURNED WHEN TORCH EXPLODED

Martin Titelah, 16, of 25 Railroad avenue and Charles O. Hunter were painfully burned when a gasoline torch which they were operating in the cellar of Hunter's home at 16 Winchester place exploded about 9:30 last Friday morning. The force of the explosion blew the glass from the cellar windows and filled the basement with smoke.

The Central Fire Station was notified of the trouble by Francis McKee of Main street and the firemen were soon on the scene. Aside from rendering first aid to Hunter and Titelah there was little to do. The latter was painfully burned about the face and neck and Hunter on the hand and face. They were attended by Dr. Milton J. Quinn.

Miss Jennie Johnson of Wilson street left Sunday for Reading, Pa., to visit relatives.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOTES

At a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce held Thursday evening, Sept. 13, many matters of importance to our town were discussed. Following are some of the more important items.

The matter of the condition of the sand and gravel pits on Holton street. It was voted to send a letter to the Planning Board and Board of Selectmen suggesting that the zoning law be changed to take in that district.

The underpass at the station. There is to be a great deal of feeling among the residents of the west portion of our town because of the disadvantage of going to the Post Office either by the overhead bridge or through the centre. There has been much talk in relation to an underpass at the railroad station to accommodate the east as well as the west portion of the town. We feel that the town authorities should make a move to have something done along this line.

The suggested removal of the cannon on the Town Hall grounds. There has been considerable discussion among people of Winchester as to the decorating of the Town Hall grounds with an instrument of war.

A proposition has been received from Messrs. Thompson and Henderson of High street stating their willingness to give the town the land needed to lay out a street, 70 feet wide, from the north end of Westland avenue up through the valley to Ridge street and on over to Maple street in Lexington. The great object to be gained by this is to induce people to construct a good grade of homes.

Voted: to ask the Eastern Massachusetts Railway to instruct their motormen to stop the cars at churches and schools where there is no post.

There is much work for the Chamber of Commerce to do in assisting the town departments where work is increasing very rapidly.

"Phil" Hight, representing the Winchester Boat Club, was among the winners in the first annual Drake Island Camp regatta of the Eastern division of the American Canoe Association at Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, last Saturday. The Winchester paddler won the junior double-blade singles after a hard fight with "Ed" Hahn of the Omicron Delta Canoe Club and finished third in the same event for senior competitors.

The O. E. S. Sewing Club spent a very enjoyable day on Thursday of last week at the home of the Worthy Matron Mrs. William Wood, on Highland avenue. A delicious luncheon followed by bridge made time pass too quickly. A large number attended. The next meeting will be held Sept. 27 at Mrs. Stidstone's, 24 Lawson road.

VETERANS' GROUP HELD FIRST FALL MEETING

The Disabled Veterans' Welfare Group met on Wednesday, the 12th, at the home of Mrs. Frank C. Sargent, 3 Grove street. Reports were given by the various ladies who have visited the hospital during the summer months carrying flowers, fruit, candy, smokes and reading matter, but even more than all these words of cheer and encouragement which the boys needed this summer more than ever before. Great changes were to be made, old friendships severed and an entirely new environment to be met, in all of which many adjustments had to be made, not always understood by the sick boys. This condition was caused by the removal of the veterans from West Roxbury to the new hospital in Bedford. And during this trying time the ladies of the group gave moral support and kindly advice which was so much needed.

An invitation to attend the exercises at the formal opening of the Bedford Hospital was read after which tea was served by a committee whose chairman was Mrs. S. W. H. Taylor. She was assisted by Mrs. I. E. Gamage, Mrs. W. E. Chamberlin, Mrs. J. R. Cove, Mrs. E. B. Haynes, Mrs. C. H. Symmes and Mrs. W. A. Kneeland.

On Saturday a delegation from the group attended the formal opening of the new hospital where they were met and made welcome in recognition of their unfailing interest in the boys and their willingness to co-operate with the heads of the various departments in the hospital in providing for the comfort and welfare of the disabled veterans. Those who attended the exercises in Bedford were Mrs. Charles E. Hoey, Mr. and Mrs. Rasmus K. Miller, Mrs. G. E. Dutting, Mrs. F. T. Barnes, Mrs. W. W. Winship, Mrs. R. E. Carlisle, Mrs. Philip Hammond, Mrs. C. H. Symmes, Mrs. Lillian W. Simon and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Dresser.

NEED OF COURTESY

(From the Boston Herald Mail Bag)

To the Editor of The Herald:

Many automobiles bear Hoover signs on their radiators or rear bumpers, and unless they are courteous to other drivers and pedestrians, they may create more ill-will for their champion than good.

If I'm any judge of human nature, Mr. Hoover is the last word in courtesy and as boosters of his cause we should give the other fellow every consideration and even lean over backward in our endeavour to abide by the golden rule.

Many store-keepers and manufacturers are doing themselves harm by the discourtesy of their truck drivers. A great national advertiser, striving to build good will, sends out a road hog driver at the wheel of a conveyance, bearing the trade name and could better leave off the truck all reference to the product, rather than have him claim the middle of the road to the detriment of the other fellow.

The same principle applies to those bearing Hoover signs and emblems.

THE CHINESE TIGERS

Lore and Superstitions of Orient Told by Rev. Hallock

C. P. O. Box No. 1234
Shanghai, China
Aug. 15, 1928

To the Editor of the Star:

Enclosed I send you a tiger. Chinese speak of four tigers—the yellow and black tiger, the black tiger, the white tiger and the money tiger. The latter is made of cash, the black tiger is the breed of the seed-of-wealth. The white tiger is a sign of bad luck so is never seen in pictures. From childhood the Chinese fear the tiger. He is made a bugaboo to frighten children. If naughty they are told the "Lao-hu" (tiger) will catch them. So "tiger" is an ever present fear to little "Chinks," not only, but it remains to old age, rather as an evil spirit than as a tiger. As one goes along the roads he sees paper tigers pasted over the door, that the evil spirits, seeing the tiger, will flee away to a tigerless house. Chinese have great faith in tiger bones, claws and sinews as medicine. Since the tiger is so strong, medicine made of him must make one strong. Traveling medicine men with tiger skins stretched on poles as sign-boards rarely wait long for purchasers of their wares.

On the tiger sent rides Chang Tao-ling, the first Taoist Pope in China. He is said to have been born on Tien Moh San (Heavenly-eye Mountain) in A. D. 35. I have been on this mountain when out itinerating and slept in one of the temples. Chang was asked to be an official; but he chose to meditate in silence and cultivate virtue. He went to dwell in China's Western Hills where he was shown, by a book given him from above, how to find the elixir of life and from other ancient books how to ascend to heaven, how to fly, and how to walk among the stars. With such and other magic powers he could fight demons, divide mountains and seas, rule the winds and thunder and send demons running with fright or bring spirits cowering before him. Being the head of the Taoists and being in possession of the elixir of life and of talismans for the cure of all diseases, not only is he highly respected, but he has enabled the Taoist priests to gain great wealth by the sale of such things to the people and they themselves to be sought out as great healers.

Charms with Chang Tao-ling's seal are purchased by rich and poor for goodly sums and are pasted up in the homes or are carried about on their persons. You can see these charms and seals above Chang's head. You will see, too, that he is dressed in fine figured garments. In his right hand is his gavel of authority and in his left hand he has a cup of the elixir of everlasting life. The tiger on which he rides is crushing with its paws the five poisonous creatures that represent all creatures that injure the health. If you look carefully you can make out a snake, toad, centipede, lizard and a spider. The little tiger behind has in its mouth Chang's own magic sword. Chang is pasted up in the home on the "Double 5th"—5th of 5th Moon—June 22 this year. He's supposed to repress the poisonous creatures so as to ward off calamity and sickness, especially during the hot, trying months of summer. On the double fifth the children are dressed in cheap, tiger-like suits of clothes, also to keep off disease-causing evil spirits who wish to harm children but are afraid of tigers. The children are also decorated with charms around their necks and arms and have tiger stripes of yellow paint on their faces.

Chang Tao-ling is also called the "Heavenly Teacher," "Change the Angel," "Chief of the Wizards," "The Ideal Man," etc. I suppose 50 millions of him, such as I enclose, are pasted up and worshipped each year. The headquarters of his descendants and of the Taoists has been on the Dragon-tiger Mountain in Kiangsi Province since A. D. 1100. Friends place come millions of charms, talismans, etc., to be sold to credulous people all over China. So you see how deeply steeped in superstition the Chinese are and how much they need the precious gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. With best wishes and kindest regards.

Yours in Christ's eglad service,
(Rev.) H. G. C. Hallock

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Mysterious Lady," with the languorous lady of the North, Miss Greta Garbo as the star, heads the bill the Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. Conrad Nagle plays opposite the star and will surprise even his admirers with his excellent work. The picture is handsomely mounted with a story that holds the attention to which must be added Miss Garbo's distinctive personality. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville with the Gail Boan Revue as the headline attraction will also be offered the last three days of this week.

Pola Negri's new picture "The Loves of an Actress," comes to the Granada next Monday for a three days run. The star plays the celebrated personality of the Comedie Francaise—the woman known as Racheal. It shows how she rises, a beggar child from the streets, to conquer Paris with her art and beauty. It has plenty of dash and swing to its action and Miss Negri is a colorful figure all through. Nils Aster is the star's leading man.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Tempest," the John Barrymore screen masterpiece, will bring America's most distinguished actor to the University Theatre on Sunday for a full week in a romance of Russia's revolution. Camilla Horn and Louis Wolheim appear in chief support of the star. The New York World thought "Tempest" the "finest, most genuine motion picture John Barrymore ever made." Camilla Horn, the German actress who was brought to America, appears as the Princess Tamara, beloved by Barrymore, a peasant officer.

On the same program is Glenn Tryon in the delightful comedy, "How to Handle Women."

Remember "Tempest" with John Barrymore for a full week beginning Sunday.

BILLINGS—DOOLITTLE

Miss Virginia E. Doolittle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Doolittle of 41 Hawthorne avenue, Hamden, Conn., was married Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her parents, to Mr. Clarke Preble Billings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Billings of 4 Manchester road. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. E. Mathias of the Whitneyville Congregational Church. The music was furnished by Miss Grindle, harpist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a simple period gown of white satin and lace. In her hair she wore a wreath of white orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and swansonia.

As her only attendant the bride had Miss Sylvia Jane Owen of New Haven, who wore a frock of green georgette, and carried pale pink asters. Mr. Thomas Goddard Bergin of New Haven was best man. Mr. J. Harrel Shipp of Kingsport, Tenn., and Mr. Grady Garner of Montevallo, Ala., acted as ushers.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The subscription dance to be run Saturday evening, Sept. 22, definitely promises to be one of the largest and most successful club functions that has ever taken place. A number of the tickets have already been sold and many of the members who have not already bought tickets, are planning on attending. While the regatta and entertainment committees have practically completed all arrangements, they are still hard at work and all of those attending, may be sure of a very good time indeed.

It has been previously explained that the proceeds derived from this dance are to be used for paying for a new four-man racing canoe, which has been ordered and which will fulfil a much needed want next season. The boat was ordered from a Toronto firm, and was to be delivered last August, at Sugar Island, for use in the National Canoe Meet. A boat was delivered there and used in the races to good advantage. It was found to be defective, however, after a careful test, and for this reason was returned to the builder with instruction to either remedy or deliver a new boat in its stead.

A new boat has accordingly been built and is already shipped. It is to be regretted that a delivery could not be made before the racing season ended, but a boat will keep, and there are other years ahead.

Quite a few of the club's backers have very kindly sent in subscriptions and their donations are much appreciated. The crew men themselves, will do all in their power next year to justify this kindly backing and if races are not won, it will not be due to lack of effort on their part.

Members and their friends are asked to reserve Saturday evening and to attend the dance. In this way they will support their club and incidently have a well worth while time.

The club's paddlers rounded out the canoe racing season by attending the 42nd Annual Dedham Island Canoeing Regatta, at Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, on the week-end of Sept. 15. This regatta was held under the direction of the Eastern Division of the American Canoe Association, and the entries were made up of the majority of the New England canoe clubs.

Philip Hight was Winchester's outstanding paddler, winning the singles, double-blade, junior class race, by a little over a length. There were 12 entries in this race and though the competition was considered to be very good, Hight seemed to win without once being called upon to increase his stroke.

Not satisfied with this, he later entered the same event, of the senior class. In this he placed third, being beaten by but a narrow margin. His showing throughout the season has been distinctly encouraging, and he has done much to bolster up the club's cause.

Kenneth Pratt raced in the single singles, finishing fifth in a large field of contestants. He paddled a good race and missed getting into the "money," by but a narorw margin.

Two double-blade tandems were entered. The Sandberg-Hovey combination placed second, while Hight and Palmer finished fourth. No club four crew was entered from Winchester, as unfortunately the new boat was not ready in time for use.

AN OLD TIMER

We have listed for sale one of the oldest houses in Winchester. It is of pleasing Colonial design and while it has been modernized to the extent of electric lights and modern plumbing and heating, it still retains the charm of an old house. There are nine rooms, two of which are on the third floor. Situated on a 10,000 sq. ft. lot within five minutes walk of stores, schools, and trains. Most appealing at $9500.

BRAND NEW HOUSE

On East Side hill, attractive surroundings. It contains on the 1st floor a large living room with fireplace, spacious sun porch, dining room, kitchen and lavatory. 2nd floor has four corner chambers and tiled bath. WINCHESTER RED CROSS QUOTA $1500

Only one third of the $1500 which Winchester has been called upon to raise as its share of the contribution the country is making to the Red Cross for use in helping the hurricane victims in Florida has been given. Many smaller towns have given far more generously.

Mrs. Joseph Ryan, president of the Winchester Chapter, asks people not to hold back merely because their contributions must necessarily be small. "Of course we want all the $100 checks we can get," says Mrs. Ryan, "but there will be rejoicing at headquarters when checks for $5 and $10 and even $1 come in. The need for money is so great, there is so much suffering in the stricken area that every penny counts at this time. We are confident that when Winchester people who have not yet contributed know conditions they will need no more than this reminder."

RED CROSS NOTES

Members of the local Red Cross chapter met Tuesday to fill and seal 26 bags containing gifts for wounded soldiers. These bags which contain such things as shaving brushes, soap, knives, and different toilet articles, will be given to the soldiers at Christmas time.

Mrs. Harper Blaisdell has been made chairman of the production committee of the Winchester Red Cross. It is under the direction of this committee that all such work as the knitting of sweaters, stockings, and the like, is handled. Those wishing to learn how they can help this committee may communicate direct with Mrs. Blaisdell.

Among those who attended the regional conference of the Red Cross at Wellesley College last Monday were President Mrs. Joseph Ryan and Publicity Chairman Mrs. Thomas Dreier of the local chapter. The purpose of the conference was to furnish suggestions to those present which would enable them to make their own chapters more effective in rendering service.

COFFEE SHOP OPENS

Mrs. Joseph Fessenden will open her community dining room and coffee shop next week in "the house by the side of the road" at 47 Church street. RECOVER TWO STOLEN CARS IN WINCHESTER

Four Alleged Thieves Rounded Up By Police After Chase

Two stolen automobiles and four alleged automobile thieves, were rounded up Tuesday afternoon by the police as the result of a fishing expedition which Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell and Officer John Ronch of the Arlington Police Department had been enjoying on their respective days off and from which they were on their way home.

As the two policemen were driving their own machine along High street near the third hole of the Country Club golf course they came upon six young men and two motor cars at the side of the road. The young men were gathered about one of the machines, a Marmon sedan, and were engaged in an attempt to remove its radiator.

Officers O'Connell and Roach became suspicious and stopping their machine wanted to know what was all about. As they started to question the young men the latter took to their heels, scattering in all directions.

One young man was in the car and him, Officer Roach secured after a struggle. Officer O'Connell gave chase to the others but they had a good start and succeeded in eluding him in the densely wooded section near the road.

With their prisoner the two policemen went to a house on Westland avenue where Officer O'Connell informed Officer John Regan at Headquarters of the incident. The latter at once dispatched Officers John Hogan and James Donaghey in the Police Buick to the scene of the auto stripping while as soon as Officers O'Connell and Roach had lodged their prisoner at the Station House they returned with Sergt. William H. Rogers in the Police Ford.

Meanwhile headquarters was notified that three young men had been seen in the vicinity of Oneida road and thither Traffic Officer John Noonan was sent, riding in the Edison Light lamp car driven by James McFarlane of Woburn.

Arriving at Oneida road, Officer Noonan came upon the men he was after, and covering them with his gun, succeeded in getting them safely to the Station. There they gave their names as William J. Clark of 23 Elm street, Joseph G. Manning of 23 Pond street and James Cooney of 1 Bartlett street, all of Charlestown. The young man arrested by Roach and O'Connell gave his name as Stanley Rollinson of 19 School street, Charlestown.

The Marmon sedan was found to be the property of Mrs. Rose V. Mack of 199 St. Paul street, Brookline and the other machine, a Reo coupe, was owned by Claude D. Temple of 111 Bowker street, Lynn. According to the police one of the young men is said to have admitted that the Marmon had been stolen in Boston and the Reo in Somerville.

After a check-up Rollinson who was said to have stolen the coupe was turned over to the Somerville Police while Manning, Cooney and Clark were given into the custody of the Boston Police of Division 16.

RAILROAD TIME CHANGES SUNDAY

Coincident with the ending of daylight saving, the trains on the steam road will be rescheduled for the fall and winter, and commuters will be wise to note these changes, summarized in general as follows:

Inward trains. Inward trains to Boston will remain substantially as they now are except for an earlier arrival in the city, many reaching Boston one or two minutes earlier than at present. Wedgemere has an additional train in the 6:56 a. m., and the train now leaving Winchester at 3:56 p. m. will depart at 3:46.

Outward trains. But two important changes have been made in the outward trains. The 9:45 a. m. is discontinued and a new train leaving Boston at 11 is substituted.

Sunday trains. The outward Sunday trains have been greatly affected. Four of the present trains have been discontinued and two new trains added. The last train from Boston leaves at 11 p. m. The inward trains are substantially as at present except for three changes. The last train for Winchester will leave at 10:13 p. m. instead of 10:13.

Convenient pocket size timetables may be had of the following Winchester business firms:

Charles A. Adams, Taxi.
Franklin E. Barnes & Co., Dry Goods.
Ernest H. Butterworth, Jeweler.
Edward T. Harrington Co., Real Estate.
Moffette & McMullen, Taxi.

THE TONY SARG MARIONETTES

The Tony Sarg Marionettes are to be at Tremont Temple during the second week of October. The two performances on Oct. 10, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and Wednesday evening at 8:15, will be for the benefit of Morgan Memorial. The afternoon entertainment will be "A Spanish Fiesta" and the evening will be Washington Irving's "Adventures of Christopher Columbus."

The prices of the tickets will be 50c, 75c and $1 and if purchased from persons connected with the Morgan Memorial, will benefit Morgan Memorial to a larger degree financially, than if purchased at the box office. Tickets may be procured at Mrs. Fowler's of the Little Shop and at the Star Office.

The afternoon performance is to be given at 4 o'clock, so that school children may enjoy the entertainment.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Winchester Rotarians were the guests of the Medford Rotary Club last Thursday at an inter-club meet embracing the Rotary Clubs of Arlington, Winchester, Woburn and Reading.

Our Medford friends proved ideal hosts. It fell to their lot to entertain at luncheon some 200 men. The arrangements for this task were carefully planned and exceptionally well executed. The seating plan was such that one Medford man was in close touch with five or six visitors, and each visitor was given an opportunity to meet Rotarians from the other Clubs represented. The result was a gathering of maximum efficiency from a social standpoint.

The speaker was Dr. D. Brewer Eddy, the well-known traveler and lecturer on foreign affairs.

It is always a pleasure to listen to Doctor Eddy. His knowledge of foreign nations and international problems is profound and he is a most convincing speaker. He put great emphasis on the idea that the United States is in a splendid position to promote friendliness between the peoples of the world. We believe that Rotary International is doing much along this line.

We are very grateful to our Medford friends for providing us with so thoroughly enjoyable a noon hour.

The ticket committee is pleased to report real progress in the matter of distributing seats for the U. S. Marine Band concert, which is to be given for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital and is scheduled to take place Thursday, Oct. 11. The advance sale of tickets has been highly gratifying. There are a plenty of good seats to be had but we wish to say to those who have a choice of location that their reservations must be made at once. There are many who wish to hear this concert and unfortunately the seating capacity of our Town Hall is not extensive. Whoever secures a seat will have no difficulty in hearing the music wherever he may be placed, but naturally it will be difficult to please all who have set their hearts on some particular vantage point. We are doing our best to please the most critical and so far have succeeded measureably well. But we must repeat that much confusion and disappointment will be avoided if orders for tickets are placed at the earliest time possible. Reservations for reservations may be left at Knights Pharmacy or with any Rotarian and will be given our best attention.

Do not forget that there will be an afternoon concert to which school children only will be admitted at the nominal price of 25c. Superintendent Quinn will provide competent attendants to care for the young people and they will undoubtedly take the keenest pleasure in seeing and hearing the Marine Band.

Winchester Rotarians will be at home Thursday, Oct. 4. Let all be present and get final reports on the event of Oct. 11.

IMPORTANT MUSICAL EVENT

The United States Marine Band which makes its appearance in the Winchester Town Hall on Oct. 11 is sponsored by the Winchester Rotary Club for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital.

This band has a background rich in history, tradition, and sentiment, and is closely identified with the national life. Its inception really dates back to a transition from the original fife and drum corps which, in 1775, had on its drums the motto, "Don't Tread On Me." This motto appears on the drums of the present United States Marine Band, brought forward from that day.

The music of the United States Marine Band has been a feature of life in Washington ever since the national capital was moved to that city in 1800. It was first heard there in an open air concert in August, of that year at the tented camp of the Marines on a hill overlooking the Potomac, and on Jan. 1 following, it was heard at the first of a long series of White House receptions. It has been heard at inaugurations of all the Presidents, it has welcomed kings, queens, princes, statesmen, and other distinguished visitors from other lands; it has marked the time for every great parade that has moved down historic Pennsylvania avenue; its crescendos have voiced the Nation's rejoicing, and its muted strains have spoken the Nation's grief.

There is probably no organization that has exercised a more potent Americanizing influence than the United States Marine Band. With such a proud history it is no wonder that this band has always occupied such a warm position in the affections of not only the many Presidents, their families and official Washington, but in the hearts of all Americans.

Tickets may be purchased from any Winchester Rotarian or at Knight's Drug Store, corner Main and Church streets, Winchester. Prices $2.50, $2 and $1.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The first meeting of the League of Women Voters will be held at the home of Mrs. G. G. Brayley, 84 Cambridge street on Wednesday, Nov. 21, instead of Oct. 17, as previously announced.

The Fire Department was called by an alarm from Box 38 shortly after 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to put out a fire in the house at 17 Spruce street occupied by Patsy Tofuri. It is said that children playing with matches in one of the bedrooms set fire to a mattress. The mattress was seized by Call Fireman E. P. Sullivan and thrown from a window, preventing a possible bad fire.

LITCHFIELD—GODDU

The wedding of Miss Audrey Elois Goddu, daugnter of Mr. and Mrs. George Goddu of 16 Chestnut street, and Alvin Macaulay Litchfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Litchfield of 555 High street, West Medford, took place last evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Unitarian Church with the pastor, Rev. George Hale Reed officiating.

While the church was filling for the ceremony Mr. J. Albert Wilson, organist and choir director at the Methodist Episcopal Church, played a brilliant program of organ music which included the Grand March from "Aida" by Verdi, Huerter's "Melodie," Lemare's "Capriecio," "Pastorale" by J. A. Wilson, "Gavotte" by Handel, Kinder's "Caprice" and Wagner's March from "Tannhauser."

As the bridal party entered the church Mr. Wilson played the Wedding March from "Lohengrin" and for the recessional, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

The bride's honor attendants were her sister, Miss Hazel W. Goddu and Miss Marion H. Dow, both of Winchester. Miss Anna Frances Litchfield of West Medford, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Aleda Goddu of Winchester, cousin of the bride; Miss Eleanor Litchfield of Auburn, Me., cousin of the bridegroom; Miss Elizabeth Hurd of Melrose, Miss Dorothy Bosworth of Bridgeport, Conn., Miss Muriel McLauthlin of Brookline, Mrs. Lewis A. Maker of Taunton and Mrs. Richard A. Tutein of Winchester were bridesmaids.

Mr. Litchfield had for his best man Elisha George Pierce, Jr., of West Medford and the ushers were Walter S. Litchfield of West Medford, brother of the bridegroom; Louis E. Goddu of Winchester, cousin of the bride; Robert W. McArthur of Brockton, Edward Joy of Providence, R. I., Gordon Ellis of West Medford, Richard A. Tutein of Winchester, Lewis A. Maker of Taunton and Herman J. Fisher of Brookline.

The bride wore a wedding gown of ivory satin embroidered in pearls and having long tight sleeves. Her veil was of Venetian point lace and tulle and her bouquet, of white roses with valley lilies and orchids.

The gowns of the honor attendants were of tulle and taffeta shading from dark to light green. With them Miss Goddu and Miss Dow wore small silver evening hats and green and silver shoes. Their bouquets were of bright pink roses. The bridesmaids wore frocks of tulle and taffeta with long ruffled skirts, shading from mauve to pink. Their evening hats and shoes were of silver and they carried bouquets of butterfly roses.

The wedding reception was held, following the ceremony, at the home of the bride's parents which was decorated with palms, evergreens and pink roses. In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. George Goddu, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Litchfield, Miss Hazel Goddu and Miss Marion Dow. The wedding journey is to be a three weeks' Canadian motor tour.

The bride is a graduate of the Winchester High School, Lasell Seminary and of the Katherine Gibbs School. She is a member of the Sigma Beta Sorority. Mr. Litchfield was graduated from Medford High School, Dean Academy & Nichols School and from Boston University where he was a member of the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity. He is a member of Scabbard & Blade Military Fraternity and of Boston University Lodge of Masons.

Mr. and Mrs. Litchfield are to make their home after Nov. 1 at 20 Pitcher avenue, West Medford.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS TOMORROW

Winchester gets its first peek at interscholastic football tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when Coach Wendell D. Mansfield's high school eleven will oppose Stoneham High on Manchester field. The locals have been opening their grid season with Stoneham for several years past and the game has never failed to be an interesting one.

Stoneham faired rather poorly against the veteran Winchester team of a year ago and is out to even scores tomorrow. The visitors were defeated rather soundly at Malden last Saturday while Winchester was idle. The locals are far from the team they were at this time in 1927 with only three letter men in the starting lineup tomorrow.

The game looms as a tossup, though Stoneham's licking at Malden last Saturday is rather apt to have a bad effect on the visitors' chances.

Mrs. Edward C. Grapiott (Mae Marjorie Burwell) and daughter, Antionette of Portland, Oregon are visiting at the home of Mrs. Grapiott's parents Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Burwell of 14 Madison avenue west.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN ARRESTED AFTER ACCIDENT

Local Police Headquarters was notified at 7:30 Monday evening by John P. Davy of 698 Main street that his Ford touring car, while parked in front of his home, had been struck by a Ford sedan, going south on Main street and containing only the driver. Davy's machine was driven up over the curbing and across the sidewalk into a fence by the force of the collision.

The driver of the second Ford, according to the story told the police, turned the car and after striking a post across Main street, drove away to the north. Davy succeeded in getting the number of the machine and an investigation at Headquarters disclosed the fact that it was the propery of Maynard F. McElhiney, 23, of 5 Upland road.

Patrolmen Henry P. Dempsey, Robert White and John Hogan were sent to McElhiney's home where according to the police the young man admitted having driven the car which struck Davy's touring car. He had sustained a cut on the chest and there was blood on one of his hands.

McElhiney was arrested and appeared in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning when he was charged with drunkenness, with driving while under the influence of liquor and with leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known after doing property damage. His case was continued until Oct. 4.

POLICE INTERRUPTED CARD GAME

Patrolmen James E. Farrell and Robert White of the Police Department interrupted a card game which was in progress Sunday morning at 2:15 in the home of Frank H. Frotten of 19 Salem street. Upon gaining entrance to the house the police state they found a small still in operation and with it a quantity of mash was siezed and taken to Headquarters. Four men were present in the Frotten home when the police entered and three of them were arrested, one making good his escape.

Besides Frotten, those taken into custody were Owen Malloy of Woburn and Joseph Delorey of Winchester. They appeared at Woburn Monday morning where they were charged with drunkenness and being present where gaming implements were found on the Lord's Day. An additional charge of illegally manufacturing liquor was lodged against Frotten. All were found guilty and the last named was sentenced on the manufacturing charge to serve six months in the House of Correction with sentence suspended. The cases against Malloy and Delorey were filed.

Rev. Elbridge B. Stoneham is to be ordained and installed as pastor of the First Congregational Church in Stoneham on the evening of Oct. 8. Mr. Stoneham has been serving as provisional pastor of the church during the past year while completing his theological studies. He is known to many in Winchester as the husband of the former Rachael Metcalf, daughter of the late Joel Metcalf, at one time pastor of the Winchester Unitarian Church.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB RALLY

A Republican rally, given by the Women's Republican Club of Winchester, will be held in the Town Hall, Tuesday, Oct. 16 at 8 p. m.

Following the speakers of the evening whose names will be announced later, there will be shown a film entitled, "The Master of Emergencies." A ten-mile official moving picture story of the Republican nominee's life. The film which was arranged by Will Irwin, biographer of Mr. Hoover, comprises actual scenes in Mr. Hoover's life, largely taken during the last 11 years of his energetic career.

There are graphic scenes of war-ravaged Belgium, thousands of under-nourished children waiting in bread lines, pictures of Austrian peasants digging up roots for foods. Remote districts of Siberia and the wild Atlas Mountains, peasants dragging Hoover food carts along frozen rivers, refugees fleeing the horrors of fire, starvation and pestilence—Hoover restaurants dispensing food and health.

Also remarkable pictures of the Mississippi flood. These all contribute to show the tremendous work accomplished by Mr. Hoover when it is estimated that he saved at least 10 million lives.

Everybody of voting age is most cordially invited by the Women's Republican Club to attend this meeting.

THREE FIRES MONDAY AFTERNOON

The Fire Department was called upon to put out three fires during the afternoon and evening of Monday, commencing at 1:15 when Michael Nelson of Cross street came to the Central Station to report that his Dodge truck was afire on Winchester place. The permanent men at the station quickly extinguished the blaze with chemicals. Crossed wires were responsible for the fire.

At 9:44 a telephone call was received stating that a locomotive was in trouble on the tracks near Rangeley between Wedgemere and Winchester Station. The Chief's car responded and found that the engine had blown a cylinder and lost its water, making necessary the extinguishing of the fire under the boiler. Forty-five gallons of chemical were necessary to put out the blaze.

The last run of the evening came at 11:15 to put out a fire which had started in a pile of barrels in a field at the corner of Ridge street and Hutchinson road.

November Election Marks 22 Years' Service at Polls

Robert H. Sullivan completes this coming November his 22nd year of service to the Town as an election officer, he being the dean of the staff serving at the polls and when he hands out the ballots for the coming Presidential election he will have rounded out a long and worthy term of service.

It was in November, 1906, that Dr. J. H. McCarthy, then chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, asked Mr. Sullivan to serve as election officer. The polls were open and the voting had started when it was found that the Democratic Party lacked one officer of its lawful quota. Mr. Sullivan was at work at his barber shop on Railroad avenue—where he is located and doing business today.

While not enthusiastic over the job, "Bob" was always ready to help his party out as he was his friends, and laying aside his razor and scissors, hied himself to the Town Hall, was sworn in, and "faithfully and impartially" performed his duties.

From that time until the present he has served at every National, State and Town election, worked at all primaries and served as checker at Town Meetings. He was familiar with all of the old time orators of the days gone by. He heard the impassioned speeches of the late Nathaniel Richardson, when he moved his fellow citizens to build a new sidewalk or pave a flowing gutter; he heard the late Patrick Holland advocate more water for our Winchester reservoirs, and the late P. T. Swan when he sturdily and vigorously fought for some pet project.

"Bob" took the position of ballot clerk at the time of the death of the late Edwin Robinson, then the dean of the election staff. He has handed ballots to many men of note in the community, including the late Governor Samuel W. McCall, Thomas Lawson, Samuel J. Elder and others. He served as election officer with Henry Johnson, long a prominent figure in town affairs, John H. Carter, Patrick H. Reardon, John T. Cosgrove and many others.

He distributed the ballots for many years, and only when the increase of voters due to women suffrage necessitated dividing the responsibilities of the ballot clerk, did he lose this distinction. Since that time he has handed all ballots to those of our citizens whose family names begin with the letters from A to K.

When it became necessary to check the voters at our town meetings, "Bob" was selected for the job. He knew every voter in town, and on the first night, when the 25 or 30 men arrived who had been in the habit of dropping into town meeting just after it had started, on the assumption that no one knew they were not citizens, they were treated to the surprise of their lives by being politely but firmly requested to sit in the gallery. For several years "Bob" checked the voters alone, but under present conditions he has several assistants with him.

In addition to his election duties he has served at many special meetings where voting has been required on contested matters, and his knowledge of Winchester citizens has made him a valuable officer in holding the vote strictly to those qualified.

He has seen many exciting sessions, including the big overflow meeting a few years ago when over 200 citizens were refused admission due to the filling the hall. None of the present staff of election officers approach "Bob" in time of service, and he is a familiar figure to all who visit the polls.

The Star adds its congratulations to the many others who will greet "Bob" when they appear to cast their ballot for the Nation's executive.

CANOE TRIP CAME A CROPPER

Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey of the Police Department picked up three Somerville boys who at 2 o'clock last Saturday morning were attempting to get a canoe over the dam in the center from the Aberjona River to the Mill Pond. They had picked up the canoe somewhere below the center and were equipped with a life preserver which they had acquired at the expense of the Metropolitan District Commission. At Headquarters the boys gave their names as Paul and Charles Withington of 52 Flint street and Neil Kelley of 75 Rush street. Their ages ranged from 10 to 13 years and they explained that they had run away from home to take a canoe trip. After some fatherly advice the authorities turned them over to their parents who may have continued the advice still further.

SENTENCED FOR ASSAULT ON GIRL

In response to a telephone call received at police headquarters between 3 and 4 o'clock last Sunday afternoon Patrolman James P. Donaghey made a hurried trip to East street where he took into custody a man who gave his name as Antonio F. Iguerra and his address as 10 East street.

Iguerra was locked up at headquarters charged with assault upon a four-year-old girl whose home is in his neighborhood and who is said to have positively identified her assailant.

In court Monday morning Iguerra was found guilty of assault and battery and was sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction with the understanding that at the expiration of his term he is to leave the country.

CASE AGAINST ALLEGED DRUNKEN DRIVER CONTINUED

Patrolman James P. Donaghey of the Police Department arrested Lawrence McNelly of Wilmington, formerly of Holton, Me., whom he stopped while driving an automobile through the center at 1:45 last Sunday afternoon. Officer Donaghey became suspicious of the man when he drove past several cars and the traffic beacon in the square. McNelly was charged with drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. There was an additional charge of driving without a license. He appeared in court Monday morning at which time his case was continued until next Tuesday.

The courage to say you don't know is probably the real beginning of finding out some facts. The fear of most of us that we will appear ignorant is one of the causes of our remaining ignorant.—Exchange.

Her plight was discovered by Officer James F. Noonan of the Water Department who took her to the Winchester Hospital in the police car. She was attended by Dr. Robert L. Emery.

A TOUR OF 70,000 MILES

Robert Clark, first trombone soloist of the United States Marine Band, was a member of the Kilties Band of Belleville, Oct., when it made its famous tour of the world. 70,000 miles of water and land were traversed, 100 days spent at sea, and the transportation costs alone were $60,000 for this tour which lasted two years and three months. One thousand concerts were given in 20 different countries to most enthusiastic audiences of all nationalities. The United States Marine Band will give two concerts here on Oct. 11, when we will have the opportunity of hearing this noted musician.

The long postponed Mystic Valley trophy one-half mile paddling race at Winchester Boat Club is now scheduled for this Saturday afternoon, Sept. 29 at 3 p. m. It is hoped that the lateness of the season has not dimmed the ardor of the paddlers.

WHO'S WHO IN WINCHESTER

The new 1928-29 edition of "Who's Who in America" lists the following residents of Winchester:

Harold K. Barrows	Edward C. Mason
Thomas Dreier	William Orr
Ralph T. Hale	Lewis Parkhurst
James F. Jackson	Elmer J. Rich
Scudder Klyce	A. G. Robbins
R. W. E. Leach	Bowen Tufts
John L. Lobingier	Herbert S. Underwood
Charles T. Main	Chas. E. L. Winzate

This well known reference book states its purpose to be to list the "best known," although not necessarily the best, "men and women of the country in all lines of useful and reputable achievments." This new volume gives short biographies of over 28,000 Americans—practically one person out of 4000 inhabitants. Winchester, according to that usual average, would have three persons in "Who's Who." We actually have 16—over five times our share. That is another indication of the attractiveness of Winchester.

UNITED STATES MARINE BAND PROGRAM APPEALS TO ALL

The program of the United States Marine Band which will appear here on Oct. 11 is made up of a variety of selections. Each selection is chosen on its attraction and appeal to a certain group of musical tastes. There are numbers for the musical intelligensia such as Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 14, and Wagner's Overtures from "Tannhauser." There are selections from the day's favorites, blue melodies, "Valencia" and the like, while old-fashioned familiar folk song melodies are not forgotten. A real musical treat is in store for the entire community when this great musical organization plays here, one that the entire town should participate in.

HOLD RANK AT NORWICH

With the reopening this month of Norwich University for its 110th year, two Winchester boys, Clarence J. O'Donnell and Joseph J. Tansey, hold rank in the corps of cadets, according to information received here from the military college in Northfield, Vt. O'Donnell, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Donnell of 48 Swanton street, is a second lieutenant while Tansey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tansey of 81 Nelson street, is a sergeant. The former, a senior, is captain of this year's varsity football team and last winter captained the cadet basketball five. He also is an outfielder on the baseball team. Tansey, a junior, plays guard on the football eleven and pitches for the varsity nine.

TENNIS TOURNEY TO BE HELD OCT. 13

A tennis tournament is being planned for Saturday, Oct. 13, on the town tennis courts at Palmer street. Play is to be limited to boys' doubles and restricted to those who will not be 18 before Jan. 1, 1929. Entries are being received by Henry Bown of Rangeley, phone Win. 0138-W. Play will start promptly at 9 o'clock and those in charge of the tourney advise all who plan to participate to bring sunshades to the courts.

No Silent Wish

APPOINTED ASSISTANT DEAN AT HARVARD

The appointment of Langley Carleton Keyes of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Keyes of 32 Church street, to be assistant dean of Harvard in charge of the junior and senior classes is of much interest.

Mr. Keyes was graduated from Harvard in 1924 and since that time has been engaged in the advertising business with the Boston firm of Wood, Putnam & Wood. He was an honor student at college and also at Andover where he was a member of the track and hockey teams and from which he was graduated in 1920.

While at Harvard, Mr. Keyes was active in athletics, was captain of the freshman soccer team and a member of the varsity track team. In addition to his duties as Dean he is to be a member of the Harvard faculty as instructor in the English Department.

THE BOERS PREPARE TO TREK ONCE MORE

Another trek is on in Africa.

The Boers are ready to march again; 1800 men, women and children, are getting under way with 340 wagons, and 1500 oxen and other domestic cattle.

This time the Boers trek south. Usually they have moved north and west; from Cape Town north to Transvaal, from Transvaal to Rhodesia, from Rhodesia to Angola. But new their covered wagons will creak behind the slow-moving oxen plodding south from Angola.

Will Drive Wagons 1500 Miles

Boer families have packed their goods and are ready to travel from 800 to 1500 miles to new homes in South West Africa. In this territory, which has been taken over from Germany by the Union of South Africa as a mandate, 1600 acres has been set aside for each Boer family that will trek from the Portuguese colony.

The regal generosity of the government's gift of land is tempered by the geography of South West Africa, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Where it takes a good many acres to keep one cow in grass, as it does in arid South West Africa, 1600 acres is not such a large farm. The acreage offered to the Boers, who are a colony that fled into Angola after the Boer War, is in the vicinity of the villages of Grootfontein, Gibeon and Gobabis, all of which lie in the uplands. Their coming will by no means crowd the protectorate in which live only 24,000 white people, scattered over an area one-third the size of the United States east of the Mississippi.

Land of Light Rainfall

Like Eastern United States, South West Africa has a coastal plain between ocean shore and highlands. Unlike the eastern plain in the United States, Africa's plain is a sandy desert, wind-blown, dune furrowed, 860 miles long. However, sufficient rain falls in the uplands to permit grazing. Yet there is not a forest in the whole 300,000 square miles.

About 250,000 natives live in South West Africa. Of this number the Hottentots only have a reputation that goes far beyond the borders. White men listened to them talk. Their click language rattled along like conversation in any zoo monkey cage and the first explorers said it sounded something like hot-ten-tot. So Hottentots they became.

Diamonds are South West Africa's staple product although the uplands support 600,000 cattle and some sheep. There are a few copper mines. But diamonds in the gravel deposits on the desert coast provide the chief income for citizens and for the government. A long search has been kept up for the mother lode containing the gems. A recent discovery may have disclosed the source of gems on the diamond coast.

Site of American Solar Observatory

South West Africa is the site of the solar radiation station maintained by the National Geographic Society in co-operation with the Smithsonian Institution. Because South Africa's weather is nearly all one kind and that sunny and clear, Mt. Brukkaros, a lonely pinnacle rising out of the Fish River Valley, was selected as a solar observation post. Records of minute variations in heat radiated by the sun are cabled to Washington from this desolate country. Combined with observations from Chile and California, the figures obtained may supply the secret of long-range weather forecasts. Scientists are testing the theory over a period of years.

Shrine Much Visited

It is believed that the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery has been decorated more often than any monument or memorial, taking into consideration the length of time that it has been built. Scarcely a day passes that a wreath is not placed upon the tomb in tribute, and often two or three are laid there on the same day.

Change in Pronunciation

Professor Grandgent of Harvard university says that the earlier English "ah" became short "a" by the Sixteenth century. Until 1780 or thereabouts the standard language had no broad "a." Benjamin Franklin who recorded in 1768 the pronunciation of his day, knew no "ah." Evidence indicates that it appeared again in London speech between 1780 and 1790. There is no basis for the statement that it originated with the Irish.

Costs no more than "cheap" ginger ales—but what a difference!

"Chelmsford"!

CHELMSFORD is made by a different, better process. Real ripe-fruit juice is used in Chelmsford. And pure Jamaica ginger.

But Chelmsford is very reasonable in price. It is New England's largest selling ginger ale. Because so many people prefer it, the price can be low. Try this fine ginger ale. Enjoy it for any occasion. At grocery, drug and confectionery stores. Three sizes. Golden and Pale Dry. Order Chelmsford by the case.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A little nonsense now and then will undo the best of men.

If people could be convicted for their thoughts we would all be in the penitentiary.

The more a man knows the less he is sure about.

It is a great thing for any one to truthfully say "that he had never enjoyed a pleasure at the cost of another's sorrow."

Those inclining to the belief that our youngsters are spending a large part of their time in motor cars and roadhouses would do well to remember that only a few short of 200 boys and girls (197 to be exact) signed up for football and field hockey at the local high school this fall. Not much chance for the bright lights in their scheme of things.

Once again a call to aid the stricken has found the Winchester Red Cross Chapter alive and ready to do its part for those whom the recent hurricane has rendered wretched and destitute. Treasurer William E. Priest reports that the sum of $500 was sent at once from Winchester to the workers in the devastated areas where it will help to provide partial comfort for many who have lost everything. More money will follow as additional contributions are received and it is expected that the Town's response will be as generous as in the past. "The brotherhood of man" means nothing at all if a genuine appeal for help is allowed to go unanswered.

While it is only reasonable to suppose that the new Postoffice will do much to raise the standard of the town's postal service the public should be a bit patient and give the Postmaster and his assistants a chance to become accustomed to their new surroundings before clamoring for the millenium. The new building in no way resembles the old office and to the latter the men were by long association accustomed. It is but natural to expect that a bit of time will be necessary to make the adjustment to new working conditions. The increased postal efficiency won't come at once and simply because of the fine new office, but the authorities are confident that it is not very far distant.

Those visiting the new Postoffice building last Saturday were interested in the lookout gallery which has been installed and especially in the louvers or notched apertures through which a watcher can obtain views of the entire working space of the plant without being seen. Many have gotten the notion that the purpose behind the installation of this gallery is to make it possible for postal inspectors to spy upon the clerks and check up upon any loafing on the job. Such is not the case! The gallery and louvers are for use only in cases of theft or suspected criminality and are not to keep tabs upon the diligence of postal workers who would rightfully resent such an insult to their trustworthiness.

How often we hear the expression, "He can do it if he has a mind to." The statement casts no doubt upon the mental capacity of the individual to accomplish the thing in question. Mind in this sense means desire, and in the original quotation "want" could be properly substituted for "has a mind." The psychologists and psychiatrists tell us of the importance of mental control in our everyday life and the desire or wish to do a thing is also a powerful agent in bringing about its ultimate accomplishment. We could not doubt the truth of this last statement after watching a golfing foursome and realizing that the same gentlemen who were cheerfully trudging several miles, up hill and down, carrying a certain amount of weight in their caddy bags, would not think they could get to the store for a tin of cocoa, if the car was out of order. No particular pleasure in that sort of walking! The girl who will play four hard sets of tennis in the broiling sun would calmly ask her mother if she wanted her daughter to acquire sunstroke if the first named asked the young lady to pick a few currants in the back yard or sweep off a veranda. The fisherman who would sit for hours on a hard boat thwart awaiting a bite will grumble and grouch if asked to recline for half the time on a comfortable chair at home and keep an eye on the kiddies for an evening. And so it goes! The adolescents, who experience a real thrill in sitting in the driving rain while watching a college football game, feel abused if asked to do an errand for mother in even a moderate storm, while the lady who is tireless in canvassing a community for votes tires easily when asked to do a bit of calling for the church. It all gets back to the original idea of "having a mind to." It's fun to ride our hobby and the amount of energy we expend in so doing is not irksome. Hobbies are important and should be indulged in, often and in earnest, but we can't help thinking what great things could be accomplished, if we all would expend about half the energy we gladly give to our recreational activities upon civic and community enterprises. What a boost we could give the wheel of progress, if we were only interested, if we only "had a mind to"!

OUR NEW POSTOFFICE

To the Editor of the Star:

I take this method of thanking all those who helped in any way to make the banquet of Sept. 22 such an unqualified success. With less than two weeks preparation, some details were naturally, unavoidably overlooked. The time was too short to consult all whom we would have liked to put on the committee, and we trust that any who were not approached or whose names did not appear on the printed list, as well as those, who, on account of lack of room, could not be placed at the head table, will not feel slighted, for no slight was intended.

Now that we are in our new building, improved service, planned and projected two or more years ago, will, without doubt, soon be consummated.

In the meantime, if the townspeople wish any information in regard to such plans, or in fact, any branch of the postal system, we would say that if they will consult the Postmaster or his assistant, such information will be gladly given them, for we feel that we are more qualified to speak on such matters than those not connected with the department.

G. H. Lochman,
Postmaster

AUTO THIEVES ACTIVE

The police were notified last evening at 10:30 that a Chrysler coupe had been stolen from the driveway of the residence of Mr. W. H. Magill at 21 Oxford street. A warning was broadcast and at 11:40 headquarters was notified that two men driving the Magill car had held up a woman on White street in Arlington, had snatched her handbag and made good their escape. A later robbery in Belmont is linked by the authorities with the men who stole the Winchester machine. 12:15 this morning Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy discovered a Jordan touring car with the motor running, abandoned on Wedgemere avenue. An investigation disclosed the fact that the car had been stolen in Brookline. The police believe the men who stole Mr. McGill's machine came to Winchester in the Jordan, abandoning it here.

ACQUITTED ON DRUNKEN DRIVING CHARGE

Lieut. J. T. Acree, U. S. N., of Fellsdale appeared in the Superior Court at Cambridge this week, he having appealed a sentence lodged against him in the District Court at Woburn July 26 when he was found guilty of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, with drunkenness and with driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. The sentence was the result of an accident which occurred at 2:15 on the morning of Thursday, July 19, when an automobile driven by Acree crashed into the iron bridge on the Parkway not far Wedgemere Station, resulting in injuries to Rufus C. Clark, 28, of 1 Cottage avenue from which he died in the Winchester Hospital. The Superior Court found Lieutenant Acree not guilty of drunkenness, nor of driving while under the influence of liquor. The defendant was found guilty of driving so as to endanger and fined $200. Several Winchester people figured in the case as witnesses for the defense. Mr. Roland A. Sherman of Everett avenue was counsel for Acree.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD MEETING

A meeting of much interest to Winchester Democrats is planned for next Thursday evening in Lyceum Hall, commencing at 8:15. The speakers are to be Mrs. LaRue Brown and "Johnnie" Roosevelt of Harvard, son of Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. All are invited to attend the affair which is sponsored by the local Democratic Town Committee with Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Jonas A. Laraway entertained Tuesday afternoon at her home, 210 Main street in honor of Mrs. Arthur England, formerly of Cambridge, who has recently come to make Winchester home. Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed, the entire affair being delightfully informal.

Sugar Long Esteemed

It is not known who invented, or discovered, sugar. Sugar has, it seems, been known since the dawn of history, but not in all countries. The Chinese appear to have delighted their palates with some sort of sugar for more than 3,000 years; and it was known in India earlier than in Europe, being made from a juicy reed or cane.

Action of Lightning

The mysterious quirk of lightning that tears off the sole of a shoe or the whole shoe of the person who may be struck is not mysterious at all. Many persons have perspiring feet. The electric bolt encounters the perspiration, converts it to steam and the ensuing explosion blows off the sole or shoe.

"Puss" in History

The cat came to us from Egypt. At least the Egyptians are the first people among whom we find notices of this animal. It was honored when dead, and it figures largely on monuments as a domestic pet. Herodotus tells of the anxiety of the Egyptians to save their cats whenever houses caught fire. No mention of the cat is made in the Bible or in Assyrian records. According to Max Muller the cat was not known in India as a domestic animal until comparatively recent times, although in Sanskrit the name cat is "marjara," from the root meaning clean, referring to the cleanly habits of the cat. Cats had already been carried to Europe in the time of ancient Rome.—[illegible] Magazine.

Fail to Hold Audience

Common speakers have only one set of ideas and one set of words to clothe them in; and these are always ready at the mouth; so people come faster out of a church when it is almost empty than when a crowd is at the door.—Jonathan Swift.

CADILLAC-LaSALLE SALES RECORD

Enthusiasm expressed for the new Cadillacs, LaSalles and Fleetwoods, number of actual sales, number of visitors to the showrooms of distributors and dealers, and the number who have ridden in and driven the new cars have all surpassed all previous records, according to John H. Bates, Inc., local Cadillac-LaSalle distributors.

In expectation of record demand for the new products and prior to the announcement, the company had embarked upon the biggest production schedule in its history, with all plants running at full capacity. As a result of the reception, the original high production schedules for September and October have been revised upward, with all indications both from record sales and from the generally prosperous condition of the country pointing to an indefinite continuance of the record pace. Shipments for the month of August have established a new record in the company's history.

The new cars were announced Aug. 23, and a statement by Lawrence P. Fisher, president of the Cadillac Motor Car Company is based upon compiled reports of Cadillac-LaSalle distributors and field representatives covering every State in the Union. His statement follows:

"Combined shipments of Cadillacs and LaSalles for the month of August totaled 5142 cars. This is 616 units higher than our biggest previous month and establishes a new record for all time in the entire high-price field. Current shipments are equally divided between Cadillacs and LaSalles.

"At the outset of the manufacture of the new cars, we embarked upon a program of 5200 cars per month—by far the largest production schedule in our history. Retail sales are heavier than at any previous time following the introduction of a new car. Orders received during the first 10 days have required a further upward revision of September and October schedules. Indications are that a full capacity production pace will be maintained.

"With prices ranging from $2295 to $7000, this record business in fine cars coming from all sections of the country and from small communities as well as from the metropolitan areas clearly indicates to us the sound prosperity of the country generally.

"The driving ease of the new transmission and new brakes is declared by automobile owners and dealers to be revolutionary, our distributors' reports state. Along with safety glass they have made a particular appeal to women drivers.

"There is also an unprecedented interest in the new Fleetwood custom-built bodies. This branch of our business has increased 300 per cent in the past 12 months and present sales are taxing to the limit the capacity of the Fleetwood organization to build these super-refined and exclusive body models.

"The most significant item in the reports received is the expressed desire of visitors to ride in and drive the new cars. While many detail refinements have been made in both the exteriors and interiors of the bodies, the most important improvements are not visible. They are new refinements and luxuries of riding and driving—the new transmission, new brakes, more generous seating capacity, adjustable front seats, new two-way shock absorbers on the Cadillac and many other devices for giving smoother and more silent operation. These can be fully appreciated only by driving on the road.

"The mental comfort of riding entirely enclosed by security-plate shatter-proof glass has been an outstanding factor in many of the first purchases.

At our national convention held the first week in August, every distributor, dealer and sales or service representative was requested to drive the new cars which we then had on hand; and the universal endorsement given at that time prepared us to expect the peak sales which are now being made."

Electric Furnace One of Scientific Freaks

When men can thrust their bare hands into an electric furnace that melts metal with ease, it would seem that there is such a thing as cold heat. White mice, too, will run about in this furnace without suffering any ill effects, while an interior of a wireless valve can be heated to incandescence without heating the glass bulb itself.

The secret is that the furnace heats only electrical conductors, being a high-frequency inductance furnace.

It is in the manufacture of wireless valves that one of the most interesting uses of this furnace is found. Just before the valve is sealed from the vacuum pump, it is placed for a moment within a high-frequency coil. The metal parts immediately become red hot and the bubbles of gas and vapor are boiled out. The valve is then sealed from the pump with the knowledge that the later heating of the valve by the filament will not cause further release of bubbles.

Time Lost by Sickness

A bulletin of the committee on administrative practice of the American Public Health association says that estimates from various sources, published in February, 1927, state that the average annual loss to wage earners in the United States on account of sickness usually varies from six to nine days per person.

Archeological Problem

Mohenjo-daro, on the west bank of the Indus, lies 1,500 miles from Babylon, as the crow flies, and yet, the cities built on the plains of the Indus 3000 years B. C. were architecturally similar to those of the Babylonian plan. Archeological discoveries have not yet revealed whether the original designers were Indians or Babylonians.

AGRA: MADE FAMOUS BY A TOMB

Agra, central Indian city included in a recent list of the world's 20 most beautiful communities, and famous as site of the Taj Mahal, is a monument in stone to the Mogul Empire of the 16th and 17th centuries, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. While Tudors and Stuarts were governing England, and adventurers of many nations were seeking wealth or freedom in America, descendants of Tamerlane were building an empire in India which for display and magnificence has never been equalled. Agra, capital of the Great Mogul, was adorned with palaces and mosques which rank today among the wonders of the earth.

Where Chessmen Were Women

The oriental world then bowed before an emperor whose throne, supported by peacocks studded with jewels, cost five million dollars. His chess board was a courtyard paved in black and white marble squares, and for chessmen he had slave girls in colored costumes, their movements directed by his voice. Ninety-nine wives were in his harem, 100 being considered unlucky, and princes from beyond the seas crowded his audience chamber under a ceiling of solid gold. Such was Shah Jehan, during whose reign the Mogul Empire reached its golden age, and who built the Taj Mahal as a tomb for his favorite wife Arjmand Banu, "the exalted of the palace."

Shah Jehan mounted the throne of India by wading through the blood of his male relatives, having killed them all to nip revolution in the bud. He ruled with incredible cruelty and splendor, and died at 74, the prisoner of his usurping son whose mother was the same Arjmand Beanu, in whose honor he had built the Taj Mahal. At her death Shah Jehan's hair had turned white, and it was her son who imprisoned his ageing father in the fort at Agra and ruled instead.

The interior of this old red sandstone fort, which is still standing, is filled with the palaces of Mogul emperors, buildings of supreme beauty. In one of them is shown the Jasmine Tower which sheltered Shah Jehan's "exalted of the palace" during her life time. Here the emperor had spent many hours with his favorite wife and its platform commands a superb view of her tomb, the Taj Mahal.

At his own request the aged Emperor was brought to die in this favorite haunt of his youth, in sight of the building which has since become his own resting place as well as that of his wife.

A World Masterpiece of Beauty

This world-renowned white marble building is set in a beautifully kept garden between two symmetrically placed red sandstone mosques, the whole being kept in perfect repair by the government. Hither, during India's more pleasant fall and winter months, flock thousands of tourists from Europe and America as well as from neighboring oriental countries.

Palaces of the Mogul emperors, the white marble Pearl Mosque, and the near-by tomb of Akbar share with the Taj Mahal the glories of Mohammedan architecture of the past. In a sense Delhi and Agra are to Mohammedan India what Benares is to the Hindu, sacred cities of ancient times. Certainly Agra embodies what is most beautiful in Moslem taste, though several Italian draftsmen are said to have been employed in its plans.

Golf Beside the Taj Mahal

The modern city of Agra is a railway and distributing center of importance in north central India and is capital of the British governed United Provinces, which include the districts of Agra and Oudh. It lies on the banks of the River Jumna, one of the major tributaries of the Ganges. Chief among its industries is export of red sandstone, in which the district abounds, and of which the city itself is constructed. Palaces of modern India, however, though built of the same material, in their elaborate magnificence compare but poorly with the chaste designs of the ancient Agra. Harmonious lines and delicate balance distinguish the buildings of the Great Moguls, beside whose historic walls officials and tourists now play golf and drink tea.

Traveling Book

Few traveling-books are better than a good anthology of poetry in which every page contains something complete and perfect in itself. The brief respites from labor which the self-immolated tourist allows himself cannot be more delightfully filled than with the reading of poetry, which may even be got by heart.—Abbott Huxley, in "Along the Road."

Man's Proper Outlook

There is no true and constant gentleness without humility; while we are so fond of ourselves, we are easily offended with others. Let us be persuaded that nothing is due to us, and then nothing will disturb us. Let us often think of our own infirmities, and we shall become indulgent toward those of others.—Francois De La Motte Fenelon.

She Knew It

A little miss of four years was sitting on her aunt's lap, when suddenly the aunt leaned down and gave her a big hug saying: "My, but you're sweet." The little miss complacently raised her big blue eyes to her auntie's face and replied: "That's what they all think."

Relic of Ancient Race

The oldest relic of the early ages yet found in Yorkshire, England, is believed to be an ancient stone implement discovered at Eston Nab, near Middlesbrough. It is said to be about 75,000 years old. The discovery, some think, establishes for the first time the existence of a race of subhuman beings in northern Britain.

TIRANA: EUROPE'S NEW ROYAL CITY

Albania, for eight years a Republic has crowned President Ahmed Zogu its king, reversing the trend of most European nations.

Thus Tirana, capital of Albania, will join the ranks of European royal cities. The modest "White House" will become a palace, and "Mr. President" will be properly addressed "His Highness."

Springless Ox-Carts Were Only Taxis

Until a few years ago Tirana was as little known as the rest of Albania is today, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Boat loads of tourists drifted down the Albanian coast, stopping now and then at some picturesque island, or at a coastal village, but they seldom ventured far inland.

At Durazzo, former capital, and now Tirana's seaport, they took one glance at the impassable roads to the interior and another glance at the springless ox-carts and donkeys which were then the only Albanian taxis. Then most of them decided to see Tirana when conditions were improved.

The capital has changed, however, since President Zogu established government headquarters there in 1925. Bus service on the new road from Tirana to Durazzo brings increasing numbers of travelers and the once quiet little Moslem city is making splendid progress.

Changes in the Sky-Line

The mosque, domes and minarets that once dominated the city's skyline are being encroached upon by modern government buildings and legations of foreign governments who recognize Albanian sovereignty. Hotels are also poking their upper stories above the red roofs of old Tiranas mud-walled structures, and new avenues, parks and public gardens have been laid out for the enjoyment of the city's inhabitants and guests.

Albanians are not a traveled people. Their first railroad now is under construction between Durazzo and Tirana, and save for a narrow rim along the Adriatic seaboard, there are few roads within the country's borders. But the social aspect of the capital has changed with the coming of representatives of foreign governments. At the new Sports Club, Albanians rub elbows with resident diplomats and the Albanian women now compete against the ladies of the legations on the tennis courts.

Tosks Like Ornaments

The Tirana market place is one of the few spots in the city that has not been disturbed by the newcomers and here, among the vegetables and fruits piled on the cobbles roam folk of the surrounding mountains and valleys, apparently unmoved by the changes taking place in their capital.

Both the Ghegs of the north and the Tosks of the south crowd the "aisles." Mingling among the lively throngs, one sees a bewhiskered Moslem holy man whose somber robes sharply contrast with the flaming colors of the natives' garments. The Ghegs, three-fourths of whom are Moslems, can be singled out from the rest of the crowd by their gray half-size fezzes which resemble the aluminum lids which keep pancakes warm on American restaurant tables. They also wear loose-fitting, sleeveless, buttonless jackets, tight-fitting trousers and homemade sandals of oxhide.

The Tosks are less conservative than their northern compatriots. They like ornamentation, and their costumes are colorful. There may be enough silver and gold in their regalia to pay a first-class passage from Durazzo to New York.

PEKING'S MONASTERY TAVERNS

Favorite excursion resorts of foreign residents of China's capital are Buddhist temples scattered through the Western Hills outside Peking, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Some are so small and deserted, continues the bulletin, that they are rented out entirely as summer cottages to perspiring city dwellers who do not mind vacationing in a temple atmosphere. Others are large monasteries crowning mighty hilltops and furnishing shelter for innumerable monks. These dirty and apathetic inmates seem oddly out of tune with the decaying beauty of sacred walls and courtyards.

The Visitor Cooks His Own

The larger monasteries, like Christian hospices of medieval Europe, rent vacant rooms to the passing traveler. The latter is expected to furnish his own bed and bedding, and, especially if he is a foreigner, to provide his own food. After one look at Chinese culinary methods in vogue in a monastery kitchen the visitor from overseas is really anxious to comply with local custom.

Thus has grown up a habit among foreigners resident in Peking of taking their own "boy" and cook, camp beds and provisions, and "doing" the Western Hill monasteries that lie off the main line of travel. The nearer temples may be reached directly by motor, but to visit the more remote, and incidentally the most beautiful, bag and baggage must be transshipped to a small caravan of donkies for a tramp through rough country.

Number One Boy is Advance Agent

Under the able generalship of the "number one boy" the donkey caravan soon pushes ahead to set up camp in vacant quarters rented from the priests. The traveler himself is quickly left to solitary contemplation of an uninterrupted sweep of bare, rugged, wind-swept hills topped by a cloudless blue sky, on a trail that climbs ever upward.

Towards dusk barking of dogs behind high stone walls betokens arrival at the monastery's outer gates, great creaking panels that remind one of the entrance to a donjon keep. Then a hurried panorama of monks with flaring torches raised high above their heads holding snarling watch dogs at bay. Then the comfort of quarters all made ready by the "boy", a first class dinner from soup to nuts served in style, but prepared on a two-by-four charcoal brazier. A stroll through moonlit temple courts hoary with the age of centuries. At last bed, the comfort of one's own sheets from home, but under the shadow of the "great god Bud" himself.

Paper Dolls at Wilson the Stationer's.

WINCHESTER'S NEW POST OFFICE OPENED

Postal Officials at Banquet—Many Inspected Building

Winchester's new post office was opened for the first time to the public during last Saturday afternoon and evening, many availing themselves of the opportunity to visit and inspect the handsome building before its official opening for business on Monday morning. From 3 until 5 in the afternoon the office was well filled, the visitors evincing much interest in the new and strictly modern facilities which Postmaster George H. Lochman is confident are going to aid materially in raising the local postal service to a high plane of efficiency. Mr. Lochman and Mrs. Lochman were at the office to receive everyone and were assisted in explaining the several points of interest in the new plant by Carriers John McNally and Frank Vallely and Janitor William V. Croto. The lobby of the office was decorated with baskets of cut flowers the larger of which was donated from the gardens of Miss Hattie E. Snow on Forest street.

The visitors were especially pleased with the carriers' "swing" or rest room on the second floor of the building, containing large tables, chairs, toilets and a shower bath. The lookout galleries were also objects of interest, affording as they do a complete birds-eye view of the entire working space of the plant.

It is of interest that the new post office is equipped with 150 more boxes than the old building and that by far the greater part of the first floor is devoted to actual working space. The carriers' racks are larger and strictly up-to-date, having facilities for the sorting of papers which will greatly facilitate this work. There are also two additional racks, looking forward to the day when new carriers will have to be added to the present force. The new lobby has six customers' windows and a special window with a steel shelf for parcels post. In the old building the parcels post had to be dumped onto the floor and sorted, but it will now be sorted directly on racks [illegible]

[illegible] Postmaster George H. Lochman, Hon. Frederick W. Dallinger, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Davidson, Selectman and Mrs. Walter H. Dotten, Representative and Mrs. Thomas R. Bateman, Mrs. Helen L. Fessenden, Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kneeland, Selectman and Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Radley, Selectman and Mrs. Thomas F. Fallon and former Selectman and Mrs. John H. Powers. President George F. Arnold of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce was prevented from occupying his place at the head table by illness.

Rev. Dr. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, asked the blessing which opened the banquet. There were about 200 seated at the long tables in the hall. Instrumental music was played during the serving of the various courses by the Trudeau trio, comprising Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Trudeau, violin and 'cello; and Mrs. George H. Lochman, piano.

Mr. Kneeland served as toastmaster and called first upon Mr. Lochman who stressed the fact that the gathering was strictly a community affair, open to every one and held solely with the idea of a general thanksgiving upon the opening of the much needed new post office.

He was followed by Doctor Blaisdell who spoke for the Town. His remarks were in a humorous vein and were largely confined to several stories tol dat the expense of Toastmaster Kneeland.

Mr. Hansen was next called upon but said little beyond expressing his pleasure at being present. Congressman Dallinger in his address gave something of the history of the new post office project and stated that no one individual was entitled to the credit for finally getting the building. He touched upon the old "pork barrel" days in Congress when each Congressman was allowed two buildings for his district, regardless of size, resulting in the erection of monumental structures in towns of two or three thousand inhabitants. Mr. Dallinger felt in closing that now the new building had become a reality, Winchester would undoubtedly be granted funds to provide for the help necessary to give the Town the service it is entitled to.

Hon. Mr. Bartlett was the last speaker. He stated at the beginning of his address that he had misjudged the nature of the occasion and was afraid his remarks might not be so interesting as he could have wished them to be. He traced briefly the history of the postal service and told of the many problems which his department is called upon to face in supplying reasonable postal service to the citizens of the country. He stressed the fact that the authorities tried to give the people what they wanted so far as it was possible for them to do so.

At the conclusion of the banquet those in the Town Hall adjourned to the new post office for an inspection and genera lget-together. The visiting postal authorities after going over the plant carefully, expressed their pleasure in the general layout. The inspection lasted until 10 o'clock.

The Winchester Postoffice was originally known as South Woburn. It was established as such Sept. 8, 1841, the name being changed to Winchester July 2, 1850. The office was for some years in the Brown & Stanton block on Main street, later moving further down the street to what was then known as Postoffice building and now, Lieberman Building. For the past 25 years it had been in Waterfield Building on Common street near Winchester Station. The present office is rated first class and has a force of 17 clerks and carriers. The receipts in the past decade have increased from $26,793 in 1917 to $45,646 in 1927.

The original appropriation for the new building was the outcome of a bill filed by the late Samuel W. McCall of this town in 1913, shortly before he retired as Congressman from this district to run for Governor.

This was supplemented in 1926 by $100,000 secured through Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger of Cambridge. Many in Winchester have aided in securing the new building, but possibly none have worked harder to this end than Mr. Harry F. Lunt of 185 Mystic Valley Parkway and Messrs. George F. Arnold and Charles E. Kendall of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce.

THE LIBYAN DESERT: WHERE NEWLY DISCOVERED WATER MAY CREATE OASES

Parts of the Libyan Desert, one of the world's most arid areas, may bloom forth in colorful gardens, productive grain fields and orchards of luscious fruits, according to reports from Egypt that recent surveys have disclosed many sources of water in regions hitherto believed dry.

Students of geography will receive the report with a question-mark for there are many other undeveloped dry spots on the map which appear less impregnable to agricultural development, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Travelers Unwelcome

A map-minded person might describe the Libyan Desert as "the largest blank area on the map of north Africa with a cartographer's smallest marks indicating a few oases." It is shut off from the Mediterranean by a narrow populated strip which itself sizzles in the hot African sun. On the east the fertile Nile Valley lends the Libyan owners moral support by showing what might be done with their sandswept land, but on the west, the arid expanse of the great Sahara, of which the Libyan Desert is really a part, swings the pendulum of sentiment from optimism to the extreme of pessimism. The southern extremity of the desert penetrates a short distance over the border of Darfur state, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Libya is largely peopled by the Senussi sect, a sort of reform element of Mohommedanism. Jealous of their power in the desert region, they repel attempts of strangers whom they believe enter their domain only for predatory purposes. Even unknown Moslem are carefully watched and a traveler with a surveying instrument is regarded as a spy in an enemy's fortress.

Birds Migrate Across Sizzling Desert

Kufra, one of the most important oases and headquarters of the Senussi sect, has been visited by only a few white men. It really consists of five oases, one of which has a Mohammedan "university." A salt lake two miles square [illegible] feature. The [illegible] shaded spots are [illegible] miles from the nearest point on the Mediterranean. Between [illegible] for a grove of palms now and then which form welcome stopping places for parched caravans.

The journey to Kufra is a supreme test of physical endurance. For ten days at a time not a blade of grass or other evidence of life is seen save, perhaps, a snake, mouse, jackal or fox which may scurry across the hot sands. In the migrating season birds alight on the shoulders of Bedouins and after a drink and friendly pat, fly off again. Birds have been known to fly 250 miles in the Libyan Desert without water. But neither journeys through the air nor overland are always successful as dried wings of birds and the whitened bones of camels frequently testify.

Once on the southern edge of Siwa, the oldest of the Libyan oases near the northern border, desert hardships begin. Blinding sandstorms impede progress of the traveler and cause such deviations from routes that Bedouin guides, who depend upon their shadows for compasses, sometimes are lost. Varying temperatures, from 140 in the day to near freezing at night, coupled with the plague of malaria from the infested swamps in the neighborhood of many of the oases, are also difficulties to overcome.

Outfitting Point for Desert Travel

Not many years ago caravans were frequently raided and oases plundered by marauding tribes of desert nomads. At Siwa and Kufra, one is reminded of the thrilling tales of these desert raids by the mud houses built on the high places and the mud walls surrounding them to repel enemies. While the desert still has its thieves, the oases are now seldom attacked and the inhabitants no longer carry their rifles on their shoulders while cultivating their olive and date groves.

Jalo Oasis in Cyrenaica, one of the desert's chief commercial centers on the route to Kufra, is an important starting point for caravans. Here camels and men may be hired.

With camels and perhaps an Arabian horse or two for transportation; and with dates, rice, rancid goat's milk butter, skins of water and a few other necessities, many caravans start for the interior. Tea is one of the favorite beverages of the Bedouin on a monotonous desert journey. It is a black brew made of a handful of tea and a like amount of sugar. After boiling the concoction is bitter [illegible] palatable to the stranger, but it imbues the drinker with remarkable vitality which is needed when the hot plains and mountains of sand of the desert are encountered day by day.

Making It Plain to the Youthful Mind

Like all people whose work brings them into close relation with the human side of things, Sir Herbert Barker, the famous manipulative surgeon, has a great liking for children, and many of his best stories are about them. Here is a good one.

"Daddy, is today tomorrow?" asked little Willie.

"No, my son, of course today isn't tomorrow," answered his father.

"But you said it was," objected Willie.

"When did I ever say that today was tomorrow?"

"Yesterday," answered Willie.

"Well, it was. Today was tomorrow yesterday, but today is today, just as yesterday was today yesterday, but is yesterday today. And tomorrow will be today tomorrow, which makes today yesterday and tomorrow all at once. Now run along and play."

St. Bernard Mixed Breed

If tradition may be accepted as authentic, the St. Bernard dog is a product of the Alpine section of Switzerland. There, about 600 years ago, the monks of the Hospice of St. Bernard are said to have created the original type from the cross of a mastiff dog of the Pyrenees with a Danish bulldog bitch. Later it became necessary to outcross with the Newfoundland and the Pyrenecan sheep dog in order to refill the hospice kennels, which had been practically destroyed through the ravages of distemper and accident. Credit is likewise given the English mastiff and the bloodhound used in bringing the St. Bernard to its present stage of development. The outcome of this heterogeneous mixing of the blood of various breeds has been the production of a very extraordinary dog, an animal in which size, strength, bravery, loyalty and devotion are traditional characteristics.

Mountains as Protection

The weather bureau says a town surrounded by nearly mountains is not so likely to be injured by winds as it would be if these mountains did not exist. Winds often are very strong in mountain passes or gaps, but severe storms do not particularly favor valleys, except where the valleys lie in the general direction the storm would take if there were no hills or valleys there.

INTERESTING LETTER

Winchester Boy Writes From Rest Camp on Island of Hawaii

The following interesting letter from Philip R. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Jackson of Lincoln street has been secured by a Star correspondent and is printed for the benefit of those readers who have visited the region described and the entertainment of others who anticipate a trip to Hawaii. Private Jackson is stationed at Schofield Barracks, Oahu, T. H., and is a member of Headquarters Company, 21st Infantry. At present he is at a rest camp on the island of Hawaii, about 200 miles distant from the barracks.

Kilauea Military Camp,
Hawaii, T. H.
Sept. 7, 1928

Dear Mother and Dad:

I've got a heck of a lot to say, and only four sheets on which to say it.

This country, around here, is a terrible place to describe. Camp is 200 yards from the north rim of Kilauea crater. Now, I am sending in this mail, a booklet I secured, giving maps and telling all about the place. Kilauea crater, itself, is three miles at its widest part. Looking from the rim, it looks exactly like a dead world, with the clouds of steam rising from holes, all over the floor. The walls of the crater vary from 200 to 800 feet in height.

At the southeast corner of Kilauea crater is Halemanman, the crater of most interest, near here, and which was active last in January of this year. We walked along the south rim, for two miles, to a place where a part of the wall had caved in—a big avalanche. Down there we descended, along a trail over the fallen rocks, led by our guide. The guide is a fellow who has been here for four weeks and knows all the trails, etc. We dropped 600 feet in about 20 minutes, arriving on the floor of Kilauea crater. The lava field (floor) is solid rock, burned to a cinder in some places, and completely cracked all over the surface by volcanic upheavals.

We started off, across the field, passing dead and live steam cracks and holes, with no bottom to them. Another place along the route, we saw where the roof of a lava tube (dead one) had blown off. These lava tubes (or tunnels), I might as well say here, are underground rivers of molten lava, some of them now extinct, and still more, "live." We finally arrived at the edge of Halemanman, and what a pit. This is the volcano called the "House of Everlasting Fire." The pit is 3500 feet long, 3000 feet wide, and 1200 feet deep (these are facts). Standing on the rim and looking down, it is some sight. I'll never forget it. The pit is now quiet, the lava all hardened. From several places at the bottom and sides steam clouds slowly rise. Just before we got to the pit we saw thick, red dust clouds rising out of the volcano, which our guide told us was caused by land slides, which occur every day—earthquakes causing the slides of the walls.

Halemanman is expected to explode any day, as there is seething fire beneath the crust at the bottom.

The following I copied from the Park bulletin board at the rest house on the edge of the volcano: "In the southwest wall of Halemanman is one end of a great rift that extends for miles into the Kau Desert, and which was opened by an earthquake on Nov. 28, 1919. Lava from the lake in Halemanman entered, and on Dec. 19 began a flow that continued until Aug. 15, 1920. The river of lava spouted from the rift (tunnel) in places, overflowed in others, and six miles away built up a small mountain called Mauna Iki.

"Near Mauna Iki are tracks made by soldiers and camp followers of King Kenua, who were smothered to death in the explosive eruption of 1790. The tracks are preserved in a cement which was formed of dust, ashes and rain."

That article interest you, folks? You'll find that last item in the booklet.

Leaving the volcano, we walked along a marked trail, across the Kilauea lava field, headed north. The trail is marked by rocks, and some signs. Along the trail we passed by steam cracks that burn your hand; when you place them over the cracks. We also explored deep caves, far into the ground, by flashlights. There are hundreds of such caves all around this section of the island, made by escaping steam, and most of which are now alive—hot steam pouring out.

All along the back trail we came across signs telling of recent lava flows; some that took place in 1919, 1920, 1921, etc. (one took place in 1875). Those lava flows were caused by the underground rivers of lava exploding, the hot lava pouring out and hardening into all kinds of forms, etc. The tunnels (or tubes) are called rifts and are believed to all came from Halemanman. The whole floor of Kilauea is honeycombed with such tubes.

Arriving at the north wall, near camp, we climbed up via the Sandelwood Trail, a beautiful trail, lined all along with giant ferns and other pretty shrubs. We get back to camp in time for dinner, having covered over five miles altogether. Yesterday morning was nice and sunny (but not warm) and I took two rolls of film on that trip.

Right after dinner, it started to rain, but as we had planned another trip then, we went just the same (with our guide). It is unsafe to go anywhere without someone who knows the country well. Yesterday afternoons' trip was to the Bird Park, two miles from camp. Only four of us went. On the way to the park we passed the golf links, a large ranch and tree molds. About the tree molds: Where these tree molds are, live trees used to stand. Hundreds of years ago lava from Mauna Loa came down to here and burned all the trees out of the ground, carrying everything. Today a perfect mold remains of the burned out trees showing outlines of bark, roots, etc.

Passing across one end of the ranch a herd of bulls chased us over a fence. Just before we reached the Bird Park we came across a hole in the ground six feet in diameter and 20 feet straight down, in the middle of a field. Our guide had been down in the hole before, so down three of us went, rain coats, flashlight and all. This hole had been an outlet from a extinct lava tube. Two trunks of small trees furnished our entrance to the hole. Arriving at the bottom (all in hole), we saw a gigantic tunnel going out towards the east, so, off we started, along the tunnel, crawling over rocks of all sizes. In some places that tunnel was 25 feet high and across. Everything went fine until we had progressed about 200 feet along (60 feet down) when the blooming light went out. So we had to go back, lighting our way with matches. If we hadn't had plenty of matches we would have been there yet.

Later on we found thousands of ripe raspberry bushes with berries on them as large as walnuts. We returned in time for chow.

This a. m., four of us, with our same guide, took the small hike down to Sulphur Banks. Some sight, to see these mounds of raw sulphur, with hot steam rising everywhere. You can poke a stick into the ground anywhere nearby. Near the banks are large holes which emit large clouds of suffocating gasses, continually. The volcano house, nearby, is heated by live, natural steam, piped up to the house from a steam vent. Within half a mile from camp, I have counted 15 good-sized steam holes.

This afternoon I am resting.

We're allowed to go hiking (and live) in any kind of clothes we choose—civies or anything, and, better still, saluting officers is optional here at camp. The grub is fine, here. We have a large recreation hall—books, movies, two great fireplaces (for nights) and piano and victrola. I am the only pianist in the crowd—about 65 visitors here now. Our only formation is roll call each a. m. No duty, no nothing.

Later on (sometimes) I'll write more about camp life and my activities. Going on a three-day trip to Mauna Loa next week, 29 miles to snow-capped summit. Tell you more of these mountains later.

We are not going back to Oahu till Sept. 30. Got a 14-days' extension.

Yours truly,
"Phil"

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

A very interesting meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the parlor of the Methodist Church on Friday, Sept. 21. Notice was given that Middlesex County annual convention would be held at the First Congregational Church, Wellesley Hills on Wednesday, Sept. 26. Mrs. Charles Adams and Mrs. H. P. Connell were appointed delegates to the State convention which will be held in Boston on Oct. 10. There was great rejoicing over the announcement that for the first time in 36 years Massachusetts would entertain the National W. C. T. U. convention in Boston from Nov. 16—21. Great preparations are being made to welcome the thousands of members who will attend. All meetings will be held in Tremont Temple Baptist Church. Mrs. Anna Dunning read extracts from a speech by Senator Arthur Clapper of Kansas, in which he said that Governor Smith's attitude on prohibition and his Tammany affiliation have made it impossible for the Democratic candidate to win in the West.

"Everything the West knows or has heard of Tammany consists of it with political trickery and corruption, moreover Western folks believe that Tammany is associated with saloon rule, booze and all the social vices, besides political graft."

Mrs. Ella Gleason spoke of the futility of Governor Smith's prohibition plan, in which he proposes an amendment to the 18th which will give to each individual state after approval of a referendum vote of its people, the right within its borders, to import, manufacture and sell alcoholic beverages. Mrs. Gleason pointed out the fact that even if this could be, the present objectionable features of the 18th amendment would still remain. The opportunity for graft and bribery would still be at hand. She reminded us of our own history when South Carolina tried the experiment of a State liquor dispensary. Almost immediately the graft was so great, that the plan had to be given up. It would seem that the Smith plan is only the old South Carolina plan on a larger scale. Plans are going forward for the October meeting of the local Union. Miss Cora Frances Stoddard, internationally known for her scientific temperance research work will be the speaker. Miss Stoddard has recently returned from Switzerland where she attended the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention.

Youths Seem to Have Odd Ideas of History

Examiners at times cite with a sigh of melancholy some of the absurd answers they receive. Under this heading Australian schoolboys take no second place to American youths.

Here are some samples taken from answers at an examination of the graduating class of a Sydney high school: "The British admiral, Sir Francis Drake, is famous for having discovered the invisible armada." and "In the European monasteries of the Thirteenth century the monks had tea in common. This was their principal distraction. Seldom they visited the theater or the cinema."

One boy answered the question, "What was the chief event in the reign of Queen Elizabeth?" with the words: "Under the reign of Queen Elizabeth parliament often implored the Queen to get married, something that parliament never asked of her father Henry VIII. It is true, of course, that in the latter case the intervention of parliament was not absolutely necessary."

YOUNG AMERICA RETURNS FROM ABROAD

When the Scandinavian-American liner "United States" docks in New York on Sept. 23 and 300 typical American boys walk across her gangplank, it marks the end of the second annual European visit of American boys conducted by the My Friend Abroad Department of "The Open Road for Boys" magazine. Among these boys will be Richard I. Bowe, 181 Parkway, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bowe.

For the past two years "The Open Road for Boys" has published each month names of boys in other countries who wish to correspond with American boys.

As a result, innumerable warm friendships have been made between American boys and the boys of 40 other countries, and hundreds of thousands of friendly letters have crossed the oceans. Naturally, the boys soon wanted to see and talk with their "friends abroad."

In this, the little country of Denmark took the lead when, in 1927, Danish families invited 100 American boys to visit them in their homes.

This spring Norway and Sweden joined Denmark in issuing invitations to American boys, with the result that during the past few weeks more than 300 American boys, under the auspices of "The Open Road for Boys" magazine, have been enjoying the hospitality of selected families in those countries. They have demonstrated the famous American sports, football and baseball, before huge Scandinavian audiences which were astonished at the speed and skill that the boys displayed; they have danced with the sisters of their Scandinavian friends (the music often being furnished by their own orchestras); they have visited places of historical interest; they have competed in track and water sports with Scandinavian boys; they have given hundreds of speeches on American life; and several of them have broadcast their speeches from the principal broadcasting stations. Already applications are coming in for participation in a similar trip next summer.

Returning the 1927 visit, 61 Danish boys have been entertained in American homes this summer.

Tree Always Extreme in Matter of Thirst

Trees are confirmed drinkers. No solids for them. They have no temperate habits. They drink continuously or not at all. Thus they live and grow as extremists and are either destroyed or die of old age unreformed, says the New York state college of forestry. In fact, the older they are the harder they drink and the greater their thirst. But no tree was ever found the worse for drinking. When they sleep in winter they go to the other extreme and are teetolars, but with the first sunshine and thaw of spring they resume their bibulous habits.

The liquid food of the tree is brewed in the ground. Water is the important ingredient. Billions of bacteria work to make soluble many substances so they may be dissolved by water and taken into the circulatory system of the tree. The tiny roots of the tree drink this life fluid, which is lifted hundreds of feet as if by a miracle, defying the laws of gravity without any moving machinery. This fluid is distributed to the branches, thence to the leaves, the stomach of the tree, where another miracle is performed when the liquid is digested and made ready to be formed into wood.

The tree grows year by year, like a person, in height and girth. If the tree falls in the forest billions of bacteria will get hold of it, and with the help of air and sun and moisture its substance will eventually be transformed into the liquid food for other trees.

Toll of Heart Disease

One and one-half billion dollars is the economic toll of heart disease in this country, Dr. Haven Emerson of Columbia university told physicians. Add to this more than 100 million for the hospital and doctor bills of those who suffer, and then charge most of this immense amount to the relatively poor laboring class. More than 150,000 of the 170,000 who die each year from heart disease are over fifty years of age.

The Silver Anniversary Buick is kindling more interest, drawing more people to the display rooms — winning more praise and creating a demand so sweeping and so insistent that Buick's vast factories have reached new levels of production in attempting to keep pace.

— all because it is not only the most brilliant performing automobile of the day, but also because it marks a new style — a thrilling new mode of car design more beautiful, more luxurious and more graceful than any the world has known!

An entirely new scheme of body lines and contours — softly rounded steel panels, the most costly employed on any motor car — a contiuous moulding, with double bead running around the body and dividing the lower from the upper structure all impart an atmosphere of unrivaled beauty.

If you want beauty — if you want individuality — if you want up-to-the-minute smartness — there's only one choice . . . the choice of America . . . the Silver Anniversary Buick with new Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher. It's the new style — the new mode — in motor cars!

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Girl From Chicago," with Conrad Nagle and Myrna Loy as the featured players, is the screen feature the big Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. "The Girl From Chicago" is tense, glittering melodrama, the sort that keeps the audience at high tension from the first scene to the final fade-out. Myrna Loy gives the greatest performance of her career, because she has the first part worthy of her talents. Conrad Nagle, always forceful and pleasing, triumphs as the dapper detective who is supposed by Molly to be another of the crooks. The picture is adapted from one of the famous detective yarns by Arthur Somers Roche and lovers of exciting melodrama should be on hand to see it before it concludes its run at the Granada. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville for the last half of this week is headed by the Five Hestons.

"The First Kiss," with Paramount's new starring team of Fawn Wray and Gary Cooper, will be shown at the Granada for three days starting next Monday. Gary Cooper is already the toast of the ladies and Miss Wray, while a newcomer has a large following. "The First Kiss" has everything to make up a good picture including two capable stars, a fine story and good direction.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

In a worth while effort to keep abreast of the times—and to offer to the public within range of its service the best in modern entertainment—the Strand Theatre, Malden has installed the sound and talking development, the Vitaphone, and will begin a weekly program of sound pictures and Vitaphone acts Monday, Oct. 1. The management takes well-deserved pride in offering this improved program which is the result of consistent effort and foresight.

The opening attraction will be "The Lion and the Mouse" with Lionel Barrymore and May McAvoy. In addition there will be specialty acts and the latest news. The matinee will begin at 2 and the evening performances at 7 and 9 thus making it possible for the late comers to see the entire show.

The attraction for the second week is "Tenderloin" with Conrad Nagel and Delores Costello and following in order are "Two Lovers," "The Patriot," "The Jazz Singer," "Lights of New York," "Wings," "King of Kings" and other big productions.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The romantic atmosphere of Naples—the struggle of two souls for happiness—woven together by a master hand, such is "Street Angel" which opens at the University Theatre for a full week commencing Sunday.

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are co-starred in the picture which was made under the understanding and sympathetic direction of Frank Borzage, who guided them to stardom overnight in his production of "7th Heaven."

It is said by critics throughout the country that this romance of Naples is a fitting successor to "7th Heaven," their triumph of last year. In fact many go so far as to acclaim it as even greater than the powerful screen drama based on Austin Strong's play.

In this production Miss Gaynor plays the part of "Angelina," a self-sacrificing, though cynical little Italian girl whose romance with Guino, an idealistic Italian painter, played by Charles Farrell forms the plot of the story. The picture is based on "Lady Cristilinda," the play by Monckton Hoffe, which was adapted to the screen by Philip Klein. An exceptionally fine cast, including Natalie Kingston and Henry Ametta, support the two youthful stars.

ABSENTEE VOTING

There is no better indication of the intensity of interest in the coming election than the word from the Secretary of State's office that at least 20,000 residents of Massachusetts, and probably many more than that, unable to be at home on Nov. 6, will avail themselves of the absent voters law and cast their ballots by mail. No definite figures are available as to the number of persons who have taken advantage of this privilege in years past, but it is certain that a far larger number than ever before will act under the law this year.

The privilege of voting by mail applies only to voters who on election day will be two or more municipalities removed from their city or town. If only in some adjoining locality, the voter must return to vote in person in his home precinct or lose his vote. The privilege does not extend to a voter who is ill at home in the district where he votes.

The absent voter may apply for a ballot any time up to election day, and if the ballot is returned to the city or town clerk before the hour of closing the polls on Nov. 6, it will be counted. The ballot must be marked in person in the presence of an official authorized by law to administer oaths, and if no other person, but the official is not allowed to see how the voter marks his ballot nor have any conversation regarding the vote. An absent voter who is unable to mark his ballot may have it marked for him by the clerk of a court of record, who shall add in writing a statement of the fact that the voter is unable to write, stating the reason.—[Herald.

CHIEF AND MRS. DeCOURCY SURPRISED

Tuesday evening, during the absence of Chief and Mrs. David H. DeCourcy, a large gathering of friends assembled at their home on Westley street to extend to them sincere congratulations and best wishes upon their having passed their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. DeCourcy were more than a little surprised and especially so when they were tendered a purse of silver and a huge bouquet, by Mrs. Louis Smith on behalf of those present and many others who were unable to attend.

Chief DeCourcy responded in his usual suave and jovial manner, while Mrs. DeCourcy was so completely surprised that it was a few minutes before she was able to express her appreciation.

Following an entertainment program, a dainty collation was served. Guests were present from Winchester, Woburn, Medford, Arlington and Cambridge.

Chief and Mrs. DeCourcy were married in Winchester 25 years ago and have since made their home here where for the greater part of this period Mr. DeCourcy has been in public service. Mrs. DeCourcy is active in many church organizations and is Vice-Regent of the local branch of the Massachusetts Catholic Women's Guild. They make their home on Westley street, with their two children, Harold H. and Elizabeth C. DeCourcy.

This show will be made up of favorites in many parts of the city. In addition to this offering the management will offer a picture program of worth. Food Requisites

According to Prof V. H. Mottram an adult woman needs but 2,500 calories a day. An adult man engaged in sedentary occupation requires 3,000 calories daily. A man doing hard work should have 5,000 calories The physiological reason given is that the feminine organization utilizes food more economically than man. A child's food should not be proportioned according to his age, as he requires more than half the food of an adult. Boys and girls of fourteen are to be considered as adults in food utilization

Panama Waterway

The Atlantic and Pacific ends of the Panama canal are sea level. The highest elevation of the canal is 85 feet above mean tide The mean level of the Pacific at the Isthmus has been found to be about eight inches higher than the mean level of the Atlantic. In the month of February the levels are the same, but throughout the rest of the year, on account of current, tidal and wind influences the mean level of the Pacific ranges above that of the Atlantic. WINCHESTER WOMAN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The opening fall meeting of the Winchester Woman's Republican Club was held on Wednesday, Oct. 3 at 2:30 p. m. at Association Hall. It was a most enthusiastic gathering with 248 members present. Our new president, Mrs. Alfred Radley, gave a brief talk about the many activities during the summer, the rallies she had attended and the interesting programs arranged for our fall meetings.

Mrs. William L. Thompson, chairman of the registration committee reported on the work carried on during the summer months. With her co-workers 400 people were visited and 270 of these have registered. The important work of this committee during the hot months of July and August is deserving of the highest praise.

Mrs. Woodside, as chairman of the town committee gave an interesting report on the accomplishments of that committee for the summer. Mrs. Florence Scales, chairman of the membership committee reported 31 new members. We hope soon to reach our goal of 500 paid members.

The club members worked with the Town Committee as checkers at the recent Primaries and the women showed their interest by casting a larger vote than the men.

Mrs. Radley introduced Mrs. H. Addington Bruce, chairman for Middlesex County of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts who spoke briefly on "Campaign Finances." The quota for Winchester women to raise is $1500. Mrs. Howard J. Chidley is the chairman of this important committee and under her able leadership our Republican women will surely go over the top.

Mrs. A. J. George of Boston was the speaker of the afternoon and was received with much interest and enthusiasm. She spoke briefly upon campaign issues and gave a most enjoyable lecture on current events. At the close of the lecture tea was served by the social committee under the direction of Mrs. Chester Porter.

ROBERTS—EMERY

Gladioli and palms were combined in attractive decorations for the wedding last Saturday evening of Miss Miriam Emery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Emery of 48 Fletcher street and Henry Knowlton Roberts, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knowlton Roberts of 161 Highland avenue. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church.

Miss Emery was attended by Miss Mary Roberts of Winchester and Mr. Roberts had for his best man, his cousin, John A. Dow of Marblehead. Miss Frances and Miss Barbara Kelley of Winchester were flower girls.

The bride's gown was of white satin and lace, trimmed with pearls. Bandeaux of pearls served as a head dress and to hold in place her veil of tulle, and she carried a bouquet of valley lilies and white roses. Miss Roberts wore pink chiffon and carried an arm bouquet. The frocks of the flower girls were of orchid muslin.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and Miss Roberts assisted the bride and bridegroom in receiving the guests at the reception which was held immediately following the ceremony. Malcolm Emery of Reading and Daniel Barnard, Edward Sandberg and Winthrop Palmer, all of Winchester, were ushers.

Upon their return from a honeymoon to be spent in New York and Nantucket, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are to make their home in Cambridge. The bride is a graduate of the Katherine Gibbs School and Mr. Roberts of Chauncey Hall.

"THE PRESIDENT'S OWN" AVOIDS HACKNEYED PROGRAM

The United States Marine Band is appearing here on Oct. 11, under the auspices of the Rotary Club of Winchester, for the benefit of their Winchester Hospital fund. This military band is a solid mellow musical organization, not a brilliant noisy band. Their program is interspersed with sound and interesting musical compositions by foreign composers like Verdi, Wieniawski, and Elgar, thus they avoid the hackneyed numbers usually so flagrantly apparent in other band programs.

Besides their variety of musical numbers the United States Marine Band enjoys a phenomenal reputation for its tonal euphony and precision in ensemble work. This great artistry is displayed equally well in both the operatic and symphonic fields.

OF INTEREST TO VOCALISTS

James R. Houghton will again lead the People's Choral Union of Boston, and rehearsals for the 31st season will begin Oct. 7 in Recital Hall, N. E. Conservatory of Music, continuing every Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5:30. There is a good opportunity for singers to join now and participate in the three concerts that are scheduled.

Yesterday in the Superior Court at East Cambridge John Marino of this town was found guilty of receiving stolen goods in the store at the corner of Swanton and Holland streets, occupied by him and the Amico Baking Company to defraud the insurance company involved. The fire was discovered about 3 o'clock Sunday morning, Aug. 5, and a hearing held at local Police Headquarters Aug. 14. As a result of this hearing Marino and Vito Scaturo were indicted for appearance before the Grand Jury with the result mentioned above. Marino was sentenced to serve one year in the House of Correction.

REDDING—CURTIS

A wedding of interest here took place in Beverly last Friday evening when Miss Mildred E. Curtis of that city, daughter of Mrs. Mildred E. Curtis and the late Frederick L. Curtis became the bride of Walter Adams Redding, son of Mrs. Grace A. Redding of 17 Lakeview road and the late L. Stanley Redding. The double ring ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the home of the bride's mother, 32 Central street, by the Rev. Arthur S. Payzant, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Beverly. Miss Margaret Crueger played the wedding music and the house decorations were of gladioli and asters.

The bride was attended only by her sister, Mrs. George K. Fenn of Beverly. The former wore a wedding gown of white satin, trimmed with point-applique lace and a veil of tulle and orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white roses. It is of interest that an antique cameo pin worn by Miss Curtis had previously been a part of the wedding costumes of her mother, her grandmother and great-grandmother.

Mrs. Fenn's gown was of pale blue georgette over crepe de chine and she carried a bouquet of pink tea roses. Charles C. Clark of Portland, Me., was Mr. Redding's best man.

Only members of the immediate families and a few intimate friends attended the reception which followed the ceremony and from which Mr. and Mrs. Redding left on a wedding trip through New York State. They are to be at home after Nov. 1 at 59 Water street, Medford.

PROF. FRANK K. SANDERS' ADULT BIBLE CLASS

First Congregational Church

Next Sunday noon, Prof. Frank K. Sanders, formerly Dean of Yale Divinity School, will begin a bible class for adults at the First Congregational Church, under the auspices of the Men's Club and the Sunday School.

The general theme of the Bible Class, which will meet at noon each Sunday in the small vestry, will be "Thinking Through the Old Testament."

Professor Sanders is thoroughly equipped to conduct such a class, as he has written several books on the Old Testament, and has taught Old Testament literature in Yale Divinity School. He is a teacher of magnetic personality and has the gift of stating facts clearly and interestingly.

Anyone who wishes to get a thorough understanding of the modern point of view of the Bible will profit greatly by attending these classes, which are open not only to the constituency of the First Congregational Church, but to all people of the community who are interested in his subject.

FUNERAL OF JOHN WHISTLER BELL TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Funeral services for John Whistler Bell, former Chief Quartermaster of the U. S. S. Widgeon, will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chapel of the First Congregational Church by the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley. The flag draped casket containing the remains arrived in Winchester Wednesday night from Honolulu, T. H., where Mr. Bell had been on a tour of duty and where he died Sept. 12 of a broken neck sustained in a dive while bathing at Waikiki Beach with members of his family.

John Whistler Bell was born 30 years ago in Denver, Col., the son of George and Mary (Porter) Bell. He enlisted in the Navy in 1914 and at the time of his death was attached to the U. S. S. Widgeon with the rank of Chief Quartermaster.

May 6, 1922, he married the former Margaret Erskine of Winchester who survives him with two sons, Erskine, aged 8 and Alison Bell, 5. His parents, five brothers and a sister also survive him.

A firing squad of 16 bluejackets and a naval bugler from the Boston Navy Yard will attend the funeral services on Saturday and escort the body from the church to the grave in Wildwood Cemetery where a salute will be fired and taps blown. Winchester Post, American Legion, will also be represented.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON HOCKEY OPENER

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team won its first game of the 1928 season Wednesday afternoon on Manchester Field, defeating Swampscott High 4—0.

The score does not tell the entire story since Coach Centervall's charges really surpassed their opposition more than the tally would indicate. As a workout for the forwards the contest was worth while but the local defense had little opportunity to show what it can do under reasonably tough going.

Frances Pettingell, Winchester's right inside, scored the season's first goal when she counted from scrimmage during the opening quarter. Virginia Merrill made it two in the same period and Nancy Bradlee tallied following intermission. Virginia Merrill made the final goal in the last quarter.

The work of the veterans on the local forward line stood out and Mary Reed played well upon defense. Caroline Mercer was a newcomer who looked good.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds defeated the Swampscott seconds, 3—0, with Janet Nichols and Kathryn Murphy furnishing the scoring punch.

Following the games the players adjourned to the high school where sandwiches and cocoa with whipped cream were served.

BAND RARELY HEARD OUTSIDE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Until the fall of 1911 it was only at intervals of from 10 to 20 years that the famous United States Marine Band, which makes its appearance in the afternoon and evening of Oct. 11 in the Winchester Town Hall, had been heard outside of Washington. One hot summer afternoon, while Congress was in session, the band was giving one of its famous concerts at the East front of the Capitol. Among the group of Senators who had grouped as usual to listen to the music was the late Senator "Bob" Taylor, of Tennessee. Turning to his Southern colleagues he said, "Boys, I want my people down in Tennessee to hear that band and I know you would like to have your home folks hear them, too. Come and join me in a request to President Taft to give the band permission to go"! The result was that permission was gladly given and the enthusiasm with which the band was received through "Dixie-Land" has resulted in similar permission being granted for annual concert tours ever since.

President Coolidge has granted permission for the present concert tour by the United States Marine Band. Like his predecessors, President Coolidge takes the position that such tours being made at a season of the year when the band's absence from Washington will not interfere with any of its official duties, afford much pleasure to those citizens who do not have the privilege of hearing their band in Washington; that the visits of the band not only promote the patriotic pride of our people, but their concerts are also of educational value.

The members of the Winchester Rotary Club felt that it was accomplishing a two-fold purpose by having this famous musical organization play before the people of Winchester and vicinity. First, it would give the music lovers an opportunity to see as well as hear this band. Second, it would help an institution most worthy of support, the Winchester Hospital, to which the proceeds are to be turned over.

The afternoon concert is for the school children for whom the admission charge will be 25 cents. The evening concert is at 8 o'clock, and tickets may be purchased from any Winchester Rotarian or Knight's Drug Store, corner Main and Church streets, Winchester center. Prices $2.50, $2.00 and $1.00.

WINCHESTER GIRLS TO PLAY ARLINGTON TODAY

Winchester High will play a practise game of field hockey with Arlington High this afternoon on Manchester Field at 3:30. The local girls looked good against Swamnscott Wednesday and will try to take the Spy Pond lassies in stride. Next Thursday afternoon Winchester will play Wellesley at Wellesley.

Collector of Taxes Nathaniel M. Nichols informed the Star yesterday that the tax bills will be in the mail by next Monday.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

This being our first meeting since the conclave at Poland we who were unable to attend were much interested in reports from those who were more fortunate. President Harris took occasion to tell us about his experiences at the conclave, and from his remarks we gather that there were no idle moments for any Rotarian present, and furthermore that every moment was most enjoyable.

Harris says that he is going again.

At the last moment the speaker, who was to address us today sent word that he would be unable to come so we had to fall back on one of our emergency men. "Doc" Sheehy is accustomed to emergency calls and this instance was no exception to his rule of giving complete satisfaction. He gave us a most illuminating talk on "Hospitals" with especial reference to our own Winchester Hospital which is very much in our minds now-a-days. "Doc" presented various view-points of modern hospital service which were probably new to most of us and certainly were of interest to all. He assured us that our institution is equipped to do and in fact is doing, the very best work in caring for the sick and injured of all classes.

During the period that we have been working to raise a contribution for our hospital we have had many assurances that it is worthy of our efforts. We wish that all of our citizens could have heard what "Doc" had to say to us at our meeting. Surely all would have felt a thrill of pride that Winchesterites have established in our midst this splendid depot for the relief of suffering humanity.

To all who are grateful for those superior advantages which have been brought to our town, the Winchester Rotary Club is giving an opportunity to express their gratitude by contributing a comparatively small sum of money which will be an investment for present enjoyment and future security.

We refer to the concerts by the U. S. Marine Band in our Town Hall on Thursday, Oct. 11. We wish to say once more that all proceeds from this concert will be given outright to the Winchester Hospital. Thanks to the generous response of our townspeople who have been approached, we are in a position to say that the expense incident to this undertaking has been provided for. The case now resolves itself into this—How large a sum can we realize for our hospital? From now on all who purchase tickets for the concerts or take advertising space in our program can be assured that their money will help in rounding out a generous fund for the local institution. We do not wish this affair to be looked upon simply as another entertainment, although it will unquestionably be an entertainment of the highest merit. Rather we are seeking to enlist as many as possible of our citizens and friends in the continued support of a foundation which may be and often is of vital concern to all of us.

To those who may have failed to see previous notices we will state that the United States Marine Band (the President's own) from Washington, D. C., will give a series of concerts in the Winchester Town Hall on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, Oct. 11. There will be two concerts in the afternoon for the benefit of the children of our public and parochial schools. To these afternoon concerts the admission will be 25c for each child. Superintendent Quinn is in charge of the arrangements for the afternoon concerts and he will see to it that the children are properly cared for.

The evening concert which gives every promise of being a brilliant social event will commence at 8 p. m. Tickets are on sale at Knight's Pharmacy, corner Main and Church streets. There are still choice seats to be had but tickets can be held in reserve for a short time only, so we would urge an early selection.

This is the last announcement which can be made in this column. And now let us all pull together. Object—A big boost for the Winchester Hospital.

ATTORNEY MULLIN CHOSEN

Attorney Francis R. Mullin of Main street was chosen chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the formation of an "Al" Smith Club in Winchester at the big Democratic meeting and rally held last evening in the Town Hall. The Hall was well filled with an enthusiastic gathering.

Preceding the meeting St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps paraded about the center and led the crowd into the hall to the strains of the "Sidewalks of New York." Drum Major "Tommy" Dolan led the parade.

Selectman Thomas F. Fallon opened the formal meeting and introduced Attorney Mullin who presided. The speakers included Gen. Charles H. Cole, Mrs. Frank E. Scanlon, Joseph H. Maynard, in charge of the formation of "Al" Smith Clubs in Massachusetts; Joseph T. Brennan, Whitfield L. Tuck, Charles T. Daley, Mrs. Frances Conlon, Mayor Thomas Duffy of Woburn, Edward P. Barry, Mrs. LaRue Brown and James Roosevelt of Harvard, son of Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

NOTED COLORED TENOR HERE

Winchester, which has the distinction of the discovery of Roland Hayes is apparently about to score again if the new colored tenor Harry Delmore lives up to the expectation of his friends next Sunday morning when he sings in the Town Hall at the service of the Baptist church.

His "gorgeous voice" combined with a winsome personality is certain to make his name as famous as that of Roland Hayes when the musical public shall have become familiar with his work. His appearance Sunday is an event.

CALUMET NOTES

Festivities will start Saturday evening when the opening gun will be fired. There will be a dinner at 6:30 p. m. sharp. The cost will be $1 only and it will be prepared by Fred Scholl and Fred says he will give no cause to worry about the quantity and quality. Judging from what he has done for numerous organizations, members may feel assured of satisfaction and then there will be an entertainment besides. As previously advised, guests may be invited on the same terms as members. Judging from replies already received, a large crowd will be on hand to enjoy the opening. New members are especially requested to make themselves known, but the Hospitality Committee will be there to introduce and see that they feel at home.

John Thomas, the humorist, will furnish the entertainment. He comes very well recommended. Tom Bateman says he will give us a thousand laughs. Mr. Thomas is a favorite with the amusement public wherever he has appeared and he holds a position as an entertainer which few artists have gained in this generation. He has filled many important engagements all over the country.

RALLY DAY SUNDAY

Rally Day will be observed in all the Protestant Churches of Winchester under the auspices of the Winchester Ministers Club. The following letter has been sent out by the ministers of the respective churches to their membership and constituency:

Winchester, Oct. 3, 1928

Dear Friend:

Next Sunday morning all the Protestant Churches of Winchester will celebrate their annual Family Day at church, which means the revival of the old custom of the whole family going to church and sitting together at worship.

As a community, we shall on this one Sunday at least, show that we believe in the church as a community institution and encourage it by our presence at worship.

People as a whole are kindly disposed toward church, but many forget that a general feeling of goodwill toward the institution is not sufficient to keep it going as a vital influence in the community. It requires the personal presence of the individual at worship to make this goodwill effective. Nobody can measure the influence of a large, serious-minded, worshipping congregation each Sunday upon every department of church life. Enthusiasm comes of numbers, and enthusiasm can work miracles in any organization. The young people especially feed the pull of it.

We hope our people will pause a moment to consider what all this means for Winchester.

Nothing succeeds like success and nothing fails like failure. Spiritual contagion is a real thing.

Will you do your part next Sunday toward creating this contagion in your church by being present at the Family Day exercises?

Yours sincerely,

Benjamin P. Browne
Howard J. Chidley
Truman Heminway
Hiram W. Hook
George Hale Reed
John E. Whitley

WINCHESTER AT READING TOMORROW

Winchester makes its second start of the 1928 football season tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when its eleven will take on Reading High on the latter's gridiron. Last year, Reading with a big rugged appearing club, was no match for Coach Mansfield's team of veterans but this is another year again and the locals are by no means as strong as last season. Nothing is known about Reading here, but Winchester against Stoneham last Saturday showed much promise. Tomorrow's battle should be interesting and pretty much of a tossup.

President Harris S. Richarlson of the Rotary Club of Winchester, returned from the conference at Poland Springs yesterday. President Harris won the cup presented for pitching horseshoes and likewise was awarded a special prize for defeating a crack player in a special challenge match.

NOTICE!

Next Friday being a holiday, the STAR will be issued on Thursday. All correspondents and advertisers are requested to send copy to this office EARLY IN THE WEEK.

Congratulations were exchanged because the committee has been able to secure the services of a very eminent lecturer for the Oriental rug afternoon to be held at the club on Nov. 14. Tea was served in "Jonah" and the guests were much interested in seeing some of the novelties which are to be sold from the gift shop at the Baptist Church fair which is to be held in the Town Hall on Nov. 22 and 23. Miss Fitch also is chairman of this gift shop table. It being the eve of Miss Fitch's birthday, she was presented with some beautiful roses from the highland garden of Mrs. H. T. West and a curious Oriental plant by Mrs. C. A. Warren.

MALDEN THEATER

John Gilbert in his newest hit, "Four Walls" heads the program the big Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. Among the dozens of "crook" pictures filmed through the past few years, "Four Walls" will stand out as something new and undoubtedly different. Gilbert contributes a characterization which tops anything he has displayed in the way of acting since "The Big Parade."

The regular five act bill of seuected Granada vaudeville will also be presented the last three days of this week with George McClennon, "The Black Sensation" as one of the headline features. Mr. McClennon is one of the greatest of colored entertainers and one of the biggest "names" in the vaudeville field.

"The Sawdust Paradise," with Esther Ralston featured, comes to the Granada next Monday for a three days run. This new Ralston picture has a well knit plot. It concerns Esther in spangles and pink tights as the ballyhoo and speeler for the Six Diving Venuses; Reed Howes, her sweetheart who is a grafter operating one of the carnival's crooked concessions, and Hobart Bosworth, a he-man evangelist, whose tabernacle, across the street from the carnival, houses only a handful of persons nightly. Against this unusual background Miss Ralston and her supporting company present a nifty bit of entertainment. Elsie Clark, the nationally known recording songstress, will appear at the Granada next Monday.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

The Strand's program of sound pictures and Vitaphone acts which began last Monday is meeting with public acclaim. Opening with the sound picture, "The Lion and the Mouse," and selected vitaphone acts, the Strand demonstrated to the satisfaction of all the astounding possibilities of this new development of the screen.

The tone of the Vitaphone at this popular movie house is exceptionally good. Clearness of speech is equally good from any part of the theatre. Patrons who witnessed the premier attraction, and they were a vast crowd, look forward to seeing further wonders in the coming features such as "The Patriot," "Wings," "The Jazz Singer," etc.

Next week's sound and talking feature is "Tenderloin" taken from New York's underworld, that region of shadowed sin whose nightly exploits in crime outstrip the inventions of fiction. Heading the star cast is the adorable Dolores Costello, and her performance is wonderful. Supporting her is Conrad Nagel and the vitaphone records his voice in a manner that will amaze you.

The Vitaphone acts are as follows: The Happiness Boys, Billy and Earnest in songs and comedy, Burr McIntosh in a knock-out of a playet called Non-Support, and the Imperial Russian Cossacks in thrilling Russian and American dances, songs ad music.

We are showing three grades of golf balls at 50c, 65c and 75c each. All good balls and nice fresh stock. Wilson the Stationer.

CALUMET CLUB NOTES

The calendar for the year has been issued giving a general outline of the program prepared by the Entertainment Committee. Some of the dates have been left open as far as actual arrangements are concerned, but details will be given in due course. The October calendar starts off with a busy schedule. The Star will give specific details of each event in plenty of time for perusal so that members may know just what will happen.

The drive for new members by Chairman Harris Richardson of the Membership Committee is working out very nicely. Already a large number of applications are posted and new ones are coming in daily. It looks as if there might be a waiting list before the season is very far advanced and anyone desiring to join should immediately send in their application.

Bowling enthusiasts will welcome "their" night when the Men's Tournament starts next Monday. Most of the regulars have signed up and there are a large number of new ones entering.

Calumet Tournament Opens For Winter With 31 Teams

The regular winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club opens next Monday evening, when six of the 31 teams entered will start the schedule. The entry is one of the largest in years, and matches will be rolled until the early part of March in completing the list as arranged for the two sections into which the teams have been divided.

As arranged last year, the teams will be divided into Section A and Section B. Each section will roll a complete schedule with all teams so listed, and at the close of the matches a special "World's Series" of three matches will be rolled between the three leading teams in each section on dates chosen by the bowling committee.

Three team prizes will be awarded, together with eight individual awards. The rules to govern the tournament will remain in force as on previous years, except that any bowler must take part in at least 10 matches to become eligible for an individual prize.

The composition of the teams, together with the schedule of games and rules, are as follows:

University Defined

American Universities and Colleges says that in the United States a university is an institution of higher learning, comprising a college or colleges of arts, literature and science—historically the first part of the American university to come into existence—and professional colleges or schools of law, medicine, theology, etc., and especially a graduate school of arts, literature and science. In addition to schools and colleges devoted to instruction and research, the university includes divisions of laboratories, libraries and museums, and sometimes a university press and research institutes. Not every institution which calls itself a university measures up to this definition.

Lightning Rods

Perhaps the question of the efficacy of lightning rods has never been fully settled in the public mind. Lightning rods are now to be seen on nearly every house in the cities, though it may not be visible to the eye. Every plumbing system has an air vent—a pipe that runs upward to, if not through, the roof. It serves exactly as the lightning rod on the farmer's house.

SPALATO: "A CITY WITHIN A PALACE"

Spalato, appearing in headlines and date lines as the scene of recent rioting, is a name that will not be found on a map made in Yugoslavia.

Like many other places in what was formerly Austria-Hungary, the city, since the post-war Austro-Hungarian divorce, has reverted to its maiden name, the Yugoslavian form, "Split" says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

History supports the Italian name, "Spalato" because of the long period during which the city was under Venetian control; but the character of the population makes "Split" fitting, for more than 90 per cent of the population is Yugoslav.

Palace Built by Diocletian

Split is often referred to as "a city in a palace." The phrase is true enough in part, for nearly ten per cent of Split's inhabitants live inside the walls of the old palace of Emperor Diocletian, and for a long time the palace was the city.

Diocletian built the huge palace about 303 A. D. and moved there in 305 when he abdicated as emperor. It inclosed nine and a half acres of great rooms, long corridors, and courtyards. Diocletian lived only nine years after he entered his sumptuous residence.

The palace was built several miles from the great city of Salona where the emperor's father had been a slave. Salona was destroyed in 639 by barbarians from the north, and the survivors took up their residences in the palace. This was the birth of Spalato, then called "Aspalathos." Courtyards became squares, some corridors were made into streets, and other corridors and great rooms were divided into small houses and apartments. Tenements were built one above the other against the outer walls, some reaching eight and nine stories.

City Bulges Over Palace Walls

It was only after centuries that "the city within a palace" split over, and began to develop outside the old palace walls. This newer development is New Town or Novi Grad as distinguished from the Stari Grad inside the walls.

The Stari Grad is still the maze of dark, narrow, crooked ways, and tiny tenements and shops that it became soon after the surviving Salonians crept into its walls. This is the slum section of Spilt, this "city within a palace" a far cry from the almost eastern splendor that reigned within those same walls during the brief life there of their builder. In front of many of the shops hang quaint, symbolical signs, a huge shoe for the cobbler, a basin for a barber's shop, and so on.

To the visitor, the most interesting place inside the old palace is the former mausoleum of Diocletian, which for centuries now has been the Christian cathedral of the city. All about the dark little structure are symbols of paganism and secular activities. One of the cathedral's ornaments is a great black sphinx with its tracery of hieroglyphics, supposedly brought by the emperor from Egypt to stand guard over his last resting place.

Old Venetian Palaces Remain

The Novi Grad is a city of parks and squares and reasonably wide, well ordered streets, faced by relatively modern structures. Among the buildings are numerous old Venetian palaces built during the long regime of Venice from 1420 to 1797.

Modern Split, with its good quays and mole, is commercially the leading port of the eastern shore of the Adriatic. It is particularly noted as a wine market. One may sit in one of the numerous cafes that face the Gaspodski Trg and review the vintages—provided he is careful enough to allot a sufficient number of meals to the experiment, and provided especially that he looks not too long on the heady wine of Brazza, one of the most famous of the Dalmatian wines. Passing to and fro he will see native peasants in colorful garb smoking their long stemmed pipes. Some of the farm women he will see wearing trousers the better to perform the tasks that husbands and fathers leave to them. There are, besides, gypsies, Italians, Greeks, Albanians and a sprinkling of Austrians still lingering on after their regime is ended.

Decree of Authority Subject to Discount

The late Leonard W. Wood was commiserated with by a reporter, one day in Washington, on the apparent neglect meted out to him during the World war and on the harsh judgment that had been passed upon his administration of the Philippines.

General Wood changed the subject, but afterward, as the reporter was about to go, he told a story.

"When we are judged," he said, "we must consider our judges. We must judge our judges, so to speak.

"Joe Childs, perhaps, was the greatest jockey in the world. He won almost every big race; some of them he had won three or four times over; the king's jockey, you know.

"Well, during the war Joe enlisted in a cavalry regiment, and they sent him to a riding school at the Curragh in Ireland to be trained.

"When he mounted his horse at the Curragh school the riding master said to him:

"'Have you ever ridden before?'

"'Yes, once or twice,' said Joe.

"'Yes,' said the riding master, with a disgusted laugh, 'on a donkey at the zoo, I guess. Why, you've got the worst seat on a horse I ever saw in my life.'"

Peculiar Way Deadly Curare Poison Works

"Curare is the deadly poison that tips the arrows of the South American Indians," the explorer said. "A pinprick from one of their tiny and slow-moving blow-pipe arrows tipped with curare will kill a peccary, a jaguar or a man.

"On the Amazon one day my Tucuno killed a monkey. The piece of monkey that was served to me afterward happened to contain the wound. There it was, the ragged curare-filled wound made by the blow-pipe arrow. I cut that bit away, you bet, but a Tucuno snatched it up, swallowed it and laughed in my face.

"'How is it,' I asked him 'that you can eat without harm the poison-loaded flesh of the birds and animals that you kill with your curare-tipped arrows?'

"For answer—and a very good answer it seemed to me—the Tucuno took a pinch of curare from his pouch; enough to kill a dozen persons; and rolling it into a ball he swallowed it down with his monkey meat and manioc.

"Then I understood. Curare is a poison that must be injected directly into the blood. It can be eaten and digested with impunity."—Springfield Union

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The poorest man in the world is he who has a lot to live on, but nothing to live for.

A kindness is never wasted.

Who ever heard of a woman having a low arch.

It costs less to "keep well", than it does to "get well".

Sometimes it costs much more to save time than the time is worth.

Feed your brain and it will feed you.

There are so many fake excuses made freely now days, that it is rather hard at times to recognize the honest ones.

It is to be hoped that the new office force at the Winchester Post Office will include a husky door opener. Either that or have the Town erect a gymnasium. It's a day's exercise to open those two big doors going and coming.

Recognition should be taken of the increasing number of young and enthusiastic supporters of "Al" Smith's candidacy before they succeed in covering the entire town with chalk and crayon labels. Buildings, autos and sidewalks seem to be coming in for considerable Smith decoration, and while the artists may be of tender age and thoroughly carried away by their devotion, the results of their efforts are not so thoroughly appreciated by the owners of the decorated property as they might be.

We noticed recently the account of an automobile accident in which two women lost their lives when the car in which they were riding swerved from the road and struck a tree. The driver was exonerated of all blame in connection with the fatality when it was demonstrated beyond doubt that he had been blinded by the glare of the headlights upon an approaching machine. Its owner might well have been held responsible for the loss of two human lives. This menace of glaring headlights is one of the dangers of motoring with which the authorities have long been concerned. Apparently they are no nearer a solution of the problem than when they started. Surely conditions are no better. There is nothing more unpleasant, aside from the danger involved, than the sickening, helpless feeling which prompts the stopping of one's car at the side of the road at the approach of two brilliant, blinding headlights. Seeing is out of the question and to continue is often to gamble with the possibility of running point blank into some one or something in one's path. Headlights at their limit of power are seldom necessary on a great majority of roads; that is, if the rate of speed is commensurate with safe and sane driving. No lights at all would be preferable to the eye-searing rays which many drivers switch on at the first fall of dusk. And to make a bad matter worse many lights are tilted upward directly into the eyes of approaching operators. Frequent light tests haven't as yet accomplished much to relieve the resulting dangerous situation and one wonders just what can be done about it. It might prove feasible to limit the candle power and type of headlights at the automobile factories.

Visiting baseball players often protest against the poor playing surface of the diamond on Manchester Field, and this despite the impression which is prevalent that the playground is one of the best in the State. From the standpoint of location and general appearance this impression is very probably correct and none will quarrel with the statement that the local high school teams have the best field on which to play in the Mystic Valley League. Yet the actual surface of the playground is yearly becoming worse and unless steps are soon taken toward improvement, a considerable outlay will be necessary to put the field in proper shape. One has only to walk about on Manchester Field to realize that the turf in many places is almost dangerously rough and uneven. Especially is this true of the newly laid out field hockey gridiron which so far as the surface goes is not so good as that used last year. In past years the playground has been on many occasions improperly used with the result that it is not at present in anywhere nearly as good condition as it should be. The field has natural drainage and is not yet in so bad shape as to need either excessive effort or great cash outlay to be put in excellent condition. The Park Board is alive to the situation and is taking steps to guard against further abuse of the playground. Everyone can assist in the good work. We noticed some golfers knocking a ball about the field last Sunday. They were not expert and we saw them replace none of the hits of sod which they dug up with their clubs. The resulting small holes do the turf of the playground no good and go a long way toward providing the poor and even dangerous playing conditions of which local and visiting athletes alike complain. The smug assumption that Manchester Field is in excellent condition because it appears to be from the spectators' benches is not borne out by a closer inspection of the turf.

Winchester, with the remainder of a weary land, will turn for the nonce from the nerve frazzling strain of the Presidential race and cease to worry about whispering campaigns and teapot dome scandals while watching with interest the outcome of the World Series between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals. Perhaps it is just as well that we can for a time focus our attention upon a struggle for supremacy between two powerful foes who will do their fighting in the open and without involving Federal employees or members of the First Families of Virginia. And the World Series matters tremendously to most of us who have come to take our baseball championships seriously. Very few are immune to the enthusiasm aroused by the title struggle and the hard working clerk with no time to play, experiences the thrill of a sportsman as he backs the team of his choice for the cigars against the judgment of his wife's father who thinks the batter has to strike at the third one and believes 'Babe" Ruth is a chorine in a Broadway musical revue. Sports make us all akin and we are more or less on the same level as we watch the bulletin boards or listen to the neighborhood radio. The big series as a spectacle is worth while but its chief value may after all lie in the fact that as we watch its progress we forget to take ourselves and our troubles quite so seriously. It takes about all our time to hurrah or alibi, according to our ability to pick a winner.

OBJECTIONABLE PROPAGANDA!

Dear Sir:

One day this week some boys on their way home from school ripped a "Hoover-for-President" sign off a lady's automobile. Naturally she was quite upset by such a rude action and talked for some time afterward to a group of youngsters who gathered around.

There is no doubt but that the boy or boys responsible should be dealt with severely.

However, it is a matter of serious wonder what this lady took occasion to say to the children. My little six-year old boy overheard her last remark which was something like this: "That is just the kind of things boys do who follow "Al" Smith this shows what they are taught at home. I am sure no little Hover boy would do such a thing."

Now this kind of propaganda is most objectionable, especially since young minds are so receptive, easily shocked, and so often poisoned.

Hundreds of children coming from school would not have been so naughty, or thoughtless or mischievous as to remove anything from an automobile. Some of these children come from homes whose tendencies are Democratic. Should they be made to blush for "Al" Smith? Should their little minds be corrupted by an intolerant suggestion? Is everything that smacks of the rowdy to be laid at Governor Smith's door?

That woman knows we all know that he or any real American would not sanction what the naughty boy did.

Is it not more American to teach our children to respect each of these fine candidates for the Presidency of the United States? My children are taught that Herbert Hoover is a splendid man, and are familiar with his fine record of achievement. They are also taught that for a great many good reasons Governor Smith seems more qualified for the Presidency. But one of these men will be our next President, therefore let each of us give to both the respect we must and should accord the successful candidate. Certainly the finger of scorn should be pointed at neither gentleman.

Does this woman believe that all the nauseating, filthy printed trash offered along religious lines, in the name of Republicanism, should be laid at Mr. Hoover's door? Surely, she does not. But, then again, does she?

Respectfully yours,
Frances T. Conlon

FAMILY DAY AT CHURCH

Next Sunday morning all the Protestant Churches of Winchester will observe Family Day at Church, which means reviving the old custom of the whole family going to Church and sitting together at worship. This is a part of the Go-to-Church Sunday program of all Protestant Churches in Massachusetts next Sunday.

It is a move in the right direction and should be heartily supported by all Protestants in town.

People as a whole are kindly disposed toward the Church, but many forget that a general feeling of good-will toward the institution is not sufficient to keep it going as a vital influence in the community. Unless they cash in on their good will by attending church, it will not help the churches much. Nor will attendance at church two or three times a year, such as at Christmas or Easter. Some people feel that when they have contributed to the church budget, they have done their duty. Every dollar, of course, counts, but if the contributor got behind his dollar by being at church, he would enhance the value of his contribution immeasurably.

The Protestant churches of Winchester were never in better physical condition than today. The pulpits were never better manned by men of sincerity and vision. But the ministers alone cannot make the churches a success.

Protestantism has adopted the principle that the people are the church. Its success or failure is in their hands. The problem is squarely up to them. If they want the churches to succeed, they will have to get behind them by support of their services. There is no other way.

Go to church next Sunday by all means, but better still, begin next Sunday morning to make regular church attendance a habit. More men are attending the Protestant Churches than at any time in the last 25 years, but there is still room for improvement. The churches are yours. What will you do with them?

Rooney, postmaster at Waltham, who is at the Waltham Hospital with slight change for recovery from being struck by an automobile Wednesday night figured in an accident which included three automobiles, one driven by Frederick V. Wood of Cambridge street. The car that struck Mr. Rooney stopped so quickly that it was run into by Mr. Wood's car, and before the injured man could be taken from the road he was again struck by an unknown car whose driver did not stop.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald C. Jordan of Highland avenue have returned to Winchester from an automobile tour which was abruptly concluded last week when their machine was involved in a bad accident at Portland, Me.

The name of Miss Mary Tibbetts of this town was recently mentioned among those members of the freshman class at Smith College whose mothers are graduates of the Northampton College for women.

Reports from Tilton School, Tilton, N. H., indicate that "Arbie" Taylor of Bacon street is making a fine bid for the regular quarterback's job on the varsity eleven. Taylor was first string quarter on the past two elevens developed by Coach Mansfield at the High School.

Mr. W. H. D. Townley-Telson of Winchester has resigned from the United Fruit Company and in the near future is to be associated with the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.

WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK

WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK BUILDING
7-9 CHURCH STREET, WINCHESTER, MASS.

We now have a supply of the new special time tables containing the changes and corrections for the fall and winter months. Copies may be had at the Bank. Many have commented favorably on the electric car schedule and taxi information which you will find repeated.

On the back page of the time table you will notice a list of the Board of Directors of the Bank, with their business affiliations. Among them are several important new names which make for additional strength and usefulness.

Steadily increasing deposits in both Checking and Savings Accounts seem to indicate that our policies and service are meeting with popular favor.

If you are in need of banking facilities or a depository for valuables, you will be cheerfully served at the "Friendly Bank."

By the way, there are still a few days left to join our Vacation Club.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The first meeting of the fall season was held in Lyceum Hall, Sept. 26, at which time the following social program, submitted by chairman of entertainment, Caroline L. Conkley, V. P., was approved by the assembly:

Oct. 24 Second annual concert and dance.
Nov. Month reserved for house whists.
Dec 12 Whist sponsored by Mrs. Liffa B. Green.
Dec 31 New Year's Eve party.
Feb. Minstrel show.
March Gentlemen's night.
April Installation.

It is rather hard to get down to business again after a most pleasant summer, vacationing here and there, but every member is expected to do her share towards the success of the yearly program. Home duties, polities and even the popular pastime of improving and reproving crooked Vine street will have to be set aside, for the time being, for the more important task of building up the finances of the club.

Plans are now in progress for the "second annual concert and dance", scheduled for Wednesday evening, Oct. 24. Lyceum Hall is the place and Hallowe'en decorations ought to liven up the scenery a bit. For those who like to dance, a good orchestra is assured—jazz 'n' everything will be on the bill o' fare. A splendid concert is being arranged by the entertainment committee, and every effort is being made to interest all. Of course all social events are open to the general public.

The club is indebted to Sisters Bernice F. Gorman and Myrtle Goodhue for two very successful house parties during the summer. Others who volunteer may arrange dates with Mrs. Coakley for the month of November.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 10. President Anne M. Hanlon announces initiation for all on the waiting list and the drill team is expected to take part in the exercises. As a special treat the Board of Stewards from the local Lodge of Elks with Gordo Horn as chairman, will prepare and serve the refreshments. We understand that something pretty special is being put into the menu, therefore every sister should make an effort to do justice to the spread. Naturally, this will be a good time to plan a little co-operative work for Elk charities; so let's hope the big brothers will have a few suggestions to offer.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER 175, O. E. S.

The members and visitors of Winchester Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star enjoyed a real treat last Monday evening on the occasion of the Annual Inspection by Grand Officers. Alice M. Gould, Deputy Grand Matron; Anna M. McFarland, Deputy Grand Marshal; and Raymond H. Cowing, P. G. C., officiating as Deputy Grand Patron, were the inspecting officers representing the Grand Chapter of Massachusetts. In addition several other dignataries were present as visitors.

The officers of Winchester Chapter performed the initiatory and ritualistic work of the Order in a splendidly impressive manner, which resulted in complimentary remarks by the inspecting officers and visiting members.

The present year has been one of progress and prosperity to Winchester Chapter and several applications for degrees were received last Monday evening, which was a source of pleasure and joy to those present. With the added interest being shown by those eligible to receive the degrees, it is hoped that the local chapter may grow to sizeable importance and thus establish itself in this community as worthy of its purposes—beneficient and social.

The Roundabout Club will hold a sewing meeting at the Masonic Apartments Oct. 15, at 10 a. m. to prepare articles for the fair to be held Oct. 27 at the Town Hall. The afternoon will be devoted to a bridge party in charge of the committee for the grab table at the fair. The bridge party will not be limited to the members of the Roundabout Club, but will include members of the chapter and friends.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University Theatre for four days beginning Sunday are "The Cop" starring William Boyd and "Home James" with Laura LaPlante.

"The Cop" is Boyd's biggest picture to date. When we remember that Boyd played in "The Volga Boatman," "Dress Parade" and "Two Arabian Knights," we realize that "The Cop" must be something of a screen triumph to take the lead in such company.

"Home James" is a story that is funnier than most and yet has a plot that is interesting and unusual. Critics have lauded the picture highly.

For the last three days of the week the features are "The First Kiss" with Gary Cooper and Fay Wray and "The Big Killing" with Beery and Hatton. "The First Kiss" is taken from the original story by Tristram Tupper entitled "Four Brothers" which ran in the Saturday Evening Post. These young stars who won their spurs in "The Legion of the Condemned" give a good account of themselves in this romantic and sensational drama. "The Big Killing" is the latest comedy of the famous team which made "We're in the Navy Now."

Affection

It was an ancient king who exclaimed he had no stronger garrison than the affections of his people. So with all men in positions of leadership. They cannot command real loyalty through fear. They cannot command respect by force. The only loyalty that has value is the loyalty inspired by affection.—Exchange.

Hopeless Case

The cream of all absent-minded professors is the one who about to start on a journey, filled his wife with gasoline, kissed his road map good by and tried to shove his motor car into his pocket.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The week-end of the 22nd was one of the most successful in the whole experience of the Club. In the first place, the boys had worked to put across a "hang-up" four-boat dance and they succeeded beyond anyone's expectation. The dance itself was well attended, 60 couples being present. The music was especially good and much appreciated since it was composed almost entirely of club members, with Phil Hight as leader. The hall was decorated for the occasion. The color scheme was in two shades of purple. The draperies and window curtains and the lights taking on these tints. The alcove or director's room was fitted up to resemble the A. C. A. camp at Oananoque, Canada, where the Winchester four won its race this year. A large tent had been set up with two cots in it, the blankets were on them and all dunnage on the floor, with almost every detail being in order, even to a pair of moccasins under one cot. Out in front of the tent was a camp fire with coffee cooking on it. A hatchet, cooking utensils and water pail were in evidence. Over the entrance to the camp were a string of racing flags and pennants, won over a period of years belonging to Mr. Herman Dudley Murphy. At night and lighted up the scene was very realistic and the tent was large enough for persons to walk around in it. The best part of the whole dance, was, that it proved to be financially a success. The boat cost roughly $190 and after paying the expenses of the dance, which amounted to $40, the total received for the boat was $175. The boys greatly appreciate the splendid support accorded them by all the club members and will endeavor earnestly next year to make this new boat return home a winner in each race that it is entered.

The annual fall tennis tournament was run off the same week-end. All matches were played off and were invitation affairs, that is, the entrants were not restricted to club members. The tournament was so well handled and snappily conducted that the whole thing was completed on Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Some very enjoyable tennis was seen. One of the most interesting of the preliminary matches was played between Hall Gamage and "Win" Palmer against "Doc" Blackler and "Bob" Clark. The match was carried to three sets before Gamage and Palmer finally won. The best match of the tournament, however, was the finals, which was a very closely contested match between Gamage and Palmer against Lars Sandberg and "Doc" Priest. This match was carried to five sets before Sandberg and Priest came through to win the tournament. Cups were presented to the winners by the tennis committee.

First Round

Doc Blanchard and Fred Hawley defeated Harry Gardner and Fred Carr, 7-5, 6-1.
Hall Gamage and Win Palmer defeated Doc Blackler and Bob Clark, 6-1, 4-6, 7-5.
Jerry Foster and Hubert Bernard defeated Warren and Geraldine, 6-1, 9-6, 6-3.
Lars Sandberg and Doc Priest defeated Hobey Lowell and John Pratt 6-1, 6-0.

Second Round

Gamage and Palmer defeated Blanchard and Hawley, 6-1, 7-5.
Sandberg and Priest defeated Foster and Bernard, 6-4, 6-4.

Final Round

Sandberg and Priest defeated Gamage and Palmer, 6-1, 6-4, 1-6, 3-6, 6-5.

On the evening of Oct. 11, the tennis committee is runing a dance at the clubhouse. An exceptionally good orchestra has been arranged for and this promises to be one of the biggest dances of the year.

Stonewall Jackson as Sized Up by Pickett

General Pickett, whose Civil war letters have recently been published, once expressed himself to his wife on the character of Stonewall Jackson. His comment is particularly interesting because of Allen Tate's biography of Jackson:

"Lawton who is one of his generals, says Old Jack holds himself as the god of war, giving short, sharp commands, distinctly, rapidly, decisively, without consultation or explanation. Being himself absolutely fearless, and having unusual mental and moral, as well as physical courage, he goes ahead on his own hook, asking no advice and resenting interference. He places no value on human life, caring for nothing as much as fighting, unless it be praying. Illness, wounds and all disabilities he defines as inefficiency, and indications of a lack of patriotism. Suffering from insomnia, he often uses his men as a sedative, and when he can't sleep calls them up, marches them out a few miles, then marches them back. He never praises his men for gallantry, because it is their duty to be gallant and they do not deserve credit for doing their duty.

"Well, I only pray that God may spare him to us to see us through. If General Lee had the northern resources, he would soon end the war; Old Jack can do it without resources."—From a Minton Batch & Co. Bulletin.

Lucky Child

Some people are born lucky, even in small things. The child had asked for money for gum.

"No," said mother.

"For candy, then?"

"No," said mother, "I shall not give you any money today to spend on such things." And she went on brushing the grownup daughter's spring coat which was hanging on the line. She quickly turned a pocket inside out to get rid of the accumulated dust—and then dumped a package of gum and a fudge bar.

"O-o-o-o!" said the child in delight—and with one pounce she scooped up gum and candy. "And you can keep your old money!"

"It seems absolutely impossible to discipline some children," murmured mother, "for the gods are always on their side."—Springfield Union.

THE THRILLS OF EXPLORING THE PAST

Mystery, slender clews, sifting the evidence, third degree, facts from a laboratorp test tube, deduction by the stars, imprint casts, treasures in caves, unknown code languages!

All the standard devices of thrilling mystery stories stand revealed as the very stuff of the unrelenting explorations into the human race's checkered past.

Every good explorer of our racial past must be a Sherlock Holmes, says a bulletin from the ashington, says a bulletin from the Washingon, Geographic Society.

Did Monsieur Lecoq ever turn a neater trick, for example, than Mariette?

The Mystery of the Sphinxes

While Mariette was in Alexandria looking for Coptic manuscripts he noticed some sphinxes in gardens of wealh officials. Late he saw similar sphinx figures at Giza and Cairo, and the idea came to him that they might have been brought from a single ruin. But where?

Then while walking near Saqqara, Egypt, he found a sphinx half buried in sand. Suddenly he remembered Strabo and a paragraph written by that Greek geographer 2000 years ago: "One finds also (at Memphis) a temple of Serapis in a spot so sandy that the wind causes the sand to accumulate in heaps, under which we could see many sphinxes. Mariette dug at the sphinx and found in inscription. This was it! This was Strabo's Memphis. This was the Egyptian Serapum where the sacred bulls were buried with a funeral worthy of a Pharaoh. Gathering workmen Mariette stripped off the sand and revealed an avenue of 141 sphinxes leading to the massive bull caskets housed in a quarter of a mile of galleries.

Reading the Maya Calendar

Although Yucatan was the home of the Mayas, the first clew to their writings was discovered in 1863 in the dusty archeves of a Madrid library; the first real advance in solving the enigma came at Dresden in 1890; important correlations were accomplished within the last 20 years at Washington, D. C.; and the final interpretation of Maya history in terms of Christian time, year for year, day for day, and even hour for hour, was worked out last year.

Dr. Morley, in Washington, linked the Maya and Christian calendars running back to 600 B. C., with the possible error of about a month and, in 1922, predicted the elemination of that error by an appeal to astronomy. By studying the phases of the planet Venus which were used for time-fixing by the Mayas, Dr. Spinden, of Harvard, finally wound up the "Maya Calendar Case" 63 years after it was first propounded.

Dead languages have always puzzled archaeological detectives.

Egyptian hieroglyphics were just so many mystifying sketches until the Rosetta stone came to light. And numerous scholars over a period of 230 years concentrated on cuneiform writing before the key to the Sumerian language was found and could be used to unlock the clay tablet library of Ashurbanipal and the vast literature of man's earliest, well developed civilization. Then with one thrust the long awaited discovery opened the door to 3000 more years of man's history.

Deciphering an Ancient Billboard

A tough bone for anyone to chew on was the cuneiform "arrow head" text Pietro del Valle copied in 1621 and brought back from the ruins of Persepolis in Persia. After 200 years the scholars had made a little progress on it; they found that Darius, Hystaspes, and Xerxes were the subjects of the paragraphs in code. They found that they were working with a syllabic writing like shorthand. Slowly the case moved on until the most interesting cipher hunter of them all, Maj. Henry Rawlinson, went after it.

What detective in fiction is more intriguing than this amateur philologist using up his annual leave sitting on the hot sands at Behistun with field glasses pressed to his eyes. He drops the glasses a moment and makes curious lines on a paper; once again he trains his lenses on the red cliff before him. High up an ancient tyrant has carved an eternal billboard of his own prowess and fame. Although he illustrated his self-advertisement his poster was a "flop." Nobody could read it. Still Rawlinson's curiosity was aroused and so he sat on the sand scrupulously copying cuneiform bold face type hoping to discover what the vain king was trying to shout across the millenniums. After a year's study of his copybook Rawlinson sent to London a translation of the first two paragraphs containing the name, titles and genealogy of Darius the Great.

Darius' generous remarks on the subject of himself were not nearly so significant as Rawlinson's solving of the Sumerian cuneiform cypher. With Rawlinson's key Smith went to clay tablets found in the Euphrates Valley and read from them the story of a flood like that recounted in the Bible and another story of a baby in the bullrushes closely parallel to Moses' experience. "Hen tracks" on the tablets revealed the Hammurabi Code of the first recorded laws and also the business letters, deeds and marriage contracts of Abraham's people.

Cache of Mummies From Empty Tombs

Sometimes the Sherlock Holmes sort of subtle, mind-leaping expert is not so effective as a strong-arm, precinct captain, type. Superthird degree methods once forced a confession that revealed the most astonishing Pharaoh mummy cache in Egypt. In 1881 the appearance of ancient papyri in the bazaar stalls gave hint that some native had made an important discovery. Suspicion fell on a certain Abd-el-Rassoul, who, when the governor had carried on an investigation "with his habitual severity," (probably a beating on hands and feet with a stick) meekly led an archaeologist to an obscure shaft entrance, the well of an unfinished tomb for Queen Astemkheb. Within, the scientist came upon a catacomb crammed with the kings of early Egypt, the mummies from many empty Pharaoh tombs, that had been secretly removed to this out-of-the-way pit after a tomb-robbing scandal had alarmed officialdom 3000 years ago.

Then there is young Casteret with an exploit in 1923 or science's sake which might figure in a "thriller" only if some athlete would be the leading figure. Casteret was exploring a cave in southern France, hoping to find the dwelling place of cavemen known to have lived in the region 20,000 years back. He penetrated the grotto until the stream running through it touched the roof! Were there, beyond the blockade, more galleries which might have been attainable in the Ice Age? He resolved to find out. Taking a deep breath Casteret dived into the cave stream and soon found another passage. Later he swam through again with candles and matches in a rubber cap. His daring was doubly rewarded, for there, shut in a chamber in the hills, he found the statue of a cave bear; the largest prehistoric statue ever discovered and in the clay bear's flanks were the spear incisions by which the cavemen showed what they would do to any bear that tried to invade their homes.

"Sifting Evidence" at Pueblo Bonito

Of course when a detective, in or out of a book speaks of "sifting the evidence," he speaks figuratively, but the archaeologist literally sifts. At Pueblo Bonito 100,000 tons of sand and rock from the ruins were put through the sieve. Carter and Carnarvon moved debris shovel by shovel for 16 years before they fell on the tomb of Tutankhamen.

Mounds that were Nineveh and Ur archaeologists have passed through screens which gave up emeralds, gold beads, carved ivory, and coins. It was screenings which gave evidence to the National Geographic Society expedition at Pueblo Bonito of the lost culture; of the plants grown, of toys the children played with, and of the perches to which the sacred clan macaws were chained.

In the refuse piles of vanished cities the explorer culls out bits of broken pottery and glass, and from the sweepings of a dead people he learns how and when they lived.

Calendars in tree rings have been used in a delicately drawn scheme to wrest the secret of Pueblo Bonito's ago. The question was; how long ago did an Indian people live in the big prehistoric apartment house in Arizona. Log supports found in the ruins gave Dr. Neil M. Judd an idea. If he could match rings of log cross-sections with other logs of known dating, he might fix the age. Working with Dr. A. E. Douglass he traced back the tree calendar through the oldest living trees, then through cross-sections of logs in modern pueblos which had been salvaged by the Indians from broken down Spanish missions. Still two gaps in the ring years remained. But one of them has now been closed and the explorers are hopeful of closing the other soon. The search, discouraging at times, spread over a period of six years, but it may at last yield by tree "prints" the exact years some 10 centuries ago when the last of the Bonitans fled from their monumental communal home.

Bell's Voice Carries Far

Big Ben, London's famous bell, weighs 13½ tons. It was cast in 1856. When the atmospheric conditions are favorable the sound of the bell can be heard throughout London.

Origin of Dice

Gambling seems to be almost as old as humanity. Dice of one sort or another have been used for about 5,000 years, the Chinese being the first on record to employ them in games.

Wrong Idea of Sin

More should be written about the pleasures of virtue. The old theology gave the impression that sin is delightful and that those who forego it give up what is most thrilling in life.—American Magazine.

A New World!

"When I walk out of my house into my garden," wrote Alexander Smith, "I walk out of my habitual self, my every-day thoughts. Its gate gives entrance to another kingdom, with its own interests and annals and incidents. It is a place of escape and peace."

Brushing Ship Hulls

An Australian company has introduced in England an ingenious method of cleaning the outside of the hull of a ship. The invention has been in successful operation for a number of years in Australia, and has been tried at Southampton and Plymouth.

The apparatus is mounted upon a suitable frame, which can be suspended from the side of a boat. It consists of a cylindrical brush about 5 or 6 feet in length, held in a framework which also supports an electric motor and a propeller. The purpose of the propeller is to keep the brush pressed against the side of the ship. The case carrying the apparatus contains also a four-cylinder motor directly coupled to a dynamo. The current produced serves to raise and lower the carrying frame as well as to drive the propeller and brush.

No Government Break in Republic's History

An interregnum is a break in the continuity of government authority; a period during which the functions of government are suspended or vested in a temporary executive. Such a condition, says the Pathfinder Magazine, has never existed in the American government since Washington assumed the Presidency under the Constitution. In each case when the President has died he has been succeeded immediately by the vice president.

Some people speak of March 4, 1829, as an interregnum. The Constitution says that before the President shall assume the duties of office he shall take a prescribed oath. March 4, 1829, was Sunday and Zachary Taylor did not take the oath until March 5. But of course he was President and could have taken the oath any minute during that time.

Likewise the brief period between the death of Harding and the taking of the oath by Coolidge might facetiously be called an interregnum.

Insanity Not Often Caused by Overstudy

"It is a fallacy to believe that overstudy causes insanity. Overstudy like any mental overwork causes a state of exhaustion and brain fag. Too much study, which prevents the enjoyable realities of play and recreation, will not cause a mental breakdown in a person who is not liable to insanity," states Dr. Alexander S. Hershfield, Illinois state alienist.

"It is admitted that among those students who devote too much time to learning and to making high grades there are many who are normal men tally. Mental disease and overstudy are common enough to be found together occasionally. A well-balanced boy or girl finds sports, friendship and sex of sufficient importance to act as an antidote to overstudy and general school grind. In fact, it is normal for youth to find study irksome when it interferes with its fun.

"Insanity resulting from overstudy is merely a coincidence, and closer examination of such a case will usually show other causes."

Life's Tribulations

"And when the new car arrived I found it was one shade lighter than my dress," remarked a well-dressed woman, "but then, as I told my husband, we all have our crosses."—Terre Haute Tribune.

Plants Reveal Ore

Several remarkable examples where beds of ore were revealed by plants growing on the surface above are summarized by Lidgely in the proceedings of the Australian Mining Institute. The Amorpha canescens shrub indicates the presence of guiena, the lead sulphide ore, in Michigan, while in Missouri a plant belonging to the poison sumach family serves the same purpose, as a lead ore indicator. Beech trees often indicate that limestone beds are to be found in the neighborhood. In Spain a sort of bindweed, known as Convolvulus athenoides, is deemed of high value in betraying the presence of underlying deposits of phosphate ore. The plant Erigonum ovatifolium discloses the existence of silver ore in Montana. The calamine violet, which grows in upper Silesia, Westphalia and Belgium, is a sign of the existence of calamine, the zinc ore [illegible]

Operator Cut In on Concert for Invalid

A young man of the city, confined to his home with a bad throat, answered his telephone sometime after midnight recently. Three girls of his acquaintance announced that they had prepared a concert for his exclusive entertainment, and that he should "please stand by."

The girls then put their telephone at one end of their piano, and got a ukulele to fill out the harmony. All three of them (semiprofessionals, by the way) sang to the soft accompaniment, doing all the popular songs of the moment, to the unbounded joy of the sick young man who had been dying for company all evening. They continued for the better part of an hour, when suddenly an operator cut in, presumably to find out why they were holding the phone so long. She had begun a sharp tirade when the hapless got the best of her. She listened silently and then in a minute she broke in and requested a song.—Cleveland Press.

WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY OCT. 1 TO 20

An exhibition of photographs loaned by the Library Art Club consisting of "Embroidery of the Peasants of Smolensk" is on display in the Public Library from Oct 1 to 20.

Smolensk is a province of Russia, west of Moscow. Its principal city, of the same name, was of importance in the year 882, when it was captured by the Variague Prince Oleg, and since then it has been the scene of many sieges, probably the latest being by Napoleon in 1812.

These examples of embroidery are the result of the efforts of Princess Marie Tenichev to revive an old industry. For several years she searched among the older people for formulas for dyeing the thread, and for the general principles of the work. The linen is entirely the product of the peasants through planting, steeping, spinning, dyeing and weaving. The materials are given out to the women, who do the work in their homes, and invent the design, the integral motive being never repeated.

HEAR 2600 POUNDS OF MUSIC

When you sit down to a delectable meal, you often consume in 30 minutes the results of hours of labor on behalf of the cook. This is what makes the housewife exclaim, "I never have anything to show for my work." The same must often flash through Wilbur D. Keiffer's mind, chief executive on tour of the United States Marine Band.

The transportation and safe arrival at city and theater of 2600 pounds of music falls to his lot. He superintends stage setting and seating arrangements. When an instrument needs repair he must attend to it, and the transportation of members he also provides for. He, like the cook, must think how little his audiences know of the preparation involved for each and every concert. The "President's Own" will appear here in concert on Oct. 11 under the auspices of the Rotary Club.

DISABLED WAR VETERANS' PICNIC

On Tuesday morning five automobiles, driven by Mrs. George E. Dutting, Mrs. Lillian Simon, Mrs. Fred B. Cole, Miss Virginia Randlett and Mr. Freeman Miller left Winchester for the new Veterans' Hospital in Bedford. There the cars were filled with a group of helpless boys, who seldom have an opportunity to leave the building. They were driven to Candoie Lake, where the ladies were allowed to park the cars close to the edge of the water. There a delicious picnic luncheon was served. This delightful affair was planned by Mrs. Charles E. Hoey and Mrs. Rasmus K. Miller, who were assisted in every possible way by the manager of Candoie Lake Park in making the day a comfortable and happy one for the boys.

Like Dynamite

There is nothing that a man will not do for the woman he truly loves! There is a type of woman who knows this and who, after having won the devoted love of a man, proceeds to use that love as a mean of gaining her purely selfish ends.

Many a woman of this type is hopelessly extravagant. She knows that her husband will make any sacrifice to gratify even her slightest whim. But she often does not know that the very love which makes him spoil her will make him violently condemn her if she indulges in dangerous indiscretions.

Love is somewhat like dynamite. If properly handled it can serve the most useful of purposes. If treated carelessly, it can cause havoc and even death.—True Story Magazine.

Monday morning at 6:20 two Ford coupes were in collision on upper Main street at Swanton street. The first, driven by Ernest E. Kilcup of Brand avenue, Wilmington, was headed south on Main street while the second, operated by Harvey Destremp of 20 Lillian street, Woburn, was crossing Main from Swanton to enter Water street. Both cars were damaged and Kilcups' machine had to be towed to an out-of-town garage.

A Chevrolet truck, owned by Nicola Iannacci of 67 Water street, Woburn, and driven by John Iannacci of the same address, while going north on Main street Tuesday afternoon was in collision with a Studebaker sedan, owned by Nicholas J. Considerable interest was aroused on Tuesday by the moving of the old Nauffts house from the place where it had long stood at the corner of Main and Vine streets up the hill to its new destination on Vine street between the Ambrose and Mellett residences. The house which is of good size was slowly drawn up the steep slope of Vine street by two horses hitched to capstans, and to the casual observer it seemed almost impossible for the relatively small animals to move so great a weight. The Edison Light poles on the northerly side of Vine street had to be taken down to allow the house to pass. It was removed from its former location to make room for another gasoline filling station.

Mrs. Earle E. Andrews of Highland avenue has as her guest her father, Mr. S. M. Ripley of Long Beach, Cal. Mr. Ripley will remain in Winchester several weeks before leaving for Illinois. On his return trip to California he will again visit Winchester.

ANNAPOLIS ROWING COACH IS GUEST OF WINCHESTER MAN

"Bob" Guild Entertained Former Rowing Mates Despite Broken Leg

Every one at all interested in sports knows of "Dick" Glendon, justly famous coach of rowing at the United States Naval Academy, and as a consequence the fact that he spent the past week-end in Winchester is in itself of interest. When, however, it is also known that Mr. Glendon was in town to attend a reunion of a championship schoolboy crew which he had selected and coached in 1899 and of which two Winchester men were members the interest from a purely local viewpoint becomes intensified. Robert F. Guild, one of the former schoolboy rowing stars in question, was host for the reunion party at his home, 24 Cabot street. Harold Bates of Warren street is the other Winchester member of that all-scholastic crew which won the junior eights at Springfield on July 4, 1899, and in August of the same year, the intermediate race for eight oared crews in the National regatta on the Charles. The two old crewmates had not met for 29 years until a few months ago when Mr. Bates came to take up residence in Winchester just across the street from the Guild home.

The idea of getting together the men who as schoolboys had formed what "Dick" Glendon still considers a championship crew was conceived by "Bob" Guild who undertook to round up the former oarsmen for an informal dinner at his home. Mr. Glendon, when reached at his South Chatham home on Cape Cod, was enthusiastic and promised to be present. Mr. Guild succeeded in rounding up five of the original crew who with Coach Glendon made a party of six. Two of the boys who rowed in the winning boats, Malcolm Green, coxswain, and Charles E. Fox, No. 6, representing respectively Stone School and Brookline High, are now dead, and Ernest George of Roxbury Latin wired regrets from Montreal at not being able to be present at the dinner. This same George was in his day quite a sculler, winning the junior singles championship at Worcester and later the same day doubling with Rudolph Thanisch of Mechanics High to take the junior doubles crown.

Thanisch, who now makes his home in Roxbury and who is a member of the Boston Engineering Department, was a member of the championship eight oared boat of '99. He was present at the reunion last Saturday evening with Mr. Guild, Mr. Glendon and also Mr. Bates of Winchester, H. F. Phillips of Swampscott and Herbert H. Holton of Boston and Swampscott, a Boston banker, widely known as an amateur golfer playing out of Tedesco.

At the Guild home these former oarsmen sat down to dinner which was followed by a happy hour of reminiscence lasting until well into the evening. The old crew was it seems, something to be proud of. Its membership was picked by Glendon in much the same fashion as it is now popular to chose all interscholastic football and baseball teams. It differed from the present day mythical "all" teams in that its members were banded together and coached by Glendon for their appearance at Springfield where they had an easy victory in the juniors.

Following their eight lengths win the boys disbanded for their summer vacations and when it was decided to compete again on the Charles in August only a week's training could be crowded in before racing time. Nevertheless the young champions arose to the occasion and scored another impressive victory at Cambridge in record breaking time of which Coach Glendon still speaks with pardonable pride.

The latter may certainly boast of the rowing strain which shows itself in his family. When the newspapers are not commenting upon the Olympic champions he is developing at Annapolis they are calling attention to the record which his son, "Dick Jr.," is attaining at Columbia where he is varsity crew coach. A younger son, Hubert, is coach of the Columbia freshman crews.

The elder Glendon had one unpleasant incident mar his day last Saturday and his sorrow in the misfortune which befell "Bob" Guild was shared by the others of the reunion party. "Bob" continued his athletic success at Harvard after leaving Boston Latin and was a member of the varsity eleven at Cambridge as well as taking an active interest in rowing. Since leaving Harvard he has been a successful coach and of late has been following the pigskin chasers as a college and schoolboy official.

It was in the latter capacity that he journeyed to Groton Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Glendon who had arranged for a stopover in Winchester while en route to Annapolis.

Mr. Guild, as referee, had just blown his whistle for the fifth play of the game between Groton and Middlesex Schools and was stooping to steady the ball when a charging Groton boy crashed into his right leg, breaking the tibia off just at the knee.

Mr. Guild was carried from the field and given emergency treatment at the Groton infirmary, later being driven to his home by his daughter, Miss Barbara Guild, who with Miss Louise Packer was in the stands at the game.

It was at first thought that the party for the evening might have to be called off but a mere broken limb to an old football warrior was nothing to be alarmed about and "Bob" absolutely refused to cancel the reunion.

Early Sunday morning Dr. "Tommy" Richards, football squad doctor at Harvard, visited the Guild home and after diagnosing "Bob's" injury set the wounded leg and got his patient into bed where the latter is now resting comfortably and saying many unkind things about the luck which will prevent his further appearance as an official at the remainder of this fall's football contests.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

The Annual Convention of Middlesex County, W. C. T. U., held in the First Congregational Church, Wellesley Hills Wednesday, Sept. 26, was well attended in spite of the down pour of rain, seven delegates going from Winchester.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton, Winchester; Vice President at Large, Mrs. May L. Burnes, Woburn; Secretary, Mrs. Maude L. M. Simmons, Somerville; Treasurer, Mrs. Clara Maynard, Cambridge.

Rev. Stanley Ross Fisher and Mrs. Alice G. Ropes, State President, were the speakers of the afternoon.

Five county prizes were awarded for essays written in schools during the past year. Somerville carried off three, Newton one, and Miss Olive Greene of Winchester took first prize from the Freshman-Sophomore contest. Miss Greene also takes the State prize.

The Volstead Act and the Greatest American of His Day

The greatest American of his day, President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, says in his book, "A Late Harvest," pages 263-4, "Nobody should advocate the repeal of the Volstead Act except those who believe in the unrestricted sale of alcoholic beverages—the sale of distilled liquors in saloons licensed to sell light wines and beer cannot be prevented. You must have national prohibition to make prohibition effective. It must be nationwide, or it simply cannot be enforced. It is only since 1917 that I have been a total abstainer; but that is now six years ago, and I want to testify here, now, that by adopting total abstinence, after having had the opposite habit for over 70 years, one loses no joys that are worth having, and there is no joy-killing about it. On the contrary, I enjoy social life and working life more since I ceased to take any alcohol than I did before. That talk about joy-killing and pleasure-losing, and so forth, is absolute nonsense for a man who has any sense himself."

He who supports the Volstead Act works for righteousness; he who works for license works for evil. What nonsense to talk about light wine and beer for the working man. If there is any class who should not have light wine and beer it is the poor, working class. Think of the meanness, the utter selfishness of the poor man who cannot give his wife and children clothing, books, education, home comforts and opportunities equal to those enjoyed by the families of the well to do, spending his money for unnecessary wine and beer just for himself, for his own sensual pleasure, at the expense of the comfort and well being of his wife and children.

RED CROSS NOTES

The response to our appeal for clothing for those who were left destitute by the recent hurricane was gratifying to all of us here at headquarters. Most of the clothing donated is most suitable to the warm climate of the section in which the hurricane wrought its damage. The Red Cross owes a vote of thanks to the people of Winchester for their generosity in this emergency.

According to present plans there will be no personal house-to-house canvass for money with which to carry on the work of helping the sufferers and preventing the spread of disease. Although our quota is far from filled as yet, money is coming in slowly each day and there's no doubt but that it will keep right on coming in. Most of our people have been so generous that we can't help believing that those who haven't yet contributed will realize what an urgent need there is for money in this work. With the example set us by Herbert Hoover and President Coolidge in their untiring efforts in this cause, we're quite sure that Winchester won't fall behind.

WINCHESTER BOYS STARRED FOR NORWICH

Local sports enthusiasts have reason to be proud of the showing made by two former Winchester High athletes who were in the Norwich lineup against the big Green team of Dartmouth last Saturday afternoon at Hanover. Although soundly beaten as was to be expected, the Cadets succeeded in scoring upon Dartmouth for the first time in 10 years and it was the forward passing of Captain Clarence "Lead" O'Donnell to Coane which brought about the tally. The first of the passes was for about 38 yards in the air and the second about 30, both being very accurate. "Joe" Tansey, the other local boy in the Norwich lineup, played throughout the entire game at right guard being the only lineman on either eleven to stand the gaff.

ACCIDENT TO SCHOOL BUS MENACED CHILDREN

The unknown driver of an automobile threatened the safety of several school children at 8:15 Monday morning when his machine crowded the motor bus in which they were riding easterly on High street off the road and into a hole, breaking off the right front wheel. The offending automobile did not stop and in the excitement its registration was not noticed. Several of the children in the bus were cut by broken glass but no serious injuries were reported. The vehicle was the property of H. J. Erskine of 4 Linden street and driven by Horace V. Lindsay of 13 Lakin street who reported the matter to the police.

RIVERSIDE THEATRE

The Riverside Theatre in Medford has been re-opened under new management, that of Philip Smith of Boston, a well-known and successful operator of a chain of independent theatres, located in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York State. The Riverside, closed all summer, has been thoroughly renovated and brightened up, and bids fair under the new auspices to play to increasing crowds weekly. A pleasing feature of the programs is the organ accompaniment on the giant Kilgen, by Everett Hayden, who although still in his teens, has been for over a year, the featured player at the South Boston Strand, another of Mr. Smith's enterprises.

The program announcement will be found in another column. The management announces the production of the great "mother-love" feature "Four Sons," at an early date.

Elephant Supreme in Rulership of Jungle

Elephants are found nearly everywhere in Indo-China except in Tonking. They are similar to the Indian elephants, and although they have been divided into several subspecies, on very slender ground they all belong to the same race: Elephas maximus.

Not so tall as their African cousins, but very nearly as big, they differ from the latter by a good number of points, "F. J." says, writing in the Atlantic Monthly. Their ears are much smaller and differently shaped. Their trunk is absolutely flexible and not made of numerous segments, but rather like a big rubber tube with only one fingerlike proboscis at the tip. Their back is convex from the shoulders to the root of the tail and their forehead is slightly concave. Also the brain capacity is larger than in the African species thus making the head shot far more deadly. An Asiatic elephant charging is easily stopped with a bullet in the forehead.

To my mind, the elephant deserves the name of King of Beasts more than does the lion or the tiger. He fears only man, and that not always. He is the unchallenged master of the jungle and, confident in his enormous strength, leads among its denizens a peaceful existence, fearing none and attacking none.

"Floating" Opals

The Smithsonian Institution says that there is no such thing as a floating opal in a natural stone. However, there has recently been manufactured an opal called the floating opal. This is a glass or crystal ball containing some fluid in which there floats ground opal. This gives the appearance of floating opal.

WINCHESTER WON FOOTBALL OPENER

Forward Passes Pave Way to Two Touchdowns—Score, 19—7

A good sized crowd, estimated at 2500, saw Winchester win its opening football game of the 1928 season on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon, defeating a husky looking Stoneham High eleven, 19—7. The afternoon was ideal from the standpoint of the spectator and those who saw the game were satisfied that Coach Mansfield has at least a courageous team to represent the local high school on the gridiron this fall.

Stoneham, on the basis of its showing against Malden the previous week-end, was rather favored by the wise ones to take Winchester last Saturday and when the clubs took the field the visitors presented much the more rugged appearance.

The teams fought on even terms during the first half due to the fact that quarterback Kendrick was using very poor judgment in his selection of plays. Nobody knew what Stoneham had in the way of an offense, fumbling, poor passing and offside preventing the visitors from getting under way.

Winchester's chief offensive threat was a lateral pass which was seldom intercepted or knocked down but which on the other hand failed to gain much of any yardage.

Midway through the second quarter an exchange of kicks and an offside penalty gave Winchester the ball inside the Stoneham 30-yard line and for the time being the locals came to life in earnest.

A pretty forward pass from Kendrick to Tompkins covered all but 4 yards of the distance to the Stoneham goal line and after a couple of linebucks Kendrick went over inside tackle for the touchdown. The attempt to add the extra point by rushing failed.

Winchester dropped once more into lethargy after the touchdown and merely held Stoneham even until the half.

Following intermission, Captain Amico kicked off to Adzigian and the fleet visiting fullback ran through the entire Winchester team for a touchdown. Stoneham went into the lead when it forward passed across the local goal line for the extra point.

Both clubs pepped up after this but Stoneham looked best until toward the close of the quarter when one of Lee's soaring spirals was muffed by the Stoneham safety man inside midfield and recovered by Derby for Winchester.

Once again Kendrick displayed good jugment in his choice of plays and once more that nifty forward pass, this time from Kendrick to Lee, carried the ball to the Stoneham one-yard line. From there Lee quickly bored over off tackle for the score, but Kendrick failed to kick the goal.

This touchdown seemed to take the life out of Stoneham and during the last quarter which began soon after, the visitors were noticeably outplayed. With the period well along Winchester got the ball after an exchange of punts at its own 40-yard line and started a successful march up the field. Godfrey, Lee and Roy Horn alternated in carrying the ball but it was "Skinny" Kendrick who twice produced the necessary yardage for first down at critical moments. Finally with only seconds to go Kendrick got away around Stoneham's left end for a pretty 15-yard gallop resulting in a touchdown. Lee passed for the extra point to Kendrick right across the center of the Stoneham line as the final whistle blew.

Only one real casualty was reported, Captain Lundgren of Stoneham being forced out of the fray early in the afternoon. For Winchester the work of Captain Amico, McNeil, Coss and Kendrick stood out, while Adzigian and Ratundi showed well for Stoneham.

Notes

For a green team Winchester did well and with a bit more seasoning will give a good account of itself. An eleven with only three letter men in its lineup can't be expected to play the game as last year's veterans played it.

"Livin'" McNeil deserves plenty of credit for the fine game he played at end despite the fact that he was suffering with several boils which would have kept a less courageous boy on the sidelines.

It was easy to pick the veterans in the Winchester lineup. The work of "Pete" Coss and Captain "Nutsy" Amico on the local rushline stood out like the porverbial sore thumb. What a real leader the peppery Gnazio is going to make.

While "Skinny" Kendrick's judgment could be rightly questioned many times during the afternoon it should not be forgotten that when the scoring opportunities presented themselves he was in each instance equal to the emergency. He ran the eleven well in the pinches.

Neil Kerrigan, "Hoss" Symmes, Roger Derby, "Maury" Tompkins and Roy Horn were newcomers who looked good out there. Kerrigan saw some service a year ago and should prove a real bulwark on the local frontier.

"Clint" Mason, Williams' end; Dana Kelley, Harvard quarterback, and Frank Black, ex-Dean Academy lineman, were helping Coach Mansfield with the squad.

The Winchester backs, with the exception of Roy Horn, were woefully slow in getting started and also showed a tendency to slow up when tackled.

There's no Knowlton there this year," remarked a Stoneham supporter in the Winchester stands. He wasn't telling anybody anything and it's unreasonable to expect the local backs to equal "Henny's" record. They only come like Knowlton now and then. The same also goes for "Archa" Amico whose great tackle play was noticeably absent last Saturday.

"Hoot" Gibson, Winchester's flaming thatched halfback, saved a possible touchdown with a great open field tackle in the third quarter. The flying Stoneham back was all but free.

Hand it to Winchester for following the ball. Every fumble was recovered by the local players who had their noses on the ball every instant.

We couldn't find any one who liked the new field layout. It was necessitated by the greatly increased interest in football and field hockey at high school. Field hockey games can be played without interfering with football practise.

Care of Ferns

Give your fern water only when you see the surface of the soil is dry. Then submerge pot in water for ten minutes. This will mean that every particle of soil in the pot is saturated. Whenever you water the roots spray the tops. Keep plant in a room where there is plenty of fresh air. Florists ventilate their fern houses twice each day. Set the fern outdoors whenever there is a warm rain. As soon as possible set the plant on the shady side of your porch.

Grabbed a Right Fit

The entire staff of Harvard university paused in its duties for four hours while professors, instructors and ordinary help gave advice on the problem of getting a giraffe, 15 feet and 6 inches tall, into the institution via a door that was only 6 feet high and 4 feet wide. The giraffe, being dead and stuffed could give no assistance by bending his neck. After many maneuvers failed he was placed on his side and see-sawed in with the aid of 18 room deal-page bearers.

How We Get "Dixie"

Dixie, as a pet name for the Southland, and its origin in New Orleans and can be traced to certain bank notes issued by the Citizens bank of Louisiana, according to a theory advanced in Pathfinder Magazine. The mixed population of the state of Louisiana at that time necessitated the printing of paper notes in both French and English, so that $10 notes appeared with English on one side and the French word "Dix," meaning 10, on the other. The notes were for this reason christened "Dixies," and the Citizens bank was popularly known as the Dixie bank.

The word spread until it was applied to the whole South. The old bank, supposed to have been the first Dixie bank, still stands at the Rue Royale in New Orleans.

Sat Right Down

Patrons of a local theater, seated behind a young woman who mislaid her purse one evening, missed a part of the photography, because the woman stood up to conduct her search for the lost article, but then enjoyed a little unintentional comedy which other patrons missed.

It was during a court scene put on by the Vitaphone, and the court was hearing parties in a separate support action. Those seated behind the young woman searching for her property were getting fidgety when the judge rapped his gavel, and ordered, "Order in the court, sit down!"

The woman was so surprised that she sunk back into her seat, and there she discovered the missing purse, where it had fallen — Springfield Union

AVERY LECTURES

Miss Annie Avery whose lecture course commences Nov. 6 has just returned from three months' study of conditions and problems in Europe. This is her eighth consecutive year of first-hand study of different nations through travel in the spring.

This year Miss Avery spent one month in England, one in Czechoslovakia and another in Germany, France and the Netherlands. She traveled by air, crossed the English Channel three times by airplane, flew to London, Rotterdam, Paris, Berlin, Prague and Vienna, flying with four of the leading air companies of Europe.

Miss Avery was the guest of the Arbitration Conference of the "League of Nations' Union" in London, had a week's motorboating in Holland, and motored through Slovakia and Moravia to study relations between Czechs and Slovaks, Slovaks and Hungarians.

As Miss Avery landed at Plymouth and sailed from Trieste she also made a brief study of conditions in Austria and Italy.

Because the "Kellogg Peace Plan" was the chief subject of interest to much of Europe, there was splendid opportunity to discuss both that and Europe's attitude toward the United States.

"I consider" says Miss Avery, "that the ground covered and the information I have obtained during my travels this summer is the most important of any of my travels up to date."

WINNIPEG: "CHICAGO OF THE CANADIAN WEST"

Winnipeg, Canada, which will be the beneficiary of a bumper wheat crop this year, in a magic city of Manitoba which has had a rapid rise similar to many of our own Western cities, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Winnipeg is the distributing point for immigrants to the great plains, and is the largest wheat market in the British Empire. Her population, falling little short of 200,000, is an outcome of 60 years growth.

Resembles Thriving U. S. Cities

The thriving capital of Manitoba Province is known as the most American city across the Canadian line. It has prospered because of a naturally advantageous situation as a meeting ground between the wheat and cattle country of the West and the older settled provinces of the East. The city lies some 60 miles from the boundary where the long reaches of the Assiniboine join the waters of the Red River.

Winnipeg's history began as Fort Gary back in the fur trading days of the Hudson's Bay Company when the fort was one of the last outposts of civilization toward the prairies. A fiercely independent population of half breeds or Metis grew up around the trading station. With the present Winnipeg as a center and Louis Riel as a leader they staged the famous Red River rebellion against the approach of the Dominion government. In 1870 this uprising was crushed by Colonel Wolesley and his famous regiment. A way was thus paved for civilization and the Canadian Pacific Railroad. The latter's yards at Winnipeg are now said to be among the largest in the world.

Immigration Center of the Plains

Immigrants from almost every known country pour daily into the great train shed of this transcontinental railway. They spend some time in Winnipeg as a sort of headquarters and then spread out over the plains. Ten journals in the Icelandic tongue alone are published in and about Winnipeg. There are Mennonite and Doukhobor settlements in Manitoba with all the quaintness of ancient Russia. Demands for settlers on the frontier and for laborers on the great wheat ranches of the older valleys seem inexhaustible.

The city of Winnipeg itself, built upon the level prairie, is noted more for efficiency, cleanliness and hustle than for municipal beauty. Its architecture is square and plain, like the newer American cities, but it boasts many beautiful residential "crescents" and "places." On older streets the gingerbread architecture of the early nineties with an over supply of mansard roofs strikes the visitor's attention. However, the newer mansions of the well-to-do classes equal any residential districts of a city of similar size in "the States."

Winter Sports Attract Visitors

Winnipeg's climate is one of extremes, cold in winter and hot in summer, yet it is considered particularly healthy. Winter sports, especially ice boating and curling, attract visitors for miles around. In summer the city dweller has but a drive of 20 miles to reach Grand Beach on Lake Winnipeg, Manitoba's greatest resort. On hot summer days thousands of holiday makers crowd the sands at this popular watering place.

Winnipeg boasts more sunny days in the year than any other large Canadian center, from which fact it enjoys the nickname of "Sunshine City." To the sophisticated traveler this name, like similar designations, must be taken with a grain of salt.

Nevertheless, Canada's magic city does lie in a district of sunny, black loam prairies, where wheat grows in unrivalled luxuriance during a short, hot northern summer. Likewise the brisk clearness of her long, cold winters makes the spot well suited for out-door winter life. One does not expect the "Sunshine City" of Canada to rival California. Winnipeg is not San Diego in climate. She comes much nearer making good her claim of rivaling Chicago as a wheat market.

CALUMET NOTES

The opening dinner took place last Saturday evening and true to prediction, there was a large crowd present and good fellowship prevailed. The dinner was especially fine and it consisted of fruit cup, baked ham, mashed potato, peas, celery, escalloped oysters, ices, cake and coffee—all for $1 including entertainment. It was prepared by Fred Scholl and he was true to his word when he said there would be no cause to worry about quantity and quality. The question is how could he do it for the money, but anyhow it was done and everybody seemed to be full of praise. The service was prompt, too. Quite a few came in late and there were also some who did not send in a card, but, nevertheless, their wants were well and promptly supplied. There is no reason why the club should not have more of such dinners.

The entertainment was by John Thomas, the well known humorist. He came well recommended and the club showed its appreciation of his efforts. Mr. Thomas has a keen sense of the humorous side of life and by this ability he is able to give many features of a very attractive and novel character. His mobile and expressive face and his distinct enunciation adds charm to his work.

The bowling alleys were kept busy after the entertainment. Guess the bowlers were getting in a little practice in preparation for the coming tournament. Quite a few enjoyed whist.

The canoe, donated by a generous member of the club, was won by L. E. Savage. "Ken" Pratt was right on the job and we think by this time he has obtained a new member for the Boat Club.

"Doc" Hindes led the singing in his inimitable way and his chorus responded vociferously to his efforts—some more vociferous than others.

President Walter Brown welcomed the new members and spoke of the general efforts of the club while Ernest Chase, chairman of the entertainment committee, told what the members had in store for them in the line of pleasure for the coming season.

On Saturday evening we shall have open house with the regular Saturday night luncheon.

On Oct. 19 will occur the first dinner-bridge of the season. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. and the bridge will commence at 7:30 p. m. The charge per person is 75c for the dinner or for the bridge or for both combined, but members are requested to make reservations early so that the club may known just how many they will have to accommodate.

The drive which is being made by Chairman Harris Richardson of the membership committee and his able corps is proving very successful. Already there are over 30 names up on the board and more are promised.

The winter bowling tournament started last Monday night with a great deal of enthusiasm. The schedule shows 31 teams divided into two sections. At the close of the schedule the three leading teams in sections A and B will take part in a "World Series" of three matches on dates chosen by the Bowling Committee and prizes will be awarded at a dinner to be furnished by the eight lowest teams in each section.

FUNERAL OF GIUSEPPE TI BAURO HELD SATURDAY

The funeral of Giuseppe Ti Bauro, 42, who died in the Winchester Hospital Wednesday, Oct. 3, was held last Saturday morning from the late residence, 52 Swanton street. A high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan. Following the mass the body was escorted by a band and the Christoforo Columbo Society, of which the deceased had been a member, to Calvary Cemetery where the interment was made.

Ti Bauro lost his life as a result of injuries sustained when he was caught in a conveyor belt which he was attempting to replace at the plant of the New Boston Sand & Gravel Company of Woburn. He was so badly wrenched that he was paralyzed from the waist down. He was a native of Italy and had made his home in Winchester for the past 10 years. A wife and five small children survive him.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church held an enthusiastic meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ralph T. Damon, 16 Everett avenue. Following the meeting of the executive board, the general meeting opened with 79 ladies present.

The Winchester trio composed of Mrs. Alice Abbott, Mrs. Idabella Winship, Mrs. Gertrude Barnes, with Mrs. Alexander at the piano were warmly appreciated with their numbers:

Homing . . . . . By Del Riego
It Is Only a Tiny Garden . . . By Wood
In the Time of Roses . . . By Reichardt
The World is Waiting for the Sunrise

All the afternoon speakers were Winchester ladies and it was especially enjoyable to hear these ladies tell of their interesting work. Mrs. Parker, who is chairman of the general Alliance Postoffice Mission, outlined the work of the various branches in this field, explained just the type of people the work reached and the expected results.

Mrs. Robbins, a member of the General Alliance Committee on social service, who is very active in the Fruit and Flower Mission gave first the brief history of the Fruit and Flower Mission, then explained exactly how the work is carried on and the area covered. She paid great tribute to the railroad's free service and made each lady see behind the scenes as it were of a work, of which all had come in touch and perhaps were only slightly familiar.

Mrs. Hildreth and Mrs. Orpin talked intimately of their experiences as delegates to Star Island, during General Alliance Week and a poem to Star Island was read which was written by Miss Bradford, the delegate from the Sunday School.

Mrs. Lillian Mason with her committee prepared a dainty tea with Mrs. George Reed and Miss Alice Mason pouring at the tea table.

There will be a meeting of the executive board next Wednesday morning, Oct. 17 at 10 o'clock in the church parlors.

Mrs. Daniel Kelley is busy arranging for a rummage sale which will be held in the small Town Hall, Wednesday, Oct. 24.

POLICE OFFICERS ATTACKED BY DOG

Patrolmen John Hogan and Walter Lord notified headquarters at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning that they had been attacked while patrolling their respective beats in the Plains section by a particularly vicious black and white dog. The animal had evidently been confined for a fragment of chain was attached to his neck. He leaped upon Officer Hogan's chest in an effort to reach the latter's throat and both policemen were obliged to use their clubs to drive the dog off.

The latter made good his escape and 20 minutes after his appearance on the plains attacked Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey at the center and Patrolman Archie O'Connell at Symmes Corner. Word was finally received that the dog had repeated his depradations in Medford and was finally shot in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. H. Taylor are attending the Investment Bankers' Association Convention at Atlantic City. Mr. Taylor represents the Boston Evening Transcript.

STANTON—DENISON

The wedding of Miss Emma Frances Denison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Denison of 16 Brooks street, and Avery Harris Stanton of Troy, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stanton, took place last Saturday evening, Oct. 6, in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church officiating. Pink gladioli and roses combined to form most attractive decorations.

Miss Denison was attended by her sister, Miss E. Katherine Denison of Winchester and by Miss Nancy Robertson of Lowell who served as flower girl. Mr. Stanton's best man was Edward S. Johnston of Troy, Ohio.

The bride wore a gown of ivory white satin in period style, trimmed with Alemons lace, and a veil of tulle caught up with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley, sweetheart roses and orchids. The maid of honor wore a frock of pale jade chiffon in period style and carried yellow roses.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony from 8 until 9:30 o'clock, the parents of both bride and bridegroom assisting the young couple in the receiving line. George W. Denison of Winchester and Alfred A. Mulliken of Springfield served as ushers.

The bride was graduated from Smith College in the class of 1922 and from the Katherine Gibbs School of Boston. Mr. Stanton is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was president of the college athletic association in 1925 and is a member of the Beta Theta Pi and Theta Tau fraternities. He is associated in business with the Hahaut Manufacturing Company of Troy, Ohio, and will spend the next few months at its New York office.

FAY GIVEN CUP

At the freshman smoker held at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Oct. 5, Marshall H. Fay of 36 Park avenue, a senior at Technology was presented with the Technique cup for scoring the most points for Technology in Intercollegiate meets during the 1928 season. This cup is awarded annually to an athlete of Technology since 1922.

The sterling efforts that Fay has made in his running during the last winter and spring were well rewarded by the honor of having his name inscribed on the cup. A smaller cup of the same design is given to the record holder for his own possession and the larger cup being kept in the possession of the school as a permanent trophy.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

At the last monthly meeting very extensive plans were made for the coming Hallowe'en Costume Party to be held on Oct. 25, in White's Hall. This is an annual affair and as in previous years offers the same features and attractions. Sisters Josephine V. Kane and B. Young, acting as joint chairmen are in charge, which betokens its success from the beginning.

The members extend sincere congratulations to Sister Julia Tracey on her coming marriage.

The first meeting of the season of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League will be held on Thursday, Oct. 18 at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Irving L. Symmes, 10 Madison avenue. MAN STRUCK BY CAR WHILE CROSSING CENTER

Stephen F. Burns, 58, machinist of 3 Elmwood avenue sustained injuries to his knees and a severe shaking up at 6:15 Tuesday evening when he was struck while crossing the square by a Ford coupe, owned by W. W. McLean of 125 North street, Somerville, and driven by John C. Gorman of 1 Warwick place.

The latter was driving north on Main street and was about to cross the railroad tracks when the accident occurred. Mr. Burns was on his way from the traffic box to the gate tender's shanty.

Mr. Gorman picked up the injured man and took him with Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy to the office of Dr. Milton J. Quinn where his injuries were treated.

GOVERNOR TO ATTEND CORNER STONE LAYING IN WINCHESTER

Gov. Alvan T. Fuller is to be present and assist in the laying of the corner stone of the new First Baptist Church, according to an announcement made by Mr. D. C. Linscott of the Church Building Committee this morning. The date of the ceremony is set for Armistice Sunday, Nov. 11 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

ARLINGTON HERE COLUMBUS DAY

Winchester High will open its Mystic Valley League football schedule on the afternoon of Columbus Day when it will entertain Arlington High on Manchester Field in what looms as a real test for the local eleven.

Coach Mansfield's charges have come through their preliminary games with Stoneham and Reading in good shape but have yet to meet the opposition which Arlington will provide.

The locals are not so strong as last year, especially offensively, but the rushline gives evidence of being a stubborn, hard fighting frontier that will take a whole lot of plugging. The Spy Ponders have no such backs this year as McNamara and Sumner and while many are favoring the Red and Gray because of its win at Quincy, the Winchester boys are expecting to give Arlington a real fight.

Winchester and Arlington always put on a real contest, no matter the pre-game conditions and a big crowd will be on hand Friday afternoon to view the battle. The locals will probably take the field against their ancient rivals as follows: Captain Amico, center; Coss and Kerrigan, guards; Symmes and C. McNeil, tackles; J. McNeil and Derby, ends; Kendrick, quarterback; Godfrey and Lee, halfbacks; Roy Horn, fullback.

SMITH RALLY MONDAY NIGHT

Next Monday night there will be a rally in the Town Hall under the auspices of the Winchester Smith-For-President Club of which Mr. Francis R. Mullin is president.

The speakers who have agreed to address the meeting are among the best known workers for the ticket.

They include Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Hon. John F. Malley, candidate for Lieut-Governor, Mrs. Helen Talboy of New York, prominent lawyer, author and lecturer and Mr. Vincent Brogna, Esq., former assistant District Attorney of Suffolk County and member of the Legislature from East Boston.

Mr. Brogna is one of the best-known members of the Massachusetts Bar and is very prominent as a leader among the Americans of Italian descent.

He will give the facts and the public, regardless of party, is invited to hear him. And while Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Malley, both splendid orators, are well-known here in Winchester. All will be especially delighted to hear Mrs. Talboy, who is a first-string speaker connected with the National Democratic Speakers' Bureau, and is a woman of brilliant attainments. She will be well worth hearing and a general invitation is extended to the Winchester public to attend an evening of constructive enjoyment.

GALLO—FERRINA

In St. Mary's Rectory Monday morning, Oct. 8, Miss Florence Elizabeth Ferrina, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Ferrina of 73 Irving street, became the bride of M. Angelo Gallo, son of William Gallo of Pittsburgh, Pa. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley at 10:30 o'clock.

Miss Vincenya Rollo of Winchester attended Miss Ferrina as maid of honor and Mr. Gallo had for his best man Arthur Bonny of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin in bodice style with a veil and cap of lace and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and white roses. Miss Rollo's frock was of silver brocaded blue taffeta. With it she wore a picture hat to match and silver slippers. Her bouquet was of sweetheart roses.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, the young couple being assisted in receiving by their parents. The bride was graduated in 1925 from the Winchester High School where she made an enviable athletic reputation as a member of the girls' hockey and basketball teams. Since her graduation she has been employed by the Boston office of Stone & Webster. Mr. Gallo is a musician in Pittsburgh. He and Mrs. Gallo will make their home in Philadelphia following a honeymoon in New York.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Tonight, Thursday, Oct. 11, the tennis dance will be held at the club house. This is a subscription affair, and promises to be as good a party as the four boat dance of two weeks ago. Harry Gardner, "Doc" Blanchard and "Ferd" Hawley, of the tennis committee have done a lot of work to put this party across. It was necessary this year to entirely rewire the tennis court and fit it up in general. This always costs money, especially, the heaviest grade of wire (that is what has to be used because of the proximity of the court to the lake, and so much moisture). A special tennis rate has been made to members playing tennis regularly this summer, and has proven more satisfactory than having the steward collect a nickel after every set. All those who played in the fall tournament last week, were much pleased with the condition of the court and admitted that it was in the best shape it has been for years, even with the excessive rains of this season.

Come tonight, even if you don't arrive until after the band concert at the Town Hall, because the "last part of every party is the best part of the partee."

ANGEVINE—CROSBY

Dr. John Edgar Park, president of Wheaton College, officiated at the wedding of Miss Helen Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Crosby of 10 Lenox street, West Newton, and Ernest Groesbeck Angevine of 3 Fletcher street, son of Mrs. J. F. Angevine and the late Mr. Angevine, the ceremony taking place last Saturday evening, Oct. 6, at 8 o'clock in the Second Church, Newton. Doctor Park was assisted by the pastor of the church, Dr. Boynton Merrill.

Miss Mary Foss of Boston was Miss Crosby's honor attendant and the bridesmaids were Mrs. William Edgar Crosby, Jr. of Taunton, Mrs. Henry G. Crosby of Newton, Miss Ferrisse Angevine of Winchester, Miss Louise Lovejoy of West Newton, Miss Frances Hatch of Newtonville and Miss Doris White of West Medford.

Mr. Angevine had for his best man Henry MacDonald of Erie, Pa., and the corps of ushers included Jay B. Angevine of Arlington, William E. Crosby, Jr. of Taunton, Henry G. Crosby of Newton, Wilson H. Crosby of West Newton, Guido Perera and Wingate Bixby 3rd, both of Boston, Creighton Miller of Marshall, Mich. and Longstreet Hinton of New York City.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white velvet with lace cap and carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies, brides' roses and orchids. The maid of honor wore flame chiffon and carried butterfly roses, and the frocks of the bridesmaids were of gold chiffon and their bouquets, of Drew roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was attractively decorated with cedars and fall flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Crosby and Mrs. J. F. Angevine assisted the bride and bridegroom in receiving.

At the conclusion of the reception the young couple left upon a wedding journey which is to take them abroad, through England, France, Switzerland and Italy.

The bride was graduated from Smith College with the class of 1925. Mr. Angevine received his degree at Williams in 1924 and was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1928. He is associated with the Boston law firm of Hutchins & Wheeler.

THE BOARD OF ASSESSORS will be in session at their office in the Town Hall, from 7 to 9 P. M., October 22nd, 25th and 30th, 1928. Also on Thursday evenings during the month of November.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The data submitted below shows the comparative membership figures for September 1927 and September 1928:

	Sept. 1927	Sept. 1928
High	327	335
Richland	75	79
Lincoln	332	321

Wyman	335	325
	2160	2222

As in the past the schools continue to show a gradual increase. As indicated, increases are noted in the High, Mystic and George Washington Schools.

The evening schools will officially open on Monday evening, Oct. 15 and will be held three evenings a week for 20 consecutive weeks. The sessions will be held Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. As heretofore, elementary and advanced classes will be conducted for those desiring to learn to read and write the English language and for any who look forward to becoming American citizens. There will also be a class for those people who were obliged to leave school early, but who now desire a further education.

The Superintendent will be very glad to confer with anyone whether he be a minor or an adult, for the purpose of providing an educational program that will meet the needs of the individual. Appointments may be made by calling Winchester 1780.

Although evening classes in some of the high school subjects were opened a few years ago, it was found that there were not sufficient numbers in any one subject to warrant the continuation of the classes. However, there are regular evening high schools and trade courses conducted in neighboring communities, especially in Boston, to which in the past certain Winchester residents have received further education. The Superintendent will be pleased to confer with anyone who might possibly be interested in attending such classes.

WINCHESTER SCORED THREE TIMES ON READING

Local Team Played Heads-Up Football—Kerrigan Big Star

An alert, fighting Winchester High School football team played heads-up football last Saturday afternoon at Reading to defeat a big, game Reading High eleven, 18—0. The locals out-smarted their opponents all the way and showed a commendable ability to take advantage of the Reading boys' mistakes. Winchester got the breaks, if you will, but Coach Mansfield's charges deserved their advantage. They made the breaks in each instance.

Every member of the local outfit was in the game each minute and all are equally deserving of praise for the satisfactory showing of the team. Yet it is only fair to single out Neil Kerrigan, scrappy right guard, for especial mention. This lad seems destined to go quite a way this fall and last Saturday he was Winchester's bright and shining star. Three times he was through to block Reading punts, finally falling on the ball behind the goal line for the game's first touchdown. In the third period it was this same husky line-man who prevented a sure Reading score when he nailed a flying green jersied back from behind after the latter had gotten clear of scrimmage and was rapidly distancing his field.

Aside from Kerrigan, Roy Horn, "Brad" Godfrey, "Nutsy" Amico, "Skinny" Kendrick and "Livin" McNeil did yeoman service for the Red and Black. McNeil recovered a Reading fumble for a 75-yard romp and touchdown, while Horn accounted for the locals' only touchdown scored while Winchester was in possession of the ball. Godfrey and Kendrick showed some nice open field running and Amico was a tower of strength on the local rushline.

Reading had a big, courageous team which was neither as well coached nor as finely conditioned as the Winchester boys. Its chief threat was a passing game which failed rather because its eligible men couldn't hold onto Phillips' fine forwards rather than through any particular skill on the part of the local defense.

Winchester scored first in the opening quarter after a coupe of blocked kicks and an exchange of punts had given Reading the ball on its own 5-yard line. At this point Kerrigan broke through to block his third punt and fall on the ball behind the goal for the score. The placekick failed.

At the start of the second quarter Kendrick got away on a lateral pass for 20 precious yards but an offside penalty hurt and although the locals kept threatening they were never able to get across the final white line.

To start the second half Godfrey ran the kick-off well up the field but Winchester failed to sustain its offense and Reading took possession of the ball at midfield, making its only serious scoring threat of the afternoon. Phillips tossed off a pretty pass to his left which was taken by right-end Sullivan who was all alone when he made the catch. Horn, the only local man near the play, was taken out and the Reading boy sprinted down the field toward the local goal line. It looked like a sure score, but coming from nowhere and coming like mad, Neil Kerrigan overtook Sullivan and brought him down on Winchester's 15-yard line.

Reading kept right at it and after an ineffective linebuck, Phillips got loose at right end and ran to the Winchester 5-yard line where he was tackled by McNeil. The big green backs failed to gain and a forward pass was grounded in the end zone and returned to Winchester's 20-yard line.

Here Winchester started a steady march up the field and with Godfrey, Kendrick and Horn working in order took the ball to the Reading 25-yard line. At this point, running behind absolutely perfect interference, Horn shot off right tackle and scored without a Reading man laying his hands upon him. Once more the try at goal failed.

The final quarter started soon after and Horn got away for a 20-yard dash at tackle only to have a penalty for clipping take the ball half the distance to the local goal line. Reading took the ball when Lee punted and aided by a couple of pretty forward and lateral passes, took the ball to the local 15-yard line. Here on an attempted forward Winchester hurried the passer and a fumble was recovered by "Livin" McNeil who galloped, closely followed by Kerrigan, 75 long yards to the Reading goal line for the final score of the game.

Coach Mansfield sent in several substitutes as the game drew to a close but a desperate flurry of Reading passes failed to result in a score.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

One good way to grow old gracefully is to be able to change our mind gracefully.

It is no doubt much more blessed to give than to receive, and also more exclusive.

The best way to strengthen your judgment is to give it plenty of exercise.

Our desires constitute the fuel to drive our mental engines, and inspirations are the sparks which start them.

The man who says he never makes a mistake simply doesn't know one when he sees it.

If you are not rich think of the worry you are missing.

Last Saturday morning a funeral procession, accompanied by a band and a good sized escort on foot, arrived in the center just as the railroad gates were lowered to permit a train to pass. The resulting wait was not a long one as the train was only a local of two or three cars. We could not, however, refrain from imagining a long freight pulling slowly along the up-grade as the Town's fire apparatus thundered up to the lowered gates en route to a fire.

The arrival of fall has witnessed the usual preparations by the men of the Park and Cemetery Departments toward putting the Town's property entrusted to them in condition to withstand the rigors of the coming winter. In passing, a word of praise for the efforts during the summer of the men of these departments might not be considered superfluous. Never have the cemetery and the parks about the center been more beautiful than this year. The particularly advantageous weather has enriched the work of the gardners and the result has been one in which the Town has taken a just pride. Superintendents Macksey and MacDonald have reason to be congratulated upon their season's accomplishment.

Cheering and singing has become more and more a part of interscholastic football throughout succeeding seasons and no little pleasure is derived by the spectators from the efforts of rival student supporters of the teams between the halves of the games. Winchester has improved its sideline backing of its eleven immensely during the past few years and last season the local cheering and singing were exceptionally good. There is no reason to suppose that this fall will witness any falling off in the support accorded the high school eleven which because of a lack of veteran players will stand in particular need of encouragement. The local cheering section could be made much more effective, however if the boys would follow the excellent example set by the girls of the school who have always been particularly loyal at the games. No boy is in danger of losing caste by giving his vocal equipment in support of his team and school.

A daily glance at the police "blotter" leads one to wonder whether perhaps the youngsters of the Town aren't going a bit too far in their desire for a good time when this desire leads them to destroy private and in some instances public property. The authorities are, and have been receiving complaints from property holders, especially concerning the breaking of glass in houses or other structures perhaps for the time being vacant. Other mischief of the more or less malicious sort is also from time to time reported. The police have been very tolerant with the youthful offenders and by far the greater number of cases arising from property damage done by children have been settled without recourse to the courts. There is, however, a limit to the forbearance of the authorities and the citizens of the Town may also reach a point where they will believe that patience has ceased to be a virtue. Being compensated financially for property damage does not entirely remove the attendant vexation. In many past instances the youngsters who have caused such damage have been old enough to realize the wrong committed, and only the desire of those at headquarters to shield all minors so far as possible from police records has prevented their being dealt with summarily. It would be well for parents generally to sound a warning note and to explain the particular cowardice attached to destroying that which belong to others. Hallowe'en is only just around the corner and the temptation at this season is always unusually strong. There is no indication that the authorities will condone any mischief which savors of rowdyism on this occasion sacred to the jack-o-lantern and broomstick riding witches.

Mrs. Fessenden of 47 Church street will be open daily from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m. except Sundays 1:30 to 8 p. m. Food service a la cart, luncheon 12 to 2, afternoon tea 4 to 6 and dinner at night $1 and $1.25 each. Chicken dinners will be served Thursday nights. All food is home cooked. The Fireside consists of two dining rooms, and a large lounge hall including three fireplaces; one room will be reserved exclusively for men during the noon lunch period. Special attention will be given to bridge, luncheons and tea parties.

ABSENT VOTING

The large number of inquiries that have been made to me recently about absent voting leads me to believe that many of our voters really do not understand the situation despite the notice that previously appeared in the Star.

Any one who is a legal voter in town is entitled to the absentee vote provided he is going to be absent on Nov. 6. There are only two steps to be taken.

First: The voter must obtain an application from the Town Clerk which he must sign and return immediately to the Clerk so that the Registrars of Voters can approve the same.

Second: The voter must fill out a ballot just the same as if he voted on the regular election day.

If his application is approved by the Registrars, a ballot will be sent to the voter and he can vote even before Nov. 6. His voting, however, must take place in a town or city separated by two towns or cities from Winchester. On obtaining the ballot, the voter should go before a Notary Public or Justice of the Peace. This could be in the City of Boston. He fills out his ballot, makes oath to the same and mails it back to the Town Clerk who retains it until election day.

Of course, if the voter is abroad or goes abroad before the Town Clerk receives the ballots, such voting must be done abroad before a proper official.

If a voter is not going to leave until a very few days before Nov. 6, the matter of his voting can be cared for very easily before he departs.

Yours truly,
Geo. B. Hayward

Oct. 10, 1928.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

All the residents of the Wedgemere section extend to Mr. Ralph E. Damon of Everett avenue, a local representative of the B. & M., their sincere appreciation for his long and strenuous efforts to remedy the serious conditions at the Wedgemere Station.

The new driveway, which has been installed, has been put in at the expense of the B. & M. across the state reservation only after considerable effort on Mr. Damon's part.

No more dangerous spot in Winchester could be found than the old exit from the Wedgemere Station about dark, when automobiles and pedestrians are endeavoring to get across the Parkway onto Bacon street.

The purpose of the new driveway is to have the entrance for automobiles near the junction of Bacon street and the exit onto the Parkway. This is going to be a great help and eliminate the great danger that has heretofore existed, particularly to pedestrians.

It is hoped that every one will try to co-operate to work out this traffic problem.

THE JAZZ SINGER COMING TO THE STRAND

The long awaited presentation of Warner Bros. supreme Vitaphone triumph, "The Jazz Singer" starring Al Jolson, now the leading motion picture success in New York, will begin next Monday at the Strand Theatre, Malden and continue all week.

This picturization of Samson Raphaelson's comedy drama is doubly important in that it marks the screen debut of the black face comedian, Al Jolson, one of the world's most famous entertainers.

The story is that of the son of a cantor who runs away from home to find fame on the stage when his father wishes him to follow in his footsteps and become a cantor. The heart appeal is universal and the tenderness and mirth is carried on a strong current of drama to a climax of tremendous power.

Al Jolson scored the greatest hit of his career in "The Jazz Singer." For several years he resisted the lure of the screen to repeatedly score on the stage but with the possibilities of this vitaphone special so apparent he gave in and where once but a few thousand could enjoy the richness of his voice now millions hear it in one week.

With "The Jazz Singer" are the following vitaphone acts, Fred Ardath in, "Men Among Men;" William Demarest in "A Night at Coffee Dan's" and the stars of 1927 Ziegfield Follies in "Syncopating Sweets."

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

Beginning Monday and continuing for the entire week the management at the Bowdoin Square Theatre will present Harry Ingalls' Broadway girls, 35 in number, a New York aggregation with plenty of comedy galore and song and dance features of special worth. This company is making its first Boston appearance and it is what might be called a fashion show de luxe as all the girls will be attired in gowns of varied hue. The show is one well worth seeing and is sure to win favor at the Bowdoin. One of the top picture features will offer Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky in "Two Lovers," a story of rare merit. Another feature sure to please will present Shirley Mason and others in "Runaway Girls." Short picture subjects will also be seen. Bargain vaudeville is displayed on Friday night. Concert every Sunday at 3.

Vito Scatturo of 30 Oak street, who was indicted with John Marino for appearance before the Grand Jury charged with setting fire to the store at the corner of Swanton and Holland streets to defraud the insurance company involved, had his case nol prossed after Atty. Francis J. Mullin of Main street had convinced Dist. Atty. Albert P. Bushnell of the young man's innocence. Marino was found guilty of the above charge last week and sentenced to serve one year in the House of Correction.

LEGION TO SHOW "OLD IRONSIDES"

"OLD IRONSIDES"

Ay, tear her tattered ensign down!
  Long has it waved on high,
And many an eye has danced to see
  That banner in the sky;
Beneath it rung the battle shout,
  And burst the cannon's roar;
That meteor of the ocean air
  Shall sweep the clouds no more.

Her deck once red with heroes' blood,
  Where knelt the vanquished foe,
When winds were hurrying o'er the flood,
  And waves were white below,
No more shall feel the victor's tread,
  Or know the conquered knee;
The harpies of the shore shall pluck
  The eagle of the sea!

Oh, better that her shattered hulk
  Should sink beneath the wave;
Her thunders shook the mighty deep,
  And there should be her grave;
Nail to the mast her holy flag,
  Set every threadbare sail,
And give her to the gods of storms,
  The lightning and the gale!

Winchester Post, 97, of the American Legion has completed arrangements to present in the Town Hall on Saturday, Nov. 10 the well known picture, "Old Ironsides." This is to be held in connection with their celebration of Armistice Day, Nov. 11, which this year falls on Sunday and is to be observed officially on the legal holiday, Monday, Nov. 12.

"Old Ironsides" is a picture (Paramount) directed by James Cruze who has so successfully directed such pictures of national interest as "The Covered Wagon," etc. The filming of "Old Ironsides" is one of the most notable achievements involving as it did a total of more than 2000 actors and 50 old time "wind jammers" on the scenes of some of the battles on the high seas. To make these scenes more realistic an exact reproduction of portions of Massachusetts Bay were (Salem, Mass. to be exact) erected for the taking of several scenes.

Thousands of children who have contributed their nickles and dimes to restore the original frigate Constitution, America's most valiant fighting craft will now have the opportunity of seeing most realistically an exact reproduction of that historical vessel as she appeared in all her glory.

The picture reveals to all the history of this old sea warrior from the launching the ever memorable victory at Tripoli in 1804. The actors featured in the cast the story for which was written for the screen by Lawrence Stallings author of the "Big Parade" and "What Price Glory" include Esther Ralston, as the daughter of a hardy old sea captain of the days of 1804; Wallace Beery, as the mate on the schooner Esther Charles Farrell, George Bancroft, Johnnie Walker and many others, familiar to the movie fans.

As has been said, "Old Ironsides" offers the "thrill of a lifetime" appearing in Boston for months at $1.50 per. Now this colorful craft that wrote the most romantic chapter in the history of the United States is to drop anchor the 10th of November in Winchester. Here in our own town, a tender romance, the thrill of naval battles, tales of rollickling humor will be enacted before our eyes by a cast that will bring tears, laughs and those strange catchings at the throat.

As usual the Legion has chosen a picture that will educate and amuse the children. With this aim in view they have arranged to have a matinee at the Town Hall, Saturday afternoon, Nov. 10 at 2:30 p. m. Tickets for this show will be 15c. The evening prices will be 50c and 35c, all reserved. This show will be at 8 p. m. and interpreted by an orchestra skilled in playing for the movies.

Watch the succeeding issues of the "Star" for the Legion program for their Armistice Day frolic. On Monday, Nov. 12, they will start with a band concert on the Legion grounds from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. During this period at 11 a. m. appropriate exercises will be held on that never forgotten hour and date. A parade of antiques, horribles and beautiful floats, a football game on Manchester Field and the frolic in the Town Hall in the evening. So many events crowded together means stay with the Legion Monday, the 12th. They will entertain you.

Getting the Right Word

A little girl in Topeka was explaining to her grandfather that the pendulum of the clock had been broken.

"What's the matter with the clock?" her grandfather asked.

"The percolator broke," replied the little girl.

"What is that?" asked the grandfather. "The percolator?"

"Oh, I don't mean the percolator," replied the granddaughter. "That is what you hatch chickens in, isn't it?" —Kansas [illegible]

The Army Air corps says that a man's descent from an airplane receives a considerable check almost instantaneously with the opening of the parachute and that within a few seconds after the opening of the parachute the descent is constant.

TOUCHDOWN!

Football occupies the arena. In every hamlet, town and city, we hear the cheering of the fans. Rising out of each effusion is the refrain—either expressed or hoped for—"Touchdown! Touchdown!"

Football games are won by scoring. Scoring follows team play—co-operation, concentration, the will to win and an inherent love for the sport.

Observation of a team at play gives us the exact measure of its teamwork and concentration; of its coaching efficiency; of the moral support of the student body.

One of the finest features of the game is the good sportmanship of the fans. Enthusiastic in putting heart into their own team, they are prompt to give recognition to keen plays by the other side.

What a glad day when we can have this spirit carried over into school and community life. It will produce the equivalent of the touchdown in the class room.

The schools have just entered on their yearly contest, a contest against pupil failures; a contest against public and political interference; against public indifference or apathy. It is a contest against the tendency to under-estimate the importance of schooling; a contest against the temptation of a job with ready money; a contest against school routine and discipline; against lagging interest where subject matter is not vitalized or motivated; against a single standard rate of progress; against dissipation of energies and distraction of interest through outside amusements. Here is an arduous contest, well worth the absorbing interest of every member of the community.

As the outcome of a football game rests heavily on coaching efficiency, it falls to teachers and school officials, as a coaching staff, to build up a winning body of pupils. It can be taken for granted that the staff's ambitions are stirred for a successful year. But what they can achieve will be only in proportion to the team-play of the student body and the loyal support of the public.

Fans there are who are dissatisfied with the coaching. From the grand stand they tell how the team should be run. But successful teams are the product of careful winnowing by the coaching staff, who, in turn, must be entrusted with the development of the team. There are school critics who would like to run the schools from the side lines. But the success of the school is dependent on the careful selection of the administrative and teaching force, who, in co-operation with the Board of Education, must be entrusted with the conduct of the schools.

Confidence in and support of the coach is essential to victory on the gridiron. It is so with our schools. The educational coaching staff have been selected. They are mindful of their responsibilities. They are set for a scoring year. If it is worth while to stress the football game for its sports' sake, it is worth while to stress schooling for the child's sake. If victory is desirable for the team, success in schooling is doubly worth while for the student body. If winning the game is gratifying to the fans, school efficiency should be equally satisfying to taxpayers and public.

A competent head coach, an able group of assistants, a co-operative group of pupils and a loyal public will produce a successful season—a victorious school year.

PETRO OFFERS something far in advance in OIL HEAT

One of the Six PETROS built to fit any type or size of heating plant: steam, hot water, vapor, warm air.

Wonderful strides have been made in oil heating. But until you see a PETRO, these great advances will remain unknown to you. They offer you results far too important for you to overlook.

PETRO was the pioneer low pressure oil burner. It dates back 25 years. Until 1923, PETRO was built primarily for large buildings and enjoyed extraordinary success.

Then the first residence PETRO was perfected. It brought to homeowners the same wonderful advantages experienced by industrial users.

For 5 years these smaller PETROS have established a perfect record. Once in, they stayed in with overwhelming satisfaction.

By the use of air as a motive force, a new standard of economy was brought about. All six models of PETRO are listed as standard by the Underwriters' Laboratories to use the cheapest available domestic fuel oil. As a result PETRO Oil Heat frequently costs less than hard coal!

By putting air to work, all gears, belts and shafts were eliminated. Not only does air do it better and more quietly, but air costs nothing and never wears out. It is this extreme simplicity that makes PETRO so dependable.

Right now is the time to get all the facts. Phone now to have an engineer make a survey of your heating plant.

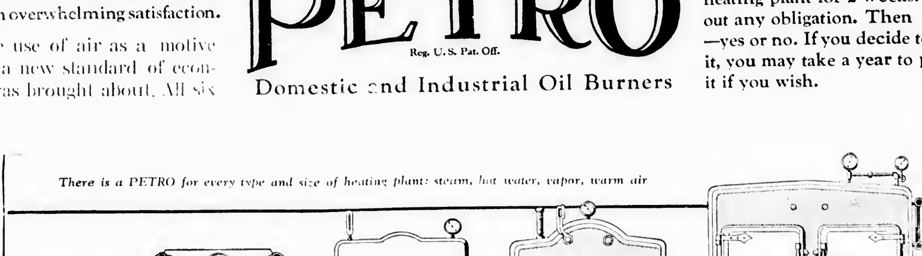

The only way to appreciate what PETRO does for you, is to let PETRO do it for you. Until you actually live with PETRO, you cannot have any conception of the wonderful difference it makes. So we make you this offer: Let us install a PETRO in your own heating plant for 2 weeks. Without any obligation. Then decide—yes or no. If you decide to keep it, you may take a year to pay for it if you wish.

MERRILL AND PETTINGELL IN FINALS OF JUNIOR TENNIS

Large Entry List and Good Competition Marked Tourney at Country Club

Virginia Merrill and Frances Pettingell, crack all around athletes of the Winchester High School had won their way into the final round of the 6th annual junior girls' tennis tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday before darkness put an end to the play. In the lower half the semi-final match had to be called off after each of the competing teams had won a set. This match, which will be replayed on the morning of Oct. 12, commencing at 10 o'clock, will bring together Catherine Boyden of Winchester and Katherine Sprague of Newton and the Boehm sisters of Malden, Helen and Hilda. The final and championship match between the winners and the Merrill-Pettingell team will follow.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the parlor of the First Congregational Church on Friday, Oct. 19, at 2:30 p. m. Miss Cora Frances Stoddard, internationally known as an authority on Scientific Temperance Research, will be the speaker. Subject, "Principles and hopes of the World's Temperance Movement." A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies.

"The present Presidential campaign presents itself to me as a glorious opportunity. It is our big chance to prove to the world in general and to our politicians in particular where the Church and Christian commandment of the United States stand on the prohibition question. That this country will go for Hoover is practically assured but if the South, always Democratic heretofore, casts a big vote for Hoover the world must see that prohibition is a glorious success and is here to stay.' It seems more than probable that Georgia will go for Hoover and Curtis on Nov. 6.

"A word to my sister Democrats. We are not trying to destroy the Democratic Party, far from it, we are making a big, brave and, I believe, successful fight to save the Democratic Party from everlasting ignomy or destruction. The anti-Smith Democrats of Georgia organized on Sept. 19, in Macon, and hundreds present signed up as Hoover Democrats. Such a representative audience! One felt proud to be one of such a body. Hon. Barry Wright was elected president. More than 3000 people assembled at night, in the city auditorium, to listen to a masterly address by Judge Hooper Alexander, a great Georgian, a great prohibitionist, and a great man. The enthusiasm was unbounded.

"Our church papers are fighting a noble battle to defeat Alfred E. Smith and put a man who is personally and politically dry in the White House. The 'Atlanta Georgian,' came out for Hoover, the 'Rome Tribune' (daily), the 'Cordele Dispatch' (daily) and the daily 'Macon News' are all fighting valiantly for the anti-Smith crowd and are enthusiastic in their commendation of Hoover and Curtis. Many of our weekly papers have joined the fight. I can truly testify that in Georgia there is a great uprising against the cohorts of rum and Tamany. As an elector on the Hoover ticket, it will be one of the proudest days of my life to cast my ballot for Hoover and Curtis.

"If we Democratic women wish to hold up our heads in the future we must smite with all our strength the wet Tammany nominee."

James Haggerty of Woburn notified the police Sunday evening that he was driving his automobile on Main street at Washington street he struck a dog. The animal was apparently not much hurt.

GRANADA ATTRACTION

The combination of Marion Davies in "Her Cardboard Lover" on the screen and Julia Rooney with her 11 pierce orchestra on the stage is the all-star bill the big Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. "The Cardboard Lover" is one of the gayest and most sprightly comedies that ever came from the camera coast. The film moves rapidly as first one woman and then the other gains a temporary advantage over her rival. A most amusing battle of wits results with Miss Davies giving a performance that brings down the house.

Julia Rooney, red head sister of the incomparable Pat Rooney, who appears with Walter Clinton together with their jazz band comprise one of the best acts ever offered at the Granada. Miss Rooney's dancing is characterized by gracefulness while her partner, Mr. Clinton, is an expert strutter and tap dancer himself. The 10-piece band is made up of young men who know how to play jazz in a smooth and melodious manner. Culy & Smith in an unusual surprise is the second headliner on the five-act bill for the last three days of this week.

Thomas Meighan in "The Mating Call" will be the screen feature at the Granada for three days starting next Monday. In his new picture Mr. Meighan is fortunate in having two popular leading women in the persons of Evelyn Brent and Rence Adoree.

WHAT OUR POSTMASTER WANTS

Improvements intended if the local Postoffice can obtain the additional help asked for:

First delivery by carriers to reach the far ends of routes at least half an hour earlier.

Two deliveries every day for every house in town with the exception of those on rural routes.

Transfer of a few houses from rural delivery to foot carrier or "door" delivery.

Late afternoon collection from all street boxes located within a radius of one half mile from the Postoffice.

In the office, two men available for duty at stamp windows at all times, more especially in early morning and late afternoon.

No clerk has been appointed since 1920, and no carrier since 1921, although the receipts of the office have increased approximately $10,000.

As the number of employees granted us is based on the receipts of the office, or amount of stamps sold, buy your stamps in Winchester, and do your mailing in Winchester, thereby helping yourself and your town to better and increased service.

Many References to Cucumber in History

All the world seems to have a "hankering" for cucumbers About 10,000 carloads are shipped to market annually. This is in addition to those grown in greenhouses and small truck patches and marketed locally, also those grown for home consumption.

There are historical references to the cucumber 3,000 years before Christ. It is generally supposed to be a native of India, and was taken to China in 80 B. C. Cucumbers were known to the ancient Greeks and Romans. Pliny mentions their forced culture. They were grown by Columbus in Haiti in 1494. There is a record of their production by the Indians in the sections now occupied by Montreal, Canada, and by Indians in Florida. Capt. John Smith speaks of growing them in Virginia. Rev. Francis Higginson tells of seeing them in Massachusetts in 1629.—Peter R. Sterling in Natural Republic Magazine.

Set Camel Before Wife

That a camel is worth more than a wife was the declaration of a native of Egypt who recently offered both to an English clergyman. He first offered the wife for the equivalent of $25. "Why do you want to sell her?" he was asked. "She is old and ugly," was the laconic reply "Then she would fight me," but the clergyman "No, not an English gentleman," was the answer. The offer being refused the native then offered the camel for $100. Asked to explain the difference in prices, he replied curtly, "Camel better than wife."

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN WINCHESTER, MASS.

You are hereby required on or before Dec. 1, 1928, to destroy the gypsy and brown tail moths on your property in this town.

This notification is in accordance with Chapter 132, General Laws, which requires cities and towns to destroy the eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests of the gypsy and brown tail moths under heavy penalty for failure to comply with the provisions of the law.

If a property owner fails to destroy such eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests, then the city or town is required to destroy the same and the cost of the work, in whole or in part, according to the value of the land, is assessed upon and becomes a lien on the land. (Section 18, Chapter 132, General Laws, on reverse).

The Selectmen ask owners and tenants to co-operate with the town in its work on highway and other public grounds by doing effective work on their premises. Citizens who have cleaned their premises of the moths, but find their trees endangered by the neglect of owners of adjoining estates should make complaint to the Selectmen. The infestation of a residential neighborhood by the neglect of a few will not be tolerated.

The eggs of the gypsy moth should be destroyed at once with creosote. They should never be scraped off the object on which they are laid. Careful search should be made for gypsy moth egg clusters, not only on trees, but also on house walls, stone walls, fences and in rubbish heaps, etc. Trees in which cavities occur and which it is not desirable to cut should have the cavities tinned or cemented. This is important. The present and future cost of combating this insect can be greatly reduced by cutting and burning worthless brush, hollow trees, etc. A few trees well-cared for are more valuable to the property owner and the community than a large number of neglected trees.

The nests of the brown tail moth should be cut from the trees carefully collected and burned in a stove or furnace.

Full instructions as to the best methods of work against the moths may be obtained from the Local Superintendent or from the State Forester, Room [illegible], State House, Boston, Mass.

Expensive Yards

Two rival western teams both boasted of the prowess of their football teams, and a game was arranged. One town bet quite heavily on its team and to make the result fairly certain hired a celebrated professional player. Early in the game he made a sensational run of 70 yards to a touchdown—and to the surprise of the spectators was immediately removed from the game. The manager gave this explanation:

"Why, we guaranteed to pay that guy at the rate of a dollar a yard. Do you think I want to see the town [illegible]"

WINCHESTER AND ARLINGTON BATTLE TO A TIE

Wonder Pass, Lee to McNeil, Enabled Locals to Even Count

There is an expression almost as old as football to the effect that you can't beat a team which won't be beaten. None who saw the Mystic Valley League game between Winchester and Arlington High Schools at Manchester Field on the afternoon of Columbus Day will question the truth of this statement. The final surge of Coach Mansfield's charges after hope had been abandoned by their most staunch supporters was too good a case in point. Winchester battled Arlington to a tie because its eleven wouldn't be licked. The boys kept their heads away up in the face of tremendous odds and their desperate offense against time in the closing moments of the game constituted one of the most spectacular bits of playing ever seen on Manchester Field.

A crowd estimated at nearly 5000 viewed the contest and the services of a squad of police under Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy were necessary to keep the gridiron clear for the contesting teams.

WOMAN STRUCK BY CAR AT SYMMES CORNER

Mrs. Margaret Biggs of 16 Grove place was painfully injured about 6:45 Tuesday evening when she was struck by an automobile while alighting from a street car at Symmes corner.

Mrs. Biggs was crossing the street from the rear of the electric when the accident occurred, the machine, a Dodge sedan, being driven south on Main street, by Mrs. Elsie M. Boomer of Grove avenue, Wilmington.

The injured woman was picked up by Mrs. Boomer and taken to the Winchester Hospital, accompanied by Sergt. William H. Rogers of the Winchester Police. Mrs. Biggs was attended by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy and according to reports was not seriously injured.

HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE DONATION AND SALE

The Directors of the Home have designated Friday, Nov. 16 as the day for this annual event. Donation Day has been observed for many years. Last year the sale feature was ventured upon with such success as to warrant its continuance this year. The sale consisted of fancy and useful articles made by residents of the Home, and resulted in adding quite a sum to their rather limited individual treasury. They have been greatly interested in preparing for this sale.

There will be a candy and cake table for which contributions will be very welcome. Further announcements will appear in succeeding issues of the Star.

Mesdames Daniel C. Dennett, Cutler B. Downer, George C. Sanborn, Edward B. Smalley and Frank M. White will be the committee in charge of the donation and sale and will be glad to give such information as may be desired.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Now that vacations are a thing of the past for most of us, the attendance at our meetings has shown a decided increase. Last week we achieved 100 per cent and it is probable that this week will touch the same mark when all returns are in. Also we were favored with more than the ordinary number of visitors, so that Fred had to put forth his best efforts to meet the emergency. It is fortunate for the Club that Fred is equal to these extraordinary demands.

Interest centered in reports as to results produced by the concerts given last week by the United States Marine Band at Winchester Town Hall. All collections have not been made as yet, so that exact figures will not be available for some time. We can predict with confidence, however, that the Winchester Hospital will receive a sum well in excess of $1000 as a result of our efforts. This is indeed worth while for all concerned.

We have received many compliments for our success in handling this by no means insignificant undertaking. Our friends have been generous both with kind remarks and more substantial aid. But we must not overlook the salutary effect which this work has had upon the Club itself. We have earned respect from the community and we have added greatly to our self respect. It would be a dull observer who could not perceive a magnified interest in the Club by each of its members, since it has become evident that our first considerable endeavor for the welfare of the community has borne fruit. The attendance at our meetings, the buoyant conversation of our men, the will to do both for Club and for the community all this is assurance that responsive chords have been touched- that honest efforts to interpret the Golden Rule aright will not fail.

We were privileged at this session of the Club to listen to a talk by Mr. F. A. Edes official broadcaster at WEEI Radio Station. Mr. Edes is a man of charming personality and fluent speech. His stories and his relation of the varied experiences incident to his daily work were most interesting. There is a fascination about radio and its wonderful power to entertain, which grips the most of us. Mr. Edes is an excellent interpreter of the marvels of this comparatively new science and our members were heartily appreciative of his address.

We anticipate another 100 per cent meeting next week. Don't forget that "Jim" is with us once more. SING—SING—SING.

MRS. E. C. McDONALD ACTIVE AS POLITICAL SPEAKER

Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald of this town, a member of the Democratic Town Committee is taking an active part in support of her party's cause. On Columbus Day she was the only woman to speak at the Elks' Hotel in Boston where a reception to Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was attended by 1500 and where other speakers included ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston and John W. McCormick who is slated to succeed Gallivan in South Boston.

On Sunday Mrs. McDonald is to speak at a Democratic tea to be held in the Hotel Victoria, Boston, and on Monday evening, Oct. 22, at a rally in Medford.

ACTIVITIES FOR CALUMET CLUB ARE NOW ON IN GOOD SHAPE

The Dinner-Bridge tonight, Friday the 19th, is the first of the season and while reservations are absolutely necessary the steward may be able to take care of you if you phone at once, at least you can come to the bridge at 7:30 immediately following the dinners and enjoy cards under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur Pitman. The charge for the Dinner-Bridge combined only 75 cents or 75 cents for bridge only.

Tomorrow night, Saturday, Oct. 20, there will be a Smoker and Calumet has been fortunate in securing the services of M. E. Hennessy, political observer of the Boston Globe.

Mr. Hennessy has been in the political limelight for many years, he knows politics and politicians and his numerous swings around the country have brought him in touch with the big guns. Coming so near to the election, his talk will be timely and the independent position taken by the Globe in politics will make his talk of interest to both Hoover and Smith rooters. Eight o'clock sharp, followed by refreshments.

Next Friday there will be the first get-together of ladies and gentlemen for an evening of bowling and members are urged to attend and have a good time. Wallace Blanchard will have charge of the program.

Don't forget the Hallowe'en Party on Oct. 31. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Little will see that everyone has a good time and there will be prize events and lots of fun. Costumes of course are in order, so get busy and plan a winner. Remember you don't have to rig up, but those who do always have a good time.

A PROCLAMATION

Hundreds of lives are lost in Massachusetts every year and thousands of persons are injured in automobile accidents which could have been avoided. The greater portion of these accidents is due to failure of motorists to observe the law and to have a due regard for the rights of others. Speed and carelessness in many cases are contributing causes.

The responsibility for the prevention of accidents and for the proper observance of the motor vehicle law rests not only upon the police but also upon every individual citizen.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles George A. Parker has arranged, with the co-operation of the automotive industry of the State, for the inspection, free of charge, of all motor vehicles during the period from Oct. 15, 1928 to Nov. 30, 1928, inclusive.

Words, speeches, demonstrations, are all well in their place, and help in safety work, but ACTION is what is needed—drastic action.

Carelessness and wanton recklessness in operating motor vehicles must be promptly and severely dealt with, —not spasmodically but today, tomorrow and every day.

Collisions and accidents should mean that surely and inexorably there will follow punishment for the guilty.

In the brain of the one back of the wheel of every car should abide the realization that a privilege has been extended to operate a motor vehicle on the sole ground that that privilege will be properly used.

Public officials charged with the enforcement of the law and public safety should make more general a system of tabulation of operators and when sufficient data irrespective of court records, show that an operator is careless, reckless or unfitted to drive, his or her license should be suspended forthwith. Why wait until someone is killed or seriously injured?

This Safety Period will be of no avail unless it leaves a marked and definite realization in the mind of operators the responsibility that is theirs, not for a day but always, and the fact that there is no question but that unsafe drivers are to be ruled off the road forever.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Alvan T. Fuller, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do proclaim the period of Oct. 15, 1928 to Nov. 30, 1928, inclusive, as

SAFETY PERIOD

I call upon all public officials and officers to unite in a concerted effort to use that power which is theirs under the statutes of the Commonwealth to bring an end to the existing condition of unnecessary hazard of life and limb on our public highways.

I call upon all pedestrians to keep in mind during this period the necessity for constant caution, watchfulness and care while they are upon the streets and highways.

I earnestly call upon all operators of motor vehicles that they will so impress upon their own minds the needs emphasized by this special period of safety that they will establish, each for himself or for herself, the habit of careful driving.

I earnestly call upon all owners and all operators of motor vehicles to make full use of this opportunity for a free inspection of their vehicles; and I ask them that they shall upon learning of any defects in equipment or mechanism or adjustment have these defects immediately corrected.

I urge the press, all motor clubs, chambers of commerce and all civic organizations within the Commonwealth to emphasize the importance of this safety movement. By intelligent and purposeful co-operation we can establish in Massachusetts a record of reduced accidents in which we all as citizens can take pride. I ask for the co-operation of everyone in this endeavor.

Given, at the Executive Chamber, in Boston, this tenth day of October, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-third.

The United States Marine Band, the famous "President's Own," comprising 48 master musicians under the direction of Captain Taylor Branson, made its first appearance in Winchester last week Thursday when it played three concert programs during the afternoon and evening to large audiences in the Town Hall. The evening program follows: Overture, "Carneval" Opus 92 by Antonin Dvorak; Nocturne, "Dreams of Love", Franz Liszt; Grand Scenes from "Andrea Chenier", Umberto Giodino; Samuel Coleridge Taylor's Rhapsodic Dance, "Bamboula"; Sergei Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor", "Carneval in Paris" by John Severin Svendsen and "The Star Spangled Banner." After the second number the encores were "Second Connecticut March", Reeves; Patrol, "Marching Through Georgia", Sousa; and Peter's "The Jolly Coppersmith." WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB NOTES

The tennis dance which took place Thursday, Oct. 11, the evening before Columbus Day, was a complete success. Like all the other dances which the club has run this fall, it was well attended, and everyone seemed to have a good time. There were a couple of features of entertainment not on the program which added to the enjoyment. The specialty number of song and dance, by "Little" John Pratt and "Phil" Hight was not bad at all. The tennis committee realized a fair sum of money from the "hop" which is encouraging.

Friday, the 12th, would have been an ideal day for a regatta, if, it could only have been forseen in advance, what a summer's day it was to be. There was plenty of tennis, though, all day and a short football game was indulged in, early in the morning before the sun rose to be too hot. Just as if it were not warm enough, around the noon hour, a log splitting contest took place. Some huge logs had been floated into shore and hauled up on dry land and there with the help of a sledge and wedges they were split for firewood. Some fifty boys were admitted they were not in too good trim after swinging the sledge for a short interval. Nevertheless by a large number doing a little all the logs were split and made ready for the fireplace. In the afternoon there was quite a little canoeing and two or three of the racing shells were out and of course, the outboard motors.

A rather amusing game of tennis took place a short time ago. The principals were as follows, and thusly armed: Steward Charlie Rogers with a stringles racket ;"Weenie" Pratt with a "sweetheart" paddle (that's a short one) on one side of the net; opposing "Phil" Hight with a huge wooden mallet and Lars Sandberg with a short baseball bat as a racket. "Catch-as-catch-can" rules were allowed, with "tocholds" barred. No scores were kept. You couldn't! The longest "hit" went to Lars Sandberg. The ball sailed far over the back net, out across the duck pond and maybe reached the aqueduct. It hasn't been seen since. The game finally had to be called on account of Charlie Rogers being out of breath from laughing, and the approach of darkness.

The club season officially closes Friday, Oct. 19 but the club house will be open week-ends until November. Members desiring to remove effects from their lockers should do so at once. Remember the "Mousers"! Don't leave too much for them to devour for it's a long winter ahead, you know!

The Winchester Boat Club paddlers will have to look to their laurels. Especially in war canoe racing. Jackson College has a war canoe crew of girls, training at the club three afternoons a week. They have a coach, and are decidedly in earnest. The sport has just been adopted by the athletic authorities at the college and is to be a major activity. It is not officially announced yet whether the W. B. C. paddlers are to be challenged to a race early next spring but it looks as though the boys better watch out or they may be handed a trimming by the girls.

Tonight there is a Hallowe'en party dance at the club. It is being run by some girls of this town. Mrs. Muriel Lloyd, Miss Evelyn Toppan and Miss Gladys Dodge are in charge of the decorations to the hall, which have transformed it into a real Hallowe'en atmosphere.

Among the debutante teas planned for November is the affair at which Mrs. Frederick Manley Ives will entertain on the fifth of the month in honor of her daughter, Miss Alice C. Ives. The tea will be held at the Ives residence on Highland avenue.

LIMITED TOWN MEETING

Statement By Members of Former Committee

Winchester, Mass.,
Oct. 15, 1928

To the Voters of Winchester:

The committee of 15 on Limited Town Meeting reported at the annual town meeting a year ago last March in favor of the adoption of representative town government in Winchester. The meeting accepted the recommendation and voted to request the Selectmen to ask the General Court to pass the necessary legislation to provide for the establishment of Limited Town Meetings in Winchester. The Legislative Act, in substantially the same form submitted by the Committee, was passed by the last session of the General Court, and the question whether Winchester will accept it will be submitted to the voters on the ballot at the November election.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

At the last regular meeting of the club, initiation was held for all accepted candidates. Marshal Emma M. Cullen officiated and the flag drill was exemplified by the club team. After the exercises the board of stewards from the local lodge, B. P. O. E., under the direction of Chairman Gordo Horn, served a sumptuous supper of scalloped oysters, Delmonico potatoes, rolls, coffee and cake.

And when it comes to the culinary art, "Brother" Horn and his helpers are real artists; for it was the best supper we ever had—piping hot and plenty of it, and the service left nothing to be desired. The thanks of the large gathering went out to the "boys" in no uncertain terms for the friendly spirit that prompted such generous service.

President Anne M. Hanlon announces the first social event of the season—the Second Annual Concert and Dance, to be held in Lyceum Hall, Wednesday evening, Oct. 24, under the direction of Vice-President Caroline L. Coakley, chairman of entertainment. Joyce's orchestra will furnish the music. President Hanlon has secured the services of two high class soloists, Mrs. Anderson and her daughter Doris of Malden. A local dancer, well known in professional circles, and her partner are booked for a series of classical dances, and the concert promises to be no mean feature of the evening's program. Mrs. Coakley has selected Mrs. Ella Halligan as chairman on refreshments, and Mrs. Vine O'Neil will have charge of the tickets at the door. The Misses Elizabeth Fitzgerald and Margaret Sullivan are planning the decorations which, of course, will be of the Hallowe'en variety. Every club member is urged to assist those in charge and start the season with a banner success. Naturally, the Elk brethren will turn out and the general public is cordially invited.

A club bowling team has been formed under the direction of Mrs. Lilla B. Green and it is expected that a series of games will soon be scheduled at the Winchester Alleys. Mrs. Green has selected the following committee to assist her in signing up enthusiastic bowlers: Mrs. Mae R. Fitzgerald, Miss Margaret Sullivan and Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald. Symptoms of animation seem to be stirring in the club and all signs point to a lively social season.

Members who wish to aid the charity fund by giving house parties during the month of November should arrange a date through the chairman of entertainment, Mrs. Caroline L. Coakley.

HOLIDAY WEEK-END NOTED MANY AUTO ACCIDENTS

Although the number of motor accidents reported in Winchester over the holiday week-end just past exceeded that usually listed for a like period, it is nevertheless insignificant when the heavy traffic is taken into account. None of the accidents which took place here was serious and the property damage was relatively small.

At 11 o'clock last Thursday evening a Ford touring car, owned and driven by Michael Clancy of 27 Stoddard street, Woburn, and a Chrysler roadster, owned and operated by Curtis R. Webb of 49 Vine street, were in collision on Bacon street near the Mystic Valley Parkway. Delia and Marie Foley and Stephen Connolly of 787 Main street, passengers in the Ford complained of injuries, but none was reported as badly hurt.

While entering Manchester Field for the Winchester-Arlington football game at 1:50 on the afternoon of the holiday the Ford coupe of Joseph F. Long of 44 Falmouth road, Arlington was struck in the rear by a Dodge touring car, driven by D. F. Prestijohn of 191 Franklin street, Arlington. Neither car was badly damaged and no one injured.

Gordon M. Errgong of 21 Lockland avenue, Arlington, reported to the police that while he was driving his Nash sedan west on Church street about 5 p. m. the machine was in a heal-on collision with an Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway car which was headed east. The front end of Errgong's Nash was somewhat the worse for wear but there were no injuries reported.

Headquarters was also notified that while Mrs. George E. Willey of 47 Wildwood street was driving her automobile on the holiday at the corner of Harrison and Wildwood streets the machine struck and knocked down a street sign post.

At 9:15 Saturday morning a Ford sedan, owned and operated by Vincent G. Carroll of 10 Lincoln street, while crossing Cambridge street from Everett avenue to enter Myopia road, was struck by a Chandler sedan, owned and operated by Edward Abel of 621 Canal street, Manchester, N. H. No one was injured but Carroll's car was damaged about the front end.

Albert L. Whynot of 17 Cedar street reported to the police that while he was driving his Ford sedan south on Washington street at 2:30 Saturday afternoon the machine was struck by another car which was going north on Washington street. Whynot did not get the registration of the machine but was given a slip of paper bearing the operator's name which he turned over to the authorities. His car was damaged in the collision.

Mrs. D. E. Duffy of 225 Commonwealth street, Watertown, complained of injuries to her knee after the LaSalle coupe in which she was riding with Mrs. Jessie A. Heanessy of 15 Hubbard road, Newton, was in collision at 10:30 Sunday morning at Cross and Washington streets with a Ford sedan driven by Carrie E. Swan of 13 Fairmount street and owned by Augustus W. Coffin of 14 Fairmount street. The Ford was entering Washington street from Cross street to go north while the LaSalle was headed north on Washington street. Mr. Coffin and Miss Swan's sister were passengers in the Ford. Both machines were damaged.

The glaring headlights of an approaching car were blamed by John White of 3 Pinehurst avenue, Billerica, for the fact that his Studebaker sedan struck the big elm tree at the head of the road while he was driving from Main street into Bacon street. White claimed that he was blinded by the intense light. He was not injured but the front end of his machine was damaged.

RIVERSIDE THEATRE

The Riverside Theatre at Medford offers a surprise for its patrons next Monday evening in presenting a cabaret program made up of stars from the various Boston night clubs. The bill is headed by Flo Nickerson, the vivacious hostess at the Lido Venice, and she will be assisted by the Lido Debutantes, eight charming misses, in snappy dance numbers. Jose and Pepita, dance stars from the Club Lido, New York, are brought on for this date, together with dainty Miss Dorothy Weems, "the blonde violinist," and Purcella and Fabio, Italian comedy stars. The double feature film program includes Mary Philbin and Lionel Barrymore in D. W. Griffith's "Drums of Love" and Walter Hasen, the golf champ, in "Green Grass Widows."

For the last half of the week, the famous Duncan Sisters will appear in "Topsy and Eva", which is their conception of how Uncle Tom's Cabin should be played. The companion feature offers Malcolm McGregor and Eve Southern in the Jack London classic "Stormy Waters." Saturday evening, another surprise awaits the patrons in "Gift Night" when a large array of beautiful presents will be given away.

LEGION ANNOUNCES FINE FOOTBALL ATTRACTION FOR ARMISTICE DAY

The committee in charge of the football game which is to be a feature of the big entertainment program arranged for Armistice Monday, Nov. 12, by Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, has announced that at 2:45 on that day the Winchester High School Alumni will play the Woburn Cardinals, a semi-professional eleven including many former stars of the Orange and Black.

This game should provide a real attraction since it is expected that such college stars as "Jim" Fitzgerald of Tufts, Dana Kelley of Harvard, "Ty" Sherman of Norwich, "Clint" Mason of Williams and others to be announced will play on the Alumni team with "Archa" Amico, "Bill" Lynch, "Barney" Murphy and Ray Halwartz of last year's crack schoolboy eleven. Many more former Red and Black stars are being lined up and Chairman John Cullen of the Legion Football Committee expects to put a strong team in the path of a Woburn win.

Any ex-school or college player living in Winchester who would like to play on the holiday should get in touch with either John Cullen at 28 Stone avenue, Dana Kelley, 21 Mystic avenue, or with any Legion man.

TWO FIRES ON HOLIDAY

Only two runs were made by the local Fire Department during Columbus Day. The first was at 5 o'clock in the morning in response to a call for help from the Arlington Department which summoned assistance from several surrounding communities to aid in putting out a fire in the old Forde factory on Summer street. This factory was later used by the Winchester Gerlachs as a plant for the manufacture of interior finish woodwork and more recently by a company producing out-board motor boats. Engine 3 and the chief's car made the trip from Winchester.

Friday afternoon at 6:29 the firemen were called by telephone to put out a fire in an awning at the residence of G. S. Mercer at 39 Oxford street.

The Woman's Auxiliary to Morgan Memorial will hold the annual bazaar in the Children's Settlement Building, 89 Shawmut avenue, on Tuesday, Oct. 23 from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

THE BOARD OF ASSESSORS will be in session at their office in the Town Hall, from 7 to 9 P. M., October 22nd, 25th and 30th, 1928. Also on Thursday evenings during the month of Novemher.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING

The open meeting, or rally, of the Club, held on Tuesday evening in the Town Hall was a most enthusiastic one. The President, Mrs. Alfred D. Radley, opened the meeting with a few well chosen remarks on the duty of all citizens to register and to vote on Nov. 6, stating that Wednesday would be the last opportunity to register and strongly urging those who had neglected this very important duty to take advantage of Wednesday's registration hours.

Mrs. Radley then introduced Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, Republican National Committeewoman, as the first speaker. Mrs. Thayer was well received and gave a most constructive talk on the general phases of the campaign, stressing particularly the part of women in the committee and organization work and nothing the good work accomplished by the women thus far. She also called attention to the fact that the Republican candidate for President, Herbert Hoover, had a fine conception and realization of woman's part in the present and future campaigns when he said "Participation of women in politics means higher political standards." Mrs. Thayer's speech, well thought out and delivered with telling effect, was many times applauded as she brought out her points and the Club was fortunate in having such a speaker.

Mrs. Radley introduced as the next speaker, Capt. Henry G. Lawson, Adjutant General of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who gave a forceful talk on aims and purposes and on the gratitude felt by his organization to the present government, who had done so much for the comfort and welfare of the boys.

The next speaker was introduced by Mrs. Radley as a man who had accomplished much in a public way, Eliot Wadsworth, of Boston, Representative of the Massachusetts Legislature, former assistant Secretary of the United States Treasury and operating head of the Red Cross during the World War. Mr. Wadsworth, one of the best informed men of his party, spoke with his usual earnest sincerity telling of his own experience with the work of the Presidential candidate and of his ability and accomplishments. He spoke of Mr. Hoover as a really capable executive, a splendid co-worker, and a man well fitted for the high office of President. Mr. Wadsworth was well placed as a speaker before the showing of the film, as one felt as though an intimacy had already been established with the "Master of Emergencies" and as though the picture were a fitting climax to the speech.

The reel, showing the work done by Mr. Hoover and his co-workers in Europe, in the chaos caused by the World War, giving a little idea of the district covered and of the hordes of people fed; and in the Mississippi Valley at the time of the destructive floods, was much enjoyed and appreciation was shown by the applause. Much was learned from the speakers and from the picture, and it is safe to say that the audience left the hall with a warm feeling for that "Great Master of Emergencies" Herbert Hoover.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY FILLED TOWN HALL

Attorney Francis R. Mullen presided at the big Democratic rally which filled the Town Hall last Monday evening and which was preceeded by a street parade at the head of which was carried an illuminated picture of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential nominee. The line of march began at the Lincoln School and ended at the Town Hall with 60 automobiles, displaying red fire, driving slowly over the course in the wake of St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps.

In the hall the principal address was delivered by Hon. James M. Curley, formerly Mayor of Boston and a widely known speaker on political subjects. Other speakers included former assistant District Attorney, Vincent P. Brogna of Boston, state president of the Italian-American "Al" Smith Clubs, who delivered a stirring address; Charles T. Daly of Medford, Democratic candidate for State Senator; John F. Malley, Democratic standard bearer in the race for Lieutenant Governor; ex-Congressman Joseph E. O'Connell of Boston, Attorney Peter Borre of Boston, James P. Brennan of Cambridge, Democratic nominee for Congress and several more of lesser repute. Enthusiasm ran high throughout the evening and the rally was characterized as one of the largest held in town for many years.

ENTERTAINED RETIRING OFFICERS OF REBEKAH LODGE

Miss Mildred Hamilton, retiring Noble Grand, entertained her staff of officers in Victoria Rebekah Lodge, Wednesday evening at her home, 4 Wedge Pond road.

Appropriate to the season of the year the affair took the form of a Hallowe'en party, seasonal novelties mingling with the decorations of autumn foliage and flowers.

The guests were met upon arrival at the door by ghostly figures and conducted through dark corridors and gloomy passages to a festive chamber where Halowe'en games and refreshments were enjoyed. An especial feature of the evening was a humorous account of the Lodge activities during the past year, prepared and read by the Chaplain, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton.

Eighteen officers of the Lodge were present with the District Deputy President, Mrs. Flora Lyden, and the District Deputy Marshall, Mrs. Flora Graf, as guests of honor. At the conclusion of the party three lusty cheers were given for the retiring Noble Grand, Miss Hamilton, under whose administration the Lodge has enjoyed one of its most prosperous periods. Since the new Association Hall has become available for the meetings of the body, Victoria Rebekah has made rapid progress, the setting and equipment of the new Lodge room adding dignity and atmosphere to the meetings. The outlook for the future seems very bright.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The first lecture of a series of eight lectures on "Current Events at Home and Abroad," was given by Mrs. A. J. George under the auspices of the Educational Department of the Winchester Women's Republican Club at Small Association Hall at 2:30 p. m. on Wednesday. Mrs. George spoke most interestingly on Austria and Jugo Slovacia. Her second lecture will be given on Nov. 14 at the same place. It is a great pleasure, as was evidenced by the large and enthusiastic audience, to hear Mrs. George this year when everyone is eager for information in regard to America and America's association with other nations.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Last night in Lyceum Hall the local Court of the C. D. of A. held its annual harvest supper.

The supper this year was the most successful yet held by the Court, a fine menu having been arranged by the hard working committee in charge. This committee was headed by V. R. Nellie Moffett whose attention to details left nothing to be desired.

Following the supper a very good entertainment was presented by a committee in charge of organist, Mabel M. Coty and prophetess Frances T. Conlon.

G. R. Minnie A. O'Connor is gaining in strength every day and takes a keen delight in the visits of her many friends.

Mr. Harry A. Wilcox, well known pharmacist at Knight's Pharmacy, was taken suddenly ill while at his place of business Tuesday and removed to the Winchester Hospital where an immediate operation was found necessary. He was reported as the Star went to press to be getting along as well as could be expected.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

On the roads of life a man finds many detours before he gets to easy street.

Some people grow with responsibilities while others swell.

Any man who has plenty of put never worries about having pull.

The things we are not up on we are usually down on.

One of the weaknesses of the human race is envy.

Winchester people have reason to congratulate themselves over the outcome of the recent "Hospital Drive," for on Saturday last our local institution underwent an official inspection and on Tuesday was placed as a Class A hospital. As noted in another column, many factors entered into this change of classification, but the important fact, and the point to be stressed, is the support given by our residents which has made the attainment of this goal possible. Winchester donators may now realize what their subscriptions have accomplished and will undoubtedly see to it that our hospital is maintained in a manner fitting its position among similar institutions throughout the State. Credit should be given to the hard-working band of men and women whose foresight and efforts have made this advancement possible. It is always necessary for some small band of leaders to undertake and carry through the impossible. Those who have given time and energy to our hospital are undoubtedly amply rewarded by this advencement, but their efforts should not go unnoticed. The Star recommends a careful perusal of the article regarding the hospital in another column.

Upon leaving the Town Hall after the band concert last Saturday evening the operators of three Fords, bearing Hoover emblems, found the disks had been ripped from the radiators of their machines and the carburetors shut off so that the engines could not be started until the mischief was discovered. We wondered why those responsible for this bit of pleasantry didn't go just a bit further and decorate with garlands a fourth and much battered species of Mr. Ford's craftsmanship which stood nearby and which bore the slogan "All for Al and Al for All!" And we also wondered just what the popular New York Governor would have said if he had come upon this evidence of rowdyism on the part of his supporters.

BISHOP McCONNELL MAKES GREAT ADDRESS

First Congregational Church

About 300 people gathered at the first church family supper of the year. Bishop Francis J. McConnell gave a most delightful address. His theme was "Getting the Other Fellow's Point of View." He took his audience around the world from Mexico to China, and the war-torn fields of France and showed how the misunderstanding of the customs and language of other people led to irritation and conflict.

His entire address was seasoned with the salt of wit and delicious humor. He held his large audience breathless from beginning to end. The people are eagerly looking forward to the next supper, and a capacity crowd is expected.

Mrs. Arthur D. Speedie and a committee of women of the church had charge of the supper and Mr. Franklin E. Barnes took care of the sale of tickets. Seated at the speaker's table were Bishop McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Chidley, Mr. and Mrs. Quinn, Doctor and Mrs. Ordway and Rev. Morris J. Butler. Not since the great address of Doctor Cadman at the opening of the Parish House have the people of the church enjoyed an evening as greatly as this when Bishop McConnell spoke.

The so-called "Heavenly Twins," Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Winchester Fire Department and Chief Frank Tracy of the Woburn Fire Department, are in Philadelphia to attend the annual convention of the National Fire Chiefs' Association.

When Mrs. Lorence M. Woodside, vice chairman of the Republican Town Committee, attended the "Hoover Dinner" at the Hotel Statler last Monday she was surprised to note that the flowers used to decorate the speakers' table were the "Mrs. Woodside Dahlias" which originated in her own garden at the corner of Lebanon street and Highland avenue.

Officer John Noonan who has recently returned to traffic duty in the center after enjoying his vacation took a mean advantage of a golf enthusiast when he informed the latter that he had taken a 36 in playing a nine-hole course during his holiday in Washington. The G. E. interrupted to doubt the veracity of this statement and left in a huff when "Johnny" got a chance to continue and admitted taking the 36 in playing the first hole, after which he was ejected from the course.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

Graduation of Nurses

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, the graduation exercises of the School of Nursing at the Winchester Hospital were held in the Wyman School. The assembly hall was filled with friends of the nurses and members of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association, gathered to honor the occasion. Brilliant autumn leaves, arranged at the back and along the footlights of the stage with yellow chrysanthemums at each side made a most attractive scene.

The program arranged for the evening was presented as follows:

Prayer .... Rev. George Hale Reed
Address of Welcome
Harold S. Fuller, President Winchester Visiting Nurse Association

Mrs. Stillman P. Williams, Chairman, Training School Committee
The Heart of a Rose Warren
Helen Edlefson Barr
Benediction .... Rev. George H. Quigley
Recessional .... Mrs. William H. Corliss

It was a most impressive sight to see the faculty and 18 students in uniform, march to their places as the processional was played.

Mr. Fuller welcomed the guests and announced the good news of a telegram received from Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, head of the American College of Surgeons, officially confirming his decision after his visit to Winchester last Saturday that the Winchester Hospital is an approved hospital on the Class A list. This means that we have proper location and buildings, a doctor's staff, holding regular meetings, X-ray and laboratory equipment and many other desirable things. Mr. Fuller spoke of the work of the superintendent, Miss Torrop, with the highest praise.

Several groups of songs by Doctor Dwyer in his pleasing tenor voice and by Helen Edlefson Barr in her own delightful manner contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the audience and were much appreciated.

In the address of the evening, Miss Goostray spoke of the type of nursing and nurses in the past, telling of the great changes that have come in the standing of the profession during the last 10 years. She begged the graduating class to be ready to help their hospital, which had given them so much and to round out their professional training with other activities to give them a well balanced development. She suggested a formula that had been recommended to doctors, which included a note book, a library and a return to study advancing hospital methods every few years. It was up to them to grow and advance in their field of usefulness.

The Training School report of Miss Torrop gave the audience much insight into both work and play at the hospital. The inspiration of her charge to the graduates was felt by everyone present. Her address was as follows:

"This is the Training School's night. The report of its work during the past year is largely a tale of endurance and an effort to carry on, in spite of the difficulties of construction going on around us. Now we feel that we have fresh worlds to conquer with our new hospital and equipment.

It is surprising how few of the really interested members of a community know how much in detail of the Training School in their midst. For instance, there are 18 young people living in our Nurses' Home learning to give you skilled service when needed and giving a certain enthusiasm and devotion found only in our Training Schools.

The probationers before they receive their caps must pass examinations in practical nursing procedures, anatomy, drugs and solutions, chemistry, bacteriology, hygiene, ethics, history of nursing and nutrition. These courses ranging in length from eight to over a hundred hours and the passing mark being 75.

In order to supply the nursing field with properly skilled members we must demand applicants with a background of sound education and as much of it as possible, and in return give them the nursing education that they have a right to expect. This means properly equipped class rooms and trained teachers. What an interest we draw, however, on the money invested in such education! Could anything exceed the worth whileness of taking these untrained minds and hands and fitting them for a life of service that is only limited by their own ambition?

We have few recreational facilities for our nurses at present and our class room leaves much to be desired. I am hoping that someone will care enough to complete these class rooms thereby, making our New York registration an assured thing—this is a goal to which every young hospital aspires to attain. It means that the State that demands the highest grade of teaching for its nurses, has passed our School as living up to these standards. Until then our graduates are barred from nursing in New York or holding an executive position in the same State. However, with the interest and loyalty that surrounds us on every side it can be only a short time until the Training School, like the hospital is graded A. A B will never satisfy the ambitions of our Directors, Alumnae and pupils. A year from now it would be a splendid thing to announce our New York registration and something for us all to work for until then.

We have organized a student association, with duly elected officers that meets every month. In order that we may conduct the meetings with spirit and dignity a course in Parliamentary Law is being started this month and will be taught by an instructor from the State House.

Posture classes are being held by Miss Kelley, our X-ray technician, who is also a graduate of the Posse School of Physical Education, and although the work is just beginning, it was distinctly inspiring to see the girls exercising in the sunshine Monday on the lawn behind the home before settling down to several hours lecture work.

Our plans are being made for a busy year of teaching and play. Hallowe'en, Christmas and New Year parties seem to follow each other in rapid succession and each gives a different group an opportunity to show originality initiative.

We need more varied interests for our pupils, membership in the Girls' City Club, for instance would be a boon to many girls far from home.

The hospital and school are here to serve you and I would but poorly represent the latter did I not tell you how keenly they want to serve our community and how proud they are of their hospital and the work it is prepared to do. If any of you are strangers to us won't you come and see us without waiting for necessity to bring you to the hospital.

To our Doctors who have given so generously of their services in lecturing to the School and caring for our sick nurses, we once again extend our warmest and most appreciative thanks.

It is hard to imagine a hospital more blessed than this is with a loyal and co-operative medical staff.

To you, our new Graduates:

Remember that the will to do right is the center of character. Where it is absent nothing takes its place. A writer has said 'it is good to have money and the things that money can buy; but it is good, too, to check up once in a while and make sure you haven't lost the thing that money can't buy.' This bit of wisdom might be changed slightly in its wording and applied to nurses and a nursing education.

Beware of the routine spirit. We are brought constantly into contact with fellow creatures in their hours of storm and stress. Such contact will either enoble us or make us callous, there is no alternative, we must pass through a fire that consumes, if it does not purify. You can deal with leather or hemp and not be changed by it, but you cannot deal with human suffering without being forced to answer as best you can the great problem of human life.

Carry the banner of nursing high. We at home have the utmost confidence in your ability and will watch your progress step by step. The Training School's best wishes are yours."

A reception to the graduates, refreshments and dancing followed the exercises. The graduating class was composed of Miss Grace Mildred Alders of Kentville, N. S., Miss Mary Dolores McGowan of Woburn, Miss Helen Frances Lally of Winchester and Miss Etta Albera Rheel of Stoneham.

Many thanks are due those who helped make the evening such a success. The details were carried out under the direction of the Training School Committee, Mr. Stillman P. Williams, Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter and Mrs. Edward B Smalley. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold S. Fuller, Mrs. Herbert W. Kelley, Mrs. Harris S. Richardson, Mrs. Loring P. Gleason, Mrs. Merton E. Grush and Mrs. Albert K. Huckins. The ushers were Dr. Richard W. Sheehy, Dr. Milton J. Quinn, Mr. Harold V. Farnsworth, Mr. Harris S. Richardson, Mr. James A. Russell, Mr. Herbert W. Kelley, Mr. Albert K. Huckins and Mr. Loring P. Gleason.

Friends of the school and the two local conservatories contributed flowers and decorations. Automobile transportation for the nurses was furnished by Mrs. Herbert Wadleigh, Mrs. John B. Wills, Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer, Mrs. Stillman P. Williams and Mrs. Frederic S. Snyder.

The whole program was most enjoyable. Many friends stayed to watch the dancing after the exercises. All those who attended felt that they had received a rare treat and would take home with them a wider vision of the part a hospital fulfills in the community.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

The Girl Adolescent and as a Young Woman was the subject of a talk given by Miss Mary Driscoll to the members of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League at their first fall meeting, which was held on Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Irving L. Symmes at 10 Madison avenue. Miss Driscoll is a field worker of the National Civic Federation. She has worked among delinquent girls for many years and has a remarkable understanding of and sympathy for the youth of today. Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott of Winchester told of the work of the "Judge Baker Foundation" which she said is known nationally and internationally, but by little locally. She said that it was started ten years ago, in memory of Humphrey Baker, the first Judge of the Juvenile Court in Boston. Mrs. Abbott described the preventive and constructive work which is being done for children through its various departments and in co-operation with 137 other organizations. A group of songs was most beautifully rendered by Mrs. Idabelle H. Winship and Mrs. Gertrude N. Barnes with Mrs. A. H. Abbott at the piano. At the close of the meeting tea was served by the tea committee Mrs. Frank C. Howe, Chairman. The pourers were Mrs. Charles E. Hoey and Mrs. George Heintz.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Since the creation of our local branch some 10 years ago, we have conducted annually some type of Hallowe'en festivity. This year's affair is to take the form of a Harvest Whist and Sale. Chairman of the Charitable Committee, J. V. Kane and Sentinel B. Young have this affair under their joint leadership with the assistance of the members of the Charitable Committee. Apart from the ordinary features of a Whist Party, many additional novelties will be offered in the way of decorations, distribution of awards, etc. The sale will include articles suitable for one's personal use or for Christmas gift giving; also, there will be articles of good home-made food, cakes, jellies, preserves, etc.

As is usual with all parties conducted by our local branch, the proceeds will be used to meet the many charitable demands which the branch attempts to take care of in a modest way. With the coming of the winter months and the hardships which that season of the year brings our demands increase accordingly and it is with this in mind that the committee in charge solicit the patronage of the members and all of their friends who have been so interested in our work in the past.

The several members who have been on the "Sick List" are all reported as having recovered once again.

MARINE BAND THRILLED LARGE AUDIENCE

It is safe to say that Winchester music lovers have never, previous to the appearance of the Marine Band, had the opportunity of listening in their own town to a program of such excellence as that played by this justly famous organization last Thursday. The selections chosen were musically above reproach and rendered in that finished manner which was to be expected from a band numbered among the leaders in the world.

Composed of individual musicians who are masters of their respective instruments, the band through its constant and painstaking rehearsal has reached an excellence in ensemble playing which lifts its performance far above that attained by the ordinarily fine professional group. The wealth of tradition which has clustered about the organization during its more than 127 years of existence has produced an esprit de corps which does not fail to make itself felt in the band's playing.

The men are jealously proud of their organization's splendid reputation and this pride is reflected in their individual efforts toward its success. They are absolutely responsive to the interpretive moods of their leader, Captain Branson and at all times their playing is so unified as to resemble that of a skilled performer upon the pipe organ. It would have been hard to believe, had one closed his eyes, that there were no strings in the group which played Liszt's beautiful "Dreams of Love", so delicately shaded was the tone, while the spirited performance of Sousa's great march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever" was that only attained by a band of martial background. If the band had played only "The Star Spangled Banner" the concert might well have been termed a success, so splendidly did the Marines render our National Anthem.

Aside from the excellence of their playing, as an inspiring spectacle the bandsmen in their scarlet, gold trimmed coats and dark blue trousers with their gleaming instruments and soldierly bearing were well worth the trip to the hall, and it is a great pity that even more of the townspeople did not avail themselves of the opportunity afforded to see as well as hear this band of the Presidents.

In many organizations this or that section has to be somewhat slighted but with the Marine Band this condition does not prevail. Its ensemble is perfection. Especially are the reeds and tubas excellent.

Several of the selections played last Thursday were from manuscript and as a consequence in arrangement not available for any other band. Notable among these were Dvorak's "Carneval", Rachmaninoff's "Prelude" and the Scences from "Andrea Chenier" by Giordano.

This last named was the outstanding effort of the evening, depicting as it did in melody the despair of death softened and glorified by the sympathy and steadfastness of love. The band's playing of the closing rich chords, ending with a veritable crash of harmony will long be remembered. Running Giordano's number a close second was the request selection, "Reminiscences of Tschaikowsky," which closed with an exerpt from the magnificent "Overture of 1812."

Captain Branson, with a fine appreciation of the various tastes in music, allowed his program to grow to include many lighter numbers which were much enjoyed. Of these perhaps the "Marine's Hymn" with its vocal chorus shared with Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forever" in general favor, though Captain Branson's own composition, "General Lejeune March" in honor of the Marine Corps' popular commandant was warmly applauded.

The audience was most enthusiastic throughout and repeatedly encored the band, Captain Branson being particularly generous in his repeat selections. From the very beginning of the program there was not a single wait between numbers, the bandsmen getting their only rest at intermission.

The solo playing of Messrs. White and Clark was in keeping with the high standing of their band. Both are artists of the highest rank and their selections were such as to show both their technical ability and interpretive skill.

Mr. White played first "The Southern Cross" by Herbert Clarke, the latter for many years cornet soloist with Sousa and acknowledged one of the world's foremost performers upon this instrument, whose compositions present such technical difficulties as to try any but the most finished artist. The Marine Bandman's rendition was that of the virtuoso, perfect in execution and played with remarkable clarity of tone. His high notes were so delicate as to approximate those of finely played strings.

In the encore "Young Werner's Parting Song" from the Trumpeter of Sackingen the air was played by the baritone and then by Mr. White as a haunting echo off stage. The latter's rendering of the Berlin number was very popular.

It has been said of Arthur Pryor, internationally famous bandmaster and trombone soloist, that his compositions are so difficult as to be possible of performance only by himself. Mr. Clark's playing of Mr. Pryor's great masterpiece, "Love's Enchantment", with its dazzling scales, difficult triplets, brilliant arpeggios and sonorous pedal tones was such as to easily explode this theory. The veteran trombonist played with an ease and tonal beauty rarely heard even in the greatest artists. His interpretation of the ever popular "Mandalay" was vigorously applauded and two additional numbers were necessary to even partially satisfy the audience. Mr. Clark's solo work was easily the feature of the band, his velvety tone and smoothness of execution in legato passages arousing the admiration of even the most musically untutored.

The band gave two additional concerts in the afternoon for the benefit of the school children of Winchester who crowded the hall on both occasions and sat spell bound while Captain Branson and his men, in their orthodox dress blues played groups of selections calculated especially to appeal to youngsters.

The soloists in the afternoon were Second Leader, Arthur S. Whitcomb, cornet; Wilbur D. Kiefer, Xylophone and Hervey J. Clark, trombone. All are finished artists and the appearance of Mr. Clark, brother of Robert, the first chair trombonist, was especially interesting. Hervey was introduced by Captain Branson as the "baby of the band" yet played with the same beautifully soft tone which characterized the evening performance of his famous brother.

Captain Branson himself was introduced by President Harris S. Richardson of the Rotary Club, which organization sponsored the Winchester appearance of the band for the benefit of the hospital here. Members of the club assisted at both the afternoon and evening concerts.

The ushers at the evening concert were members of the Winchester Hospital Alumnae Association and included Mrs. Velma Lang, Mrs. Sarah Miller and the Misses Janet Stewart, Ruth Corcoran, Kathleen Morse, Florence Crimmings, Alice Brine, Phyllis Glidden, Genevieve Haley, Frances Schick, Louise Dempsey, Mildred Alders, Eleanor Hannon, Deborah Ebbet and Gertrade Kelley.

Mrs. Harold S. Fuller was in charge of the candy girls who were the Misses Katherine Chamberlin, Helen Nowell, Ruth Wadleigh, Mabel Tompkins, Irene Moulton, Madeline Little, Lauretta Carleton, Virginia Wadsworth, Ruth Dodge and Frances Pierce.

The Boy Scouts who assisted were Walter Burns, Allen Wood, Ivar Haakanson, Albert Cutter, Frank Rounds, Paul Wentworth, Kenneth Campbell, Frank Haley, Robert Barr and Warren Hichborne.

George T. Davidson headed the general Rotary Committee in charge of arrangements for the concert with the following sub-committees: William E. Priest program; Roscoe Wallace, publicity; Frank H. Knight, tickets and Nathaniel M. Nichols, Town Hall.

LIMITED TOWN MEETING

Briefly summarized, the Act provides that the town will be divided into not less than four geographical divisions or districts, containing approximately an equal number of voters, and that the voters in each district will elect from their number citizens to represent their district at town meetings. One-third of these Town Meeting Members will hold office for one year; one-third for two years; and one-third for three years, and after the first election the term of office of all will be three years. In addition to the 204 elected members, there will be Town Meeting Members at large, consisting of the Selectmen, the Finance Committee and other principal town officers or chairmen of Boards, and these Town Meeting Members, about 238 in all, will have the right to vote at town meetings as representatives, but those who are not Town Meeting Members, although they will have the right to speak at all town meetings, will not have the right to vote.

Under this system the nomination of candidates for Town Meeting Members will be made by nomination papers, bearing the signature of ten voters. The right of all voters to vote for town officers and on all matters acted on by ballot is not affected. With a few exceptions, the action of the representatives at any town meeting will be subject to a referendum, which may be invoked by a petition of not less than 250 voters, whereupon a special meeting of all the voters will be called and a vote taken by ballot for the purpose of affirming or reversing the action of the Limited Town Meeting.

At the time when the report of the Committee was made in 1927, ten towns of the Commonwealth had adopted the Limited Town Meeting. Since then four more have adopted it; and at the present time this system is in operation in the following 14 Massachusetts towns:

Arlington
Belmont
Brookline
Dartmouth
Dedham
Greenfield
Methuen
Milton
Saugus
Swampscott
Watertown
West Springfield
Weymouth
Winthrop

We ask you to bear in mind that this important question will be on the ballot on Nov. 6 and we urge you to vote upon it.

Not When, but How Much?

An extremely successful business man was giving an address on "Commercial Acumen" to a class of students.

The business man, in speaking of his career, mentioned a certain company which had been wound up on account of its shady practices.

"Of course," he said righteously, "as soon as I realized that there were possibilities of dishonest profit being made, I got out of it."

One student rose with an air of interrogation.

"Er—will you finish the sentence?" he asked. "How much did you get out of it?"—Stray Stories

Odd Foods in Many Lands

Crocodile meat is considered a good food by natives of Africa and southern negroes relish the tails of alligators, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. In the West Indies fish eyes are regarded as a delicacy. Jellyfish are eaten in Japan and in many places of the world, squid and octopus are valued for food. In Polynesia a sea worm, the "palolo," which averages about 16 inches when fully grown, is caught and prepared into an appetizing stew. Sentiment is against snakes but they are eaten in some places and travelers testify that they are often very tasty. Hawks, herons and parrots are commonly killed for food in parts of the tropics.

Silver Utensils Once Prerogative of Rank

In the early days of civilization sterling silver was restricted to royalty and the nobility. In fact, we are told that at one period of England's history the number of sterling silver spoons and suchlike one could own were actually restricted and governed by statute. One could almost reconstruct the regulatory table—one lord, one spoon; one duke, four spoons; one princess, one chest, and so on. Sterling was displayed upon all ceremonial occasions and these aristocrats of a far past day treasured their silver to as great an extent as the young bride of today.

Five hundred years ago, with the advent of the Florentine republic, a new era began. Foreign commerce brought wealth to men of lesser rank, who established magnificent homes and filled them with works of art and beauty, chief among which was sterling. Today sterling silver continues to be the inevitable tableware for the person of discrimination. Its use is not confined to the royal houses, nor even to the tables of the wealthy. It is available for every home of taste and moderate means.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON TWO

Defeated Wellesley 6—1—Won From Alumnae 5—1

Winchester High School girls field hockey team defeated Wellesley High at Wellesley last Thursday afternoon, 6—1, the home eleven proving no match for Coach Centerval's machine. The locals started with a rush and the game was not far along in the opening quarter when Capt. "Toots" MacKenzie tallied the first goal, to be followed quickly by Virginia Merrill and Nancy Bradlee.

Virginia and Nancy scored again in the second quarter and Frances Pettingell, in the fourth.

V. Feeney scored Wellesley's only goal in the second period. Winchester's second team defeated the Wellesley seconds, 2—0, with "Kay" Murphy and Alice Fleming doing the scoring.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TEA

The annual Intercollegiate Tea will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 2:30, at the home of Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, 18 Brooks street.

The committee has been fortunate in securing Dean Emma Marshall Benkinger of Wheaton College to discuss some of the outstanding problems in connection with education for women.

Preceding Dean Benkinger's talk a very important business meeting will be held. The report of the committee concerning a more definite organization for this group is to be presented and discussed.

All women in Winchester who are college graduates, or who have had one or more years of college work, are most cordially invited to attend. This invitation includes the teachers of the high and elementary schools.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB

The first meeting this fall will be held Monday, Oct. 22, at 8 p. m. in the Parish House. Light refreshments will be served.

This is to be our Father and Son Meeting and we especially urge a full attendance to show our interest in the boys. We hope that every boy in the Parish will be able to come and they will be welcomed whether they come attended or alone.

Mr. Lawrence M. Lombard will be our guest and speaker at this meeting and will give us an account of a most interesting cruise on the Grand Alliance during 1927 and also the thrilling incidents attending the Spanish race, from New York to Spain, this past summer, in which he commanded the "Nina," a little sailing vessel only 59 feet long over-all. Motion pictures are expected to be ready for this evening.

Let us show the full strength of our Club and its main purpose in promoting Christian Fellowship in our Parish.

A committee of ladies from the Church Service League will preside over the hospitalities.

J. W. Johnson, Secretary
E. S. Larned, President

WINCHESTER GIRLS LOST TENNIS FINALS

Hilda and Helen Boehm, twins from Malden High School, won the third annual Junior Girls' Tennis Championship at the Winchester Country Club on the morning of Columbus Day by defeating the Winchester High School combination of Virginia Merrill and Frances Pettingell, 8—6, 6—1.

The Boehm sisters won the right to meet the Merrill-Pettingell team by defeating Catherine Boyden of Winchester and Katherine Sprague of Newton in the semi-final round preceding the final match, 6—2 6—1.

Virginia and Frances meanwhile were playing field hockey at Manchester Field on the high school eleven which defeated the alumnae team. They went directly from the playground to the Country Club for their match with the Malden finalists, having won their way in to the championship round of the tourney the preceding Saturday afternoon.

Combined in Great Work

Gouverneur Morris was responsible for the literary form of the Constitution. He was one of the committee for revision and arrangement, which included James Madison, Alexander Hamilton, Thomas Johnson and Rufus King.

ORGANIZATION OF WINCHESTER BRANCH OF COLUMBUS REPUBLICAN CLUB

White's Hall was filled to capacity Friday evening, Oct. 5, when the Winchester Branch of the Columbus Republican Club received its charter and installed its new officers. A very interesting program was enjoyed by all.

Virgilio Lombardi, secretary of the organization presided. The officers elected were as follows:

President Sebastiano Penna.
Vice President Joseph Marrone.
Recording Secretary Giuseppe Mazzio.
Secretary of Finance Salvatore DiPeso.
Treasurer Domenic Flowers.
Trustees Vincenzo Gigliotti, Filiberto La Torella, Domenico Mallanco, Giuseppe Severino, Francesco Migliaccio.

Mr. Lombardi introduced Mr. Frederic Snyder as the first speaker of the evening. He was followed by Mrs. Alfred Radley, president of the Winchester Women's Republican Club Mr. DeNicola, the assistant organizer addressed the audiance in Italian.

Refreshments were served and soon after the other speakers arrived.

The speech of Prof. Felix Forte of Boston University was frequently applauded.

"Americans of Italian descent resent very strongly the implication made by the Democrats that they are interested enough in the return of whiskey to cast their vote for Alfred Smith," said Professor Forte. "Italians have always been sober and industrious, and for them the corner saloon never existed. It was not, decidedly not, one of their institutions, and Governor Smith is making a sad mistake if he thinks he can win their votes by placing the stigma of rum upon them. Nor can they be fooled by the immigration talk of the Democrats. Anybody of intelligence knows that restriction act was a non-partisan measure, enacted by Congress as the result of an agitation which, if anything, came from the South. Anyhow the Republican Party had the good taste to repudiate Representative Johnson."

Honorary Representative, Thomas E. Bateman followed Professor Forte on the platform. The last speaker was Mr. Saverio Romano who delivered his speech both in Italian and English, recommending the Italian residents and members of the Republican Club to "live with God and the Republican Party."

MYSTIC VALLEY INSTALLATION

The installation of officers of Mystic Valley Lodge of Masons for the coming year was held in the Masonic Apartments, Thursday evening, Oct. 11. The installing officers were Rt. Wor. Sanford Crandon, Past District Deputy Grand Master of Wyoming Lodge of Melrose; assisted by Wor. Horace E. GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

It is the little things in life that count, says the adage of old and the truth of this is borne out at the Granada Theater in Malden, the last three days of this week where 28 midgets of universal fame are being presented in a unique performance by Ike Rose, world famous showman. Songs, dances, band music and comic repartee, are featured by the tiny actors and actresses. The midgets were recruited from all over the world by Mr. Rose, eight different countries being represented in the group of diminutive performers. The midgets range in age from 17 to 44 years. Rose's Royal Midgets, as the act is known, is a recognized vaudeville headliner all over the world.

"The Mating Call," with Thomas Meighan as the star, is the current feature at the Granada. Adapted from the widely read novel by Rex Beach, "The Mating Call" is a scintillating and fast moving romantic thriller. This is the first time that a producer has had the daring to reproduce with such amazing fidelity the intimidating methods of hooded terrorists. Evelyn Brent and Renee Adoree are Mr. Meighan's leading ladies.

The Marcus Revue, a company of 60 people, come to the Granada next Monday for a week's stay. The Marcus Revue is one of the largest road show companies and offer a complete musical comedy. A complete change of program will be offered on Monday and Thursday. Emil Jannines in "The Patriot" will be the screen feature for the first half of next week.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The program at the University Theatre for four days beginning Sunday includes "Two Lovers" and "The Camera Man" with Buster Keaton.

For the last three days of the week the feature pictures are "Fazil" starring Charles Farrell and Greta Nissen and "The Headman" with Charlie Murray.

The children's music classes conducted by Louisa F. Parkhurst of Boston have met with such success that a new class is forming for Thursday, Oct. 25. The aim of these lessons is to give to a child musical thoughts, listening, ears, and fundamental knowledge of rhythm, phrasing, form and Matthay piano technic. Classes are held at 3 LaGrange street on Mondays and Thursdays. Phone Prospect 0506.

HAD DONE ITS DUTY

Shortly after 8 o'clock on the evening of the holiday a Graham-Dodge truck was discovered abandoned in the driveway of Mr. L. D. Draper's residence at 350 Highland avenue. The machine was driven to headquarters by Patrolman Charles Harrold and an investigation disclosed that it had been stolen in Framingham for the transportation of six drums of alcohol which had also been stolen in that city. The truck was the property of Barber Coleman Company of Framingham and was later returned to its owners by the authorities.

Waldo L. Hart, of 2 Bruce road, sailed Oct. 13 on the steamer Olympic of the White Star line for a six weeks' business trip in Europe. He will visit Holland, Germany, Luxemburg and France.

We Back Will to do With Ability

The simple desire to render good service means nothing without the means to make it effective. To supply you with good, fresh, safe milk, organization, equipment and experience are needed as well as good intention. Hoods have everything required for fine milk service and we use it effectively.

H. P. HOOD & SONS
Distributors of Hood's Milk for more than 62 years.
Hood's milk is good milk every bottle of it

NEW MILK PASTEURIZING PLANT

H. P. Hood & Sons have broken ground for the construction of a new milk pasteurizing and bottling plant on the site of the building at 494 Rutherford avenue, Charlestown, which they have occupied since 1900.

The new plant is expected to be ready for duty by July 1929. It will be constructed with flat slab reinforced concrete, and equipped with steel sash throughout.

In size the building will occupy 187 feet on Rutherford avenue, with a depth of 300 feet with a T shape formation providing unusual light and ventilating opportunities. The structure will be three stories in height above a basement, and have a floor space of 90,000 square feet.

In equipment the new plant will rival anything in the country. In size it will be the largest yet constructed in New England. It will have a capacity of 200,000 quarts of milk and 20,000 quarts of cream per day. Grade A milk and Grade B milk will be handled in entirely separate parts of the building, each in its own separate equipment.

All floors in production rooms will be waterproof with smooth brick surfaces. Every part of the building where milk is handled is so designed that at the end of each day's operation it can be flushed with water and sterilized with live steam.

The pasteurizing rooms will be provided with a constant supply of filtered fresh air, and the men employed in these departments are regularly examined by physicians to further avoid any possibility of contamination. The pasteurizing equipment will be the modern positive holder type, which has now been definitely decided to be the most efficient and safest.

The system of sanitary pipe lines with which the plant is supplied, are so constructed that every section can be dismembered when the day's work is completed and thoroughly washed, scrubbed and sterilized before being reassembled for next day's operation. From the time milk leaves the great glass lined tanks on one side of the building, to the time it passes on to the wagon in crystal clear bottles, it has never been exposed to any surface touched by human hands.

To insure clean bottles the newest and most highly developed equipment yet devised will be installed. These washers are enormous machines with the capacity of 120 perfectly washed and sterilized bottles per minute. The bottles are soaked thoroughly in two alkaline solutions at a high temperature, rinsed in another solution, and thoroughly scrubbed with air brush and sterilized. The process is continuous and automatic, delivering the bottles to a mechanical conveyor which carries them direct to the bottle fillers.

These bottle fillers will be seven in number. They are of the rotary type automatically delivering to each bottle its exact measure of milk without waste, and automatically capping and sealing the bottles.

The Hood engineers have combed the country for two years past in an effort to procure the best in milk plant equipment, accepting nothing that did not bear the endorsement of the most advanced minds in the industry. Furthermore, the plans throughout have been submitted to the health authorities of the City of Boston and other communities which the Hood Company is serving, and in every case received their hearty endorsement.

The new Hood plant will have an ice making plant capable of producing 30 tons a day, and storing 90 tons. In mechanical refrigeration it will have the equivalent of 200 tons of manufactured ice a day.

The new laboratory will be prepared to make upwards of 200,000 tests per year. Tests designed to regulate the absolute uniformity and check the high standard of Hood's milk.

The Hood organization will maintain a completely equipped modified milk department where will be prepared feeding for hundreds of babies daily. A department had been operating along this line for many years, and in the new plant will be able to extend this work to cover a greater field.

The Hood business is one of the oldest milk concerns in America. It was established in 1846 when the founder, H. P. Hood, who came from Tunbridge, Vermont, began milk distribution in Charlestown.

In 1856 Mr. Hood started a farm of his own in Derry, N. H., and shipped that milk, with milk from neighboring farms, to Boston. In 1890 Mr. Hood was joined by his son, Charles H. Hood, who had just graduated from New Hampshire University. Shortly after the name of the firm became H. P. Hood & Sons. Gilbert H. Hood and Edward J. Hood two other sons entered the business and its name was changed to its present ferm in 1890.

With the removal to the Rutherford avenue location the business began rapilly to expand. In 1896 a branch was established at Lynn. in 1903 another at Forest Hills; in 1907 Salem was added; and then Lawrence in 1908; Manchester, N. H. in 1910; Providence, R. I. in 1915; and Springfield during the present year. Other branches were located in Malden, Watertown, Orient Heights, South Boston, Medford, Brookline, Quincy, Dorchester, Lowell and Fall River.

The ice cream business followed as a natural consequence, and in a few years Hood's have grown to be one of the largest manufacturers and distributors of ice cream in the country. They now have ice cream factories and branches in Cambridge, Lynn, Salem, Lawrence, Quincy, Lowell, Fitchburg, Fall River, Manchester, N. H.; Concord, N. H.; Dover, N. H.; Providence, R. I.; Newport, R. I., and Springfield.

The State League of Women Voters announce the following program to be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel: Oct. 23 at 2:30 p. m., bridge and tea; Oct. 24 at 10:15 a. m., the fall business meeting, 1 p. m., luncheon at Copley Plaza; Miss Elizabeth Hauser will speak on the "Place of the League of Women Voters in a Political Campaign."

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The first meeting for the fall season will be held on Monday afternoon in the Town Hall. At 2 o'clock the officers of the club will hold a reception for new members. The play chosen is "Minick," a three-act comedy by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman. Tea will be served under the direction of the social committee, Mrs. Winifred A. Bennett, chairman.

SAVE THE MAPLES

I believe the folks who park their automobiles on Common street adjacent to the beautiful row of maple trees are mostly unaware of the fact that in the near future these trees will resemble the trees of the Argonne Forest due to the fact that the oil and gasoline that drips on the ground under the gorgeous branches has a tendency to hasten their demise and relegate them to the mold pile years before they reach the age of the gigantic elm tree that was recently removed from Church street.

You can very easily ascertain, Mr. Editor, by refreshing your memory, that very recently a number of splendid ash trees were removed from Common street. What a pity we did not endeavor to spare the above named trees!

I for one, trust that the local Chamber of Commerce and the various Town Fathers and others, will manifest a little spryness and co-operate with our efficient tree warden and superintendent and not pass the buck, and do their utmost to determine ways and means to spare the maple trees on Common and Church streets that harmonize so beautifully with the trees adjacent to the church on the hill.

Your humble servant can very readily recall when the Common was a baseball field and a cow pasture. The Town Fathers and others of that period most likely decided that it was far more appropriate to have a park or a common, surrounded by beautiful trees, instead of a cow pasture in the center of the town. They were the men who were responsible for our three wonderful reservoirs, beautiful bridges and magnificent park system.

Surely we will endeavor to preserve what they presented to us and prove to future generations that the Town Fathers and others of the past were thinkers—not dreamers.

Thanking you for the above space, I remain,

Yours very truly,
Patrick H. Craughwell

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL RECOVERED LOST MONEY

The interest which little Eleanor Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Greene of 329 Highland avenue, took in the misfortune which had befallen the family laundry man resulted in the recovery of a substantial sum of money lost by Louis Ames of 592 Main street, Woburn, while delivering from his Winchester Laundry team on Highland avenue not far from Prospect street last Friday evening.

Mr. Ames had just left the Greene home when he discovered the loss of a roll of bills amounting to $12. He returned to the house and secured a lantern but a diligent search failed to locate the money.

Little Eleanor, who is seven and a pupil at the Mystic School, felt badly at the plight in which the friendly laundry man found himself, and despite the darkness wished to go out in search of the missing bills.

She was, however, persuaded by her parents to wait until morning but bright and early Saturday accompanied by her younger sister, Eleanor, set out on her quest. Her confidence in herself was not misplaced for she succeeded in locating the money in the driveway of the Johnson residence across the street. It would be hard to tell which was the more pleased, Mr. Ames in getting back his money or Eleanor in returning it to him.

WINCHESTER AT LEXINGTON SATURDAY

Winchester High School's unbeaten football team will journey to Lexington tomorrow afternoon for its annual game with the minute boys at 2:30. This contest should prove a real attraction for the rivalry between the two schools is intense.

Last season Coach Mansfield's great machine defeated Lexington on Manchester Field but it is felt that this year the latter team has lost less strength than Winchester.

On the holiday the locals showed a stubborn defense and a forward passing game as effective as it was spectacular. The boys were woefully weak so far as rushing the ball was concerned, Godfrey alone showing any ability to advance the leather on running plays.

It is not probable that Lexington will offer stronger opposition than the big Arlington team and Winchester's chances should be bright tomorrow. The locals will probably line up with Captain Amico at center, Coss and Kerrigan, guards; Symmes and McNeil, tackles; J. McNeil and Tompkins, ends; Kendrick, quarterback; Godfrey and Lee, halfbacks; and Roy Horn, fullback.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Franklin of Fairmount street spent a most enjoyable tour of Vermont and New York State over the holiday and thoroughly appreciated the beautiful weather in the Adirondacks. They went as far as Lake George, where they visited Mrs. Bertha Tufts, returning to Winchester this week.

WINCHESTER AND ARLINGTON BATTLE TO A TIE

The Arlington players and coaches were bitterly disappointed in the outcome of the battle which was fiercely waged despite the intense heat from the opening to the closing whistle. The Spy Ponders brought another big eleven to Winchester, led by the burly tackle, Rushton, beside whom the remainder of the warriors were insignificant. The visitors were top-heavy favorites to win and thereby get partial revenge for the past two lickings handed them in Mystic Valley football engagements by Winchester.

From the very first the game resolved itself into a stubborn defensive conflict which forced both teams to resort to kicking in an effort to make a break. The punting of "Ollie" Lee, especially under pressure, was very effective and it was seldom that the locals failed to gain considerable ground on an exchange of kicks.

Early in the first period a couple of disasterous fumbles in the local backfield forced Winchester back to the shadow of its goal posts where Lee got off a corking punt well past midfield, every inch of which was held by the sterling little end, "Livin'" McNeil. Any offensive which Winchester might have launched in the opening minutes of the game was nullified by poor handling of the ball in the backfield, the backs on occasion failing to get their hands on what could not under any circumstances be termed poor passes.

Arlington was little better offensively than Winchester, though it did occasionally shove along to a first down at tackle. It had but one running play, an off-tackle thrust in which the entire backfield banged along behind the mammouth Rushton, seldom for any great yardage.

The smaller Winchester linemen outcharged their big opponents, and the locals' Captain Amico was constantly breaking through to make tackles for losses. We have never seen a better exhibition of defensive play than that shown last Friday by Winchester's classy center rush. He invariably called the play correctly and the way he shifted about to meet the Arlington offensive drive was little short of uncanny. It is safe to say that he made every other tackle for the Red and Black.

With his effort the work of "Livin" McNeil stood out. The end play of the latter was very high class and his ever-lasting fight was a real inspiration. Time after time he was down the field under Lee's punts to drop the Arlington backs in their tracks and it was finally his ability to catch and hang onto forward passes which enabled Winchester to avoid defeat.

The entire Winchester team deserves all the credit in the world for its game fight against heavy odds, but it is only fair to add that without the leadership of Amico and the all around class of McNeil the locals would have had a defeat chalked up against their 1928 record in the Mystic Valley League. A team, facing a 6—0 score with 4 minutes to go against a physically superior eleven which had allowed it not a single running first down throughout the game, has little to hope for and that's the situation Winchester found itself in as the Arlington game drew to a close. Only the inspiration furnished by "Nutsy" and "Livin" coupled with the nine-say-die spirit inculcated into all Mansfield coached elevens allowed the boys to carry on and even up the count. Many a good team would have wilted in the face of the heavy odds.

The locals had been fighting with their backs to the wall during the third quarter and the final period was about half completed when the Winchester forwards broke through to force Howatt of Arlington to punt short outside at midfield for a real break. Kendrick at once opened up and a beautifully executed lateral pass from Godfrey to Lee, followed by a long forward from Lee to McNeil, put the ball on Arlington's 11 yard line. Another stride and "Livin" would have been clear for a touchdown.

Two forward passes were batted down in succession and after the five yard penalty for the second failure Arlington broke through to smear Lee on an attempted lateral. "Ollie," thinking to save the lost yardage by grounding the pigskin, threw the ball off blindly and after striking an Arlington lineman it was siezed by left guard Hagerman, who ran 75 yards for a most unexpected and welcome touchdown. Neil Kerrigan, Winchester's speedy lineman, after being cut out of the play gave everything he had to overhaul the flying Arlington man whom he tackled just as he crossed the goal-line, making up some 20 long yards.

The Arlington stands went into transports of delight, but the gloom of the local supporters was but partially reflected in the grim determination of the Winchester linemen who broke through to literally smother the Arlington attempt at goal.

With four minutes to go Captain Amico aroused the local boys to a real fighting pitch and Kerrigan carried back the kick-off 10 yards to the 30-yard line. Kendrick fell back and shot off a pretty forward pass to Lee who made a great catch amidst a swarm of crimson jersies at the Arlington 40 yard line.

A pass from Kendrick was grounded and a second intercepted at the Arlington 30 yard line. With victory in his grasp the Arlington quarterback chose to kick on second down to give the fighting locals a second chance. Howatt's punt was short and it was Winchester's ball at midfield again.

Here Arlington intercepted another Winchester pass but this time the ball was fumbled and recovered for Winchester by Gnazio Amico. With two minutes left to go, Lee shot off a beautiful pass over the left center of the line which carried 30 yards to the Arlington 6 yard stripe where it was pulled down in stride by "Livin" McNeil who quickly scampered across the remaining distance to the Arlington goal line.

While pandemonium reigned Kendrick fell back and attempted to drop-kick the extra point which would have meant the victory. He failed in his attempt and with the count deadlocked Winchester kicked off.

With less than two minutes to go Arlington chose to advance the ball by rushing and had penetrated to the Winchester side of midfield when the final whistle blew.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NOW "CLASS A"

Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, Associate Director of the American College of Surgeons and Director in Charge of hospital activities, officially inspected the Winchester Hospital on Saturday, Oct. 13, and on Tuesday, advised by wire, that the Winchester Hospital had been fully approved by the American College of Surgeons, and that the authorities were to be congratulated on the splendid progress the institution had made. This approval is the long desired goal for the institution, but could not be attained until the new hospital was complete and the various factors functioning and co-operating in a proper manner. As this is the first inspection made since the completion of the new maternity wing in May, it shows to what extent the administration, doctors staff, superintendent, and supervisors have been co-operating, for the betterment of the hospital.

The reasons why the Winchester Hospital has been fully approved are many. Briefly, there are eight fundamentals:

1. There is a proper administration; an organization operating under a charter granted by the State, providing for a Board of Directors, whose authority is final; and an executive Board with various sub-committees working with the superintendent in matters of policy.

2. The location of the hospital is perfect. There is accessibility to transportation, adequate area for future growth, proper elevation, freedom from nuisances and hazards, maximum of air and light, and an environment conducive to the comfort of the patient.

3. The hospital buildings are well planned, adequate and properly equipped to economically and efficiently give proper service. There is ample provision for the housing or nurses, various units are co-ordinated to insure the best of physical and scientific comfort for the patient, and there is a harmony of color, symmetry, and appropriate furnishings that medicine now recognizes as having therapeutic value.

4. The supervising personnel is of the best. The superintendent and her staff of nurses are well trained capable of proper judgment, and possessing a sympathetic understanding so important to the patient.

5. The training school is an accredited school and is adequately supervised and equipped for the proper instruction of the nurses.

6. The hospital has an organized staff of doctors, meeting once a month, with adopted rules of procedure, reviewing and analyzing clinical records and discussing all aspects which may better the work of the doctors and the nursing staff in the hospital.

7. An accurate and complete set of records of all patients is kept and filed in an accessible manner, for future reference by the doctors.

8. There are diagnostic and therapeutic facilities under competent supervision, including an X-ray Department and Clinical Laboratory.

There are also many other reasons why the American College of Surgeons fully approved the Winchester Hospital as "Class A" but these stated here are the fundamental ones.

WINCHESTER WOMEN AT RECEPTION TO MRS. HOOVER

Mrs. Alfred D. Radley, president of the Winchester Women's Republican Club and several members of the executive board attended the reception given by Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller for Mrs. Herbert Hoover at the Copley Plaza on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Radley was present also at the luncheon at the Hotel Statler which was arranged at the suggestion of Mr. Hoover to give him an opportunity to meet some of the active workers endeavoring to keep Massachusetts in the Republican column this year. Mr. Thomas Bateman, chairman of the town committee and Mrs. Alonzo Woodside, vice chairman of the town committee were also present. The large artistic floral bouquets on the speakers' table were the product of Mrs. Woodside's lovely garden.

PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY PARADE PROGRESSING

The chairman of the parade committee reports that entries for the different divisions are rapidly coming in and some keen competition is expected.

The Legion is offering prizes totaling $35 for the best boats and $17.50 for the most original costumes.

Already four lodges, three clubs and a well-known automobile firm have signified their intentions to enter floats and more are coming in daily.

The Legion extends a cordial invitation to all to enter. Decorated private cars will be especially welcome and if enough entries are received additional prizes will be awarded.

Entries may be sent to Warren Johnston, 5 Myrtle street, Winchester, tel. 0488-M, or any member of the Legion.

School supplies at Wilson's.

Reports from Springfield College indicate that Winchester's "Henny" Knowlton is living up to the reputation as a football player which he won during the four years he starred as a member of the high school eleven. Knowlton is playing a regular halfback on the Springfield freshman eleven and his punting has already brought him to the attention of Head Coach Jack Rothaker. His popularity with his classmates is attested by the fact that he was chosen to act as chairman during the freshman organization period. "Henny" declined to be a candidate for president of his class.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN
WINCHESTER, MASS.

You are hereby required on or before Dec. 1, 1928, to destroy the gypsy and brown tail moths on your property in this town.

This notification is in accordance with Chapter 132, General Laws, which requires cities and towns to destroy the eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests of the gypsy and brown tail moths under heavy penalty for failure to comply with the provisions of the law.

If a property owner fails to destroy such eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests, then the city or town is required to destroy the same and the cost of the work, in whole or in part, according to the value of the land, is assessed upon and becomes a lien on the land. (Section 18, Chapter 132, General Laws, on reverse.)

The Selectmen ask owners and tenants to co-operate with the town in its work on highways and other public grounds by doing effective work on their premises. Citizens who have cleaned their premises of the moths, but find their trees endangered by the neglect of owners of adjoining estates should make complaint to the Selectmen. The infestation of a residential neighborhood by the neglect of a few will not be tolerated.

The eggs of the gypsy moth should be destroyed at once with creosote. They should never be scraped off the object on which they are laid. Careful search should be made for gypsy moth egg clusters, not only on trees, but also on house walls, stone walls, fences and in rubbish heaps, etc. Trees in which cavities occur and which it is not desirable to cut should have the cavities tinned or cemented. This is important. The present and future cost of combating this insect can be greatly reduced by cutting and burning worthless brush, hollow trees, etc. A few trees well-cared for are more valuable to the property owner and the community than a large number of neglected trees.

The nests of the brown tail moth should be cut from the trees, carefully collected and burned in a stove or furnace.

Full instructions as to the best methods of work against the moths may be obtained from the Local Superintendent, or from the State Forester, Room 519, State House, Boston, Mass.

A Lecture on Christian Science
Entitled
Christian Science: The Culmination of the Teaching of the Bible by
Gavin W. Allan, C.S.B. of Toronto, Ontario, Canada
Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

In the Scriptures we read, "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

On page one of the Christian Scienc textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mrs. Eddy says, "The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God."

The true understanding of prayer, as taught in Christian Science, has brought health and happiness to untold numbers.

Because we wish to share this knowledge with mankind you have been invited to this lecture on Christian Science. It is my privilege and pleasure to extend a cordial welcome to our many guests and to present our lecturer of the evening Mr. Gavin W. Allen, C.S.B., who is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

DEAN DENKINGER TO SPEAK TO WINCHESTER COLLEGE WOMEN

Dean Emma Marshall Denkinger of Wheaton College will speak to the Winchester college women at the Intercollegiate Tea, to be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, 18 Brooks street.

Miss Denkinger's subject is "The Obligation of the College Woman to Her Community." She is unusually well qualified to five practical suggestions as well as an interesting address because of her intimate experience with many leading colleges. She is a Radcliffe graduate with a Master's and Doctor's degree from the same institution. She was formerly Associate Professor of English at Wellesley, has taught at Mt. Holyoke, has lectured on English literature at Bryn Mawr, and is at present Dean of Women at Wheaton College where she teaches English literature.

All women in Winchester who are college graduates, or who have one or more years of college work are most cordially invited to attend this meeting. This invitation includes all college women whether or not they have received announcements by mail.

A short but important business session will be held at 2:30 followed by the address of the afternoon. Winchester school teachers who are unable to arrive by 2:30 are invited to come a little later in time for the address.

REV. E. C. MERCER
PREACHING MISSION

On Sunday, Oct. 28 Through Nov. 2 at the Church of the Epiphany

Sunday, Oct. 28, will mark the initial service of a six days preaching mission under the leadership of Mr. E. C. Mercer, who is an outstanding lay preacher of the Episcopal Church.

"Fred" Mercer is descended from a fine old Southern family; son of a noted lawyer; graduated from the University of Virginia, from which Bishop Stires also graduated. He was an athlete and a society leader.

Because of evil habits he went completely to pieces and at the age of 30 found himself in New York, physically and morally "down and out." A Christian cousin directed him to the famous Jerry McAuley Mission under Brooklyn Bridge, where in 1901 he was converted to the Gospel of Christ and restored to self-respect and usefulness.

For two years he was connected with this Mission. For six years he was associated with the great John R. Mott, in the great Student Movement. Since 1918 he has held Evangelistic Services and Preaching Missions in churches all over the United States.

While Mr. Mercer is connected with the Episcopal Church, he is in demand as a mission preacher in other communions.

The hours of the services and topics are as follows:

Sunday, Oct. 28, 11 A. M. "A Twentieth Century Miracle."
Sunday, Oct. 28, 4:30 P. M. Inter-Church Service. "Respectable Sin."
Monday, Oct. 29, 7:45 P. M. "Broken Lives Mended."
Tuesday, Oct. 30, 7:45 P. M. "Why Our Prisons are Crowded With Young Men."
Wednesday, Oct. 31, 7:45 P. M. "The Only Class of People God Cannot Help."
Thursday, Nov. 1, 7:45 P. M. "Heart of Christianity."
Friday, Nov. 2, 7:45 P. M. "Five Demands God Makes on Every Christian."

WINCHESTER GAVE $900 TO RED CROSS

Contributions totaling $900 were received by the local Red Cross Chapter from Winchester people who wished to help the sufferers from the West Indian and Florida hurricanes. Winchester's quota was $1500, so $600 was taken from the treasury in order to send the full quota to headquarters at Washington.

Local Red Cross officials are now preparing to welcome the dollars that will pour in during the annual roll call. This roll call, as you probably know, is the yearly member-ship drive. It costs only $1 to enlist in the Red Cross army, so it will be easy for those who contributed to the hurricane fund, as well as those who did not to turn in their dollars to the Winchester Red Cross without further solicitation.

BUILDING PERMIT GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has issued permit for week ending Thursday, Oct. 25, as follows:

Edith M. Johnson, Winchester — private garage on lot at 147 Highland avenue.

Dr. George A. Barron of Winthrop street who has been confined for some time to the Winchester Hospital following an operation is expected to return home Sunday.

CALUMET NOTES

The first of the season's series of dinner-bridges was held last Friday evening and was greatly enjoyed by all. About 100 members made their way to the hospitable club house and enjoyed a dinner prepared by Fred Scholl. At the conclusion of the repast there was bridge and Mrs. Arthur Pitman, in her usual charming way, acted as hostess. The prizes, many of which were the handiwork of Mrs. Pitman, were awarded as follows:

First Ladies' Prize Mrs. L. P. Howe.
Second Ladies' Prize Mrs. Helen Sweet.
Third Ladies' Prize Mrs. Kingman Cass.
Fourth Ladies' Prize Mrs. R. K. Miller.

Arthur Kelley took the first men's prize, John Hart Taylor, second; William Davis third and Harris Richardson fourth. The parties last year were much enjoyed, with always a large attendance. This year, the food is supplied by the club under the supervision of Fred Scholl and this method will greatly eliminate the cares and worries of those members who were obliged to attend to the preparation. New members should come regularly and take advantage of the opportunity. Calumet is indebted to Ernest Chase of the Rust Craft Publishers for the dainty bridge scores of last week.

Last Saturday evening we were favored with a political talk by M. E. Hennessey, the political obscurer of the Boston Globe. While Mr. Hennessey did not predict the election of either Hoover or Smith, due probably to his paper's impartial stand, his talk nevertheless, was very interesting and full of political information. The crowd was attentive and at the conclusion of his talk asked him some pointed questions.

Tonight, the first of the season's bowling for both men and women will take place at 8 p. m. Last year these parties were much enjoyed and there was considerable rivalry. They not only serve as good practice for bowling but also to pass a pleasant evening among t friends. Any member of the Club with his wife, sweetheart or off-pring is entitled to bowl.

Tomorrow evening, there will be open house with bowling, cards, pool, billiards, ping pong and a general good time. The regular Saturday night lunch will be served.

Club members will please bear in mind that Calumet will run a Hallowe'en party with dancing on Oct. 31. There will be prizes for the best costume and other events. Club members and their families only are invited and, while it is not necessary to come in costume, it will be very pleasing to the committe if members and their partners would come in costume dress. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Little will be in charge and they will see that everyone has a good time. Previous parties have been most successful with general jollification. We think Calumet will be aglow that night.

The Mens' bowling tournament is progressing and while scores are not large as yet, they are bound to get better as the season progresses, for Calumet has certainly a strong aggregation of bowlers who like the game not only for the high scores but for the sport there is in it. New bowlers will be rated after the third match and the others after the 7th so all will have an even chance of winning points and also a share in the prizes at the end of the season.

Election returns will be received at the Club rooms on Election night. The new radio, together with competent attendants, will give members prompt and official results. Further particulars later.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

As is frequently the case Winchester Rotary Club had the pleasure of entertaining a good number of guests at our regular meeting this week. In greeting members of other units of Rotary International we are reminded that we are something more than a local club of congenial spirits. We are part of a world organization whose influence is growing day by day; an influence which is being exerted impartially for the good of our neighbors and ourselves. Our guests serve as an inspiration for us to do our part, even though it be a small part in maintaining the high ideals of Rotary. Once more we say there is a cordial welcome at our board for fellow Rotarians and other guests.

After luncheon we listened to an address by Mr. Sidney Von Loesecke, assistant counsel for the Automobile Legal Association, on the subject of Automobile Insurance.

Mr. Von Loesecks gave us an illuminating insight into the workings of the Massachusetts Compulsory Insurance Law, a statute which is of vital interest to every car owner. We gather that this piece of legislation can be expected to be efficient only when its provisions are executed by private agencies. The authority of the Commonwealth should be of a supervisory nature and no more.

Our next meeting will be the first of the half-year period. We should start with a rush and lose no momentum as time goes on. Make your peace with Bill and miss no meetings.

EDWARD B. SMALLEY

Edward B. Smalley of 8 Norwood street a native and life-long resident of Winchester, former Selectman and a veteran of the Spanish War, died Monday morning, Oct. 22, while undergoing an operation at the Phillips House, Boston, which he had entered the day previous. He had not for some time been in the best of health but his sudden passing was wholly unexpected and came as a severe shock to his host of friends in Winchester and elsewhere. Flags on the Common and public buildings were at half-staff in his honor.

Mr. Smalley was the son of Walter and Eva (Smith) Smalley and was born March 22, 1877. He attended the public schools and was graduated from high school with the class of 1895. While in school he won for himself a splendid reputation as a pitcher and his active interest in sports was maintained throughout his life.

During the Spanish War Mr. Smalley entered the country's service, enlisting as a private in the Stoneham Company of the Sixth Regiment. At the time of the World War when the Winchester Machine Gun Company was organized for possible home duty he was commissioned its first lieutenant, and during the spring of 1919 was promoted to Captain and Adjutant of the 12th Regiment of the Massachusetts State Guard, being on active duty in Boston during the police strike. He retired from military service in 1920.

Always actively interested in the civic life of his community, Mr. Smalley had served the town as Selectman and in other capacities of a public nature. He was a past master of William Parkman Lodge of Masons, a member of Winchester Royal Arch Chapter, of Massachusetts Consistory and of Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He was a member and former vice-president of the Calumet Club, was a member of the Winchester Country Club and had been President of the Men's Club of the Church of the Epiphany. His business interests were centered in the O. D. Baker Company of Boston, of which he was President, and he was also a director of the Winchester National Bank.

Surviving besides his wife, Mrs. Alice C. Smalley and a daughter, Virginia, are his mother, Mrs. Eva Smalley, a sister, Mrs. William Corliss, and a brother, Adna Smalley, all of Winchester.

The Church of the Epiphany was completely filled at the funeral services which were held on Wednesday afternoon. The Rector, Rev. Truman Heminway, read the Episcopal funeral service which was followed by the Masonic ritual exemplified by William Parkman Lodge with J. Henry Miley as master and Ralph W. E. Hopper, chaplain.

Delegations were present representing the fraternal, social and business organizations of which Mr. Smalley had been a member and military honors were accorded by a detachment of United Spanish War Veterans with a firing squad of Militiamen.

The bearers were Col. H. P. Ballard of Malden, Danforth W. Comins of Lexington, Barton K. Stephenson of Newton, Samuel I. Danforth of South Sudbury and J. Henry Miley, John Hart Taylor, Harrie Y. Nutter, Harris S. Richardson, Preston E. Corey, Paul D. Poinier, Lawrence C. Tompkins and Ernest R. Eustis, all of Winchester. The transept and chancel of the church were banked with flowers. Organ music was played by Fred H. Cronhimer, organist and choirmaster of the church. Stanley G. H. Fitch Marcus A. May, Alfred S. Higgins, Robert V. Bayer and Edward S. Larned served as ushers.

At the conclusion of the services the flag draped casket was escorted by the military and Masons from the church to the grave in Wildwood Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Mr. Heminway. Three volleys were fired as a salute by the militiamen and taps were sounded by a bugler.

WINCHESTER GIRLS PLAY SWAMPSCOTT

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team, undefeated thus far, will play its second league game of the season this afternoon with the Swampscott girls at Swampscott. The locals have already won a practice match with Swampscott and expect to keep their standing unimpaired.

Eastern Star Fair in Town Hall, Saturday, Oct. 27, from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. Home cooked goodies at the food table; mysterious gifts for the kiddies at the grab table, with plenty of articles for the grown-ups at the other tables. Luncheon and supper served in the tea garden. Dancing in the evening. Admission free.

WAKEFIELD HERE TOMORROW

Winchester High School's football team will attempt to stage a comeback tomorrow afternoon when it will play a Mystic Valley league game with Wakefield on Manchester Field.

The local showing at Lexington was so sorry that Coach Mansfield and his assistants were unwilling to believe that the boys were at their best for the battle. One could hardly think so after the fine playing of the team on the holiday against Arlington.

Since the Lexington fiasco it has come to light that several of the Winchester varsity players with others of the second string had disregarded training rules on the night before the game and had been out far and away too late to be able to play good football the next day. Some of the boys were at a dance out of town which is not the best of preparation for a strenuous athletic contest.

A few of the offenders have admitted their breach of training and have been indefinitely suspended from participating in games by Coach Mansfield.

There are but two training rules laid down by the high school mentor and they require the boys to be in bed nightly at 10, except on Saturday, and to forgo smoking. None will question the necessity of both rules and the boys should follow the advice of their coach who is working solely for their interest.

Aside from the duty which is owed their school and coach the players also should remember the fans who have so loyally supported them during the past few years and at least play for them in return for this support as good football as they know how.

The Town is rather generous with its athletes these days in comparison with the time, not so far distant, when the boys had to furnish all their own equipment, make the trips to and from games in the electrics, do without skilled coaching and medical attention and play practically alone away from home.

In return for the greatly improving conditions the fans have a right to expect the players to give their best and no boy can do that who fails to live up to the letter of training regulations.

Any one who breaks training should be for his own sake and the sake of the entire squad unmanly disciplined and the fans as a whole will have scant sympathy for the one who is "out of luck." Coach Mansfield is asking all supporters of the eleven to use their influence in keeping the boys in the "straight and narrow."

Children may be brought by parents for throat examinations to the Children's Clinic held Thursday afternoons at the Board of Health Rooms, commencing at 3:30 o'clock. The Winchester Hospital has started a clinic for tonsil and adenoid operations upon children recommended for it by a physician.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON OPENING LEAGUE TILT

The crack girls' field hockey team of Winchester High won its first game in the Northern Division of the Interscholastic League last Friday afternoon by defeating the Stoneham High girls, 2—0 on Manchester Field.

Stoneham, coached by Miss Ruth Poland of this town, offered stubborn resistance to last year's championship eleven and though play was for the greater part well within the visitor's territory, the locals experienced real difficulty in getting the ball past their last line of defense.

Virginia Merrill, Winchester's scoring ace, was responsible for one of the local goals and the other was scored by right inside, Frances Pettingell.

Mrs. Houdini's Worries

Harry Houdini was devoted to pies —especially strawberry pies. He was likewise devoted to locks—no lock was too complicated for him. Mrs. Houdini was well aware of these two facts, but nevertheless she kept her pies under lock and key for other domestic reasons. On the last Sunday the "Handcuff King" was at home, Mrs. Houdini made two strawberry pies for dinner and locked them up.

The Aftermath

"Mrs. Smith seems to have got over the death of her first husband."

"Yes, but her second husband hasn't."—Nagel's Lustige Welt, Berlin.

EPIPHANY CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE

A most cordial invitation is extended to all the women of the parish to attend the general meeting of the league next Tuesday, Oct. 30. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, and the speaker for the afternoon will be Mrs. Blanton, wife of the principal of the Voorhees School in Denmark, N. C.

She was among the early graduates of Hampden Institute, and will bring a very vital message from the people in the South.

This is the first opportunity of the fall for all members in the various groups to show their spirit of cooperation and fellowship, and Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer and her committee in charge of the luncheon are hoping for a very full attendance.

His Choice

"Come, come, you shouldn't refuse to lend me money. One friend should always be willing to help another."

"I know but you insist on always being the other."

WINCHESTER SALE

The sale was made through the office of Walter Channing, Inc.

The meeting, with the same program as arranged, will be held on this coming Monday evening, Oct. 29, at 8 o'clock.

Notification cards are in the hands of guild members reminding them of their annual gifts of two new garments or articles of household linen to the Winchester branch. A prompt response to their appeal will be appreciated.

As far as possible, kindly do your shopping in Winchester as our merchants keep on hand the kinds of garments we like. If exchanges are necessary as often happens, they are more easily made here in town.

The annual meeting of the guild will be held at the Methodist Church on Wednesday, Nov. 14 at 10 a. m. Miss Moffette, public health nurse, of Winchester will tell of her work.

All interested members are cordially invited to join the directors at this meeting and see the display of garments.

The Needlework Guild is non-sectarian in membership as well as in the distribution of garments, etc. and it helps all our local welfare work.

ADAMS—DUNTON

A wedding of Ohio and Virginia interest was solemnized Saturday evening when Miss Helen Virginia Dunton became the bride of James Hardwicke Adams at the home of the bride's brother, Sewell N. Dunton of Forest street. Miss Dunton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Howard Dunton of Circleville, Ohio, had been traveling in New England the past several weeks and was joined here a few days ago by Mr. Adams. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ward Adams of Altavista, Vir., is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute, and is now engaged in engineering projects in Ohio.

The wedding ceremony was carried out by candlelight against a background of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. The bride, in a gown of white chiffon velvet with train and orange blossoms, had for her maid of honor Miss Gladys Parsons of Melrose in a dress of orchid satin and lace, while the bride's niece, little Katherine Jane Dunton, in pink chiffon and lace served as flower girl. The bridegroom was attended by the bride's brother, James G. Dunton of, Melrose, and she was given in marriage by her father. The wedding march was rendered by Everett Hardell of Boston, recently returned from musical studies in Rome and Milan; and the Rev. Truman Heminway of the Church of the Epiphany, officiated.

The guests included only members of the family and intimate friends, among those from out-of-town being Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Raynor of Warwick, N. Y.; Mr. John Blasi of Newark, N. J.; Miss Irene Adams of Bethlehem, Pa.; Miss Helen Farrell of Wilkesbarre, Pa.; Miss Eleanor Snyder of Circleville, Ohio; Mrs. Ardell Stone and Miss Mildred Stone of Southboro; Mrs. Helen Moody and Mrs. Eva Gould of Portland, Me., and Miss Florence Dunton of Circleville.

After a luncheon reception Mr. and Mrs. Adams left for a motor trip to the family home of Mr. Adams in Virginia and other points of interest in the South. They will be at home in Circleville after Nov. 15. Dr. and Mrs. Dunton and Miss Florence Dunton plan to return to Ohio sometime before that date.

E. J. RICH DELIVERED MEMORIAL ADDRESS IN SOUTH

Mr. Edgar J. Rich, who during a long residence in Winchester has been prominently identified with the civic growth of the community, was chosen to deliver the principal address at the dedication of the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania Battlefields Memorial last Friday. The following news comment clipped from a contemporary publication will prove of interest to Mr. Rich's many Winchester friends:

"The selection of Mr. Edgar J. Rich, the distinguished attorney of Boston and Winchester, widely known in railroad circles and formerly at the head of the legal department of the Boston & Maine Railroad, to deliver the address with the presentation of the memorial tablet at the dedication of the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania Battlefields Memorial on Friday was a well deserved compliment to a New Englander who has not only been a great student of historical matters but also has done very much to bring the North and South closer together. Mr. Rich has toured the Southern battlefields and has studied them in all their details and has already delivered addresses in Southern cities that have been warmly praised by people on both sides of the Mason and Dixon line.

"In his address at Fredericksburg Mr. Rich spoke of the coming together of the North and South and paid a warm tribute to Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson. To the people at the dedication Mr. Rich characterized Lee as a man grand and sublime of character, as well as a mighty warrior, Jackson, he declared should have been called Jackson the Thunderbolt, moving like a whirlwind and striking with the fury of the tempest; Jeb Stuart was to Mr. Rich, the picturesque, brilliant and perhaps the most lovable figure of the war. And in summing up Mr. Rich aptly proclaimed that the heroic deeds of these men were performed by 'Americans' and for that reason the North should share with the South the memories of pride and reverence."

WINCHESTER MAN'S PROPOSAL ENGAGES INTEREST OF HOTEL MEN

Snyder Plan for Exposition Discussed at Annual Meeting of New England Association

One of the most interesting and important questions to come before the annual meeting of the New England Hotel Association held during the past week at Landlord's inn, was the subject of a hotel exposition for the coming year. It was decided to have a committee study the feasibility of carrying out the so-called Snyder plan—a plan of Frederic S. Snyder of Winchester, a member of the firm of Batchelder & Snyder—which calls for a three-day intensive exposition, informative and educational in character, with a culinary art display, round table conferences, speakers of national fame in the hotel and allied industries, a conservative entertainment program, morning lectures, demonstrations by purveyors who have something new—in fact—three days of real helpful exposition and convention combined.

Last year many of the larger purveyors declined to go into the show —such houses as Batchelder & Snyder and S. S. Pierce Company and others. They felt that the show under the old scheme did not bring desired results. Both these houses, it is understood, and others who dropped out last year, are in favor of the Snyder plan and stand ready to endorse and support it.

Mrs. Mabel E. Parker who has been with her daughter, Mrs. Wallace Blanchard, for a few weeks, has left for Florida where she will spend the winter as usual.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Fortnightly was fortunate on Monday in having a glorious autumn afternoon for its first meeting of the season.

At 2 o'clock, there was a reception to new members and many availed themselves of the opportunity to meet the officers of the Club, who made up the receiving line. Mrs. Anna Talbot Hatch proved to be a most cordial hospitality chairman.

Promptly at 2:30, the President, Mrs. Marion P. Powers called the meeting to order. The stage was attractively decorated with autumn leaves and flowers and the velvet covers on the tables, together with the new chairs added much to the effect. Mrs. Annette Hughes led the singing of "America the Beautiful," which was followed by the usual salute to the Flag. After the reading of the minutes and the various reports and announcements of committee chairmen, Mrs. Lillian H. Ambler and Mrs. Helen H. Raymond gave very excellent reports of the State Federation meeting held at Swampscott last May. The President then introduced Mr. William Lewis Parsons of this town who spoke on the referendum concerning a limited town meeting form of government which will appear on the ballot Nov. 6 and explained how the plan would work.

The soloist of the afternoon having disappointed the committee, his accompanist, Mr. Townsend Coward, tenor, of Cambridge, very kindly offered to sing in his place. Playing for himself, he sang the following songs most acceptably: "My Lovely Celia", "Your Song from Paradise" and "Duna."

The entertainer of the afternoon, Mrs. Wilma Dearborn Carter, was then presented. Mrs. Carter is a graduate of the Leland Powers School and has a studio in Boston. Her reading of "Mimick" a three-act play by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, was exceedingly well done. The play deals with an every day problem and the characters were very true to life.

"Mimick" is an old gentleman who comes to Chicago to make his home with his son and daughter-in-law. In spite of his efforts to feel at home with them, and theirs to make him happy, he realizes after a little that he "belongs to one time and Fred and Nettie belong to another time and they won't mix; so he packs his trunk and joins his cronies in the Old Man's Home. Mrs. Carter made Nettie a very sweet character, but was particularly clever in her portrayal of the old men.

The afternoon closed with a "pink tea." The tables were most attractive with pink carnations and baby's breath, and the refreshments carried out the color scheme. The pourers who assisted the chairman of the social committee, Mrs. Winifred A. Bennett were Mrs. Annie B. Barrell and Mrs. E. Lillian Akins. The servers were Mrs. Adeline W. Williams, Mrs. Grace B. Asseltine, Mrs. Marcia B. Brisko and Mrs. Anna C. Grosvenor.

The President announced that the next meeting would fall on Nov. 12, the day on which the signing of the Armistice will be celebrated, this day having become a legal holiday this year. It is planned to have a special observance of the day, as well as the announced program, and husbands of members are invited to be the guests of the Club.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Much credit and appreciation is due to Sisters B. Young and J. V. Kane as well as to the other members of the charitable committee for the huge success of our annual Hallowe'en party proved to be. The varied entertainment, the many whist favors, the unusual collection on the novelty table, all betokened hard work and untiring efforts on the part of the chairman and their assistants.

Whist, which has proven so popular with all, formed the greater part of the evening's entertainment, and the card playing, coupled with the many delightful entertainment numbers that were offered "between tables" created a most unusual form of pastime. Included in the list of entertainers were the following: Mrs. Helen Studley, Miss Evelyn Goggin, Miss Helen Carr, all of whom received much applause.

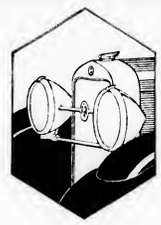

The proceeds of the affair will be used to assist in the fine work carried on by our charitable committee, especially during the coming Thanksgiving and Christmas season.

As announced in a previous issue of the "Star" all members who care to have their donation included in the "Guild" shipment to the Holy Ghost Hospital on Sunday, Oct. 28 should send their articles to the homes of anyone of the following: Sister Mary Kenney, Myrtle street, Sister Mary Chamberland, Main street; Sister Mary Golden, Main street or Sister Anna DeCarrey, Westley street. These articles should be confined to jellies, jams or other preserves as perishable food does not prove practical to include in such a shipment. All friends of the M. C. W. G. who may care to contribute to such a worthy cause are invited to send any donation they care to make to the homes of the committee named above.

WESTERN MISSIONARY SOCIETY NOTES

The Western Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church will meet in the Parish House on Thursday, Nov. 1 from 10 to 4. Ladies are requested to bring a basket lunch. Hot coffee will be served. It is hoped there will be a large attendance as there are articles to be finished for the bazaar on Nov. 8.

A REAL HOME

Statistics show that 83 per cent of the people in the United States who have reached the age of 60 are dependent upon others for care and maintenance. This fact alone demonstrates the need of some solution to the problem of those who through no fault of their own may not have friends and relatives upon whom they can depend as the years advance. And so it is that the Home for the Aged People is meeting this situation in Winchester with distinctive success as is shown by the testimony of members of the family and by those who know whereof they speak. Some present members of the Home have made in the past valuable contributions to the life of the community and it is only fitting that this town should offer to them in their declining years a home which is indeed one of the happiest homes in Winchester. This last is true because the Home is so signally blessed in its management. It may be truly said that the loving care given in no perfunctory way by Miss Kell, the nurse, who early and late attends to the needs and comforts of her patients is a service that cannot be measured. Mrs. Morey, who cooks the meals with painstaking care for the needs of her family and with enviable skill may be justly proud of her housewifely accomplishments. Mrs. Moore's wise and tactful supervision, careful planning and unselfish care of each and every one wields the household into a unit of efficiency. The members of the family themselves contribute no small part to the spirit of co-operation and helpfulness. All visitors entering the Home sense an atmosphere of content and happiness, which helps those bearing the burdens incident to old age to do so more bravely and cheerfully. The home is always glad to welcome visitors

SPLENDID RECORD BEING MADE BY HIGH SCHOOL COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

The unusual success which the Winchester High School has enjoyed during the past few years in preparing its pupils for college has caused many to believe that possibly undue emphasis is being placed upon the college preparatory department at the expense of other courses of instruction. Especially has the notion been prevalent that the commercial department is more or less a time killer for those in need of easy graduation credits and that pupils completing the business course could not hope to obtain positions with such training as they had received in high school.

Nothing could be further removed from the facts than such a supposition, and it is safe to say that no course of instruction in the school eclipses the record now being made by the commercial department under Miss Eleanore P. Gould who enjoys the confidence of personal heads of many large and small business houses in and about Boston. Through her personal contact with these concerns Miss Gould has placed the overwhelming majority of pupils graduating from her department in reasonably good positions, and a chat with Principal Grindle together with an impartial investigation of these facts in the case will convince the most skeptical that no school is doing more for its commercial pupils than is Winchester High. Few institutions at all comparable can approach the local record.

Since 1922 approximately 92 commercial graduates have been placed in positions directly from the high school. During that time but one case could be recalled of a pupil who upon graduation had enrolled in a so-called business college, and in this instance normal training for a teaching career was sought. Every member of the commercial class of 1928 was placed and in some instances pupils have been found employment who have not been able to complete their courses. It is not unusual for seniors to be placed during the spring before their graduation.

Twenty-six high school graduates have been placed by the department with Stone & Webster since 1922 and seven in the past three years with the Atlantic National Bank of Boston, to mention but two instances of the confidence the local school enjoys among the larger business institutions. Indeed there are several firms who are willing to waive their rule demanding three years commercial experience to obtain graduates of Winchester's commercial course.

In addition to the Town's school and clerical departments high school pupils are giving satisfaction in several local business establishments; including the Winchester Branch of the New England Laundries, Inc., Winchester Trust Company, National and Co-operative Banks and J. W. Winn Sons.

Among the better known Boston business houses who have accepted pupils from the high school are the Atlantic National Bank, Batchelder & Snyder Company, Boston & Maine Railroad, Congregational Educational Society, First National Bank, Ginn & Company, Publishers, Houghton Mifflin Company, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, Lee Higginson & Co., Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, New England Trust Company and Stone & Webster.

The interest which the school takes in its commercial graduates does not cease with the acceptance of a pupil by a business concern. Complete records are kept and Miss Gould keeps rather completely in touch with the work which the local graduates are doing. Often it has been possible to make transfers as opportunities arise and replace those who have positions in much better ones.

That day when it could be said that the commercial department is a place where athletes and others wanting an easy road to graduation could pick up their required points with a minimum of effort is definitely past and those now enrolled in the business course are kept busy preparing for a real job. Principal Grindle is especially proud of the work which his commercial teachers are doing for the pupil who must look beyond graduation to getting on career to work. In addition to Miss Gould the staff includes Miss Helen Brewster, Miss Mercedes Darling and Miss Gladys MacDonald.

Miss Margaret Gillies of this town and John Lawson of Claremont, N. H., were quietly married last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher L. The bride was attended by Miss Kathleen Matteer of Winchester and Mr. Lawson had for his best man George Matteer of Braintree.

THE SALVATION ARMY APPEAL

This week the Salvation Army opens its annual general maintenance appeal in Winchester. During the next few weeks, the citizens of Winchester will be asked to contribute to the service of humanity.

Winchester's quota has been fixed at $2000. This sum, when compared with the great amount of good which the Army will accomplish in alleviating misery and softening the blows of adversity and poverty, is really very small.

The amount represents the proportionate sum necessary for the support of the Medford corps area, which embraces Winchester. By far the large part of the amount will be devoted to the work of the corps; the balance will go to the support of the 24 institutions and departments—the hospitals, the maternity home, the relief bureau, the employment bureau, the day nursery, etc.—by which the Salvation Army serves the entire Greater Boston area without thought or prejudice to race or religion.

The Salvation Army officials wish to announce that this appeal is the only one which will be authorized by the Army in Winchester for a year. There has in the past been some confusion but this has been adjusted and appeals in the future will be made annually.

Lewis Parkhurst as chairman and Charles E. nBrett of the Winchester Trust Company as treasurer head the committee in charge which includes E. B. Badger, Albert K. Comins, Frank E. Crawford, Vincent P. Clark, William S. Packer, John H. Powers, Frederic S. Snyder, Bowen Tufts and W. Allen Wilde.

Among the attractive residences rapidly nearing completion in town, that of Mr. Nathan Thumin on Oxford street has already attracted considerable attention, and is apparently the most admired of any under construction. The design follows an English brick manor, and the brick work is well worth an inspection. Mr. Thumin expects to occupy the place in a few weeks, the finishing touches of the interior work nearing completion. Contractor James J. Fitzgerald has charge of the exterior setting of the house, and is receiving many compliments on his work.

Duty Laid Upon All

Every human being has a work to carry on within, duties to perform abroad, influences to exert, which are peculiarly his, and which no conscience but his own can teach.—Channing.

Cultivated Sponges

Sponges are now cultivated like grain. It is strange to think of beds of sponges cultivated under the sea, but this is no stranger after all than beds of oysters

The method is to cut up very fine bits of living sponges—a sponge is quickly as an oyster—into seeds. These seeds, about half an inch in diameter are wired to blocks of cement and dropped into the submarine gardens. They mature in two years.

The best sponges—those large, blond, fine fellows called bath sponges—come from Florida. It takes them a full ten years to [illegible]

Not a Pet "Kitty"

Although Leslie Pizer was only two years old he was just as keen a connoisseur of cats as the next young man, so when the biggest cat Leslie had ever seen padded into the backyard and came right up to lie down beside him Leslie was just about the proudest chap in London. Such a handsome and affectionate cat should be petted and otherwise encouraged, Leslie thought—but the cat thought otherwise and responded to the touch of the little hand with a disconcerting growl. Leslie's mother appeared at the scene in time to snatch her child from the menacing teeth of a leopard. It had escaped from a neighboring dealer in wild animals.

Simple Arithmetic

A man with a wife and 11 children, many of them grown up, appeared at the entrance to an entertainment hall, bought two tickets, and demanded that the entire family should be admitted.

The doorkeeper declined to admit them with only two tickets.

"But all these are my children," said the man.

"Oh course," said the doorkeeper; "but some of them are too old to be admitted free."

"Too old? What's that to do with it? Doesn't it say on your bills that children under twelve are admitted free with parents?"

"Yes."

"Well, I've got 11 children, and if 11 children aren't under twelve, I'm beat."

Prized by Numismatists

The Numismatist says: "From a source believed reliable it is said that five nickels, in proof, of the Liberty-head type, dated 1913, were struck early in that year. These are all the genuine Liberty-head type dated 1913 that are known. None passed into circulation. The five pieces were obtained from the mint by a gentleman who showed them at the Detroit convention of the A. N. A. in August, 1913. Nothing more was heard of them until in December, 1923, when a gentleman living in Philadelphia advertised in the Numismatist as follows: For sale, five 5-cent Liberty-head 1913 coins, proof. The only five-cent Liberty-head coins of this design and year in existence. These were undoubtedly the five referred to. There is no record of the whereabouts of the [illegible]

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Another very fine dancing party was held at the Winchester Boat Club last Friday evening, Oct. 19. The affair, which was run by Mrs. Muriel Lloyd, Miss Gladys Dodge, Miss Anna Halfyard and Miss Evelyn Toppan was very much of a success. The hall was appropriately decorated for the Hallowe'en season with black and yellow streamers and lights and there were stacks of corn stalks and pumpkins here and there. Figures of black cats, owls and witches gleamed from the shadows to add to the effect and cider, doughnuts and cheese were the refreshments. Over 40 couples were present to enjoy Sandell's Orchestra. Miss Francine Boquette gave two solo dances in costume, just before intermission, for which she received much applause. The heavy thunder shower of the late evening did not mar the party, but rather the brilliant flashes of thunder added to the "Hallowe'en" effect.

The Boat Club has been invited by the Legion to place a float in the Armistice Day parade on Nov. 12. It would seem as if it should be rather easy for a Boat Club to do this. We certainly have all kinds of things which float! Whether or not we could depict "Caesar Crossing the Aherjona" or "The Wreck of the Hesperus" is a question, but we mean to launch something, anyhow.

From the list of Winchester Boat Club members now rolling in the winter Boston pin turnament at the Calumet Club we could almost start a league of our own. Some of the bowlers are "Doc" Blanchard, "Doc" Priest, Hall Gamage, "Dick" Caldwell, "Jerry" Foster, Wellington Caldwell, Francis Randett, John Morley, Wellington Toppan, Ralph Purrington, Norercss Teel, Vincent Clarke, Lars Sandberg, Harold Meyer, Atherton Gleason, Daniel F. Barnard, Price Wilson, W. S. Davis, Paul Sears Alan Hovey, "Win" Palmer, "Ken" Pratt and Cant. "Ed" Sandberg.

Tonight, Friday, Oct. 26, will be the last dance of the season at the Boat Club. It is being given as a special night-before the Harvard-Dartmouth game dance, and should prove to be a worthwhile time. Good music and crowd are promised. Come and bring a friend!

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The pictures at the University for Sunday only are "The Freedom of the Press" with Lewis Stone and "Home Made" with Johnny Hines.

Beginning Monday for six days the outstanding picture is that film masterpiece "The Patriot" with the greatest screen star of them all, Emil Jannings. "The Patriot" deals with the reign of Mad Paul I, of Russia during the latter part of the 18th century. In support of Jannings are such notable screen favorites as Lewis Stone, Florence Vidor, Tullio Carminati, Neil Hamilton and Vera Voronina.

On the same program is "Just Married." Here Ruth Taylor and James Hall are co-starred. It's a rollicking farce with most of its action taking place on board a trans-Atlantic liner.

MRS. LOUISA DUPEE MacDONALD

Mrs. Louisa Dupee MacDonald, wife of Superintendent Alexander J. MacDonald of the Winchester Park Department, died Saturday morning at her home, 141 Washington street, following a long illness.

Mrs. MacDonald was the daughter of Charles H. and Louisa (Hutchins) Dupee and was born in Arlington in 1858. She came to Winchester at the age of five years and had since made her home here, enjoying the friendship of a large number of the older residents of the town. Her golden wedding anniversary was observed during the summer just past.

Surviving, besides her husband are three daughters, Mrs. John J. Winchester of Westboro, Mrs. A. O. Weld and Miss Clara E. MacDonald, both of Winchester and two brothers, George A. Dupee of Winchester and William O. Dupee of Roslindale.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the late residence, conducted by the Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of which the deceased had been a member. Four deacons of the church, Harry T. Winn, J. Albert Hersey, Harry C. Sanborn and William A. Snow, served as bearers. The hymns, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", "He Leadeth Me" and "The Strife is O'er" were sung by the Apollo Quartet. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Brown.

GRANADA THEATRE

The Marcus Show, a company of 60 people, have been packing the big Granada Theater in Malden to the doors all this week. Under the direction of Elmer Condy, the elongated comedian, draw laugh after laugh and round after round of applause. A male quartet also pleases and has been called back for encores at every performance this week. The girls, in a variety of gorgeous costumes, in the settings of an extravaganza and colorful lighting effects, trip through a series of choruses, dancing and singing, to the delight of the audience. However, it is Elmer Condy, the comedian, who comes in for the major share of the honors.

"The Cameraman," with Buster Keaton as the star, is the screen feature at the Granada the last three days of this week. Although for laughing purposes only, the frozen-faced comedian has injected a very pretty love story into a huge collection of laughs, and the result is one of the most interesting pictures Keaton has given the public in years.

"Beggars of Life" an adaption of Jim Tully's sensational novel, with Wallace Beery, Louise Brooks and Richard Arlen as the stars, will be the screen feature the Granada will offer the first three days of next week.

JUST TO BRING THE ROLL CALL TO YOUR ATTENTION

While no publicity has as yet been given to the Red Cross roll call for this fall, a committee has been working on it for some time.

The town is divided into sections, each having a captain. The captains are now choosing their workers. If a captain calls you, try to do the work she asks of you. Remember that she has assumed the larger responsibility of a whole section. It is only with your assistance that she can do her work thoroughly.

Take pride in your district. Take pride in your street! Make your street 100 per cent.

Boston business men, please join in Winchester! We want all of our citizens represented on our roll call. A small town appreciates your support more than a large city.

When the roll call chairman called upon Mrs. Burton with the supplies for her district, Mr. "Bill" Burton did not wait to be asked. He joined himself by pinning a membership button upon his manly two-year-old chest. "Bill" thereby becomes the first enrolled member for the year 1928-1929.

Our quota is 2000 members. May the rest of it come as cheerfully as "Bill"!

What Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, Thinks of the Red Cross

In peace, as in war, the American Red Cross serves the armed forces of the nation. Wherever our soldiers go, the Red Cross is there to aid them in solving countless personal problems and to act as a medium of communication between the men and the people back home.

The variety and magnitude of its activities are known to relatively few. During each month of the last year, more than 56,000 service and ex-service men received assistance from this vast organization. In our military hospitals during that year, the Red Cross provided more than 22,000 recreational and entertainment events.

Of paramount importance is its work for our men in the hospitals, where the "Greatest Mother" is carrying on a program of service with which we cannot dispense.

In behalf of the entire military establishment I urge that we express our appreciation by giving the Red Cross the generous support its beneficent work so richly merits.

What William Green, President American Federation of Labor, Thinks of the Red Cross

Through the American Red Cross we find expression for some of our noblest ideals. It is an effective instrument for magnifying many times our personal service to humanity.

In the face of great disasters, when the stricken homes run into the thousand, there is little we can do individually. Consolidating our strength through membership in this great organization, our opportunity for service is unlimited.

We must not forget that every day is a day of disaster to thousands. Into homes where disaster strikes your Red Cross goes in your name to be friend and counselor to those upon whom misfortune has laid her heavy hand.

As President of the American Federation of Labor, I hope and feel confident that the workers of the nation will respond to the Red Cross Roll Call and have a part in this organization's great work.

What Gen. John J. Pershing Thinks of the Red Cross

There is no organization in the world that should appeal more strongly to the kindly hearts and generous instincts of our people than the American Red Cross. Whenever the call of distress may come, either in peace or in war, and from whatever source, this wonderful organization stands ever ready to meet the emergency. Americans may well be proud of its unparalleled record of helpfulness to mankind.

During the World War the Red Cross rendered every possible aid to the sick and wounded in co-operation with the Medical Department, and provided comforts to convalescents and others traveling under orders. The officers and men of our armies remember with deep sense of gratitude the tireless efforts of the Red Cross in their behalf.

These services have not yet ceased, for today the Red Cross labors incessantly in the interests of service men. In every veteran hospital and in our army camps and posts it carries something of the comfort and sympathy of home into the lives of the men, many of them permanently disabled, who served and still serve their country.

WINCHESTER DEMOCRATIC ACTIVITIES

Next Thursday evening in the Town Hall Mrs. Edward Fleming and Mrs. Harry Brown will have charge of the whist which will be conducted in aid of the Smith-for-President Club fund.

Plans for the whist and food sale are progressing at a rapid pace and many splendid prizes have been already donated.

On the next night Friday, Nov. 2, the Smith-for-President Club will stage its largest Winchester rally of the present campaign when it is expected that the speakers will be Senator David I. Walsh and William G. Thompson, the well-known lawyer.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald of the local Smith Club will, by invitation of the Democratic State Speakers' Bureau address the First Voters' League of Medford Monday night at the Dame Junior High in Medford Hillside and Tuesday night at the biggest Medford rally that is to be held at the new Roberts Junior High School in the Fellsway section.

Great American

On May 4, 1796, Horace Mann, founder of the American common school system, was born. Born of humble parents, he was successively student, scholar, lawyer and president of Antioch college.

CELEBRATED LAWYER COMING

The people of Winchester will have an opportunity, to see and hear one of the country's most brilliant lawyers at the Smith Rally in the Town Hall on Friday, Nov. 2.

William G. Thompson, Esq., a leader of the Massachusetts bar and a lawyer whose fame is international, will be the speaker of the evening and will present some of the campaign issues in a manner wholly different from the usual run of political speakers.

Mr. Thompson is a veteran of many famous legal battles in the Courts of this Commonwealth and in the United States Supreme Court, but he will best be remembered in that recent cause celebre, the Sacco-Vanzetti case. His work in behalf of the defendants in that case will long stand out as one of the most important pages in Massachusetts legal history.

He is a vice-president of the Massachusetts Lawyers Al Smith Club, which is made up of Republicans, Democrats and Independents, and whose membership comprises some of the leading lawyers in the State. It is a non-partisan organization. Its formation was inspired by the belief that Governor Smith's election will guarantee the maintenance of the fundamental principles of dual government.

Mr. Thompson also belongs to the Constitutional Liberty League and other organizations working for the preservation of the basic principles of our governmental system against the encroachment of those forces which would destroy them under the guise of moral reform.

Mr. Thompson's appearance on the stump in Governor Smith's behalf has occasioned favorable comment from many independent citizens who see in him and in his speeches a true reflection of their own sincere convictions in this important campaign.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

An enthusiastic audience greeted Miss Cora Frances Stoddard at our monthly meeting. She gave an interesting account of the World's W. C. T. U. Convention which she had recently attended in Switzerland. She also represented our government at the 12th international Congress against Alcoholism, where representatives of more than 30 governments assembled to discuss alcoholic problems in their respective countries, and try to devise means of ridding themselves of the burden of alcoholism. She stated that great progress is being made toward World Prohibition. That Congress has passed the stage of debating whether moderation in drinking, or total abstenance is the best method to adopt. She declared that the malicious statements broadcast by the United States anti-prohibition publicity bureaus, claiming the failure of the prohibition law in our republic are their greatest hinderance to gaining ground against the traffic. The election of a dry President and Vice-President on Nov. 6 will most effectively silence much of this vicious publicity. Let us work in this crucial campaign and go to the polls on Nov. 6, not only with the highest welfare of our beloved nation in our thought, but also remember that the whole world is interested in our victory.

"BOB" GUILD IS BACK ON THE JOB

"Bob" Guild, than whom no one is whomer for being known to all Advertising powers-that-be in Boston and environs, has been laid up recently with a fracture of the tibia. If you don't know what or where your tibia is, get out your dictionary, learn, and then see if you'd like to have yours busted.

"Bob", however, refuses to quit for a little thing like a cracked tibia. Accordingly he's back in his office, at the Evening American, and he's sporting the newest thing in the way of a plaster cast, and is also now wielding a very snappy pair of crutches.

"Bob" doesn't show quite the speed he used to, when that tibia was unfractured, but he gets there just the same.

Put yourself in his place—and you'll see that he's not exactly having a picnic—though he claims there are some exceedingly funny situations which develop from constant associations with a plaster cast.

We're mighty glad that "Bob" is able to get down to the office at all, however—and we know you'll be, too, when you read this—for most everybody likes "Bob".

Evidence of this, of course, is apparent in the fact that he's an honorary member of the celebrated Lantern Club.—[Advertising News.

COMES TO SOUTH DAKOTA TO RENEW HIS LOST YOUTH

Wellington Smart, representing the Hoe Printing Press Company of Boston, arrived in the city yesterday and states that he has come to South Dakota to renew his lost youth.

Mr. Smart's first visit to the Dakotas was in 1881, before South Dakota's admission to the Union. He settled on a homestead near Wessington Springs which is now known as the Wellington Ranch. He has visited Wessington many times since then.

Mr. Smart, then a young man, came in on the first passenger train to Mitchell, and as the first step from the ranks of the "tenderfoot", he walked 45 miles to Wessington Springs. Only one plastered house then graced the site of what is now a beautiful little city, he relates.

Early Experiences

Among the interesting recollections of his early experiences is having paid a rough gang of horse thieves $350 for removing their place of business in order that he might settle upon his homesite. At the time of the year that he came, the James river was so wide and so much mud in its proximity that he thought it must be as big a body of water as Lake Michigan.

Predicts Election Outcome

Having seen many presidential aspirants rise and fall, Mr. Smart believes that Hoover will be elected President at the coming election in November. He said that many times since he has come to the state he has heard that the New England States were likely to endorse the election of Smith. This he stoutly denies and believes that only in New York City will the vote favor the Democratic standard bearer.—[Aberdeen News, South Dakota.

Sunshine Great Help in Preventing Disease

Sunshine is as important to children as food, observes Dr. R. I. Harris, writing in Hygeia on the use of sunlight in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Sunlight has been found especially helpful in the treatment of tuberculosis of the bones and joints, often called surgical tuberculosis. This type of tuberculosis usually spreads from a primary focus of infection in the lung until it is generalized, in contrast to the localized form, which is limited to the area first invaded by the bacillus.

A large percentage of patients with surgical tuberculosis can be completely cured. In one group of adults that Doctor Harris has had under his care, eighty-five of the first hundred were able to return to useful occupations and support their families. The results in children are even better, he says.

Since 95 per cent of us have tuberculous infection some time during our lives and since sunlight gives us the best resistance against it, it behooves every one to have as much as possible.

"Bird and Fish" Story by Truthful Angler

"Several years ago one of my friends was strip-casting with frogs at night," relates Seth Briggs in Field and Stream Magazine. "He made a cast of about sixty feet, started to retrieve his line, and feeling a tug struck hard. There was considerable commotion on the end of the line, and suddenly the fisherman became very much excited 'My line's going right up in the air,' he shouted

"Strange as this sounded, it was true. The line had indeed traveled from the surface of the water to a position almost directly overhead. The fisherman managed to get hold of the end of the line, and dropping his rod he started to haul in hand over hand in an amazingly short space of time there was another occupant in the boat. It proved to be a night heron, which had nailed the frog." Which only proves that almost anything may happen on a fishing trip!"

Woman's Contrariness Featured in Fashions

In summer women wear fox furs with light dresses. Their hats are of velvet in August and of straw in February. Similarly, throughout the entire history of fashion one can point out equally amusing examples. It was in the days of the narrow sedan chairs that women wore panlers as wide spreading as possible. In the days of the crowded stageconches women wore crinolines.

Fashion's history furnishes us with example after example of the whims of women which always indicate how indifferent they are to logical arguments. One cannot refrain from remarking, too, that it is in times when the financial condition of the country is most acute that luxury is most out of reason. The less money there is available, the more fashionable and sought after are gold cloth and metal embroideries. And so one may as well understand that there is in style and in women's decree a sort of provocation of common sense, which is charming and should vex only ill-humored folk.—Paul Poiret in the Forum Magazine.

NEW ENGLAND THANKS RED CROSS FOR HELP TO FLOOD VICTIMS

3,500 Families Aided in Nine Months' Reconstruction Program; Organization Spent $1,200,000.

Letters, resolutions, and statements from individuals, many of whom received assistance from the organization, have poured into national headquarters of the American Red Cross in the last few weeks, testifying to the appreciation of the people of New England for the reconstruction work the organization did following the destructive floods of last November.

Completing expenditures in excess of $1,200,000, its workers were for nine months active in the affected area extending financial assistance to families suffering losses when the torrential rains sent streams tumbling over their embankments to play havoc in parts of five states. The reconstruction program in New York, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Massachusetts was virtually completed some time ago, but the last relief award was just recently made in Vermont, where heaviest losses were suffered.

Of the funds expended, more than $529,000 came from the national treasury of the Red Cross, as contributions from the public to the relief fund totalled only $742,173. Financial assistance was given to 3,504 families, involving approximately 16,000 individuals. This help consisted of restoring homes and other buildings, procuring houshold goods and furniture, providing clothing, and assisting small business houses to re-establish themselves and get back on an operating basis.

For farmers, who suffered specially heavy losses in Vermont, assistance was extended in reclaiming land which had been washed out by the water or covered with silt, stones and other deposits; providing new farms where the land was damaged beyond reclamation; rebuilding homes and barns; restocking farms with implements and live stock, and providing feed and seed until farmers were in a position to take care of their own needs.

In a statement commenting on this relief program among the farmers, Commissioner of Agriculture E. H. Jones, of Vermont, said:

"I regard the farm rehabilitation which has been made possible from funds disbursed by the Red Cross as an extremely important factor in the recovery from the flood which is being made by the State of Vermont as a whole.

"On behalf of the farmers who have received this generous assistance," he said, "I desire to express our hearty thanks and appreciation for it together with my personal gratification that the agricultural rehabilitation of Vermont has been so liberally aided."

The Vermont State Red Cross Advisory Committee, composed of seven prominent citizens, headed by State Auditor Gates, of Montpelier, said in a formal resolution passed just prior to the closing of the work, that "the Red Cross came to the aid and assistance of the suffering people of the area, furnishing relief in emergency cases by supplying food, clothing, shelter and medical aid to the needy and sick.

"It has in a very substantial way," the resolution continues, "assisted in rehabilitating the loss and damage caused by the flood and has greatly aided in a supreme effort to restore Vermont and her people to a normal condition."

Chairman Gates, of this committee, in commenting on the relief work, said he believed that "the spirit which brought the Red Cross to Vermont stimulated rehabilitating activities everywhere in the area, and the rapidity with which we have come back is due in no small degree to the efforts of this organization. It was, indeed, a task, and much credit is due it."

Another expression of appreciation for the reconstruction work came in a recent letter to Chairman John Barton Payne, of the Red Cross, from Fred A. Howland, of Montpelier, Vermont, president of the National Life Insurance Company. Mr. Howland said he feels that the Red Cross "has been very generous in its handling of the Vermont situation, which undoubtedly presented new and troublesome problems somewhat different than the organization has had to cope with in other parts of the country."

Although the Red Cross has officially closed its relief headquarters in the flood area, many families will continue to receive help for some time. Approximately $168,000 will be disbursed in Vermont by Red Cross chapters within the next few months in the form of trust funds for specially needy families, and for the completion of certain relief projects now under way. This money has already been awarded to specific families, and no new or additional appropriations will be made, Red Cross officials say.

While not comparable in size to the great Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, in which Red Cross expenditures will exceed $17,000,000, the completion of the New England flood reconstruction program brings to a close the most extensive disaster relief task the organization has ever faced in that section of the country.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

By lending a helping hand you will find it much harder to borrow trouble.

Any boy who is lazy in his youth must make up his mind to work in old age.

Every man is worth just as much as the things are worth with which he busies himself.

The best proof of real ability proves itself by deeds.

Who can remember when it was our custom to rest on Sunday instead of Monday.

On two successive days this week the Fire Department was called to put out fires in the Fells, and on the second occasion before the blaze could be checked, between seven and eight hundred of the small pine trees set out by the Town were destroyed. It is the belief of the authorities that a great majority of these fires are due to carelessness on the part of pedestrians or horseback riders, but the fact that such may be the case does not lessen the damage done. The Star urges all who tramp, or ride about in the woods to exercise the greatest caution in the disposition of lighted matches, cigars and cigarettes. The reforestation work which the Town has been carrying on about the reservoirs is costly and much of its value cannot be realized for many years. Each time several hundred of the small pines are burned off the return upon our investment is put farther into the future. Lets all be careful.

Winchester Rotary Club has made its bow to the community. We do not mean that it has come recently into being for the organization is now in its second year of existence. But is was not until last week Thursday evening that Rotary came to mean much of anything to the average citizen of Winchester. The club had preferred to build rather slowly and wait until it was able to do something entirely worth while before undertaking a venture of a public nature. Now the ice is broken. The concert given by the United States Marine Band, sponsored by Rotary, for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital proved a combination, the general excellence and desirability of which can not be questioned. From the standpoint of educational value for the Town's school children the appearance of the band was highly beneficial while the patriotic thrill which the youngsters experienced at the sight of the uniformed bandsmen exceeded anything possible to awake by ordinary means at hand. As a musical treat the concert was above reproach and Rotary is to be congratulated in the choice of its premiere. Its opening effort has set a standard of excellence which will take much living up to, but from what we know of the history and traditions of the organization Rotary will prove equal to the challenge.

In general the policing of Manchester Field for the big schoolboy football games has been excellent, nor do we deceive ourselves in the magnitude of the task faced by the authorities in keeping the playing surface of the gridiron clear and the huge crowd in reasonable restraint. There is, however, one bit of carelessness on the part of motorists which the police should stop before it results in serious injury or worse to some one, very probably a child, who is intent upon the game and is not paying strict attention to what is going on about him. We refer to the promiscuous driving, often at too high a rate of speed, along the straight-of-way in front of the parking space at the railroad fence. The driving to which we object is done while the game is going on and during the time when no one should be expected to look out for automobiles. The operators are in most instances young people who apparently are more interested in motoring than football. Staying away from the games should prove no especial hardship to these individuals and their absence would remove a distinct menace to the safety of those who have come to the playground to enjoy the advertised contest. Why some one has not already been hit is one of life's mysteries, but the fact that we have thus far been lucky is no guarantee of continued good fortune.

The launching of a safety campaign by Governor Fuller is of interest and His Excellency is to be commended in his attempt to add to the safety of those who use the Commonwealth's highways. In our opinion, however, a general tightening in the attitude of the courts toward violators of the motor vehicle laws would do more to relieve the present bad conditions than any number of such campaigns, worth while though the latter are. The co-operation of the police is asked in making the present safety effort successful, and it will be given as a general thing, whole heartedly. Policemen are and have been doing their part toward making our highways safer, but they can not unfortunately prevent unfit operators from driving unless supported by courts and judges. Among the greatest menances to motoring safety are the drivers who drive while under the influence of liquor, and who operate so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. Neither, upon conviction, should receive any leniency from the court, and it seems to us that a fine or even a jail sentence is not sufficient to guarantee that the culprit will not repeat his offense. Both sentences have been invoked times without number yet drunken and reckless drivers are legion. It would seem that something more drastic should be devised and it might not be a bad notion to permanently remove the license of a driver convicted of either offense. We can think of no excuse which can be offered for any one driving while drunk or in a reckless manner. The knowledge that one's license would be permanently forfeited, if convicted of either crime against society would in our opinion prove a powerful deterrent.

LEGION PROTESTS

Objects to Stores Opening Armistice Day

At one of the largest meetings of the season last night, Winchester Post, American Legion, went on record as opposing the action of the Retail Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce in advocating the opening of Boston retail stores on Nov. 12, Armistice Day, and as a result of the meeting and discussion, a letter to this effect is being sent to the Chamber of Commerce. This action, it is reported is in accord with that of practically every Legion Post in the State. Boston retail stores are reported to have notified their help that they will be expected to work on the 12th, and a big protest is already apparent, as the day has been declared a national holiday.

The Legion also voted that members of the Post individually favored the passage of the Sunday Sports' Bill, so-called, and a letter to this effect will be sent to the proper authorities.

At last night's meeting the Post was entertained by Horace Ford of Kenwin road, a member of the Cincinnati team in the National Baseball League. He spoke most interestingly. Past Department Vice-Commander John D. Crowley of Cambridge was another speaker, giving side lights on the National Convention at San Antonio.

Plans for the big celebration on Armistice Day are rapidly maturing and the program promises to be the largest and most complete of any civic celebration this town has had in years. Last night it was announced that in company with many others, the Columbus Society will enter the parade with a float and a brass band of 50 pieces.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The School Committee has placed another motor bus in operation to improve the transportation facilities of pupils coming from the Hill district. The new bus will transport the Hill pupils who attend the Wyman School. The other bus will transport the older pupils attending the Wadleigh and High Schools. This will make for excellent transportation facilities.

The school savings system has been continued for this year. The total amount was on deposit in the Winchester Savings Bank is $41,681.53. Each school in town is banking regularly, most schools continually banking between 90 per cent and 100 per cent each week.

MISS O'LEARY PRESENT AT BURDETT FACULTY BANQUET

Miss Alice O'Leary of this town, a graduate of Burdett College, Normal Department, 1926; and now a member of the Burdett Faculty of Lynn, was among those present at a banquet tendered Mr. Fred H. Burdett, last Saturday evening.

The affair was held in the new home of the college, on Stuart street, Boston, and was in honor of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Burdett College.

Being the youngest member of the Lynn Burdett College Faculty, Miss O'Leary had the honor of presenting Mr. Henry Peltan, principal of the school, with a bouquet, in recognition of his many years of service.

Not So Dumb

Chippy was regarded as the town simpleton, but occasionally he showed a disconcerting gift of repartee. "What part do you perform in the great drama of life?" a visitor asked him once. "I mind my own business," replied Chippy.

Expensive Advice

"Give the children hammers and saws," reads a column of advice to parents. Yes, let the little darlings practice on the piano legs or the bedstead. Some lovely and unique patterns can be traced on dresser fronts with the claws of a hammer, for instance.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

She came into the drug store several times a week to use the telephone booth, giving as a good reason that the rates were lower than if she telephoned from her apartment, and the service more prompt.

On every occasion she opened the door as far as it would go and looked carefully into the corners of the booth so unfailingly that a clerk one day asked the reason.

"Seventeen years ago," she replied, "I dropped 5 cents on the floor while telephoning, and when I picked it up I found 20 cents lying right beside it. I thought it might possibly happen again."

Film Nightmares Are Produced by Invention

An invention that turns a simple movie into a nightmare of distortion has been perfected by an Englishman, H. G. Ponting, who was Captain Scott's photographer on his ill-fated trip to the South pole, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. People, animals or inanimate objects are changed into grotesque caricatures by successively distorting various portions. The process makes it possible to rephotograph an ordinary still picture and make it appear on the film as it flows from one grotesquerie into another. An ordinary postcard photo of a race horse was shown by the inventor to an audience in London. As retaken for a movie, it became successively a short-legged dachshund-like animal, a long-legged giraffe type, a combination horse and mule, and other shapes.

Peddler Is Shocked by Man's Quick Resurrection

Andre Vogel, peddler, riding in his car along a country road in France, saw the body of a man lying beside the road. He turned the body, stiff and cold, over on its back and went through its pockets, removing a considerable sum of money. At the next town Vogel reported he had found a dead man on the highway. "Did you examine the body?" asked the prefect of police. "Did you not find an identification card in his pocket?" "I did not," said Vogel, "I came straight here and—" "You're a liar," said a voice from the doorway. Vogel almost dropped, for the corpse was before him pointing an accusing finger. The supposed dead man is a cataleptic. When he has a seizure his eyes remain fixed, but he sees what goes on, and in this instance was able to identify Vogel and recover his stolen wallet.

Why looking your Best is most Economical

Garments neglected, out of press, filled with dust and grit, wear out faster.

Dry cleaned frequently, pressed regularly, the fabric is freed from grinding dirt, the fibres are strengthened and kept in place—you get the best your clothes can give you in service and style.

We believe in the thriftiness of frequent dry cleaning—you will too—if you try it.

Say the Word and We Call Today

Worship Under Stars

After the chores are done and the rest of the family are safely sleeping I like to sit out under the stars and meditate. As the air cools after the heat of the day, there is none to intrude on me in the quiet of the dusk. Then there would be no sleeping during that time. A few night sounds, like the bleating of a restless lamb or the bark of a distant dog, break the monotony of the insect hum. Sheltered by the old home trees and surrounded by so many objects and sounds grown dear through familiarity, I realize what it means to worship God under our own "vine and fig tree."—George Godfrey in Successful Farming.

Make It Tender

Mother and little four-year-old Patricia were debating the matter of punishment. Mother was questioning whether she should spank the child then or wait and tell daddy. Patricia said: "You spank me, but give me a tender spanking."

Meaning of Fence

Fence soon will be nothing but a country word, for in the cities fences have almost been forgotten. It is a word, though, full of romance, being a shortening of defense—the first use of a fence being to keep out foes.

FOR WINCHESTER CHILDREN

Parents may bring children for throat examinations to the Children's Clinic held Thursday afternoons at the Board of Health Rooms at 3:30 P. M., as the Winchester Hospital has started a clinic for the Tonsil and Adenoid operations of children who have been recommended for it, by a doctor.

Anything New?

Two film stars met after a long separation.

"My, Sadie," said one, "it's ages since I've seen you. Anything new with you?"

"Two husbands."—Tit-Bits.

Save by Schedule

Start this fall to lay something by each week. If you plan in advance, and set a savings mark for yourself, you'll not find it hard to do.

On the other hand, without a schedule, you'll find it very easy to let all your earnings slip through your fingers each week. All it takes is a plan—and the RESOLVE and WILL to save.

Finding a Niche

Happiness is a question of finding one's niche, whether it is in the great world where cares are many and the struggle precarious, or in some smaller world where cares may be fewer and human relationships all the more precious.—American Magazine.

Where the Lace Comes From

In the good old days when Robin Hood and Richard the Lion-Hearted were active, Nottingham, England, was a great market town near the boundaries of Sherwood forest. To-day its more than a quarter-million people spend most of their time making machine lace and hosiery. Yet notwithstanding the miles of lace and machine-made lace curtains, the city preserves a remarkable air of romance. It has sent many distinguished sons into the world since the days of the famous sheriff of Nottingham. One of these is General Booth, founder of the Salvation army.

"The Fast Train"

The Los Angeles Times delivers a little essay on speed.

"Just eighty years ago this month a train on the then newly established Boston & Maine railway was opened wide for a record and for some distance raced at a speed of a mile a minute. Up to that time this speed was the fleetest that humans had ever attained. It's different now. They say that a flyer has made five miles a minute, while a motorist has done better than three. Sixty miles an hour is getting to be around the normal gait for human movement."

One of the reasons why the cat is supposed to be invested with supernatural powers is because he is so well adapted to take care of himself. NAVY DAY

Lieut. Harold Fultz Writes for Winchester Friends

U. S. Naval Ammunition Depot
Hingham, Mass.
Oct. 20, 1928

To the Editor of the Star:

Oct. 27 is Navy Day. Naval ships, yards and stations are open to visitors on that day, and officers are requested to write an article for their home town papers.

At the time of the Nanking incident of 1926 I was fortunate enough to be attached to the Boston cruiser "Marblehead" that was hurried to China in the emergency, and I have written an account of the voyage.

It would be greatly appreciated if space could be found in your edition of next Friday for this article and also to extend an invitation to the people of Winchester to visit the Ammunition Depot at Hingham on Navy Day. I am stationed there and would take pleasure in showing them about. I am enclosing a program.

I hope you will come to look us over, too.

Very truly yours,
Harold Fultz,
Lieut. U.S.N.

On the flood tide of the 5th of January, 1926, the U.S.S. Marblehead, proud, fast, new, superb, stood out of Boston, bound for Cuba for two months of target practices. It was a dull, colorless departure. We were leaving home, friends, a normal environment, for a lonely, isolated, hot, uninteresting base. Seven weeks of monotonous drilling were ahead; rehearsal after rehearsal, to insure that the ship would not fail during the final week. For a man o'war must be capable of two things: be able to get there and be able to hit.

But the whims of a Nicaragua and a China, no man can foretell. The Marblehead had sailed that January day on a unique voyage; 10,000 miles were destined to be covered 'ere she again sighted Boston Light; speed records were to be established and an intimate acquaintance made of lands and peoples vastly remote.

Off Highland Light, radio orders directed us to proceed to Nicaragua at high speed and two days later we anchored off its Bragman's Bluff. Then began three weeks of rolling with the whole Carribean Sea, conspiring to make life miserable. In shore was a vast American lumber mill. Each day we shined our guns and let them glitter for the benefit of the mill's employees, all Nicaraguans, are splendid workmen while a warship lies in the offing, but even more splendid bandits once she sails away; for wages, though adequate, seem meagre compared to the harvest from banditry. Thus our presence assured industrial order with a consequent large flow of necessary cheap lumber and bananas into New Orleans and our Southern States. The taking on of cargoes required the nicest kind of seamanship. Only small ships could be employed and they had to be moored parallel to the dock and never closer than 10 feet, as there is no shelter and a ship rolls and pitches in the open sea.

By day we rolled, by night we rolled. No one has ever seen a quiet Carribean. One morning the word "Honolulu" leaked out of the radio shack and spread like wildfire throughout the ship. Rumors come and go daily on a man of war. But this was no rumor. China was astir. There had been a cold message in the night. Blood tingled. By dark the Marblehead was speeding for the Panama Canal and another cruiser was on the way to take its place off Nicaragua.

There is nothing more deceptive than the wonder and efficiency of the Panama Canal. You are lifted 85 feet from the Atlantic, cross the Isthmus through a lake and a cut in the mountains and are lowered into the Pacific. There is no confusion, no shouting no sound of machinery as you climb and descend the mammoth locks. You will admire the ornamental cement lamp posts and the splendidly kept lawns and flowers, and perhaps never notice the all-vital electric mules, so quietly and systematically do they labor. These little electric trojans run along a cogged track at the edge of the locks and their ability to go in either direction and at the same time be able to take in or pay out on their towing lines to the ship, makes the entering and towing of a vessel a simple and positive affair.

The lake and the cut through the mountains are not particularly impressive. The docks and fueling equipment at both ends of the canal though they are unexcelled by any on earth operate so quietly and efficiently as to attract only casual attention.

The wonder of the Canal Zone is invisible. It lies in the brilliant victories of yesterday. Here was accomplished the greatest sanitation feat in history. Panama was a land of certain death, today it is a health resort. Without this victory the construction of a canal would have been impossible. The heat is merciless, unrelenting, constant. Once the canal neared completion, government cafeterias, clean wholesome, inexpensive, were established. Then laundries, swimming pools and ice plants followed. Houses, streets, parks and offices were built with a highly scientific regard for health and comfort. Thus hands from the north temperate zone were glad to take employment. Without this victory the maintenance and operation of the canal would have been impossible, likewise.

We tarried only long enough to fuel to extreme capacity. Seventeen days and seventeen nights we steamed 'ere Honolulu's Diamond Head arose from the sea. We had tasted our first magnificent Pacific distance. The 4600 miles would look cramped indeed on an Atlantic chart. Not even a squall had relieved the monotony.

Honolulu is a strictly modern city. There are no Hula girls, straw huts or beach-combers. Somehow the sun seems purer and the streets cleaner. It is never hot; it is never cold. Waikiki is as tempting in January as in July. To the visitor the islands are enchanting. His arrival and departure are festive with flowers and music. Beauty, warmth, loveliness and comfort fill his entire stay. The charms of nature bring forth the best in everyone. Friendliness, hospitality and good cheer abound. One month we basked in such an atmosphere, confident we would go no farther west. Then one morning headlines painted China in darkest colors. By nightfall we had dropped Honolulu over the Eastern horizon. Orders had come to make all possible speed to Shanghai. Our well shined guns must be exhibited at once. The Captain and chief engineer conferred. The selection of the speed required careful study. At full speed a ship consumes oil at a rate enormously out of proportion to the miles steamed. The Marblehead must arrive off the China coast with only enough oil to ride out a chance typhoon. A decision was made. Twenty-two knots was rung up and the ship settled down to the task of covering 600 land miles a day, with every one of the 140 men in the engineer's force exerting his utmost in the realization that a record run was in progress.

The Marblehead is a Cramp built ship, and they never fail. On the seventh day "Lot's Wife" stood before us, the crossing of the 180th meridian having given us an extra Tuesday. This amazing pinnacle rock juts 240 feet above the sea. T'was here the poor woman looked back. The rock is only 600 miles off Japan and the next morning we passed through Van Diemen Straits and caught a glimpse of Japan and her islands. It was only a glimpse but enough to reveal that the empire is one jutting peak after another. Homes and roads are built with great difficulty, and agriculture, so vital to Japan, is waged against odds that would utterly dishearten any but a courageous people.

In the middle of the ninth day we sighted the "Saddles," the island sentinels of the China coast, and quickly taking on a pilot stood across the 60 miles of shoals, at the same speed that had set up a record between Honolulu and the Far East.

We saw a sampan, then a junk. Then we saw a thousand, and later possibly a million. Forests of masts were on either hand. All afloat was disorder and confusion. A single sculling oar propelled the heavily laden sampans. Masts stepped at random and carrying a conglomeration of vari-colored rags, furnished the only power for junks of every size and description. Yet there were no collisions, and you decided John Chinaman was a good sailor man. You observed the hopeless mass of navigation more closely and conceded his skill uncanny and eventually you learned conclusively that for seamanship he has no equal on earth.

But I am carrying my story into a land no words can describe. You may read a library of books on the Far East, yet never form anything resembling a true picture of it. It is another world. The curtain has been dropped on the western hemisphere and raised on a scene which bears no resemblance in the slightest detail to what has gone before. One must breathe through different nostrils, see through other eyes, judge by a new code of ethics and weigh in a very bread-reading balance.

For filth, thrift, poverty, dilapidation, courage and good nature you find a new definition. In fact you find you never had any conception of what they meant before.

My first week in China was one of abhorrence. Merciful God! Could human beings really be living on so few chance scraps midst such stenches and without the least semblance of community or national law, order, or system.

But I am gradually attempting an impossible task: a description of China. It is futile writing. I must include the confession, however, that I sailed from China 16 months later, with tears in my eyes. I had come to love it all and to wonder whether in many ways John Chinaman were not a happier man than I. Such is the "Lure of the East," never yet fathomed by any man.

Orders Is Orders but the Band Didn't Play

During one White House reception in President Garfield's time, John Philip Sousa, clad in his gorgeous red uniform, criss-crossed with gold braid, sat on one end of the musicians' platform and his bass drummer, in full dress uniform, sat on the other. They were the United States Marine band that night. But there was no music. The band had been ordered to participate in a dedication that day and did not get back to barracks until 6:30 that evening when it was dismissed and sent home. At seven o'clock Sousa received an order to report with the band in full dress at the White House at eight o'clock. Sousa protested. His commanding officer said: "Those were my instructions and those are your orders." Messengers scoured Washington for the bandsmen, returning with just one man, the bass drummer. When the long evening and the reception at last drew to an end, the drummer and Sousa stood up, saluted each other in a proper military manner and the "band" filed out and went home. Orders is orders.

Prejudicing the Child

Thelwall thought it very unfair to influence a child's mind by inculcating any opinions before it had come to years of discretion to choose for itself. I showed him my garden, and told him it was my botanical garden. "How so?" said he; "it is covered with weeds." "Oh," I replied, "that is only because it has not yet come to its age of discretion and choice. The weeds, you see, have taken the liberty to grow, and I thought it unfair in me to prejudice the soil towards roses and strawberries."—Coleridge.

Custom in Dress

Flashlight Cells Play Important Part in Byrd Expedition's Sky Observations

Their Use in Bubble Sextant Enables Almost Instant Position-Finding.

UPON two flashlight dry cells, contained in a hand flashlight case, may depend the ultimate success of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition in its effort to circle the South Pole by airplane.

Four intricately designed bubble sextants, two for his own use and two for use by Commander Byrd, as Chief Navigator, were taken by Ralph L. Shropshire, assistant navigator of the expedition, to San Pedro, California, whence he embarked with Commander Byrd on the S. S. Larson for the Antarctic. A bubble in the sextant corresponds to the visible horizon in observations taken to show the relationship between the sun and the visible horizon. At night or in cloudy periods of the day the bubble and sextant are illuminated by a bulb lighted by the flashlight cells, and thus make possible the obtaining of accurate positions.

This becomes of supreme importance when the tri-motored Ford airplane takes off during the Antarctic six months night or during stormy or cloudy weather.

Failure to obtain proper bearings might easily throw the plane out of its course. By devising the flashlight case with its dry cells as a power source, Shropshire believes he has overcome what promised to be an obstacle to successful position finding. Hitherto a much smaller dry cell has been employed in the handle of such sextants, the cell of necessity being made so tiny, in order to fit in the handle, that it afforded only a minimum power supply to run the light bulb, before exhaustion.

By using a hand flashlight case with two flashlight cells, which are quickly replaceable and which have a far longer life, the Byrd navigator believes he has solved a power supply problem which has bothered navigators in the past. A wire running from the flashlight case, which is held in one hand, to the sextant held in the other, carries the current from the two cells to the sextant.

Shropshire is carrying with him several hundred extra flashlight cells, for use by Byrd and himself in the sextants.

Buried Norman Crypt Uncovered in England

Complete in many details, an underground church has been discovered in Chilton, England, by Rev. E. P. Gough, director of the Chilton Parish church.

The parish church was built on a new site about the middle of the last century and the old church demolished.

A venerable parishioner told the rector that there was a church underground, as he had been taken into it when a boy by his father.

The rector went to work with pick and shovel and found himself standing in a perfect vaulted Norman crypt with a west entrance and narrow lancet windows.

This crypt suggests a small but elaborate church, built by a squire of some position about the Twelfth century, which would be at once his private chapel, the parish church and place of sepulture for himself and his family.

Flowers Used as Food in Oriental Countries

Flowers for food are virtually unknown in America, but in several parts of this wide world they play an important part as table delicacies. The Chinese, Japanese, Egyptians and various people of India eat blossoms prepared in several ways, says the Farm Journal.

In China, lilies are served as vegetables, boiled with pepper and salt either in milk or water. Banana blossoms, dipped in vinegar are almost a staple of diet during their season.

In northern India a cake is made from the aromatic flowers of a local shrub. They are mixed with butter and a coarse sugar before baking. Many other such recipes, startling to the foreigner, are to be found in northern Africa and that vast stretch of the world lying between the Mediterranean and the Pacific.

Precepts for Patriots That Are Too Common

No matter what your race or birth place, proclaim long and loudly that you are "American to the core"—this shows that you have learned the language, at any rate.

If the value of something foreign is being discussed, do not argue the matter; dispose of it with a name—if it is Italian, call it "Wop;" if French, "Frog;" if German, "Boche;" if English, "Limey."

Do not wax sentimental over your home town; this is provincial—speak in generalities, such as "the greatest nation on earth," "America for the Americans," etc.

If you are present at an international contest in which an American is beaten, insist at once that the contest has been "framed." Axiom: An American can never be beaten fairly.

Maintain stoutly that America is superior to every other nation on earth in everything imaginable. If forced to modify this, say "in everything worth while."

Show your love for your country by your contempt for everything foreign—this is what has made the Germans so popular.

Much Easier

"In these modern days," sighed the Spinster, "it is no easy matter for a woman to get married." "Oh, it's easier for a woman to marry a man than to let some other woman marry him," replied the Cynical Bachelor.

Quite a Family Party

In India, when the nyzam of Hydrabad take his family out for a little ride, it is some ride. He has from 60 to 70 wives, and recently sold his stable of elephants to install a fleet of 25 motor cars. He is only a young man and hasn't yet acquired as many wives as his father, who has 300 . . . Of course it takes quite a bit of money to keep up such an establishment, and the young nyzam went on a tour to collect all the revenues from his lands. He had to hire a special railway car for the purpose, and then needed all the cash he got.

A Chorus of Praise

All about my garden today the birds are loud. To say that the air is filled with their song gives no idea of the ceaseless piping, whistling, trilling, which at moments ring to heaven in a triumphant unison, a wild accord. Now and then I notice one of the smaller songsters who seems to strain his throat in a madly joyous endeavor to out-carol all the rest. It is a chorus of praise such as none other of earth's children have the voice or the heart to utter. As I listen I am carried away by its glorious rapture.—George Gissing in "The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft."

Symptoms Have a Purpose

Symptoms of disease generally have a definite and beneficent purpose. They are not necessarily sent to destroy you. They are often helpful. They often represent a process of cure. Even Hippocrates, who is credited with being the father of medicine, advised against the suppression of symptoms. The body is at all times working for its own good. Disease germs, even when they bring about the complaints associated with them, clearly indicate a bodily condition that needs attention. And should there be measures which could destroy the influence of such germs, the organism would still need treatment. As long as the body is "fertile soil" to the inroads of disease germs it needs purification, internal cleansing. —Physical Culture Magazine.

Style and Business

"Style, the Juggernaut. Don't ever try to stand in her way!" writes Henry Eckhardt in the Magazine of Business. "Style is a many-sized lady. When you first meet her, it is probably in this her first and more primitive form.

"Later, if you improve her acquaintance, you will discover her as Style the rejuvenator. She works wonders in the dullness of businesses.

"If you cultivate her still further and tame her to your own ends, she becomes Style, the speeder-up of consumption. She moves that much dreaded saturation point several million units farther on.

"If you become thoroughly smitten of her, and think she is all there is to business, she will reveal herself as Style, the siren. Watch your step!"

In conclusion, Mr. Eckhardt defines: "Style is the true essence and the true feeling of a current mode, understandingly applied to a given product!"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Whether one is affiliated with one of the Christian denominations or not; whether one accepts, is indifferent to, or rejects the teachings of Christianity, one thing is certain, no citizen of this Western world is independent of the influence of the Bible. The very phrases it employs, the ideals it upholds, the rules of conduct it advocates—all are part of his intellectual inheritance from the influence of which he cannot conceivably divorce himself.

In this connection it might be interesting to note that a single issue of one of the most widely read humorous magazines in the United States contained thirty-four references to characters and events chronicled in the Bible, and a humorous magazine would be one of the last places one would naturally look for Biblical allusions; and the writer who noted the incident went on to say, "It is safe to say the King James Version of the Bible holds within its pages the widest appeal of any book extant."

But to admit that we are influenced by the Bible does not imply that we understand the Bible. In fact, few of us do understand it. Why? Well, in the first place many of us have made no real effort to understand it. With a few scattered spots we are undoubtedly familiar: the Commandments, three or four of the Psalms, the Sermon on the Mount, and some of the Gospel narratives. But the territory of the Bible as a whole, as many of us have used it, resembles pretty closely the area of our North American countries. Just as we have there great congestion of population in certain widely separated centers, many areas sparsely inhabited, and large tracts rarely visited, so a few scattered portions of the Bible are used by everyone, whole sections seldom used, and many books carefully avoided.

Why is this? Well, someone may say, Some parts of the Bible I understand readily, but other parts seem to be written in a language quite different from what I would use. The writers evidently saw from a different viewpoint, a viewpoint it is not easy for me to adopt, and I find great difficulty in understanding them. I may say, I heartily agree with you.

Another, who has given some thought to the subject, says: It seems to me that one of the great hindrances to an understanding of the Scriptures is the quite general belief that the Bible is all of one piece; that all portions have equal authority; that all parts are of equal ethical and spiritual value; so that should one refuse to accept the statement of any part as a rule of life and conduct, he virtually discards the whole book. Again, I agree with you.

But there is a third and perhaps greater difficulty which, if it can be overcome, may clear up all the others. It is this: The books are not placed in our Bible in the chronological order of the various writings.

Now, thanks to the labors of a host of investigators during the past half century, we now know more about the Bible than it was possible for us to know a few years ago. We now know that the Bible has come to us through human channels, under definite conditions of time, place, and race; that the separate parts were written at various times during at least eleven hundred years; that the various writings are the natural products of religious minds working normally and employing language in the ordinary manner of other writers; and that we are now able to rearrange those records in approximately chronological order. That being so, if any development took place during those eleven hundred years, we shall be able to trace through the Bible the development of ethical and spiritual ideas from their primitive origins in the early writings to their culmination in the teachings of our Master, Christ Jesus.

The Bible, then, contains a record—a true and altogether dependable record not only of men's deeds, but of their thoughts. It contains a record of progress because humanity progresses. It is a record of men's growing, developing concepts of God and man, of prayer and worship, of salvation and immortality, and, if we are able to see the Bible in much the same way as the geologist views the structure of the earth, if we know in what order the various layers, as it were, of writings were laid down, the accumulated result of which is our Bible, we shall be able to trace through the Bible the development of the human concept of these ethical and spiritual ideas, from the time of their first appearing in the childhood of the race to their peak in the writings of the New Testament.

GOD

Let us consider, for example, the development of men's concept of God. You will remember that God was regarded by men of olden times as a being of human form and having a local habitation. In fact, men had difficulty in thinking of God apart from a local abode in the mountains or high places of the tribe. He was thought of as one of many gods, and not until the age of the prophets was there any great growth toward monotheism, toward the belief in one God. You remember that Jehovah was looked upon as a tribal deity, one who dwelt among His own special people and exercised no jurisdiction beyond their boundaries, and, later, in Isaiah's time, He was conceived of as caring for other tribes. In the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 576), Mary Baker Eddy writes: "The term Lord, as used in our version of the Old Testament, is often synonymous with Jehovah, and expresses the Jewish concept, not yet elevated to deific apprehension through spiritual transfiguration. Yet the word gradually approaches a higher meaning." During the prophetic age, more spiritual concepts of God were taught. He was conceived to be unrestricted in space and time. He is present everywhere.

Twice in the latter part of Isaiah God is referred to as "our father," and throughout the New Testament the universal fatherhood of God is emphasized. Jesus frequently used the terms "my Father" and "thy Father;" "our Father" and "your Father." He taught,—he did more,—he proved that God loves and cares for men, not as tribes, but as individuals.

Jesus' concept of God, Jesus' revelation of God, far exceeded the concepts of God then prevalent among men. His understanding of God, though attainable by men, has not yet been attained. But humanity's concept of God has not remained, cannot remain, stationery. It is ever progressing. It is approaching more and more nearly that perfect concept depicted by our Master. In every age since his time some one more nearly than all others has approximated his vision, his view, his knowledge of God.

As the highest peak of the mountain-range catches earliest the first ray of dawn, so the most spiritually exalted individual glimpses first the dawn of spiritual truth. Well for this age that it has produced such a one; an outstanding spiritual seer whose life was devoted to an unceasing search for truth; one who made the Bible her constant companion and her only textbook; one whose condition of thought was sufficiently exalted to apprehend in greater measure than any other the truth about God, and whose pure consciousness enabled her to become the channel for the Christ-teaching to this age.

Mary Baker Eddy has revealed God anew. To the familiar names for God she has added the endearing term Mother, which word alone has brought to many people reading our textbook for the first time the sweet assurance of God's loving provision and tender care for them in their every hour of need. She has defined God as Mind, divine Mind, a word which gives us immediately a sense of God's knowledge of us wherever we are, and of His availability to meet our need. But more helpful still is the synonym for God which occurs hundreds of times in our textbook the word Principle, divine Principle. How this word at once dispels any sense of God's changeableness! Does it strike you that the use of this word might convey a sense of coldness or aloofness? Remember, this Principle is Love itself, unalterable Love; Love that is continuously and uniformly loving; Love whose kindly attitude toward us and whose tender care for us could not be altered by the prayers of a million foes.

We have traced the growth of the human concept of God from the belief that God was a being of human form and of human frailty up to the highest revelation of God as omnipresent Principle, infinite Love. How dependable is the Bible record! Its proof is before our very eyes. Every concept of God recorded in the Bible is held by someone today, and we ourselves can find our place somewhere along that upward tending line. Have we left behind the belief in a manlike God? Have we, on the other hand, attained to a complete understanding of God as Love? No, but that is the goal toward which we are hourly striving.

Now, it is obvious that not all of these various concepts of God can be true. Jesus understood God fully. He proved his understanding. He proved it completely. He overcame death, "the last enemy that shall be destroyed." He solved, unaided, humanity's greatest problem.

Jesus' definition of God was not given us in our language. The best we can say of what we possess in words of his revelation is that we have but a translation of a translation of what he said. Mrs. Eddy has spoken to us in our own age, and her revelation, the truth of which she so amply proved by healing, as she has told us in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 106), "hopeless organic diseases of almost every kind," has helped an untold number of people to grasp more nearly than ever before the truth about God, Jesus' concept of God.

Why do we dwell so at length on this subject? Because it is the very basis of Christian Science. Because upon our understanding of God is predicated our sense of life, health, and harmony. [illegible] statement from [illegible] textbook (Science and Health, p. 390), "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony." The student of Christian Science knows that his failures, like the failures of the mathematician, come not from the Principle he is striving to serve, but from an ignorance of that Principle. When, therefore, he seems to be confronted with a problem, even one of physical discord, or disease, he devotes himself to a closer acquaintance with a better understanding of, God, knowing that a "right understanding of Him restores harmony." This differentiate Christian Science healing from, and puts it on a plane entirely above, all other curative methods.

Just here it should be said that it is not at all necessary that the present-day student of Christian Science should wait to acquaint himself with the various concepts of God men have entertained in the past before applying his understanding of God to the solution of the problems of his daily life. This can be done immediately. All that is necessary is that he seek and find, be receptive to and accept, the highest revelation of God and live it incorporate it into his own thinking.

Let me illustrate. A friend of mine had been in poor health for a number of years, and for two years quite an invalid, unable to walk without extreme suffering. She tried in every way she knew to regain her health and strength, but failed. She was told by her pastor that it was God's will she should be in that condition and that she should resign herself to it. She tried to do so.

One afternoon a young student of Christian Science called to see her, and one of the first things she told my friend was, "God does not want you to be sick," and she continued to talk with my friend most of the afternoon about God, telling her what she had learned about God what is true about God. My friend was encouraged, uplifted. This was to her a new view of God, but so reasonable, so acceptable, so true. She thought over it a good deal during the night. The next day she walked a mile. Within a week she was playing tennis, and although this occurred many years ago she has been happy and well, and has been engaged in helping others ever since. She had been seeking and had found; she had been receptive to and had accepted the truth about God, and this truth healed her.

MAN

Let us now trace the development of humanity's concept of man. In the earlier writings of the Bible,—by this we do not mean the first book of our Bible as we have it, because the books do not appear in our Bible in the order in which they were written—in the earlier writings of the Bible man is regarded as a being whose only life is his physical breath and whose individuality is lost completely in his tribal group. For example, he is slain for misdeeds not his own, but misdeeds of his family or tribe, as when the two sons and the grandsons of Saul were slain because of Saul's misdeed. The individual had no standing save as a member of the tribe, an item in the mass. Later on the concept of man expanded to include the worth of the individual, and this higher conception of the worth of the individual paved the way for the belief in his immortality. The concept of immortality necessitated a belief in the resurrection of the body because the conception of man as a physical being necessitated a physical resurrection if there were to be any continuity of existence.

Seldom in the Old Testament, except in the first chapter of Genesis, and seldom if ever in the New Testament, save in the words of our Master and of his beloved disciple, is man spoken of as a spiritual being, and rarely in the whole Bible except in the teachings of Jesus does the thought of immortality wholly free itself from the belief in the resurrection of the body. "This is life eternal," said Jesus, "that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." Jesus defined eternal life in terms of knowledge, knowledge of God. He submitted to death. He could have evaded it. He said so quite definitely. He submitted to death to prove to us that it could be overcome. He proved that death is not a door through which man must necessarily pass.

Turning now to the writings of the greatest revelator of Truth to this age, in answer to the question, "What is man?" in the Christian Science textbook (Science and Health, p. 475) we read: "Man is not matter; he is not made up of brain, blood, bones, and other material elements. The Scriptures inform us that man is made in the image and likeness of God. Matter is not that likeness. The likeness of Spirit cannot be so unlike Spirit. Man is spiritual and perfect; and because he is spiritual and perfect, he must be so understood in Christian Science."

How exactly does this accord with the statement of the first account of creation and with the teaching of John and of Jesus! What a light it throws upon those few passages of the Bible which announce the absolute truth about man; passages the spiritual import of which has long been hidden from humanity! What a veritable key to the Bible this textbook is!

Again it may be said, But why dwell at length on man? Because it is vitally important. We have traced the development of humanity's concept of man from the belief that man is a purely physical being up to the highest revelation of man as a spiritual being, perfect and immortal; from the concept of man as only an item in the corporate mass up to the revelation of him as an individual expression of God, whose individuality is as eternal as his Maker's; from the belief that he was in the eyes of Jehovah an unknown unit in His tribe up to the revelation of him as a being of worth in the sight of God whom God knows and cares for individually.

Somewhere along this ever upward tending line is our concept of ourselves at this moment. Have we left behind the concept of man as a purely physical being, whose existence is limited to a few days or years, or, as someone has said, a "little noise between the two silences"? Have we, on the other hand, attained to the understanding of man that Jesus proved he possessed? No. But it is only in the degree that we apprehend what is absolutely true about man that we shall be able to detect and correct any false views of him which we may have been entertaining.

What, then, is this appearance which is called man; this that we see with our eyes. It is but the manifestation of humanity's concept of man. And whatever is material, untrue, erring, or debased in any human being's concept of himself, can be nullified only by the truth.

Were there a dozen people in this room and each were asked in turn, What is your concept of Mr. X? we might have a dozen totally different replies, a dozen concepts. But there are not a dozen Mr. X's—only one, and there is one true concept of him, the concept which God holds of him. What is that? God knows man as His own child, His own likeness, a spiritual being pure, perfect, and immortal.

Jesus beheld man aright. Confronted, as he was many times, with what seemed to be the very opposite of this he still beheld man aright. Listen to this statement from our textbook (Science and Health, p. 476): "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick." If the "correct view of man healed the sick" as we have just read, how important, how essential, that we should strive to achieve this view! Where may we find it? It may be found in its simplest and most complete statement in Christian Science.

How spiritually blessed has been our age! Christian Science is here with its revelation, the most complete revelation of Being ever given to any age, a revelation which is emphasizing all that the prophets of old, all that our Master revealed to mankind. It is stated simply and clearly. Children readily understand its basic truths and confidently apply them to the solving of their problems of physical and other discords. The spiritually minded accept its teachings naturally. It defines man aright.

Now, it goes without saying that the true dispels the false just as light dispels darkness. In the measure, then, that we perceive, accept, know what is true about man, in that measure shall we be able to unsee that which is false, discordant, and untrue, that which the physical senses may have affirmed, and dispel it. Does this not explain Christian Science healing satisfactorily? You may have heard of someone who was healed through reading—studying would be a better term—the Christian Science textbook. Could anything be more natural? Would it not be strange if he were not?

Let me cite an instance. A person whom I know very well had been in ill health for a number of years and had been confined to bed at various times for weeks at a time. He had spent much time in the study of man from the standpoints of anatomy, physiology, and therapeutics, but this had not helped him in the slightest degree. Kindly physicians had endeavored to help him and regretfully admitted their inability to do so. Later he heard of Christian Science, secured a copy of the textbook, and began to read it. It appealed to him. He read it eagerly, hungrily. It presented a new view of man, a true view of man, and through the study of that book, and through that alone, he was quickly and thoroughly healed. You see, he had sought and found, had been receptive to, and accepted the truth about man, and this truth healed him.

Long as it may have been believed, stoutly as it may have been insisted, physical unnaturalness is not all there is to sickness. What is seen and felt is only the manifestation, the externalization of the individual's false concept of man, a concept which includes within itself the belief that man is a material being, created materially, dwelling ever amid dangers, and subject to an innumerable host of enemies. How far this is from the truth, the absolute truth about man! Man is created to express God. Man's likness to God is therefore a mental, not a bodily, likeness. His environment is Love; his government the law of eternal harmony. Would not the realization of this bring peace to the troubled, healing to the distressed? Unquestionably. Jesus stated the same situation thus: "If ye continue in my word," that is, if ye consciously abide in the truth as revealed by me, "the truth shall make you free."

Christian Science healing, then, in character, in quality, differs in no slightest degree from healing as taught and demonstrated by our Master. How grateful we are that it is now being demonstrated more widely! The number of healings, even physical healings, that have occurred within the past fifty years can never be computed: how much less can be computed the healings of sin, and still less the instances of want relieved, sorrow soothed, and fear destroyed. This one thing we know, that today, through Christian Science Christianity's lost element of healing is being restored.

PRAYER AND WORSHIP

Turning again to the Bible to trace another phase of humanity's progress, let us consider the subjects of prayer and worship. In the childhood of the race, men's concept of God lacked those qualities which would lead them to draw near to Him even if this had been a possibility. But God was believed to dwell apart in the mountain top, and if men desired to perform an act of worship they betook themselves to the high place of the tribe and there made their offerings. Later, specific worship centers were considered appropriate and were established in Shiloh and in Gibeon where it is recorded Solomon offered a thousand burnt offerings. With the abolition of the local sanctuaries the temple became the only legitimate place of sacrifice.

The transition from this form of worship with its burden of ceremonial requirement to the simplicity of the early Christian church is clearly depicted in the life of Paul. But Paul did not give up worship. He adopted a higher, fuller, truer concept of God and man, and a more spiritual method of worship. His later life proved it. He gave up persecuting and slaying his fellow-men and began to comfort and heal them. As a false concept of God and man is reflected in discordant relations between man and man, and in a materialized worship, an improved concept of God and man is reflected in more harmonious relations and in a more spiritual method of worship.

Turning now to Christian Science. Through Christian Science truer views of God and man have been revealed and these will naturally express themselves in a form of worship becoming to themselves. If God is recognized as omnipresent, the ever-present Mind who knows and supplies the needs of each of His children, His child will require no material symbol to remind him of his Father's presence, nor will he need the formality of any ceremony to bring him into communicable relations with his Father.

Christian Science has come to this age with all the fullness of its revelation of the truth about God, the truth about man, and the truth about the inseparable relationship which ever exists between God and man. It has revealed man as ever in God's presence, enfolded in His love, supported and protected by His power, supplied from the inexhaustible store of His goodness. Man's worship is, then, a reverential acknowledgment of God as the only presence, power, and intelligence; a yearning to know and do the will of God; a preparation to receive and an acceptance of the truth revealed, and the hourly application of that which is absolutely true in his daily life. His prayer is a spiritual communion with God, and involves not only desire but listening, receptivity, acceptance, and execution.

Such being his method of worship, we should expect the services of the Christian Science church to be simplicity itself, and such they are. The Lesson-Sermon is composed of readings from the Bible and correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook. Every Christian Scientist knows exactly what the Lesson-Sermon is going to be, whether he is in America or Australia. He has studied it daily during the week. He has equal opportunity with the Official Readers of the church to know its content, and he goes to church to reflect the truth of its message. Many Christian Scientists go to church [illegible] to give, not to get, and [illegible] attitude of prayer and [illegible] of the truth of the [illegible] message many people are healed during the services.

Prayers in Christian Science churches, save for the audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer, are silent, and are, to quote from the Manual of The Mother Church (p. [illegible]) "for the congregations collectively and exclusively." The sacrament is a spiritual communion with God; in other words, silent prayer, prayer which conforms to Jesus' admonition given to his disciple, "When thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret." On this point permit me to read from the Christian Science textbook (p. 35). Referring to this spiritual communion as observed by Christian Scientists, Mrs. Eddy writes: "They bow before Christ, Truth, to receive more of his reappearing and silently to commune with the divine Principle, Love. They celebrate their Lord's victory over death, his probation in the flesh after death, its exemplification of human probation, and his spiritual and final ascension above matter, or the flesh, when he rose out of material sight. Our baptism is a purification from all error. . . . Our Eucharist is spiritual communion with the one God. Our bread, 'which cometh down from heaven,' is Truth. Our cup is the cross. Our wine the inspiration of Love, the draught our Master drank and commended to his followers."

Christianity as demonstrated by our Master was a practical and spiritual religion. Christian Science as taught and demonstrated by its Founder is a practical and spiritual religion. Her purpose in founding the Christian Science movement she has stated thus (Manual, p. 17): "To organize a church designed to commemorate the word and works of our Master, which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing." How remarkably the church she founded is continuing to fulfill its Leader's design is known today to well-informed men and women in all parts of the world. In our midst is being restored today primitive Christianity, a purely spiritual religion.

We have traced the development of humanity's concept of prayer and worship from primitive beginnings up to their most sublime interpretation in the life of our Master, down again through the intervening ages and up to the present-day restoration of primitive Christianity, with its high ideals of worship reinstated.

Somewhere along this upward tending line each one of us may find his own concept of prayer and worship at this moment. The more spiritual his concept of God and man the more spiritual will be his method of worship. As we approximate Jesus' concept of God we will adopt the method of worship he advocated when he said, "The true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth."

You will have seen from what has been said that Christian Science, the restoration to this age of pure Christianity, rests wholly upon a spiritual understanding of God and man, and a purely spiritual worship. Its method accords exactly with Jesus' definition as recorded by John. It inculcates the highest type of worship known to man.

HELPS TO BIBLE STUDY

Let us turn again to the Bible. It may be safely said that whole libraries might be filled with books which have been written as helps to Bible study. Some take up the study of the Bible by books, others by periods. Some authors deal wholly with the great characters of the Bible others with its history or its poetry. But the method we have so briefly sketched is perhaps one of the most rewarding, tracing through the entire Bible the path of humanity's spiritual progress.

The student who begins the study of the Bible thus will see at once that the Bible is not in the slightest degree self-contradictory. He will see that this method restores the Bible to him as a perfect whole, and that all parts are essential to its complete message. He will see that no matter where he opens the Old Testament he will find some record of humanity's concept of God and man in that stage of its development; he will know by what path it has come to that point, where it is going next, and where it comes out in the New Testament.

He will find that the Bible appeals to him just where he is, that it depicts exactly his own concept of God and man at the present moment, and, if he is willing to follow, it will lead him gently on and up to the revelation and demonstration of God as Love, and of man as God's spiritual and perfect expression.

Now, it is perfectly true that one does not need to know the Bible by rote, or to know thoroughly its composition, structure, history, or poetry in order to derive spiritual sustenance from it any more than it is absolutely necessary for a farmer to know the exact composition of his soil in order to raise a life-sustaining crop, but anyone will admit that some knowledge of the method of a master agriculturist, and an approximation to his understanding of the science of agriculture, if there were such a person, would be of immense value and would be productive of more certain and more abundant crops. The Bible contains, as we have said, the record of humanity's spiritual progress, and the instruction of the world's Master Christian, Jesus the Christ, and if we desire our lives to yield abundantly what Paul calls "the fruit of the spirit" we will find no study more rewarding than the study of the Bible.

Jesus understood the Scriptures. You remember Luke has told us regarding the walk to Emmaus that "beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself." He showed them that the promises to the patriarchs and the predictions of the prophets found their fulfillment, significance, and goal in him. The disciples possessed the same Scriptures and were no doubt familiar with them, but Jesus recognized a meaning other than and above what they had seen; for, said they, "he opened unto us the scriptures."

Those Scriptures contained the revelation of God to men. That Jesus understood the revelation, or the God so revealed, was proved by his life. When the Jews asked him if he were the Christ, he replied, "The works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me;" in other words, the proof is before you, in works. Similar works were done by the disciples, and continued to be done by the early Christians for some three hundred years, that is their understanding of God and man was evidenced also.

Of late there has been a great and widespread revival of this method of healing, due to a discovery in 1866 by Mary Baker Eddy. She was instantly healed of a serious injury, which neither medicine nor surgery could reach, by spiritual means alone. Upon her recovery she set herself to discover how it had been brought about. The Bible was her only source of information. She discovered therein the underlying Principle and rule, and put them to the severest tests in the healing of others. (Please remember, at that time only those who were regarded as incurably ill would permit her to visit them for this purpose.) She proved that a right understanding of God and man heals today as of yore. After testing her discovery in this way for nine years she gave it to mankind in a form at once simple and complete in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." This volume is what its name implies a veritable Key to the Scriptures. Not only does it interpret next by text the early part of Genesis and the latter part of Revelation, passages the spiritual and real meaning of which had long been misunderstood but it affirms and explains the spiritual import of the entire Bible.

That Mrs. Eddy's interpretation of Scripture is correct, and that her revelation has been understood by others, is proved by the innumerable healings of disease of every nature wrought by its students.

Not only so, but one of the natural and inevitable effects of studying the Christian Science textbook is that one is thereby impelled to a diligent study of the Bible. If he possesses a copy which has fallen into disuse, it is dusted off and becomes part of his daily reading. If, on the other hand, he has been a consistent reader of the Bible, its message is thereby so illumined that it becomes a new book. Nothing else has accomplished for the sick and sinning what the study and application of the teachings of the Bible, as illumined by the Christian Science textbook, have done in thousands of instances, as witnessed by the grateful testimonies given in the Christian Science periodicals and in the Wednesday evening meetings. To the needy reader of this book, its opening sentence, "To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, today is big with blessings" (Science and Health, Preface, p. vii), inspires a hope whose radiance pierces the gloom of his distress and leads him on, lighting his way through the succeeding pages, dispelling sickness and destroying sin, until the fruitage in his own experience coincides with the freedom attained by many others whose grateful testimonies make up the chapter on "Fruitage" which fills the last one hundred pages of the book. No other commentary upon the Word of God has given such proof of its exactness. What is the proof? The healing and uplifting influence upon the lives of those who have been awakened to the Bible's spiritual meaning through the Christian Science textbook.

THE COMFORTER

In one of Jesus' last talks with his disciples he said, "I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth." What would evidence the presence of such a Comforter, Helper, or Advocate? What would be the purpose of this impersonal Comforter, "the Spirit of truth"? Would it not most certainly be, as Isaiah has expressed it, "to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound; to give . . . the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified"? If there is such a power or influence present among men today can it be other than this divine Comforter?

Many people have discovered that Christian Science is doing the very things which Jesus said would be done by the Comforter. There is indisputable and abundant evidence that Christian Science is binding up the broken-hearted, healing moral and physical disorders, and breaking humanity's bonds of limitation and incapacity by spiritual means, by the "Spirit of truth" alone. Is not the Comforter in our very midst? Is it not Divine Science, or, as Mrs. Eddy has expressed it, "'the still, small voice' that breathes His presence and power, casting out error and healing the sick"? (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 171)

THE GOAL

We have traced the development of humanity's spiritual progress from the belief that man was separated from God by an impassable gulf, up to the understanding that he is in the very presence of God; from the belief that God had no cognizance of him as an individual, up to the understanding of his individual worth in his Father's estimation; from the belief that Jehovah sent disaster and distress, up to the understanding that God has created, and can give, good only; from the belief that man existed under an inevitable law of destruction, up to the understanding in greater or less degree that he is under an inevitable law of life and harmony; from a very faint, or possibly an utter lack of belief in salvation, up to the understanding not only that God "will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth," but that man is saved, because God's child can never been where his Father's love does not completely enfold him; from the belief that bodily ills could be removed only by incantations up to the understanding that ill health is rooted in a false belief concerning God and man which can be inevitably dispelled by an understanding of the truth, the truth about God and man; and we have seen that each one of us is at this moment at some point in this ascending path.

The goal of perfection is before us. The pathway is clearly indicated. Christ Jesus is our great Way-shower: he disclosed to us the truths of being. Christian Science has showed us how to use them how to apply the great truths of the Bible to the overcoming in our daily lives of all that is unlike God "till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ."

LAUNDRY WORKERS TO STAGE HALLOWE'EN FROLIC

Plans are practically complete for the big Hallowe'en frolic and dancing party which the Mutual Benefit Association of the New England Laundries Inc., Winchester Branch, is to hold in Lyceum Hall on the evening of Tuesday Oct. 30. A most attractive program has been arranged to include the usual Hallowe'en games such as bobbing for apples, bite the doughnut and others of equal interest. The services of a fortune teller have been secured and Hennessy's Pavilion Orchestra will furnish the music. The committee in charge of arrangements is headed by Mrs. Helen Dewar as chairman and includes Mrs Sue Maguire, Mrs. Nellie Murphy, Miss Rose McCarthy and Mr. George Morrow.

LEXINGTON SHUT OUT WINCHESTER

25—0 Reverse Worst Defeat for Locals in Several Seasons

Winchester High School's football team was badly beaten last Saturday afternoon at Lexington, losing its game to Lexington High, 25—0.

The word beaten is used advisedly for Coach Mansfield's charges were not only completely out-classed so far as playing skill was concerned, but were soundly trounced in a physical sense, returning to Winchester a badly battered and used up bunch of boys.

The line between hard playing which is rough yet clean, and dirty playing is often a hard one to draw and we would hestitate to accuse any team of intentionally trying to "get" its opposing players.

Last Saturday, however, Lexington's tactics were on several occasions so openly questionable as to arouse the resentment of the entire delegation of Winchester rooters than whom there is no fairer bunch of sports followers in the Mystic Valley.

To the credit of the Winchester boys themselves let it be said that they did not once attempt to retaliate in kind ta the treatment they received. They played the clean brand of football they have been coached to play, taking their beating and roughing like sportsmen.

We suppose its victory, coming after a couple of lean years, was especially sweet to Lexington but mature reflection should have caused the supporters of the Blue and Gold eleven to be ashamed of some of the "rough stuff" which an especially lax group of officials allowed the Minute-boys to get away with.

Much of Winchester's resentment was aroused by the playing of Hall, star halfback, who is just about the whole works for the Blue and Gold. Even the officials noticed two instances of playing on his part so unnecessarily rough as to call for major penalties, one of which cost Lexington a touchdown.

It is a great pity that Hall should have played the game he did last Saturday as he is too fine an athlete to have his reputation smirched by questionable tactics. His ability is such as to arouse the admiration of anyone knowing football values, yet the appreciation which Winchester fans have of his greatness is largely tempered with condemnation.

One must admit, however, in all fairness that the burly halfback was the chief factor in the Winchester downfall and the locals as they played at Lexington simply couldn't stop his bull-like rushes at end and off the tackles. Coach Mansfield elected to start his second team and the game was only a few moments old when Hall ran from midfield for a first down at the Winchester 9-yard line.

The varsity eleven was rushed into the fray but the halt in the route was only temporary. Twice Coach Mansfield's boys held the Lexington tornado inside the 10-yard stripe and kicked to midfield but Hall would not be denied and in two rushes the big back ran to the 1 foot line from which Watt broke over at guard. The try for goal failed.

Just before the end of the first quarter Morrow of Lexington got away at end to the Winchester 2-yard line, but it was fourth down, touchdown to go, and Winchester took the ball as the teams changed goals. Instead of punting out of danger, Kendrick elected to rush the ball and a costly fumble was converted into a touchdown by right end McPhee. Again the point after touchdown failed.

Early in the second quarter Amico had to be taken from the game because of injury and with the loss of their leader the Winchester boys cracked wide open. A bit later Neil Kerrigan, rugged guard, was badly hurt and from then on things went from bad to worse. The locals could not do anything right and never have we seen a poorer exhibition of tackling than that shown by the Red and Black.

During the third quarter Winchester staved off the Lexington offense but the final period was still young when Hall on a series of end runs took the ball up the field to the locals' 4-yard line from where he quickly ran over for the score without a hand being laid upon him. The try for goal failed.

Lexington kicked off and Winchester was hurled back at the line until Kendrick attempted a forward pass which was intercepted by Britt of Lexington at the Winchester 20-yard line and converted into the game's final touchdown. Hall easily ran across the line for the extra point.

With the game nearly completed Coach Crowley sent in his second team and Coach Mansfield countered with his Hebie-Jebies. The latter looked much better than the local varsity and more than held their own with the Lexington plebes.

So far as Winchester's showing is concerned the game was a real wash-out, but even a wash-out is apt to bring to light a nugget or two. The all-around work of little Ghirardini, after his insertion into the lineup, was the only rift in the clouds of the local showing.

Lexington had a good team and deserved to win. The pity of it is that the boys were not content to win by playing football which could not be questioned.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The concert and dance given by the Club in Lyceum Wednesday night fulfilled all expectations by going over the top in gallant style. Appropriate decorations in Hallowe'en colors lent the needed atmosphere to the affair, and the music was alluring enough to make one and all join in the syncopation.

As announced by the President, Mrs. Annie M. Hanlon, the concert numbers included the following:

Popular Songs Mrs. Anderson, Malden Soloist
Costume Dance—"East Side, West Side," Miss Doris Anderson
Character Sketch and Dance Numbers Mr. Pete Holland
Solo Selected .... Mrs. Anderson
Jazz Song and Dance with Acrobatic Features Doris Anderson
Step Dancing .... Mr. James Horn

Mrs. Anderson proved to be a real drawing-card and received quite an ovation after each song number. Little Miss Doris, versatile and charming, easily won her way to the favor of all. As always, genial "Pete" Holland made a hit with his character sketch and the applause that greeted "Brother" Jimmy Horn was vociferous enough to prove his popularity. All in all, the entertainment was snappy and right up to the minute and, best of all, short enough to give plenty of time for general dancing.

Vice-President, Mrs. Caroline L. Coakley, in charge of the dance program, introduced several favor dances Mrs. Mae E. O'Neil and financial secretary Kathryn T. Griffin had charge of tickets at the door. The Misses Elizabeth Fitzgerald and Margaret Sullivan planned the decorations, and refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Ella Halligan.

The Club has accepted an invitation extended by the Winchester Post A. L., to enter a float in the Armistice Day parade, scheduled for Nov. 12. Mrs. Gertrude Horn, 14 Russell road and a capable committee have charge of the arrangements. The drill team may enter the line of march.

Now who wants to bowl? According to the manager, Mrs. Lilla B. Green, there is room for another team or two. Every other Thursday night at the Winchester Alleys, members may qualify for one of the several teams. Next Thursday night we bowl—or try to bowl, or tell others how to bowl. Some are experts after the first try-out; therefore there will be instructors in plenty for the unsophisticated.

The next regular meeting of the Club will be held in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 14. Plans for the charity whist, sponsored by Mrs. Lilla B. Green, will be outlined. The whist is scheduled for Dec. 12, and every member is urged to contribute prizes or buy tickets. One big affair is worth more than a dozen small ones, so let's all concentrate on making this one the biggest yet.

A GREAT TRIBUTE

If you are ever so fortunate as to visit our National Capitol at Washington, you will find many things there to thrill you.

But none, perhaps, as stirring as one picture that hangs as a permanent gift to the American people and a fitting tribute to one of the most glorious deeds in all our nation's proud history.

This wonderful picture bears the simple title "We," and as its name suggests, depicts the gallant flight of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris—the flight that thrilled the world, and gave it probably its most loved hero of all time.

And the best part of this is, you can have a handsome copy of "We," printed in 12 colors and measuring 18 by 24 inches, to hang in your own home.

You cannot buy the picture at any price. It may be had only through The Youth's Companion as its free gift to you with a year's subscription to the magazine.

In its new form as a monthly magazine, The Companion itself has more to offer than ever before—a full book-length novel complete in each issue; serials and short stories; feature articles, editorials, contests, puzzles, poems, recommendations of books and motion pictures, and special departments for both boys and girls covering their own favorite activities.

In order that every American home may enjoy the inspiration of the famous picture "We," we make the following liberal offer:

1. The Youth's Companion, 12 big monthly numbers, and
2. Two extra numbers to new subscribers ordering within 30 days, and
3. A copy of "We" in 12 colors, framing size 18x24 inches. All for only $2.

Physiognomy

In the early days physiognomy was considered a form of witchcraft, and persons practicing it were much discredited. In 1597 an English law provided that "all persons fayning a knowledge of physiognomie should be stripped and openly whipped until the body be bloudye."

Golf and the Clergy

A Lutheran pastor in an Ohio city has officially indorsed Sunday golf. He thinks religious worship should come first. He sees that his church service is sufficiently early to permit of both worship and the links. He says golf is not Sabbath desecration. Apparently the overwhelming majority of parishioners made this indorsement long ago. As somebody once said about law, Sunday is what people will stand for.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN WINCHESTER, MASS.

You are hereby required on or before Dec. 1, 1928, to destroy the gypsy and brown tail moths on your property in this town.

This notification is in accordance with Chapter 132, General Laws, which requires cities and towns to destroy the eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests of the gypsy and brown tail moths under heavy penalty for failure to comply with the provisions of the law.

If a property owner fails to destroy such eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests, then the city or town is required to destroy the same and the cost of the work, in whole or in part, according to the value of the land, is assessed upon and becomes a lien on the land. (Section 18, Chapter 132, General Laws, on reverse.)

The Selectmen ask owners and tenants to cooperate with the town in its work on highways and other public grounds by doing effective work on their premises. Citizens who have cleaned their premises of the moths, but find their trees endangered by the neglect of owners of adjoining estates should make complaint to the Selectmen. The infestation of a residential neighborhood by the neglect of a few will not be tolerated.

The eggs of the gypsy moth should be destroyed at once with creosote. They should never be scraped off the object on which they are laid. Careful search should be made for gypsy moth egg clusters, not only on trees but also on house walls, stone walls, fences and in rubbish heaps, etc. Trees in which cavities occur and which it is not desirable to cut should have the cavities tinned or cemented. This is important. The present and future cost of combating this insect can be greatly reduced by cutting and burning worthless brush, hollow trees, etc. A few trees well-cared for are more valuable to the property owner and the community than a large number of neglected trees.

The nests of the brown tail moth should be cut from the trees, carefully collected and burned in a stove or furnace.

Full instructions as to the best methods of work against the moths may be obtained from the Local Superintendent, or from the State Forester, Room 519, State House, Boston, Mass.

September, 1928. Selectmen

Very Trying

During a heat wave a magistrate was discussing with a few club friends the question of summer drinks, and he admitted that he did not know of a good thirst quencher. "Have you tried gin and ginger beer?" asked one of the group. "No; but I've tried many people who have," was the response.—Glasgow Evening Citizen.
